NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS: Sealed proposals for Construction; Heating; Plumbing and Drainage; and Electric Work, Completion of Attendants' Home and Completion of Service Building, Female Group, Letchworth Village, Thiells, N. Y., will be received by Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip, President of the Board of Managers of Letchworth Village, No. 7 Wall Street, New York City, until 12 o'clock noon on Friday, September 27th, 1918, when they will be publicly opened and read. Proposals shall be enclosed in an envelope furnished by the State Architect, sealed and addressed, and shall be accompanied by a certified check in the sum of five per cent. (5%) of the amount of the proposal. The contractors to whom the awards are made will be required to furnish surety company bond in the sum of fifty per cent. (50%) of the amount of the contract, within thirty (30) days from date of official notice of award of contract, and in accordance with the terms of Specifications Nos 3080, 3081, 3092, 3093, 3083, 3085, 3084 and 3086. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids. Drawings and specifications may be consulted at Letchworth Village, Thiells, N. Y., at the New York Office of the Department of Architecture, Room 1224 Woolworth Building, and at the Department of Architecture, Capitol, Albany, N. Y. Drawings and specifications and blank forms of proposal may be obtained at the Department of Architecture, Capitol, Albany, N. Y., upon reasonable notice to and in the discretion of the State Architect, Lewis F. Pilcher, Capitol, Albany, N. Y.

Dated: September 11th, 1918.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Supervising Architect's Office, Washington, D. C., September 16, 1918.—Sealed proposals will be opened in this office at 3 p. m., October 7, 1918, for special repairs at the United States post office and court house at Binghamton, N. Y. Drawings and specifications may be obtained from the custodian at Binghamton, N. Y., or at this office, in the discretion of the Supervising Architect, Jas. A. Wetmore, Acting Supervising Architect.

Preferred Lists Clarify the Building Situation

Pronounced Need Exists for Certain Types of Structures, While Added Facilities for Some Industries Should Be Curtailed

PROMINENT among the factors that have been acting as a retardant influence to active business conditions has been the uncertainty as to the standing of various lines of industry, especially those near the border line between the essential and non-essential. The situation has been clarified and materially improved by the publication by the Government of a full official list of industries entitled to preferential treatment. Such priority will include not only matters of draft exemption, but labor, transportation, capital, fuel supply, raw materials and other required industrial facilities.

The industries entitled to preference are specifically mentioned and classified by order of their respective importance into four classes, the first of which includes food products, direct Government work and such war activities as the production of aircraft and other military munitions and supplies. Farm implements and similar appliances come in class two, and various lines of activity are ranked in the remaining classes. This classification would seem to give a pronounced clue to the probable industrial trends of the country while on a war basis. The outlook is that further expansion in the manufacturing facilities will be approximately along the lines thus laid down; that public building will be largely confined to institutions, such as hospitals, and that residential construction will be largely housing projects for the workers in the enumerated industries and erected under federal sanction and direction.

The impressive success which has recently attended the Allies on the Western front brings into renewed prominence talk of reconstruction and preparation for greatly enlarged activities after the war is over. There does not appear to be the slightest let-up in the efforts of every concern to do its utmost toward winning the war. At the same time many of the largest and most prominent firms in the United States, including a number in the building trades and lines affiliated with the building industry, are systematically studying the reconstruction problems and endeavoring to ascertain the exact nature of the markets that will be available after hostilities cease.

Numerous authorities in structural lines have felt that it has been impossible to state in any general way what building activities are of a non-essential character, and the recent pronounced needs for additional housing facilities in many parts of the United States have emphasized the viewpoint. On the other hand, as showing how easily mistakes may occur in attempting to stimulate an industry as essential, it is interesting to note the recent advice of the United States Department of Agriculture. This department is urging upon the makers of tractors the need of more careful investigation of sales possibilities before attempting to increase their production. The investigation, it is reported, has shown that the supply of tractors is in danger of considerably exceeding the demand. Unquestionably as the war continues many such discrepancies will occur. It will become increasingly manifest that it is not feasible to insist that any one industry shall be continuously stimulated, or that another line should be permanently placed under the ban.

Building activities other than for federal requirements have for some time been quite radically curtailed. There has been more or less leeway before the demand has caught up with the supply. It is within the range of probabilities that the time will eventually come when there will appear the need of renewed building activity even during the continuance of the war.

Despite the still closer restrictions on certain types of construction which have developed during the past two weeks, the building industry as a whole is at the present time not without a somewhat more favorable aspect than has been the case for some time previous. Many of the new contracts recently reported refer to industrial building projects, and, of course, little work is being done that is not initiated through war-time necessities, whether direct or indirect. At the same time the new needs which the present situation brings to the front combine to counteract the tendency toward idleness in the building trades. For this reason the condition is maintained on a fairly normal basis.

The uncertainties and delays that accompany building of almost every description at the present time tend to give a more unfavorable appearance to the industry than is warranted by the actual facts of the case. Building records substantiate this statement and show that in many of the large cities throughout the United States the past month has indicated gains either over the preceding month or over the longer period, represented by the figures for the corresponding months of the previous years. The decrease in the number of building permits for the month of August is reported as less than for the previous year and a half. Moreover, a large proportion of the localities covered is reported as showing a gain.

Employers in the building trades are of necessity giving considerable thought to the question of wages. Employes insist, and to a certain extent rightly so, that justice requires some advance in wage scales in order to offset the greatly increased cost of living. In this connection it is extremely interesting to consider the results of an official investigation into the subject, aimed to provide statistics instead of off-hand impressions. In this investigation special attention was given to conditions in the North Atlantic shipbuilding districts.

A study was made of about eight representative localities and tabulation was made of the experience of from one hundred to two hundred families in each of the localities studied. The greatest advance in the cost of living was reported for Baltimore, where prices have advanced nearly 57 per cent. compared with those in effect before the outbreak of the war. Next in order of advance comes Newport News, Va., where the cost of living was 51 per cent. higher than in the pre-war period. The remaining localities varied from 49 per cent. to 43 per cent. higher and from these figures it was determined that in general wage earners are compelled to expend approximately 50 per cent. more for their actual living expenses than they did before war started.

The investigation covered the outlay for clothing, both women's and men's, furniture and furnishings, food, housing, fuel and light, and miscellaneous items. Under the latter heading, items such as tobacco, liquors, cleaning supplies, amusements, etc., were included.

From the standpoint of the building trades, it is especially noteworthy that the items of housing or rentals showed in general the smallest advance of any of the expenditures mentioned in the report. Undoubtedly the comparatively small increase in rentals as compared with other items in the cost of living can be traced to the general law that real estate and rentals are relatively slow to register an advance.

New York Society of Architects

AFTER its usual summer intermission the New York Society of Architects resumed its regular monthly meetings, Tuesday evening, September 17, at the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West 39th street. Although the meeting was the first of the season it was well-attended. Various topics of interest to the architects as well as all of the building trades were brought up and discussed at considerable length. Not the least important of the discussions was that upon the subject of the recent ruling of the War Industries Board, prohibiting the erection of non-war buildings and alterations and repairs to existing non-war structures where the aggregate expenditure is scheduled to exceed $2,500. The outcome of this ruling, if carried into effect, will be the suspension from business activity of a large proportion of the practicing architects, not only of this city but of the country. The feeling was strongly expressed that this will constitute a hardship for which some remedy must be found at once.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

ALTHOUGH none but the excessively optimistic can feel that the end of the war is yet in sight, the marked successes of the Allied cause on the Western front during the past month have naturally given rise to hopes in the hearts of the building trades who are beginning to see the possibilities of relief from the chaotic conditions that have marked the history of the industry for the past year or more. The structural interests have been noteworthy for their keen desire to cast aside all selfish motives in order to further the Federal program for winning the war. Throughout the lengthy period of stress and doubt they have felt confident that at the proper time conditions in the building industry would readjust themselves in the various branches of trade and that all phases of building activity would gain by the patriotic efforts of the industry as a unit.

While contracts have recently been placed for the construction of a number of important housing projects in cities within and in close proximity to the Metropolitan district, the fact still remains that in a number of leading manufacturing centers the congestion of industrial workers is marked and rentals are soaring. The demand for small dwellings and apartments in modern multi-family houses has grown steadily and at present there are no evidences of a let-up to the stream of families seeking housing accommodations. The most efficient manner of solving this important problem is as yet undiscovered and the figures of prospective building construction planned to meet the admitted shortage, give but slight encouragement for the immediate future.

Evidence is steadily accumulating that there will be a considerable volume of new building activity just as soon as the war is ended. The importance of the reconstruction problem is a matter that cannot well be overlooked as at the present time there is a scarcity of structures that affects a wide area. The condition applies to many sections of the United States and calls for a definite plan for the erection of buildings of many kinds to meet diversified uses.

Naturally the local markets for building materials and supplies are quiet with practically the bulk of activity confined to Federal projects, direct and indirect, and the supply of commodities for structures already well under way. There is some question yet as to the exact status of new construction, and until the question is settled the building material markets as well as the various branches of the building industry will not know just what is expected of them. Prices are well sustained in all departments.

Common Brick.—Business in the Hudson River common brick market has slacked off materially during the week. Sales have been almost negligible and the prospect of increased business is extremely light and this condition will probably maintain until the general building situation is clarified. Both building interests and producers of materials are as yet somewhat in doubt as to the exact intent of the recent ruling of the War Industries Board, and until the status of new construction in all of its manifold branches is finally settled, no volume of new buying activity can be expected. Common brick prices are holding firmly, however, to the $13.50 to $14 level that has now maintained for some weeks, and any fluctuation from these figures is not looked for at the present time. Up river the situation is remarkably quiet. Brick producers have practically ceased loading barges owing largely to the effect of the building prohibition ruling on the local building situation, and partly to the scarcity of labor. Arrivals from up-river points have been extremely light during the week, seven barges being the total of the past seven days.

SUMMARY—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, September 20, 1918. Condition of market: Demand light; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $13.50 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived; sales, 10. Distribution: Manhattan, 2; Brooklyn, 4; New Jersey points, 4.

Lumber.—Conditions in the lumber markets of the Metropolitan district might almost be considered favorable, as there is considerable activity in both branches of the trade. Wholesalers report a fair volume of business and the situation is generally improved owing to the manifest betterment in transportation facilities. Mill supplies, however, are limited and at the present time nothing like the volume of stock usual at this period of the year is coming into the market. The demand from yards is good and the distributors

DISTRIBUTION REPUTATION

have had fairly satisfactory business from manufacturing consumers. Government activity remains as the predominating factor of the buying situation. Prices are holding firmly where they are not indicating a rising tendency, and although Federal requirements have detracted from the volume of business usually current at this period of the year, the amount thus placed is on a more profitable basis and makes up for the reduced volume of business from manufacturers and building interests.

Portland Cement.—Practically no change has occurred during the past week in the cement situation. Aside from furnishing cement for the completion of buildings substantially underway, the producers of this material are not shipping their product for use in non-war construction. All shipments at present must be reported to the Portland Cement Association, which forwards the same to the War Industries Board. As the result of the increased cost of bags, the New York price of Portland cement to dealers, in lots of 1,000 barrels or more has been increased to $3.20 with 25c. allowed for returned bags.

Plaster.—Lack of a large volume of general building construction has naturally created a quiet atmosphere in the markets for all building materials that are not generally used in industrial operations and direct Federal structural projects. The demand for plaster is almost negligible and what little activity has been possible will be further curtailed by the recent ruling prohibiting non-war construction. Plaster prices are unchanged and firm at their present levels.

Sand and Gravel.—Activity in these lines has slacked off somewhat during the past two or three weeks. At the present time approximately eighty per cent. of the orders for sand and gravel are coming from direct and indirect Government building projects, with the balance scattered among structures that are being completed for non-war purposes. Prices are firm and unchanged.

Crushed Limestone.—There is considerable life to the market and producers are working to the limit of their facilities. The greater part of the output is being diverted to direct and indirect Government work with the balance going into subway and street construction. The railroads are also important factors in this market and their demands have been quite heavy of late. Prices are stiff and somewhat advanced from the last report. Current quotations are as follows: 1½ in., $1.80 to $1.85 a cubic yard, New York, and ¾ in., $1.90 to $2.00 a cubic yard.

Structural steel.—The situation in the steel market has undergone practically no change. The scarcity of the product allows none for building operations except of the most essential to the Federal plans, and it will be some time before sufficient steel is available for private construction work. In the fabricated field practically all of the output is being diverted to shipbuilding and to Government building needs. A number of substantial commitments for military and essential industrial projects have been booked during the week, but they have been for projects outside of the Metropolitan district.

Wire Products.—Orders for all of the 34,000 tons of black painted barb wire for the United States War Department have been placed with the mills. At the present time the output of wire and wire nails is not above fifty per cent. of normal capacity, and several of the leading mills are not operating at more than thirty-five to forty per cent. of their normal rate of production owing chiefly to the shortage in the steel supply. Government prices continue to dominate the sales of wire and wire nails.

Window Glass.—The demand for glass is confined generally to Federal building projects and to alteration and repair work, but there is a very small volume of buying emanating from new building sources and this is likely to be yet further reduced owing to the general curtailment of new operations throughout the country. Managers of glass factories have been notified by the Federal railway officials that east bound glass shipments must be rushed through during September because the roads will be used almost exclusively for the transportation of war materials for the army and navy, at home and abroad, during the month of October. It is recommended that glass users anticipate their requirements as far as possible. Glass prices are unchanged.

Linseed Oil.—There has been no material change in the oil market during the past week or so. Buying is light, but as the supply is negligible prices are firm and not likely to recede to any extent.

"A GOOD MIXER"

For twenty-one years we have been mixing concrete—
From the cold regions of Canada—to the warm climes of the Carolinas—in winter and in summer alike—for manufacturers whose "lines" vary from silk underwear to motor trucks.
Perhaps that is the reason why so many owners today are deciding to "Let WHITE Build It Of CONCRETE."

EVERYBODY INTERESTED in real estate who wants to see the fourth Liberty Loan go over the top are asked to support financially the organization by the Real Estate Board of the Fourth Liberty Loan. Robert E. Simon, who is directing this end of the plan for the Real Estate Division, feels confident that all will help finance the preliminaries and send their contributions to the Board, 217 Broadway.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SWANN this week announced the appointment of Theodore L. Waugh, of 15 East 11th st, as an Assistant District Attorney, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of William Harman Black, now in charge of the Ashokan Reservoir proceedings. Mr. Waugh is a member of the Law Committee of the Democratic Committee, member of the Real Estate Board and secretary of the Inferior Courts' Committee of the Bar Association. He is giving special attention to the irregularities of several suburban development promoters disclosed by the Mayor's Committee on Taxation and Mortgage Loans. Some of these agencies operate in Manhattan under circumstances which tend to bring regular brokers and dealers into discredit.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section four and section eleven of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York will be submitted to the people for the purpose of voting thereon, at the next general election to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE CONTRACTING OF DEBTS BY THE STATE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sections four and eleven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debts shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein [; and such]. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive, nor for more than fifty years from the time of the contracting of such debt. A debt hereafter contracted by the state, pursuant to an authorization hereafter made, and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted, may, if provided by the law authorizing such debt, be paid in equal annual instalments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. Such law shall if it authorize the contracting of a debt payable otherwise than in equal annual instalments impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay, and sufficient to pay, the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof. No [such] law authorizing the contracting of a debt pursuant to this section shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election. On the final passage of such bill in either house of the legislature, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, to be duly entered on the journals thereof, and shall be: "Shall this bill pass, and ought the same to receive the sanction of the people?" The legislature may at any time, after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law; but the tax, if any, imposed by such act, in proportion to the debt and liability which may have been contracted in pursuance of such law, shall remain in force and be irrevocable, and be annually collected, until the proceeds thereof shall have made the provision hereinbefore specified to pay and discharge the interest and principal of such debt and liability. The money arising from any loan or stock creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever. No such law shall be submitted to be voted on, within three months after its passage or at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may provide for the issue of bonds of the state to run for a period not exceeding fifty years in lieu of bonds heretofore authorized but not issued and shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the same as hereinbefore required. When any sinking fund created under this section shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created, no further direct tax shall be levied on account of said sinking fund and the legislature shall reduce the tax to an amount equal to the accruing interest on such debt. The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt, which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section, or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof, which has been, or shall be created or issued before such alteration. In case the legislature increase the rate of interest upon any such debt, or part thereof, it shall, if such debt be payable otherwise than in equal annual instalments, impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay and sufficient to pay the increased or altered interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof, and shall appropriate annually to the sinking fund moneys in amount sufficient to pay such interest, and pay and discharge the principal of such debt when it shall become due and payable.

§ 11. The legislature may appropriate out of any funds in the treasury, moneys to pay the accruing interest and principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created, or any part thereof and may, if such debt be payable otherwise than in annual instalments, set apart in each fiscal year, moneys in the state treasury as a sinking fund, to pay the interest as it falls due and to pay and discharge the principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created under section four of article seven of the constitution and the same shall be wholly paid, and the principal and income of such sinking fund shall be applied to the purpose for which said sinking fund is created and to no other purpose whatever; and, in the event such moneys so set apart in any fiscal year be sufficient to provide such sinking fund, a direct annual tax for such year need not be imposed and collected, as required by the provisions of said section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof. The legislature shall annually as the same shall fall due provide by direct tax, appropriation or both for the payment of the interest upon and instalments of principal of all debts created on behalf of the state, payable in annual instalments, pursuant to section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE FOREST PRESERVE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven or article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway from Saranac Lake in Franklin county to Long Lake in Hamilton county and thence to Old Forge in Herkimer county by way of Blue Mountain lake and Raquette lake.

[But the] The legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE ONE OF THE CONSTITUTION, GENERALLY.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article one of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Compensation for taking private property; private roads; drainage of agricultural lands.

§ 7. When private property shall be taken for any public use, the compensation to be made thereof, when such compensation is not made by the state, shall be ascertained by a jury, or by the supreme court with or without a jury, but not with a referee, or by not less than three commissioners appointed by a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law. Private roads may be opened in the manner to be prescribed by law; but in every case the necessity of the road and the amount of all damage to be sustained by the opening thereof, shall be first determined by a jury of freeholders, and such amount, together with the expenses of the proceeding, shall be paid by the person to be benefited. General laws may be passed permitting the owners or occupants of agricultural lands to construct and maintain for the drainage thereof, necessary drains, ditches and dykes upon the lands of others, under proper restrictions and with just compensation, but no special laws shall be enacted for such purposes.

The legislature may authorize cities to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or relocating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property so authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. After so much of the land and property has been appropriated for such park, public place, highway or street as is needed therefor, the remainder may be sold or leased.

The legislature may also authorize cities, for the establishment of a uniform system of streets, to take real property within an abandoned street or highway and to sell and lease it.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ELEVEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION EIGHTEEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO PRIVATE AND LOCAL BILLS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows: § 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.
Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways, or alleys or for draining swamps or other low lands.
Locating or changing county seats.
Providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.
Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or empaneling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the rate of interest on money.
The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage, or allowances of public officers, during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association, or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Granting to any person, association, firm or corporation an exemption from taxation on real or personal property.

Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.

Legalizing, ratifying or confirming the proceedings of a municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or the officers or authorities thereof, in providing for the issuance and sale of the bonds or other evidence of indebtedness of such municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or validating such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness after their issuance and sale.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of, that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or in case the consent of such property owners cannot be obtained, the appellate division of the supreme court, in the department in which it is proposed to be constructed, may, upon application, appoint three commissioners who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section one of article twelve and sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of article three of the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THIRTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION ONE OF ARTICLE TWELVE AND SECTIONS TWENTY-SIX AND TWENTY-SEVEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE CONSTITUTION TO ENABLE THE LEGISLATURE TO GIVE GREATER

CONTROL OVER LOCAL AFFAIRS TO CITIES AND COUNTIES.

Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section one of article twelve of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the legislature to provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages and to restrict their power of taxation, assessments, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessments and in contracting debt by such municipal corporations. [; and] The legislature may by general laws confer upon cities such powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may from time to time deem expedient. [the] The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and make provision for the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state, or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof. City bills shall apply equally to all the cities of a class as defined in section two of article twelve and no special city bill affecting less than all the cities of a class shall be passed except to secure the public safety or in a case where it affects territory without the corporate limits of the city.

Resolved further (If the Assembly concur), That sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 26. There shall be in each county, except in a county wholly included in a city, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members and elected in such manner and for such period as is or may be provided by law. But the legislature may provide by law for another form of government for any county subject to the approval of the electors of such county at a general election in an odd-numbered year. Such law may also provide for the transfer to the county of functions now exercised by towns. In a city which includes an entire county, or two or more entire counties, the powers and duties of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the municipal assembly, common council, board of aldermen or other legislative body of the city.

§ 27. The legislature shall, by general laws, confer upon the boards of supervisors, or other governing elective bodies, of the several counties of the state such further powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient, [; and] in counties which now have, or may hereafter have, county auditors or other fiscal officers, authorized to audit bills, accounts, charges, claims or demands against the county, the legislature may confer such powers upon [said] such auditors, or fiscal officers, as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient.

§ 2. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FIFTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SIX OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO COMPENSATION OF JUDGES OF THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Section 1. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That section seven of article six of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The court of appeals is continued. It shall consist of the chief judge and associate judges now in office, who shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms, and their successors, who shall be chosen by the electors of the state. The official terms of the chief judge and associate judges shall be fourteen years from and including the first day of January next after their election. Five members of the court shall form a quorum, and the concurrence of four shall be necessary to a decision. The court shall have power to appoint and to remove its reporter, clerk and attendants. Whenever and as often as a majority of the judges of the court of appeals shall certify to the governor that said court is unable, by reason of the accumulation of causes pending therein, to hear and dispose of the same with reasonable speed, the governor shall designate not more than four justices of the supreme court to serve as associate judges of the court of appeals. The justices so designated shall be relieved from their duties as justices of the supreme court and shall serve as associate judges of the court of appeals until the causes undisposed of in said court are reduced to two hundred, when they shall return to the supreme court. The governor may designate justices of the supreme court to fill vacancies. No justice shall serve as associate judge of the court of appeals except while holding the office of justice of the supreme court, and no more than seven judges shall sit in any case. The judges of the court of appeals, including those now in office, shall receive for their services a compensation established by law which shall not be diminished during their official terms and shall not be less than the highest compensation allowed by law to any other judicial officer in the state. A justice of the supreme court while serving as associate judge of the court of appeals shall receive the same compensation as judges of the court of appeals.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur),

AMENDMENT NUMBER SEVENTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE USE OF LANDS AND TIMBER IN THE FOREST PRESERVE FOR FUEL FOR DOMESTIC PURPOSES AND FOR ROADS AND TRAILS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Forest preserve. § 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. But the legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. The foregoing provisions of this section shall not prevent the legislature from authorizing the cutting and removal of dead and fallen timber on lands in the forest preserve for fuel or other domestic purposes; or authorizing the cutting and use by the state of timber on such lands for the construction of roads and trails necessary for protection against fire, and for ingress and egress. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

AMENDMENT NUMBER EIGHTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTIONS TWO, FOUR, FIVE, ELEVEN AND TWELVE OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO DEBTS CONTRACTED BY THE STATE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sections two, four, five, eleven and twelve of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The state may, to meet casual deficits or failures in revenues, or for expenses not provided for, contract debts; but such debts, direct or contingent, singly or in the aggregate, shall not at any time exceed one million of dollars; and the moneys arising from the loans creating such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which they were obtained, or to repay the debt so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever. contract debts in anticipation of the receipt of taxes and revenues, direct or indirect, for the purposes and within the amounts of appropriations theretofore made; bonds or other obligations for the moneys so borrowed shall be issued as may be provided by law, and shall with the interest thereon be paid from such taxes and revenues within one year from the date of issue.

§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debt[s] shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein, [; and such law shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay, and sufficient to pay, the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof. No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election nor shall it be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage nor at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may, at any time after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law. [but the tax imposed by such act, in proportion to the debt and liability which may have been contracted in pursuance of such law, shall remain in force and be irrevocable, and be annually collected, until the proceeds thereof shall have made the provision hereinbefore specified to pay and discharge the interest and principal of such debt and liability.]

Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, all debts contracted by the state after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty, pursuant to an authorization theretofore, heretofore or hereafter made and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted irrespective of the terms of such authorization, shall be paid in equal annual installments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted, to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive.

The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof which has been or shall be created or issued before such alteration.

The money arising from any loan [or stock] creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever. No such law shall be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage or at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may provide for the issue of bonds of the state to run for a period not exceeding fifty years in lieu of bonds heretofore authorized but not issued and shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the same as hereinbefore required. When any sinking fund created under this section shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created, no further direct tax shall be levied on account of said sinking fund, and the legislature shall reduce the tax to an amount equal to the accruing interest on such debt. The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt, which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section, or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof, which has been, or shall be created or issued before such alteration. In case the legislature increase the rate of interest upon any such debt, or part thereof, it shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay and sufficient to pay the increased or altered interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof, and shall appropriate annually the sinking fund moneys in amount sufficient to pay such interest and pay and discharge the principal of such debt when it shall become due and payable.]

Fly Real Estate Flag in Liberty Loan Drive

Realty Division Adopts Emblem for Subscribers of One-Half of One Per Cent. of Property Assessments

THE flag decided upon by the Real Estate Division of the Fourth Liberty Loan drive to mark the properties throughout the City, the owners of which have subscribed one-half of one per cent. of the assessed value through the Real Estate Committee, is a beautiful emblem made of bunting of Red, White and Blue. This idea of having a distinguishing flag to show that property owners were backing up soldiers "Over There" in a hundred per cent. manner, was the suggestion of Mr. Laurence McGuire, President of the Real Estate Board, and was enthusiastically adopted last week by the Loan Drive Committee, of which Mr. Alfred E. Marling is chairman. The Record and Guide today prints the first picture of this flag, the design of which was made by Mr. Robert E. Simon and adopted at a meeting, on last Thursday, of the committee which had been appointed for this purpose.

In the original design the triangular field is blue, with the letters "R. E." in white. There are seven stripes, four of which are red and three white. It is expected that the flag will be flown on all buildings of which the owners, lessees or occupants subscribe, through the Real Estate Division, one half of one per cent. of the assessed value of the building. The slogan of the Real Estate Loan Drivers will be "Fly the Real Estate Flag."

The flags can only be obtained upon order from the Real Estate Division Headquarters in the rooms of the Real Estate Board, at No. 217 Broadway. The committee will give to each subscriber a paper representation of the flag, similar to the designs adapted for display in windows to show participation in previous bond drives. But if subscribers desire a bunting flag to fly outside of buildings, they can obtain them from the committee, which will have a stock on hand, at a small price.

Determined to not only reach its quota of $2,500,000, but to exceed it as it did in the third loan campaign, the Real Estate Division of the Liberty Loan, of which Alfred E. Marling is the energetic chairman, will start today and keep going until the end of the campaign, three weeks hence.

A list of possible subscribers has been prepared and tabulated upon cards, and these have been distributed among the team captains, who will in turn distribute them among the workers comprising the various teams. The team captains and their teams will assemble this morning at the headquarters of the division in the rooms of the Real Estate Board, 217 Broadway, where they will be addressed by Chairman Marling and then sent out on their mission.

Chairman Marling will be at the headquarters of the division every day to receive the reports of the team captains, to offer suggestions and to give advice on all matters brought to his attention by the captains and the men comprising their teams.

Each day's subscriptions will be tabulated and the figures shown on a large blackboard in the division headquarters, so that the workers can see just what is being done and how well they are succeeding in reaching the quota allotted to the division. There will be a clerical force and all necessary material for solicitors.

By ALFRED E. MARLING

AS Chairman of the Real Estate Division of the Fourth Liberty Loan Committee, it is a great pleasure to testify to the splendid preliminary work which has been done by the Steering Committee, of which Mr. Robert E. Simon is chairman.

A careful list of possible subscribers has been prepared, the names tabulated upon cards, and these have been distributed among the various Team Captains. Everything is in readiness to make a vigorous start for the Drive on Saturday, the 28th of September.

The Committee has been greatly encouraged by receiving in advance a number of substantial subscriptions, which is a good augury, pointing to what we hope will be a splendid success in securing not only our full quota of $2,500,000, but much in excess of that sum.

Another encouraging feature is that a number of Savings Banks in the City, who are large investors in mortgages on New York City property, have indicated their willingness to subscribe for the Liberty Bonds through our Division.

The very novel suggestion made by Mr. Laurence McGuire, President of the Real Estate Board, that property owners subscribe to the Bonds on the basis of one-half of one per cent. of the tax valuation of their property, has been very favorably received, not only by the team workers but by many property owners. The Committee has arranged for a suitable flag bearing the initials, "R. E." (Real Estate), which indicate, when placed upon a building, that the owner of that property has subscribed his quota to the Liberty Loan, based on the tax valuation of the property. The cost of these flags is, small $1.00, large $2.25.

We start the Campaign well organized, with a competent and energetic Committee and devoted and industrious team workers, and there should be but one result of our efforts, namely, complete success.

IF there is any one event for which Americans have devoutly prayed, it is for the day when the rule of the Unspeakable Turk should come to an end.

That day is drawing near—it may be nearer than the

The United States is not directly at war with the Ottoman Empire; but we are at war with Germany, the Sultan's aide, instigator and abettor. But for our success at Chateau Thierry, at the Marne and at St. Mihiel, the magnificent advance of General Allenby in Palestine, bringing about the extinction of two Turk armies and the capture of 25,000 of the soldiers of the Sultan, might not have been accomplished.

Certainly but for the work of the Americans in France the Kaiser would have been able to send help to his blood-brother of the Bosphorous, so that General Allenby's victory at best would have been less complete.

Americans believe that true Christianity and Liberty go hand in hand, that the terms are interchangeable. For that reason many, while giving thanks for the discomfiture of the Turk, and praying for a speedy release of the Armenians, will call the Liberty Bond the Christian Bond. They will see season for subscribing to the Fourth Liberty Loan with renewed zeal, and they will subscribe more abundantly.

It is not only at Ephesus that one may fight wild beasts; and the loins may be girded for a distant fray.

In the Third Liberty Loan the Building and Allied Trades of New York gave to their country a working capital of $6,432,000. Consider the things the Government can do with that sum!

Buy two destroyers, two 16-inch naval guns, maintain at sea for one year two first line battleships, buy two Eagle class submarine chasers and 580 depth bombs. Or,

Establish 12 base hospitals, each with 1,000 beds, and provide anti-smallpox vaccine for 3,000,000 soldiers, anti-typhoid inoculation for 1,998,000 men, and bandages for 400,000 wounds.

Rate of Equalization Not Changed

PRESIDENT CANTOR of the New York City Tax Board attended a meeting of the State Board of Equalization in Albany on Tuesday, the 24th, in behalf of the city. He contended that the assessments in the five boroughs were fully equal, except in isolated cases, to the market value, and demanded that the Board of Equalization should take cognizance of that fact. With Mr. Frank J. Bell, Chief-Deputy of the Tax Department, he produced figures before the board showing the actual consideration received for property sold at private sales and also the sum realized at foreclosure and executor's sales to support his contention. These figures show that in the Greater City there were 2,056 voluntary sales, 709 executor's sales and 1,377 foreclosures, with a percentage of 100.7 of the assessed valuation.

Members of the State Tax Board contended that they had information which showed an under-assessment generally, but produced no figures to sustain the statement, the effort being on the part of President Cantor to increase the assessment from 94 per cent. in Manhattan last year to 100 per cent. so as to decrease the amount of the state tax which the boroughs have to pay. State Treasurer Wells and State Comptroller Travis were active in their support of the city's contention, but the rate of equalization was not changed, the rates being: Manhattan, .94; Kings, .93; Bronx, .93; Queens, .89, and Richmond, .89.

Building Trades Working for Record on Loan

Chairman Otto M. Eidlitz Makes Stirring Appeal For Extra Effort
On the Part of Every Man in the Business

FRIDAY afternoon, at the Building Trades Club, the final preliminary meeting of the Building and Allied Trades Committee for the Fourth Liberty Loan was held. This meeting was attended by the chairmen of all of the sub-committees representing the building industry and enthusiasm rang high to make the drive magnificent success as far as the structural interests were concerned. Justice Charles Guy of the Supreme Court and D. D. Ballin of Harris, Forbes & Co., bankers, addressed the meeting and impressed upon all present the urgency of a high resolve and sustained effort in order to assure success.

The various trade committees that are working under the direction of the Building Trades Committee have been organized for some time and their individual members have been carefully rehearsed in what is expected of them during the campaign. The canvass cards are out and each member has the list of concerns he is expected to solicit and whose subscription he will be expected to turn in.

With all of the preliminaries of the drive arranged the building industry will get off to a flying start at the first moment of the campaign, with every confidence that at its close the building trades will again be in a position to report a total subscription well above their allotted quota.

By OTTO M. EIDLITZ.

NOW that our boys are making a forceful impression on the other side, and General Pershing has asked for supplies and munitions in a way that will strain every resource of our country, and it really begins to look as though the Hun will get his just deserts, namely, annihilation; it is of paramount importance that all of our citizens, despite the numerous handicaps from which they are suffering, should once more show their patriotism by getting behind the Fourth Liberty Loan, so that the war necessities for the Army and Navy may be met by the Government.

The drain upon the public purse for the extraordinary supply of munitions of every conceivable kind that are required to make victory assured, makes it an imperative duty on every one of us to come to the front and to do our uttermost for the Fourth Liberty Loan. I know that as the war continues the building trades particularly will be greatly affected. In some instances already their business has almost entirely disappeared. Still, this is the time when each and every one of us must settle with his individual conscience whether or not he can refrain from making additional sacrifices for those who are fighting on the other side the real battles for liberty.

To do justice to the building trades in this Fourth Liberty Loan lies very close to my heart, and I know that those who have accepted the chairmanship of the various committees identified with the building industry will spare no effort in order that the desired result may be attained. I say to each and every one of these chairmen that I have the greatest confidence in their sustained effort, and that they and their committees will once more devote to the work that personal enthusiasm which is the only guarantee of ultimate success.

After the excellent showing the building and allied trades made in the three previous Liberty Loans no one can doubt that the members of the industry have the true spark of patriotism. Their colleagues in Washington are impressed as never before that now is the great opportunity to force a complete victory on the other side, but to accomplish this the sinews of war must be furnished by the citizens of the United States. Despite the serious industrial situation I feel sure that with an extra effort on the part of the building trades the final result of the forthcoming drive will be better than ever before.

Proposal To Advance Commission on Rentals

AT a meeting of the Ethics Committee of the Real Estate Board held on Tuesday at the board rooms, 217 Broadway, Albert B. Ashforth presided, and the other members of the committee present were Lawrence B. Elliman, J. Sharp, Thomas J. McLoughlin, Thomas Hovenden, F. D. Kally, and N. A. Berwin.

A suggestion that the commission for rentals should be increased was made and fully discussed. When the board made effective new commission rates on sales, last January, it was not deemed necessary to change the leasing commission rate, but the general advance in living as well as business operating expenses, and the fact that brokers are not making many sales these days, was advanced as the reason for asking the increased leasing rate. Those who took part in the discussion were representatives of the following real estate firms: Douglas Robinson-Charles S. Brown Company, Horace S. Ely & Company, Cruikshank Company, Charles F. Noyes Company, M. & L. Hess, Slawson & Hobbs, Wood-Dolson Company, Duff & Conger, C. Clarence Davies, Carstein & Linnekin, William & Bryan, and DuBois & Taylor.

It was unanimously decided to recommend to the Real Estate Board at its next meeting, on October 8th, that the rental commission be advanced fifty per cent. over the present rate, on leases negotiated in Manhattan, Bronx and Brooklyn.

Mr. Albert B. Ashforth, Chairman of the Ethics Committee, said yesterday: "Personally I do not feel that an increase in the existing commission rate was good policy, and so stated to the other members of the committee, but I was open to conviction and after listening to the other members who told of the great increase in the cost of living, of increased business operating expenses, and of the falling off in sales because of war conditions, I came to the conclusion that an increase is necessary and was glad to see the proposition go through unanimously."

"When the board made effective on January 1st a new commission rate on sales, changing the old rate of one per cent. to two and one-half per cent. on sales up to $40,000, and one per cent. on transactions above that amount, there was little objection on the part of real estate owners who paid the new rate without protest. Of course the action of the Ethics Committee is subject to review by the board as a whole, the committee merely making a suggestion."

If the board adopts the recommendation of the committee at its meeting on October 8th the new rate will become effective on November 1st.

Bill Before Congress Affects Title Companies

Can Now Include Interest Paid on Mortgage Indebtedness as Part of Expenses—Proposed Measure Will Stop This

THE public relations of real property were emphasized at the meeting of the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, held at luncheon in the Bankers' Club on Wednesday. The presidents and financial officers of the principal real estate owning and lending institutions of New York were agreed that public credit and private welfare alike demand the same care for the conservation of real property as is obtained for more liquid investments. Chairman Alfred E. Marling presided.

One matter of particular importance was presented by Walter Lindner, Esq., chairman of the law committee. The report was approved and the committee requested to urge the necessary action by Congress, endeavoring to obtain concerted action by the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants Association, the Real Estate Board, and also by such national organizations as the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the National Association of Building Managers, and their constituent organizations. The report is as follows:

The Committee on Law and Legislation at a meeting held on September 24, 1918, considered the pending revenue bill now before the U. S. Senate. Your Committee believes that the subject to which attention is called herein is of peculiar importance to corporations owning real estate and believes that it should be presented to the Finance Committee of the Senate without being complicated by arguing other subjects which also affect other corporations or businesses.

Under the act of September 8, 1916, as amended by the Act of October 3, 1917, a domestic corporation has been allowed to deduct, pursuant to subdivision Third of Section 12, the amount of interest paid within the year on its indebtedness to an amount of such indebtedness not in excess of the sum of the capital stock and one-half of its interest bearing indebtedness then outstanding, with the proviso, however, that in the case of indebtedness wholly secured by property, tangible or intangible, the subject of sale or hypothecation in the ordinary course of business of such corporation as a dealer only in the property constituting such collateral, or in loaning the funds thereby procured, the total interest paid within the year or any such indebtedness may be deducted as part of its expenses of doing business.

Under this proviso, corporations dealing in real estate in the ordinary course of their business have claimed the right to deduct as an expense of their business, interest paid on mortgage indebtedness secured by real estate, even though they had not assumed payment of the principal debt, which may have been incurred by a previous owner of the property. In such a case, the debt, as distinguished from the lien, is not legally chargeable against the owner of the property, unless it has been assumed.

The pending bill in Section 234, subdivision (a) paragraph (2), changes the principal rule regarding allowance of interest to domestic corporations, by allowing to be deducted from income "all interest paid or accrued within the taxable year on its indebtedness" * * * and omits the proviso relating to allowance, in addition, of other indebtedness secured by collateral. The result of the adoption of this rule would work very great and unfair hardships upon this type of corporations, and also upon manufacturing and business corporations which own their factories or places of business. It is the exception and not the rule, that the present owner of the land be liable on the principal bond. Up to the present, real estate corporations have relied upon the proviso above mentioned to permit them to deduct mortgage interest from gross income, for the purpose of arriving at net income.

This has been just, for the capital represented by the mortgage debt is, in essence, no more a part of the operating capital of the corporation owning the equity in the land, than such capital would be if the corporation had made the mortgage bond or assumed payment of the debt. The true income of the corporation resulting from its ownership of the property cannot be ascertained without deducting the interest payments. All corporations of this type have been capitalized with reference to the equities they own, without regard to the mortgages owing against their properties.

Until the present time these corporations have been doing business and adjusting their affairs upon the basis of the proviso above quoted. The bill as now proposed, would change the rule so as to retroact to January 1, 1918, without opportunity for readjustment, and nothing could be done now to counteract that result. This is unfair, and would prove disastrous to many large and small corporations. Moreover, it is doubtful if much can be done to counteract it for the future.

It is suggested that in order to obviate the difficulties here pointed out that the bill be amended by making paragraph (2) of subdivision (a) of Section 234, which provides that deductions may be allowed to corporations from gross income, read as follows:

"(2) All interest paid or accrued within the taxable year on its indebtedness and on encumbrances upon its real property, or, in the case of a foreign corporation, the proportion of such interest paid which the amount of its gross income from sources within the United States bears to the amount of its gross income from all sources within and without the United States ( ); provided that in the case of interest on encumbrances the amount of encumbrances on which interest may be deducted shall not be in excess of the fair value of such real property."

The words italicized are new matter suggested by your committee.

It must be noted that, under the statute as now existing and under the bill as proposed, corporations owning real estate which is not regarded as the subject of sale or hypothecation in the ordinary course of their business, are not entitled to deduct as an expense, interest paid on mortgages affecting such real estate where the corporation has not made or lawfully assumed the mortgage debt. This affects real estate owners who are investors, and manufacturing and mercantile corporations owning their factories or places of business, who often purchase them subject to mortgages, which they do not, and really should not, assume.

To amend the bill as suggested would carry out the intent of the framers of the present bill, as they evidently desire to abolish the present limits affecting the deduction of interest on corporate indebtedness; but have lost sight of the necessity of preserving the benefits of the proviso above mentioned, with regard to real estate corporations, while investors, manufacturers and merchants who own their factories and places of business have been and would remain at a great and unjust disadvantage.

The report of the committee was adopted.

Chairman Albert G. Milbank, of the Council's committee on taxation, reported on the progress being made in the effort to complete and bring down to date the studies of the Mills joint legislative committee in 1916. The work is in charge of trained economists and statisticians of wide reputation. Data necessary to warrant bill drafting is being obtained.

The report of the executive committee was presented by the Secretary, Leo Day Woodworth, and summarized the many activities of the Council particularly in matters of public finance, taxation and the special problems of war revenue legislation. Rulings of the treasury department on deductions for depreciation have received special attention. The certainty of increased cost of government was considered as distinguished from the question of enlarging budgets. Attention is called to the following statement:

"The general purpose of the Advisory Council has always been the conservation of real property. Its

Real Estate Board Outlines Budget Economies

Public Hearings Before Board of Estimate Begin October 15, and Suggestions Are Offered for Saving Taxpayers' Money

PUBLIC hearings on the Tax Budget for 1919 will be held at the City Hall on Oct. 15, 16, 23 and 24.

"New York City's share of the estimated expense of the Federal Government for the coming year is $10,000,000,000 or about $1,500 each for every individual in greater New York. Twenty-five per cent. of the expense of the United States must come from this section and seventy-two per cent. of the expense of the State government.

"These facts should be placarded in front of the Board of Estimate as they sit to make the city budget for the coming year," the Real Estate Board declared yesterday, in its last statement on the budget.

The Board submitted a list of departments and bureaus where great economies can be effected without in any manner impairing the efficiency of the municipal government. There are many more or less ornamental functions of government especially in the line of investigation and research whose activities might properly be suspended during the period of the war. The Board continues:

"The property owner and the rent payer are asked to limit themselves to the actual necessities of life, and it is even proposed to do away with non-essential industries, so that every emergency of the people may be conserved for the successful prosecution of the greatest war the world has ever known.

"Is it too much then for the taxpayer and the rent payer to ask that the bureaus and commissions whose principal work is the preparation of columns of statistics and elaborate reports, the printing of which would be expensive, be abolished or at least suspended during the period of the war? At the present time the Municipal Civil Service Commissions is an unnecessary branch of government.

"All vacancies should ordinarily be filled by transfers and not by new appointments and if new appointments must be made they can be made by selection, after examination, by the heads of departments. The several heads of city bureaus and departments could also certify to their own payrolls.

"The Real Estate Board has from time to time called the attention of the Board of Estimate to the constantly increasing item of rentals. In 1914, before the municipal building was fully rented, the amount appropriated for rents was $720,000. Last year it was $1,064,487.59.

"The reason given for the enormous expense incurred in erecting the municipal building, $22,000,000, was that there would be a tremendous saving in rentals. The amount appropriated for rentals now is within a few dollars of the amount appropriated yearly before the municipal building was occupied.

"The expense of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment should receive the most careful attention. This has increased from $100,000, in 1906, to $558,000 in 1918. The Real Estate Board depreciates wholesale dismissal of faithful city employees and appreciates that city employees should be well and sufficiently paid, but it feels that now when great economies can be accomplished by merely failing to fill vacancies the city authorities should improve the opportunity offered.

"By suspending the activities of the Tenement House Department, the Civil Service Commission, the Commissioners of Accounts, the Public Recreation Commission, the Social Activities of the Department of Charities, and the Board of Health, the Bureaus of Investigation and Statistics in the Comptroller office, the Municipal Reference Library, the permanent census board, millions of city money can be saved.

"By abolishing the City Chamberlain's office, the Department of Markets, the Board of Inebriety, the Court House Board, the Board of Water Supply, the Municipal Art Commission, the College of the City of New York, Hunter College, the special courses and tads of the Department of Education, the Parole Commission, the Central Purchase Committee and the exercises of rigid economy in the items of miscellaneous expenses which last year amount to $2,365,876.81, millions more can be saved.

"The Real Estate Board realizes that legislation will be needed to carry out many of these reforms but the next Legislature would not hesitate for a moment if the request is made by the city administration. Many other bureaus and departments should be consolidated, such as Weights and Measures and Licenses, administrative departments of Parks and Libraries, Charities and Corrections.

"During the period when the Government needs the services of every engineer, the engineering work of all boroughs could be placed in charge of the chief engineer of the Board of Estimate and his able assistant, both of whom are beyond draft age, and the activities of the Topographical Bureaus ought to be certainly suspended until after the war. There should be no more passenger motor service. Legislation should be sought so that only privates and non-commissioned officers should receive from the city the difference between the army pay and their former salaries.

"There are 471 court attendants, many of whom are within the draft age. Vacancies in this branch of city service should not be filled and the Board of Estimate can, we think, successfully seek legislation giving it absolute control of all salaries paid in the courts and in county offices. We are entering upon a period of great financial stress that will not end with the war. Local municipal government has almost disappeared in Europe and the entire financial resources of the country are placed at the disposal of the Central Government.

"The agencies for the protection of life and property, the education and safe guarding of children, and the tribunals for the adjudication of disputes and the punishment of crime must be maintained and fully supported. So must also hospitals and institutions for the poor, and those mentally and physically defective, but beyond this the government should be as simple and as inexpensive as possible.

"If a modification of the terms of the franchises of the operating subway companies, so as to permit a higher passenger rate, will obviate the necessity for a twenty-three point increase in the 1919 tax levy, such modification should be made at once.

"There are hundreds of thousands of transients, and residents of other communities, of other States, now riding in the city subways partially at the expense of rent payers and taxpayers. Even in normal times the operating companies would lose in transporting citizens of Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle to Coney Island, but with the present increased cost of every element of operation every individual transaction of transportation from adjacent territory is at a loss. With the minimum wage for unskilled labor between $4 and $5 a day the ordinary passenger is far more able to pay the increased cost of operation than the property owner. The Board of Estimate should take the matter up at once and save 23 points in the levy.

"There is one item of possible saving about which there can be no question, and that is the appropriation for motor service. At least $100,000 yearly can be saved by suspending motor service for city officials during the continuance of the war. The use of passenger automobiles for all but war purposes has entirely disappeared in Europe. In the city of Copenhagen, for instance, there are but two in use. One is for the King and the other for the Foreign Minister. There is no more reason for the city to pay for bringing an official to and from his work than to perform the same service for a private citizen. A small increase in fares in the subways at least, and the suspension of motor service would save 23 points in the levy.

Harlem Records Installed in Public Library

Bought From Riker Estate by Title Guarantee and Trust Company and Now Turned Over to City

THOSE interested in the history of Old New York and those owning property in what was known as the Old Town of Harlem, have been disturbed numerous times during the past twenty years by rumors of disclosures that might be made some day, were it possible to secure access to the old records of the Town of Harlem.

It was stated that if the contents of these records could be brought to light, much Harlem property would change hands but that the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, in its efforts to protect itself under policies issued to present holders of Harlem property, had secured these records and transported them out of the State.

This mare's nest has been disposed of finally for the Harlem records in toto have been presented by the Title Guarantee & Trust Company to the New York Public Library and are now temporarily on exhibition in six glass cases in room 113 on the first floor of the Library Building at Fifth avenue and 42nd street, directly opposite the main Fifth avenue entrance.

The story of the Harlem records is as follows: James Riker, the well known author of Riker's History of Harlem, unearthed these records in the cellar of the old Harlem Library where they had long lain forgotten in a very much mutilated condition. He carefully repaired them and had them translated by the Rev. Cornelius Westbrook. In later years, evidently, he had frequent occasion to revise the earlier and far from perfect translation. From these books, Mr. Riker wrote his History of Harlem and the books became a part of his estate.

In speaking of the connection of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company with the records, Mr. Clarence H. Kelsey, president of the company, says:

"We bought them from the Riker estate, influenced by the statement that they contained much that would tend to disquiet titles in that part of the city. A careful study of them showed that they had practically no real estate value whatever and, above all, nothing that in any way affected the title to the present holders of property in Harlem.

"The general public, however, has suspected constantly that we were concealing the contents of these books for our own purpose, while, as a matter of fact, we simply refused to get them out every few days for some troublemaker to paw over. In the Library, they will be in a position where any suspicion of this kind may be laid at rest and where, under proper supervision, they can be examined by the people who want to see them."

As the sum paid by the Title Guarantee & Trust Company for these books was represented by five figures, their gift to the city is one of considerable importance.

The records consist of nine small thin volumes, written in Dutch, The Original Records of the Old Village of Harlem, and form the nucleus of the collection. These contain not only the real estate transactions, but wills, surveyors' reports, auditors' accounts, and lawsuits, many of the latter of the most trivial nature.

Everything of interest in the simple annals of the village was entered here; from the important announcement that "This day, 10th August, 1673 New Style, have the Holland and Zeeland fleets captured the fort at N. York * * * and the City obtained the name New Orange," to the brief memorandum of the Town Clerk, "Set hen to brood, 15th July, 1675."

The first entry bears the date of January 13, 1662, and is in the handwriting of the first town clerk, Dr. Johannis de La Montagne. Strangely enough, no records seem to have been kept before this date, although the "New Village or Settlement at the end of the Island" had been authorized by Stuyvesant and the Council, March 4th, 1658.

The reasons given by the Governor for the establishment of the village sound prophetic: "For the further promotion of agriculture—for the security of this Island * * * as well as for the further relief and expansion of this City Amsterdam in New Netherland," reads the proclamation. As Wall Street defined the North boundary of Manhattan, and as the new village was to occupy "the end of the Island," there remained a considerable area for expansion. The City Fathers of 1658 took a long look ahead.

Montagne kept the records for ten years. Following his death in 1672, Hendrick Jansen Vin kept them until 1684, when he too died. Vander Vin's entries are written in a beautiful clerkly hand. His columns of figures, regular, neat and accurate, will compare favorably with a bank ledger of to-day. No doubt Hendrick cut his own quill pens and made his own ink from the iron fillings gathered around the village smithy and steeped in a brewing of nut galls. His work still lives, vivid and clear. The aniline inks of to-day will hardly look as well two hundred and fifty years hence. Under Vin's successor was Jan Tiebout, a Fleming by birth, "late School Master at Flatbush." He served the town from January, 1685, until 1699, with the exception of the year 1690-1691, when Guliaem Bertholf took his place.

In September, 1699, Adriaen Vermeule became town clerk and held this position until 1708, when he was released from his duties at Harlem to take the position of "Reader" at the Church in Bergen, now part of Jersey City. Vermeule's records are also beautifully written. Marcus Tiebaut succeeded Vermeule in his secretarial duties until May, 1711, when Captain Charles Congreve, an Englishman, took up the town clerk's work. He reported the town meetings and minor matters until 1713, his entries being in English, naturally.

From this time forward the entries are irregular and scattering. The explanation for this is to be found in the fact that real estate records, wills, contracts, &c., were required to be entered in the various offices in the City of New York.

Another small paper-covered volume contains the New Harlem Deacon's Books. The first book "begun 26 July, 1672, by Mr. Joost Van d'Oblinis, with Daniel Tournour extends to August 28, 1675; then the records are missing until April 22, 1685. They end July 2, 1694. The earlier book, begun by the Deacons, seems to have been kept up by Vander Vin. The last book is in the handwriting of Jan Tiebout. The latter book is much mutilated.

There are useful and valuable topographical maps of the Netherlands and many note books filled with extracts from French and Dutch works in the collection, as well as copious extracts from early American sources, some of them not elsewhere available. All the data on which Riker founded his "Annals of Newton" will also be found here, also much research into Long Island family history, including copies of Town and Church Records.

All of this material, while it is of enormous value to the history of our city, would be completely lost in one of the city offices. In the custody of the New York Public Library it will be made available for the student.

A. N. GITTERMAN, Chairman of the War Garden Committee, has made a report of the work accomplished this summer to the Department of Parks, which is exceedingly interesting. The report says:

"The area under cultivation for War Gardens has shown an increase of 70% over the 900 operated last year. This year's total is 1,550 gardens, exclusive of the backyard gardens, which are 600 in number.

"This leaves 800 that were capable of cultivation, of which over 500 are now in use and have produced value of $22,385.

Contractors Organize National Association

Builders Call Convention to Meet in Chicago November 20 and 21—
Action Follows Temporary Organization

FINDING the organization of the contractors of the United States in a representative national association "necessary and feasible," the temporary executive committee, formed to create such an organization met in the rooms of the General Contractors' Association, 51 Chambers street, New York, Monday and Tuesday of this week and planned to issue a call to all general contractors to attend a national convention to be held in Chicago, November 20 and 21, at which meeting it is proposed to perfect the organization of a national association.

D. A. Garber, president of the Northeastern Construction Co., of New York, was chairman of the temporary executive committee meeting, and H. D. Hammond, of the Engineering News-Record, acted as secretary. Noble F. Hoggson, of Hoggson Brothers; J. W. Cowper, of Buffalo; E. J. Thomas, of Memphis; M. D. Smith, of Detroit, and N. H. Mayo, of Boston, made up the balance of the members at the meeting. C. A. Crane, secretary of the General Contractors' Association, and Mr. McIsaac, of the firm of Smith, Hauser & McIsaac, were invited to attend and take part in the discussion.

The temporary executive committee was originally appointed at the convention of the building industries held in Atlantic City, July 18, and was subsequently enlarged in order to make it representative of all sections of the country and existing organizations. It drafted a tentative form of constitution which was considered and revised at the meeting, and which will form the basis for action of coming convention. The main features of this constitution provide for the control of the affairs of the association by an elective board, with the usual officers, through a paid secretary who will maintain the offices of the association.

Owing to the press of war work in its manifold phases it was not possible, it was announced, to select a date on which the entire committee could assemble, but members representing associations of contractors at Buffalo, Memphis, Detroit, Boston and New York undertook to proceed with the business of calling the convention upon authorization by telegram and letter from all but four of the committee asked to serve. The absent members presented their views in writing on the proposed constitution and purposes of the organization, and without exception urged that early action be taken.

The committee adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, it is the sense of the Committee that the organization of the general contractors of the United States into a national association is necessary and feasible, therefore,

"Be it resolved: that a convention of the general contractors throughout the country be called to meet in Chicago, on November 20 and 21 next, for the purpose of forming a permanent organization; and

"Be it further resolved: that an invitation be extended to all general contractors to attend, and that the invitation set forth fully the purposes for which the convention is called."

After the passage of this resolution, it was decided to call the committee together in Chicago, just prior to the convention, at 10 a.m. on November 18.

War service and the position of the contractor during the remainder of the war, including both means for rendering the most efficient immediate service and means for maintaining the war volume of construction work so far as will not interfere with the needs of the Government, were the subjects of a large part of the discussion, and plans which can be immediately put into effect upon the formation of a permanent organization were considered at great length.

State Tax Commission Effects Equalization

Increase in State Budget for 1917 Was $1,750,000, and the Direct
State Tax Was Less by Two Points Than for 1916

IN an address delivered at the Buffalo convention of the Real Estate Association of the State of New York, Hon. Walter H. Knapp, president of the State Tax Commission, called the attention of the convention to the fact that notwithstanding the addition of something over five millions of dollars to the state budget due to war expenses, the increase in the state budget over the year 1917 was only about $1,750,000, and the direct tax was fixed at 1.06 mills upon the dollar, as compared with 1.08 mills on a dollar for the year 1917. This direct state tax is only sufficient to pay the interest and provide for the sinking fund for the bonded indebtedness of the state. The direct state tax of 1917 yielded about $13,000,000 and was all used for the debt service of the state, except about the sum of $17,000 which went into the general fund. There is no direct state tax this year except to provide for the interest and principal of the funded debt.

He also expressed the opinion that notwithstanding the possible reduction of revenues from liquor taxes, the probable increase in revenue from the 3 per cent. net earnings or franchise tax upon manufacturing and mercantile corporations and the general franchise tax, and the probable increase in the stock transfer tax, would be sufficient to meet any increased expenditures due to the war. This, however, is purely speculative, but is, Judge Knapp believes, a reasonable deduction from present conditions.

Neither the state budget nor the local expenditure of money for public purposes is within the jurisdiction of the State Tax Commission. The Commission is merely charged with the administration of the tax law in the supervision of local assessments, the apportionment of mortgage taxes, the assessment of special franchises and the assessment of general franchises of manufacturing and mercantile corporations under the new net earnings law, known as the Emerson law. In the administration of the statute just referred to, it will be two years or more before it can be ascertained with any degree of certainty the probable average annual revenue from this source, as the conditions now are abnormal, and the Commission has thus far been unable to get reports from all of the sixty thousand or more corporations, domestic or foreign, that are transacting business in this state.

Judge Knapp dwelt at length upon the subject of the equalization of real estate assessments among tax districts and individuals, and mentioned the progress which had been made in cleaning up equalization cases which this Commission inherited, and in preventing discriminations as between tax districts brought about by political or geographical combinations resulting in very great injustice to the taxpayers of some of the districts. Many tax districts have been required to pay back sums aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars, where inequitable equalization methods have been used.

One of the results of the determination of the Commission to stop this evil practice and bring about fair assessments of real estate has been an increase in the past four years of upwards of one billion dollars in the assessed value of real estate in the State of New York. The increase during the year 1917 was approximately half a billion.

Success—A Battle Won

With the opening of the fourth Liberty Loan campaign today the loyal people of the United States are put to the test as never before.

Secretary McAdoo has announced that it will be necessary for the Government to raise during the next three weeks six billions of dollars through the sale of Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds. This not only is the largest offering of bonds yet made by the United States Government, but it also is a larger offering than ever before has been made by any nation in the history of the world. These bonds will run from fifteen to twenty years and will bear interest at  $4\frac{1}{4}$  per cent.

To make a success of this great undertaking is the one vital problem now confronting our people. Those who remain here at home need not bother themselves about the developments on the western front in France, or in Macedonia, or in Italy, or in Palestine. The fighting Over There is being attended to by splendid, brave men, every one of whom is doing his part magnificently toward the winning of the war. It is, however, proper for the men Over There to follow closely what the people back home are doing about the fourth Liberty Loan, and there is every reason to assume that between battles they will do so.

"Are the people back home standing behind us?" is the question bound to be heard wherever American soldiers or sailors are engaged.

There must be no mistake about the answer the people back home make. The fourth Liberty Loan must be subscribed with a hurrah.

Secretary McAdoo, in his inspiring address at Carnegie Hall the other evening, notified the people of the New York district that they are expected to subscribe $1,800,000,000 of the fourth loan. This is just double the amount this district was called upon to take of the third loan. The quota of every other district in the United States likewise has been doubled.

To the New York district has been assigned the duty of subscribing for three-tenths of the new loan. Great as this work will be the loyal men and women of the New York district already have made preparations for meeting the Government's wishes. In all directions are seen evidences of the constructive plans essential to success and of the splendid spirit which never fails. The leaders in all lines of activity in New York are ready, their lieutenants have been organized, and the task of each has been set.

"The success of the loan will be a battle won; failure will be a retreat," as Benjamin Strong, chairman of the New York Liberty Loan Committee, truly says, "and these are not days when the American armies are retreating!"

After Peace—What?

A number of developments since this country entered into the war in the relations between capital and labor point to the probability that labor will continue to be highly paid for a considerable time, if not indefinitely, after peace comes and the nation turns again to its normal activities.

There is the established fact that it is much easier to advance wages than to bring about a lower scale. Only a prolonged financial crisis, which paralyzes industry and curtails all business expansion, or a tremendous immigration of cheap European labor have ever effected any great difference in the bulk of the pay envelope. It is, of course, foolish to predict that this country will never again encounter panicky conditions, but it is not unreasonable to assume that a financial system that has successfully weathered the extraordinarily severe strains of the last four years will have less difficult sailing in the reconstruction period. It is also to be considered that the United States has become a creditor instead of a debtor nation and that this will ease our position if a world-wide financial cataclysm should follow the war.

"Cheap labor" has become less by many millions. These sturdy soil-stained toilers who were wont to batter at our doors have shown their metal and shed their blood on many a bitterly contested field. They helped build up this country and they have given their lives that this nation might continue to grow greater and, let us hope, stronger to do good. Those who are left will find much to do to re-establish the countries that gave them birth. Their hearts will urge them to stay in their native land rather than to seek new homes over here.

Our own returning soldiers who do not find their old places open to them will no more than fill the demands of our new and tremendously expanding commerce. When the war pressure is removed business will boom and there will be acute need of many men to carry it on.

These factors remove the greatest agencies which in the past have brought about a lowering of wages, or at least make the possibility of a scaling downward of labor's share in the returns from business more remote.

Labor is admittedly "digging in" in the forward trenches to which it has arrived and in this work of "consolidation" of its position it is being generously aided by the full power of the present national administration, worked out through Secretary Wilson and the Department of Labor. In the same category of proponents of the establishment of labor in a fortified position is the Taft-Walsh Board, which has Governmental sanction. The rulings of this Board, which have so far been eminently fair, nevertheless tend to the construction of a foundation upon which the whole fabric in which labor and capital are jointly engaged can be solidly and enduringly built. Stability of the labor resources of the country is not less important than the stability of its finances. We have the Federal Reserve Bank, which controls by pooling the resources of the country and equalizing the financial strain. We are working towards the Establishment of Labor in such manner as to bring about countrywide interchangeability of supply and demand at rates of pay that are just and equitable. When this condition is arrived at, labor can always be convertible into cash upon favorable terms. The Labor Reserve Bank will look out for that.

In the last few days there has come the recognition of the eight-hour day by the most representative corporation in the country, the United States Steel Company. This corporation has been an open shop and has, except for a limited number of employees, kept its huge force at work ten hours a day. There are 275,000 workers in its many rolling mills, glass furnaces, mines and transportation organizations and three-fourths of these were ten-hour men.

Last spring Judge Gary declared, in announcing a wage increase and the determination of the company to continue the ten-hour day in the majority of its activities, that the officers believed this plan would bring about the largest production. Now, although no official explanation is given for the changed policy, it is understood that it has been found that production will not be adversely affected on the eight-hour basis; that the company felt the necessity of yielding to the general pressure for shorter hours to stave off labor troubles. The action of the company means an average increase of ten per cent. in wages and the effect of the change in policy is already widespread. Another steel company is arranging its business on a co-operative plan. It will be more impossible to return to a ten-hour day than to reduce wages.

All of these things, and not all of the signs of the times have been mentioned, point to the probability that production, for some time after the war, will be carried on upon a basis of high wage cost. If this is true, building can only be done at the same cost that prevails today or at a slightly lower scale and this means that those who hold property already developed may count on a continuation of the present returns on their investments; those who build as soon as restrictions are removed need not fear the competition of more cheaply constructed buildings put up a few years later. We must accustom ourselves to a higher plane, higher costs, and greater gross revenues, and plan accordingly.

New York's Big Asset

Considerable criticism has been aimed at State and National authorities on the ground that the new and immensely expensive State Barge Canal has not been made more use of in the transportation of grain and coal. The National Railroad Administration has been charged with discriminating against the canal in favor of the railroads. These officials have had the temerity to continue tending to their own business and have said nothing. Just now their business happens to be helping this nation in the conduct of the war.

General W. W. Wotherspoon, State Superintendent of Public Works, has made public the figures showing the business done through the canals for this season to August 15, which disclose the fact that there has been an actual increase of 80,000 tons carried by the system over the amount handled during the same period last year.

Answering the claim that the canal has not been used for the transportation of wheat, General Wotherspoon states that whereas in 1917 there were 41 million bushels of grain received at Buffalo by lake carriers, only 7,300,000 bushels reached the end of the canal this year. Notwithstanding this great decrease in the amount of grain arriving at Buffalo the canal handled more grain than last year, although the amount in the entire period is small. He declares that the railroads moved about one-half as much grain from Buffalo eastward as was carried by the canal. The fact is that the grain was not there for shipment, probably because of a lack of tonnage. The canals, however, carried a large amount of flour, milled in Buffalo, of which the largest part was for military use, and the War Department officials expressed satisfaction with the movement and condition of the flour thus transported.

Thus another bugaboo has been laid to rest. Truth is, the canal is a big thing. It has cost a lot of money. It constitutes the most splendid inland waterway in the world, says General Wotherspoon, and he ought to know.

Like all big things it will take a little time to get this huge machine into smooth working order. Some day, not far off, when it is possible to have more and larger canal boats, there will be an almost continuous stream of commerce flowing towards New York City, between the banks of this wonderful and cheap carrier. The differential of 25 per cent. in the rates assures this, and as the canal management has been separated from that of the railroads danger of evil influences from that quarter is removed.

The canal was built by the State, and will do much towards making it prosperous. But the canal is after all a big asset for this city, which will derive the greatest benefit from it. The canal terminals must be finished as soon as possible. They are a war necessity.

Bill Affects Title Companies

viewpoint is not that of selfish interest but of the general welfare. This is evident if we remember that the great majority of its members are serving as the trustees for the many billions of dollars of trust funds placed with savings banks, insurance companies, mortgage companies, stockholders and estates. Both value of real property and community prosperity involve many incidents such as provision of adequate building space at low rentals, ample mortgage funds at low interest, proper rapid transit, efficient sanitation, low cost of living, and especially the very best rail and water terminals in the world. Public budgets and taxation have now assumed new relations to all of these problems, as is reflected by our work.

"In view of the present and future needs of government we should not overlook the fact that a closer touch of businessmen with public offices might produce not only greater economy but more efficiency. As a 'new source of revenue' there is none more desirable. Such work requires skill and experience but the uselessness of mere superficial criticism is very evident."

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Vendor's Lien.

THE Arkansas Supreme Court holds, Harrah v. Ayres, 202 S. W. 823, that a person exchanging land for other land by a contract providing that he is to receive the rental on such other property after a specific date, had no vendor's lien for unpaid rent, where, owing to delay, the former owner remained in possession under a subsequent agreement to pay rent, as the amount of rent was uncertain at the date of the contract and the rental was no part of the purchase price.

Lease With Option to Buy.

The North Carolina Supreme Court holds, Jerome v. Setzer, 95 S. E. 616, that a written contract stipulating that at the request of the tenants on or before December 9 the landlord would sell and convey the property to them for $1,200 on terms of $50 cash, the remainder to be evidenced and secured by note and mortgage on the property, and also that the sale was to be made at the option of the tenants, their heirs and assigns, to be exercised on or before December 9, and that if the tenants should not demand of the landlord the deed provided for on or before such date, the agreement should be null and void, etc., was only an option to buy, in which time is generally of the essence, and it created no interest on behalf of the tenants in the property itself until there was an acceptance according to its terms within the specified time or recognition of the estate and interest by the conduct of the parties and in waiver of the stipulations.

Rights of Mortgagee.

The Arkansas Supreme Court holds, Fry v. White, 201 S. W. 1105, that where the owners of land mortgaged it, and it was subsequently partitioned among them, and through various deeds various purchasers assumed mortgages, a subsequent mortgagee of one of the purchasers was not an innocent purchaser, since he was bound by the recitals of his title deeds, which had been made prior to the time of the mortgage.

Fraud in Exchange of Properties.

The Missouri Supreme Court holds, Laird v. Keithley, 201 S. W. 1138, that representations pertaining to past and existing facts made by one party to an exchange of properties which were false in fact and resulted in defrauding the other party were actionable. One party to the exchange could not defeat recovery by the other on the ground of fraud by the contention that he had no personal knowledge of the fraud accomplished by false representations of his agents, since the law would hold him liable for the conduct of his agents within the scope of their authority.

Easements of Light, Air and Access.

The New York Appellate Division holds, Lee v. Pruyn Lumber & Supply Co., 169 N. Y. Supp. 903, that where the owner of a plot laid it out into streets and building lots, filed a map in the proper county clerk's office, and conveyed a lot, bounding it on one side by a street indicated on the map, but never accepted as a public street, the grantee was entitled to easements of light, air, and access in and over the street, and to a right to have it kept open and unobstructed for the benefit of his property. The grantee of the remainder of the plot was charged with notice of the first grantee's easements in the street. Easements appurtenant of light, air, and access to property abutting upon a street or open space are inseparable from the dominant estate, and upon its conveyance pass to the grantee, notwithstanding the grantor's attempted reservation thereof, or of any rights of action for a trespass.

Parties to Action for Rent.

The New York Appellate Division holds, Salvation Army v. Dorf, 169 N. Y. Supp. 1041, that in an action on a lease, brought against the tenant as an individual, wherein it was questionable whether the tenant was a corporation or an individual, it was error to dismiss the complaint on the defendant's suggestion that the tenant was a corporation, since the plaintiff had a right to rely on his copy of the lease, signed by the defendant in his individual capacity.

Disposal of Rents, Etc.

The Illinois Supreme Court holds, Kramp v. Thornton, 205 Ill. App. 622, that the provision in a trust deed as to the rents, issues and profits collected during the redemption period, which directs the receiver to pay "any rents that may be collected after such sale and before the time of redemption expires, to the purchase or purchasers of said premises at such sale or sales," does not pledge the rents, issues and profits collected during the period of redemption, but they belong to the owner of the equity of redemption unless he has assumed the indebtedness and there is a deficiency decree against him personally.

Eminent Domain.

A landowner, entitled to a warrant for certain condemnation money, instead of demanding its delivery, submitted to the county board the question whether he or his grantee was entitled to the warrant, stating, among other things, that he felt "sure that, when the facts are known by you, no better tribunal can be found to decide our relative rights than your honorable body." Thereafter the vendee appeared before the board, and upon his showing the warrant was delivered to him. Later the vendor sued the board to recover the amount and value of the warrant. The Kansas Supreme Court held, Lillard v. Board, 172 Pac. 518, that he was estopped and could not recover.

Description in Mortgage.

It is held that a mortgage which described the land as having a frontage of a certain number of feet and extending back a stated distance, and which set out the boundaries on each side, and further described the property as being that conveyed to the mortgagor by a deed of certain date and recorded on a specified date, fully identified the land. Re Corbitt, 248 Fed. 988.

Right to Commission.

The New York Appellate Division holds, John Reis Co. v. Post, 170 N. Y. Supp. 610, that a defendant owner's written memorandum of a proposed exchange in the following terms recognized that the plaintiff as broker was already acting for the other party. "This is to say that I will agree to the following sale and exchange of properties with a client of yours, in connection with deal now pending, and am prepared to sign contracts immediately you advise me that my proposition is accepted, and with the further understanding that the commission to you on my property will be at the rate of one and a half per cent. on the purchase or sale price." Hence the trial court rightly delivered to dismiss on the ground that the plaintiff was to get a commission from both sides.

Deposit of Security.

The New York Appellate Division holds, Cohen v. Birns, 170 N. Y. Supp. 560, that where a lessee made a deposit as security for performance and the lessor conveyed the property, in order to recover the deposit from the vendee, it is necessary to prove, not only that the vendee received an amount equal to the deposit, but also that the vendee agreed with the grantor or lessee to pay it. In all such cases, and there are a great many of them, an actual promise to pay the debt of a third person or a clear assumption of the obligation is recognized as a prerequisite to the legal right of the third person to sue. The covenant in the lease to repay the deposit was a personal covenant on the part of the then owner of the premises, and did not run with the land.

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Few Sales Consummated but Several of Particular Interest
Are Negotiated—Steamship Company Buys Permanent Home

THE past week has been marked by few sales of any great magnitude, although a few sales with interesting features were consummated. In the sales reported business property, apartments and vacant land figured with several trades of interest as well in the list.

A deal involving the exchange of two Washington Heights apartment properties 261 and 267 Audubon avenue, on the northeast corner of 178th street, owned by Mrs. Bessie Ruth, and the block frontage on the north side of East 168th street, extending from Third avenue to Fulton avenue, owned by Mrs. Blanche B. Newkirk, was negotiated. The assessed valuation of the Washington Heights property is $110,000 and of the Bronx property $63,000. These properties were registered under the Torrens system and is the largest transaction recorded to date under this system of registration. Another deal involving a trade was that of the purchase by Alois Soeller from Frederick Brown, the operator, of 502 West 173d street, a five-story apartment house, Mr. Brown taking in part payment the Eureka Hotel property on New York avenue at Huntington, Long Island. The latter property comprises about an acre of land and is improved with a three and one-half story frame hotel, garage sheds, etc., and was held at $18,000. Mr. Soeller also gave a vacant plot 50x100 on the west side of Bailey avenue in the Bronx, free and clear.

In the downtown business section, the Atlantic & Pacific Steamship Company purchased for its permanent home the Storm Building, a five-story structure at the northwest corner of Old Slip and Water street, from August Klipstein, and the adjoining five-story building at 8 Old Slip from the Paradies Estate. The combined properties have an area of 14,425 feet, and will be occupied exclusively by the new owners, a subsidiary of William R. Grace & Company.

The four-story dwelling at the southwest corner of Second avenue and Fifteenth street, occupied for many years by members of the old Stuyvesant family, was purchased by the Cloak Pressers Union for use after alterations as their headquarters. Mrs. Rutherford Stuyvesant sold the property through Pease & Elliman. The property, which has not been used by the Stuyvesant family for several years, was held at $100,000.

Residents of Washington, D. C., figured as principals in the sale and purchase of a one-half interest in the six-story Martin building at 333 Fifth avenue southeast corner of Thirty-third street, assessed by the city at $270,000. The seller was Harrison G. Fyar and the buyer a Mr. Ford. The property has not changed hands before in many years, the last deed recorded being dated March 16, 1860.

A lease of unusual interest was consummated on Tuesday when Philip Weinstein & Sons leased to Interstate Garages, Inc., Duncan B. Harrison, managing director, the modern four-story Gothic garage at 239 to 245 East 56th street. The lease is for twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of about half a million dollars.

The Deutscher Verein or German Club at 112 Central Park South has been taken over under a lease by the Red Cross for use as a home for convalescent soldiers and the name of the house has been changed to Lafayette House. The rental is a nominal one and the New York Chapter of the American Red Cross. The building contained fifty-five spacious rooms and has been fitted up to accommodate one hundred men now, and later two hundred will be taken care of.

Apartment and private dwelling leasing was fairly active this week with apartments, of course, in greatest demand, although space for business purposes and offices was rented in all parts of the city, with the greatest activity shown downtown, where tenants are crowded for room and seek larger quarters.

Exchange Under Torrens System.

An important real estate transaction has just been completed in which the machinery of the Torrens system was successfully employed. The deal involved the exchange of two Washington Heights apartment properties, Nos. 261-267 Audubon avenue, on the northeast corner of 178th street, owned by Mrs. Bessie Ruth, exchanged for the block frontage on the north side of East 168th street, extending from Third avenue to Fulton avenue, owned by Mrs. Blanche B. Newkirk. The assessed value of the Manhattan property bought by Mrs. Newkirk is $110,000, and of the Bronx property bought by Mrs.

Ruth is $63,000. The Bronx property has been taken over by Abraham Ruth, who will improve it in a substantial manner.

Both properties were registered under the Torrens system. The cost for official fees for the Bronx property was $161.84 and for the Manhattan property was $264.53. These fees were paid into the City treasury and include the full examination of title and assurance under the County Assurance Fund. The parties were represented by their attorney, William L. Carns, 128 Broadway, New York, who is vice-president of the Torrens Title League. The court proceedings were conducted by Walter Fairchild, 1 Liberty street, counsel of the Torrens Title League. Supreme Court Justice Ottinger signed the judgment registering the title of the Manhattan property and Justice Mitchell signed the judgment in the Bronx proceeding. This is the largest transaction recorded to date under the Torrens system.

UNITED SERVICE

Adequate Provision

should be made in the construction of new and the remodeling of old buildings, for the many labor-saving and money-saving electrical devices that have become essential to modern life.

To install an ample number of outlets often saves the re-arrangement and the re-decoration that are made necessary when it is found that there are too few points of distribution for the electrical current.

As a result of the protest that the Merchants' Association recently made by Charles A. Otis, Chief of the Resources and Conversion Section of the War Industries Board on behalf of the tenants in Buildings, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the Bush Terminal in Brooklyn, the order to the firms affected has been rescinded and they will be permitted to remain.

Announcement has been made from Washington that the Navy Department has countermanded its recent order to vacate these premises and the sixty-four firms, employing from thirty to three hundred hands and manufacturing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of merchandise annually for shipment to all parts of the world, will not be disturbed.

In regard to the removal of these firms Secretary Daniels in a letter to Secretary Redfield stated, "It was expected to be necessary to take over additional buildings at the Bush Terminal, but the navy will establish at Phillipsburgh, N. J., a supply depot which will render further commandeering unnecessary."

After the order to vacate by December 1 the sixty-four firms that were affected by the action undertook to find manufacturing and warehouse space in Brooklyn and the neighboring boroughs of the city with but a small measure of success and many had come to the conclusion that their only possible procedure was to locate in other parts of the State or in New Jersey. This would have entailed a serious industrial loss to New York City and was the basis of the protest made by the Merchants' Association to the War Industries Board.

Of approximately one hundred tenants in the Printing Crafts Building at the southwest corner of Eighth avenue and 34th street, which was recently taken over by the Government for the use of the Quartermaster General of the United States twenty-four firms have already moved to new quarters and the balance of the tenants in the building will move out just as soon as they are able to locate the space they require. E. R. Lee Thayer has moved to 45 West 34th street; Decorative Designers to 45 West 34th street; Wm. A. ing five-story building, 8 Old Slip, from the Paradies estate, Philipp Paulus, executor. The combined properties, having an area of 14,425 square feet, will be occupied exclusively by the new owners. The property is opposite the new establishment of William R. Grace & Co., and proximate to India House, the meeting place of all shipping interests in this city. Wm. A. White & Sons were the brokers in the deal.

Apartment House in Trade.

Frederick Brown sold 502 West 173d street, a five-story apartment, 50x100, held at $65,000, to Alois Soeller, who gave in part payment the Eureka Hotel property, fronting 250 feet on New York avenue, opposite the railroad station at Huntington, L. I., comprising about an acre of land, including a 3½-story frame hotel, garage, sheds, etc., held at $18,000, and a vacant plot, 50x100, on the west side of Bailey avenue, 50 feet north of 192d street, The Bronx, free and clear, but below grade.

Continuation Auction Sale.

At the continuation auction sale of the fifty-six remaining lots in the block bounded by Utica avenue, Montgomery street, Schenectady avenue, Malbone street and Lefferts avenue, Brooklyn, a total of $18,650 was realized by the Jere Johnson, Jr., Company, for the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company. Among the buyers were Rudolph Norek, Frank H. Scott, C. H. Lohr, John Hefferman, John E. Gilroy, the Stone Avenue Realty Company, Charles H. Mundt, Albert A. Wilson, S. G. Frieser, Abraham Feingold, Philip Eisenberg and Lewis Rothenberg.

First Sale Since 1860.

A one-half interest in the six-story Martin building at 338 Fifth avenue, southeast corner of Thirty-third street, has been sold by Harrison G. Dyar to a Mr. Ford. Both principals are from Washington. The property fronts 24.8 feet on Fifth avenue and 70 feet on Thirty-third street, and it is assessed by the city for taxation purposes at $270,000. The consideration in the present sale of the half interest is said to be $100,000. The property has not changed hands for many years, the present ownership giving the name of Samuel A. Knopf, and the date March 16, 1860.

Deal of Unusual Interest.

A famous east side landmark was sold on Monday in a deal of unusual interest. The four-story dwelling at the southwest corner of Second avenue and Fifteenth street, occupied for many years by members of the Stuyvesant family, was bought by the Cloak Pressers' Union, which will alter and use it as their headquarters. Mrs. Rutherford Stuyvesant sold the property through Pease & Elliman. The house has not been used by the Stuyvesant family for several years. It is of brick construction and occupies a site fronting 103.3 on Second avenue, facing the Hebrew Technical School for Girls, and 43 feet on Fifteenth street, across from Stuyvesant Square, and has been held at $100,000.

Sale and Resale.

John L. Parish sold the five-story apartment house, on plot 50x100, at 705 West 170th street, adjoining the northeast corner of Haven avenue, for the Economy Real Property Company to the Chalmers Realty Company. The house has accommodations for twenty families and has been held at $72,000. The buyer has resold the property to the Masis Realty Corporation, Bedros G. Terzian, president. It was a cash deal and was made for investment. The house was taken in exchange by the Economy Real Property Company in January at a value of $74,000.

Manhattan.

South of 59th Street.

CHERRY ST.—James H. Cruikshank purchased from the Hahenmann Hospital the 5-story tenement at 306 Cherry st, on plot 25x80. Assessed by the city at $11,000. Harry Sugarman was the broker.

Again the Government comes to the people of the country with the request that they lend their money, and lend it upon a more liberal scale than ever before, in order that the great war for the rights of America and the liberation of the world may be prosecuted with ever increasing vigor to a victorious conclusion. And it makes the appeal with the greatest confidence because it knows that every day it is becoming clearer and clearer to thinking men throughout the nation that the winning of the war is an essential investment. The money that is held back now will be of little use or value if the war is not won and the selfish masters of Germany are permitted to dictate what America may and may not do. Men in America, besides, have from the first and are now dedicated both their lives and their fortunes to the vindication and maintenance of the great principles and objects for which our Government was set up. They will not fail now to show the world for what their wealth was intended.

Woodrow Wilson

Dollars that Fight

By SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE

The war will be won by men and ships, by guns and airplanes. To raise armies and supply them, to build the navy and support it, and to furnish ships and transport, we must have money in large amounts. The expenditures of the Government for the ensuing year are estimated at $24,000,000,000, a sum which baffles the imagination to conceive. That vast amount must come one-third from taxes and two-thirds from loans. The success of the Fourth Loan, like those that preceded it is, therefore, absolutely necessary. We must work with the highest speed, as if the war was to end in six months. We must prepare in every direction, as if it was to last for years. Speed and preparation are both expensive.

Without the Loans we cannot have either

We are fighting to secure a just, righteous and lasting peace. For a complete peace we must have a complete victory. It must not be a peace of bargain or negotiation. No peace which satisfies Germany can ever satisfy us. No peace that leaves Germany in a position to renew the war against us will be worth having. It will be far from sufficient to gain all our objects on the Western front—Belgium, Alsace-Lorraine, Italia Irredenta. The President with wisdom and foresight and great force expressed his determination to redeem Russia. Russia must not be left in Germany's hands. That would mean another war. Poland must be free. Slav republics must be established to bar the way between Germany and the East. Serbia and Roumania must be redeemed. All these things are essential. Nothing will bring them but complete victory and a peace dictated by us and our allies. It is a conflict of ideas. It is the principle of evil arrayed against the principle of good. It is the battle of freedom and civilization against barbarism and tyranny. We must win and we shall win.

We cannot win without money, and therefore, these Loans are vital, and the country should rally in all its strength and subscribe and oversubscribe the Fourth Liberty Loan

America's Coming of Age

By DR. FRANK CRANE

America is coming of age.

The nation's hundred years of democracy have been but the preparation for its manhood.

It is a cheap jibe to say that America was unprepared for this war. It has had the mightiest preparation in the history of nations. For over a century Destiny has been preparing in this New World a spirit of triumphant Democracy. Such a spirit cannot be made. It must be grown, inbred.

On this Western Continent Destiny has been training the young Galahad for the rescue of the world.

Nature has an antidote for every poison.

American Democracy Is the Antidote for German Autocracy

Every one of our wars has been for the same purpose: to liberate the common man.

The Revolution of 1776 was to get the privileged class of England off the backs of the American Colonists who were redeeming this wilderness.

The War of 1812 was to rescue American seamen from oppression.

The Mexican War was to liberate the settlers of Texas from the whimsy cruelty of Mexico.

The Spanish War was to save the people of Cuba from the tyranny of the Spanish Government.

Every time our army and navy have gone forth it has been to clean up some filthy autocracy.

But all of our wars have been but a preparation for our present task. We did not realize it. No man foresees his destiny, no nation foresees its mission. Yet the life of every nation, as of every man, is a plan of God.

God has been piling up riches on this continent until we are the wealthiest nation in the world. He has been sharpening our inventive skill and our business ability. Our training has been intensive.

Now God says, "America you are come of age. All I have done for you is to prepare you for the present conflict, for your real work. Go forth and make the world a decent place to live in."

At this time every son of America is called upon to do his utmost. The slacker is a traitor.

We are sending men across the ocean, men who are physically and mentally the pick of the world, an incomparable army. But the men at home must back them up.

It is as much our solemn duty to put our money into the Fourth Liberty Loan as it is the duty of the soldier to stand firm at his post in battle.

The Fourth Liberty Loan is to be our supreme effort. God helping us, we shall not be found wanting. Let us subscribe all we can, and a little more.

America, Civilization, Democracy, Humanity, expect every man to do his duty

The Boy From Next Door

YOU used to see him swing gaily down the street, radiant with the vigor of his sturdy young manhood. One day he came home in khaki; then his father told you, with mingled pride and foreboding, that he had "gone across" with his regiment.

Yesterday his name was on the casualty list—"slightly wounded"—and your face grew grave as you thought of the sorrow and suspense of his father and mother.

From every city street, every village, every community, the boy next door has gone to war.

Think of these thousands of splendid young Americans, reared in comfort, peace, and security, now suddenly plunged into that roaring inferno of battle with the hardened hordes of a desperately determined foe.

What are you doing to help them?

What are you doing to arm and protect them, and bring them home in safety? Have you bought Liberty Bonds? Have you bought all you possibly can?

Has it occurred to you that one more Bond, bought with a little additional effort, may save the life of the boy from the next door?

That We May Not Be Defeated by the Enemy

Does Such an American Exist?

Can there be any American who is not doing all he can to help win the war? Who pretends to believe that we could have kept out?

Who whines or growls about the little sacrifice he is asked to make?

Who gets panicstricken and thinks that it would be better to compromise with the Hun and listens to the serpent whisperings of German propaganda?

If such an American exists let him realize what Germany has done to Russia, which gave in and negotiated a cowardly peace.

There is only one thing for us all today and that is war to the bitter end—war until the Hun is utterly and completely destroyed.

For those who cannot fight, LIBERTY BONDS are the best possible weapons against the Hun.

America's Answer to German Savagery

“Force, to the Utmost”

That plunging squadron of German Cavalry, expecting to carry all before it in one mad rush, learned to the full, from a little body of American troops, the meaning of the President's words.

Force, greater even than the military rulers of Germany can imagine—the overwhelming, irresistible force of a great, free Nation aroused to fight for its Liberty and the Liberty of the World.

“Force to the Utmost”

Men by the Million! Shot, shell, guns, airplanes, tanks, ships—anything and everything required to drive home the meaning of the President's words to make plain, to the authors of the war, the fact that with such force, of men and of spirit, we must inevitably win.

Are YOU adding every ounce you can to the force behind our fighting men—the force we must exert to win the war?

Liberty Bonds—The Life Belts of a Nation

It stirs every American heart

Who was not thrilled to read of the American soldier who supported a wounded comrade, and fought his way with the little detachment back through the Boches to the American lines?

That is only one deed of heroism among the many happening every day and looked on as a matter of course by the boys fighting for us over there. It shows the stuff that's in them. They are our own sons and brothers. Is the same stuff in us over here?

We have the opportunity at home to show our patriotism by other deeds of valor. We can fight and we MUST fight. And we must WIN, no matter how heavy our burdens may be.

Our former habits are the Huns we've got to battle with. We can't go on living as we used to. We can't go on spending our money for things we like. We must set up new standards—war standards—and stick to them—loyally.

From now on there can be only one standard for those of us who fight behind the lines—by saving and lending

Liberty Bonds—The Torch of Liberty

I have a rendezvous with death—

I have a rendezvous with death
At some disputed barricade,
When Spring comes back with rustling shade
And apple-blossoms fill the air—
I have a rendezvous with death
When Spring brings back blue days and fair.

It may be he shall take my hand
And lead me into his dark land,
And close my eyes and quench my breath.
It may be I shall pass him still—

C—Charles Scribner's Sons

—ALAN SEEGER
(Killed in action July 5, 1916)

THIS American did not fail that rendezvous—and death did not pass him by. When he died the world lost a true poet. His death brings out in sharp relief how much one soldier who is lost to us—one man killed—may mean to the world.

So let us keep our rendezvous at home—our rendezvous with life. Let us look into our lives, our households, and see that they are mobilized for war. Let us save our money to save these men who daily have rendezvous with death. Let us keep our rendezvous with life and help them to win through and to come back to sunshine and happiness and home with victory on their banners.

They're in to Win

Fair targets, every one of these men, for the German riflemen and machine gunners hidden behind the parapet.

But they are not thinking of the bullets whizzing past them; of the shells bursting over their heads.

They are intent on one thing — to scale that bank, take the bridge head and win the day.

And these men are made of the same stuff as all true Americans who read these words.

If we are the same stuff, let us prove it.

Let us get into the fight as they do—to the limit—for Victory!

When You Fight--Fight

FIGHT as these American soldiers fought in the streets of Fismes. "They covered themselves with glory," the papers say. Of course they did—they are Americans.

They met the finest of the enemy's troops in a terrific hand-to-hand struggle. They used their guns—their bayonets—their bare fists. Every American soldier went after his man desperately, fearlessly, persistently, with one great driving purpose—to whip that Prussian Guard, to silence its machine guns—to win!

It's a pretty good way to fight—this American way. It wins battles over there, it will win a splendid victory over here—if we fight when we fight—if we buy Liberty Bonds to our utmost.

RECENT LEASES.

Hotel Men Lease Garage.

The modern four-story Gothic garage at 239 to 245 East 56th street has been leased by its builders, Philip Weinstein & Sons, to Duncan B. Harrison, managing director of the Inter-State Garages, Inc., for twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of about $500,000. The builders bought the property a year ago from the Williams estate and constructed the garage from a former stable. The Inter-State Garages, Inc., represent a group of hotel men who a few months ago bought the old Claussen-Flannigan brewery property on Second avenue, between 47th and 48th streets, as a site for the most costly garage in this country.

Red Cross Leases German Club.

Deutscher Verein, or German Club, at 112 Central Park South, has been taken over by the Red Cross for use as a home for convalescent soldiers and its name changed to the Lafayette House. For a nominal rental, much lower than it would bring in the open market, the board of governors of the club leased this five-story, 75-foot structure to the New York County Chapter of the American Red Cross. There are fifty-five rooms in the building, most of them spacious bedrooms, and thirty-five bathrooms. The building has been fitted up to accommodate 100 men and by the time it is in full working order 200 can be taken care of.

Lease Downtown Building.

Wm. A. White & Sons have leased for Charles Laue to Charles A. Anderson & Company, of No. 120 Broadway, the plot 55x200 feet at Nos. 387 to 389 West Broadway, running through to Nos. 73-75 Wooster street. There was formerly on this plot a five-story building which was destroyed by fire. The present owner purchased the property from the Lorillard Estate, and is now erecting for the new tenant a one-story and basement structure to be used for the importing and exporting of chemicals, metals and ores. The building will contain four skylights, 15x32 feet. The lease has been made for a long term at a rental approximating $100,000.

Manhattan.

AMES & CO. leased for Sidney M. McDougall to New York Association for the Blind 672 2d av. The building, after alterations, will be occupied by the association as an annex to their industrial plant in East 35th st.

ALBERT B. ASHFORTH, INC., leased the basement, parlor floor and 2d floor of 7291 Madison av to Dr. Isreal S. Wechsler; the 11th floor at 85 5th av to A. H. & F. Freyberg; space at 220 Broadway to Palmer Advertising Agency, the Joseph F. O'Brien, Marks & Clerk.

BRETT & GOODE CO. leased space to former tenants in the Printing Crafts Building as follows: Printing Machinery Corp. at 45 West 34th st; Fleming Press, Merritt & Handling and Southern Slav News Co. at 351-55 West 52d st; Radom & Neidorff and Bryant Press at 225-29 West 39th st; the Decorative Designers and Bromfield & Co. at 45 West 34th st; Osgood Co., Elliott Service Co. and Rosenberger & Hess at 141-45 West 36th st; Frank A. Skerl at 1926 Broadway; L. Alterson & Co. at 162 West 34th st; A. J. Buschmann Co. at 220 West 42d st; Synthetic Precious Stones Laboratories in the Queens Subway Building, Long Island City; and Martini Tempera Colors 24 East 13th st.

CARSTEIN & LINNEKIN leased for Cruikshank Co. the building at 739 to 741 Broadway to Samuel Phillipson & Co.

DUFF & BROWN CO. leased the following dwellings: 413 West 146th st to Magistrate F. B. House; 747 West 145th st to Mary Daly; 1283 Madison av to Dr. Sohn; 511 West 182d st to J. H. Barry, and 453 West 144th st to Dr. C. H. Barnes.

DUROSS CO. leased for Michael Hallanan the store at 9-11 Barrow st, corner of West 4th st, to Alexander Herz.

DOUGLAS L. ELLIMAN & CO. leased a large apartment at 270 Park av for Vanderbilt Avenue Realty Corp. to Charles Kaye; also 103 East 64th st for George Neiman to Mrs. Edwin C. Feigenbaum; and at 26 East 49th st for Advocate Realty Co. to Rosina Henly.

Standardized Contract for War Construction

New Form Designed to Speed Up Production, Prevent Fraud and Protect Federal Interests

Washington, Sept. 21, 1918.

The War Department authorizes the following statement:

STANDARDIZATION of contract clauses which will be incorporated in all future contracts made by the various purchasing agencies of the War Department has been completed. The clauses are designed principally to speed up production, to guard against fraud, to protect the interests of labor, and to guard and assure the interests of the Government and the contractors and thereby prevent legal complications.

The work of preparing the clauses has occupied the attention of a special committee of the General Staff for months. During this time all the various forms of contracts which have been used by the Government as well as dozens of others used between private individuals were examined in order that the best possible means of protection could be incorporated in the new classes. Owing to the possibility of conditions arising which heretofore have never been a factor between contracting parties, it was necessary to prepare special clauses for such eventualities.

With the idea of speeding up the settlement of disputes arising between the Government and the contractor regarding the adjustment of claims which might delay production during the settlement and further to make unnecessary the filing of lawsuits in the Court of Claims, a clause provides the means for the immediate adjustment of all such differences. In the event of the arising of any claims, doubts, or disputes, as to the performance or nonperformance of the contract which cannot be settled by mutual agreement, the question is placed before the Secretary of War or his duly authorized representative or representatives for adjustment. In the event that the matter is placed before a board, a majority decision of the latter shall be final, but permission to appeal directly to the Secretary of War within a limited time is allowed.

The Government retains the right to terminate any contract in the public interest. If the Government finds that the need for any contracted supplies no longer exists it can terminate the contract within a specified time. Definite provision is made for the payment of existing stocks and raw materials on hand for the completion of the contract and provision is made for the adjustment of all obligations assumed by the contractor for fulfilling this agreement. Arrangements are also made for the disposal of special facilities provided for the execution of the contract.

Three clauses are devoted to labor. One provides that in the cases specified by law the wages of laborers, operatives and mechanics doing any part of the work contemplated by the contract, in the employ of the contractor, shall be computed upon a basic day rate of eight hours work, with overtime rates to be paid for at not less than time and one-half time for all time in excess of eight hours.

In the event that labor disputes should arise directly affecting the performance of the contract or delaying its execution, the contractor may appeal to the Secretary of War for adjustment of the difficulty. The contractor is obligated to comply with such adjustment as may be made by the Secretary. If such a settlement involves an increase of wages, thereby placing a burden on the contractor, he will be compensated for the extra outlay. Likewise, in the event of a reduction of labor cost, the amount involved will be deducted from the cost in favor of the Government.

Contractors are obliged to comply with existing state laws and are also obligated not to employ in War Department contracts any minor under the age of 14 years or permit any minor between the ages of 14 and 15 years to work more than eight hours in any one day, more than six days in any one week, or before 6 A. M. or after 7 P. M. The employment of convict labor is prohibited, except in the event of an executive order, and then only under the terms of such an order.

On cost-plus contracts provision is made for a rigid inspection of costs, and the Government retains at all times the right to make checks and audits on materials and prices as well as setting up machinery of inspection to insure full value received. The accounting books of the contractor are always to be open to the Government's officers. The decision of the Accounting Officer in regard to proper costs shall prevail. The right to appeal directly to the Secretary of War is given to the contractor. The contractor must comply with the ruling that in all cost-plus contracts, proposed expenditures for labor and materials shall be approved in advance.

In this connection the War Department will follow its policy that wherever possible fixed-price contracts shall be used, but where it is to the advantage of the Government to use a cost-plus contract, a cost-plus fixed compensation contract will be used. All such contracts are subject to review by the Superior Board of Contract Review of the General Staff. The covenant against contingent fees as prescribed by executive direction will be incorporated in the new contracts. In this the contractor expressly warrants that he has not employed a third person to solicit or obtain the contract in his behalf and that he has paid no fee to secure it.

Contractors are obliged to provide protection to their plants against espionage, fire, explosion, acts of war, and acts of enemy aliens. The contractor shall, when required, report to the Government the citizenship, country of birth or alien status of any or all of his employees. The Government retains the right to prevent the employment of suspected persons or to demand their discharge from the employment of the contractor.

If at any time the Government is able to provide materials to the contractor, the latter is obliged to accept them, if he has not already made commitments, arrangements being made for satisfactory compensation.

The various supply bureaus of the Army are now preparing to adopt the new contract form.

Increases Rentals Are Not Exorbitant

FURTHER interesting data was recently obtained concerning the increased living costs with which the wage earners have had to contend with since the beginning of the war in 1914. The items which receive consideration as comprising the chief expenses of the family budget were clothing, food, sundries, light and fuel, and rent. Their increase appeared in the order enumerated. Retail prices of clothing showed variously large increases for the same articles of identical quality. Comparison of prices was obtainable through the co-operation of the retail stores in many localities, thereby enabling true comparisons. The result of this investigation showed an increase in the cost of clothing that amounted to seventy-seven per cent. Food came next on the list with an increase of sixty-two per cent. Other items followed with lowered percentages of increases.

It is of prime interest to note that the item of rent comes last on the list. Increases in rentals are generally reported to give only an average rise of fifteen per cent. This figure represents less than one-fourth of the advance shown in the cost of foodstuffs. This also confirms similar data established by previous investigations. However, it must be realized that considerable variation is noted in different localities. In communities but little unsettled in an industrial way by the war, rents have only advanced to a slight degree, if at all. In some cases an actual decrease has been reported. This is presumably true in places from which workers have withdrawn to migrate to industrial centers in search of higher wages in the munition plants, thus leaving a surplus of housing accommodations in the centers they leave. In a few unusual instances where congestion has resulted from a great influx of workers, as in the case of the shipbuilding plants along the seaboard, the increase in rentals have in some cases been reported as being one hundred per cent.

In general it was estimated that fifteen per cent. would be an ample figure to set as the average rate of rental increase.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

THROUGHOUT the local territory the building situation shows no radical change over the conditions of a week ago. The two most important features of the situation at present are the sustained volume of Government building operations and a steadily growing amount of activity along the line of industrial housing. In the latter phase of activity a number of contracts have recently been awarded for projects in close proximity to the Metropolitan district and plans for additional ones are now being worked out, the contracts for which will shortly be let.

Aside from the non-war operations now substantially underway the outlook is that practically no more projects that will not contribute in winning the war will be sanctioned for the duration of hostilities. The building industry is gradually reconciling itself to the seemingly drastic terms of the recent War Industries Board ruling, and a large percentage of operations for which plans were prepared will be held in abeyance until Federal requirements are less urgent, without effort on the part of prospective builders to obtain permission to construct from the War Industries Board.

Although no direct request by the Government that religious bodies cease structural operations for the period of the war each denomination has been asked to estimate what its building requirements will be during the coming year. The Government has suggested that all new construction be limited to buildings absolutely required by communities or needed to replace structures destroyed by fire. Newly formed congregations are asked to defer building until after the war. This policy has been generally adopted throughout the country.

The building material markets are almost without exception extremely quiet. What little activity, aside from the supply of materials to direct and indirect Government operations, is possible is for alteration projects and buildings where construction is well advanced. The price situation is practically unchanged. Building materials generally are holding firmly to the high levels that have now maintained for a long time, and even with the almost complete curtailment of non-war construction there is but slight possibility that a recession from existing levels is possible. Steadily advancing production costs will have the tendency to maintain prices notwithstanding the decreased demand.

Common Brick.—Notwithstanding the general curtailment of structural operations throughout the country the wholesale market for Hudson River common brick has experienced a fairly active week. The sales have picked up to some extent, a total of eighteen barges having been disposed of. Seven of these were consigned to Newark and other nearby New Jersey points and the bulk of the brick in these orders is said to be destined for Government construction. Although there has been no announced change in the wholesale price for Hudson River common brick and the quotations continue to range from $13.50 to $14 a thousand in cargo lots, alongside dock, there is apparently a weakening tendency to the market and it would not be surprising if in the near future prices would recede somewhat. Recent rumors of important requirements of common brick for Federal usage have not as yet materialized into tangible orders. There are hopes that the Government will soon announce the nature of its demands for common brick.

Up-river the manufacturing situation is extremely quiet. Producers are hampered particularly by the lack of labor both for brick making and for loading finished brick on the barges for shipment. The producing season is rapidly drawing to a close and from all accounts the amount of brick to be turned out during the balance of the year will be negligible.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, September 27, 1918. Condition of market: Demand improved; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $13.50 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 12; sales, 18. Distribution: Manhattan, 5; Brooklyn, 4; Bronx, 1; New Jersey points, 7; outside, 1.

Lumber.—Trade conditions in the local lumber markets are practically unchanged, but the situation is somewhat easier than it has been in the past by virtue of the improvement in the transportation facilities, which have been responsible for better shipments of new stocks from mill points. Both wholesale and retail dealers have their stocks in better shape today than they have been for many months, and ordinary orders are now being filled without difficulty. The demand at retail has fallen off to some extent, chiefly to the curtailment of building construction. Manufacturing consumers are a strong factor, however, and Government orders have been particularly heavy during the past two or three weeks. Prices in general are firm in both departments of trade, and there is every reason to predict a strict adherence to the existing high levels. There seems to be no possibility of a drop for a long time to come, and whatever price movement is noticeable will have an upward trend. Lumber producers have been greatly assured by the recent announcement of the War Industries Board that their labor forces will be spared in the coming draft as far as possible. District exemption boards have been advised that claims for exemption on industrial grounds made by workers in the lumber industry should be granted to necessary employees. Lumber firms will be ranked on the preference list according to the amount of material that they supply to the Government.

Structural Steel.—The local steel situation has been practically without feature during the past week. The curtailment of non-war construction has reduced to a minimum the demand for fabricated material for this purpose. Government requirements of fabricated shapes for building construction continue as one of the most important phases of the steel situation, and in every manner the Federal demands dominate the industry. Secretary Gifford of the Bridge Builders and Structural Society announces that during the month of August, 1918, fifty-seven per cent. of the entire capacity of the bridge and structural shops of the country was contracted for. The output for the month is said to have been approximately 102,600 tons. Less than five per cent. of this amount is reported to have been utilized for non-war building operations. At present the tonnage of fabricated steel that is finding its way into other than war work is a negligible quantity. Furthermore, it is possible that during the remainder of the year, much difficulty will be experienced in filling the orders of those classes of the priority list which represent concerns meeting direct war requirements. It is anticipated that Class B, of the priority list, which includes producers of materials indirectly contributing to war aims, will not be satisfactorily supplied.

Portland Cement.—The Portland cement interests are apparently marking time and the market situation indicates but little change over the conditions that have now maintained for some time. Manufacturers are all operating to the limit permitted by the War Industries Board and the major portion of their output is going directly to fill the demands of the Government or to industrial operations sanctioned as essential to the military program. No cement is being knowingly shipped for non-war construction and what little private business is current is for the completion of projects already well advanced. Prices are unchanged.

Electrical Supplies.—Demands from Federal departments continue to dominate the local market situation. Commercial orders and inquiries are steadily decreasing in volume as the inability to obtain material becomes more fully recognized. Supplies of essential materials depend largely upon the foresight of local jobbers in placing their orders with manufacturers. Incoming stocks of conduit are light and insufficient to fill the demands. The small-wire output has been materially curtailed owing to the urgency of the Government's wire requirements, which has utilized the small-wire machinery. Prices for electrical supplies have advanced in many instances during the current month, the increase being particularly noticeable in those lines using cotton to any extent.

Wire Products.—During the past two weeks 56,000 tons of black painted barbed wire were allocated to the mills, and inquiries are now current for 60,000 tons of barbed wire, scheduled for shipment to Italy, and upward of 90,000 tons said to be for Great Britain. It is generally believed that commencing with January the Government will take practically all of the barbed wire made in this country, which is estimated to be in the neighborhood of 50,000 tons a month. At the present time the output of wire and wire nails is not in excess of 50 per cent. of mill capacity, nearly all of which is being diverted to federal requirements. There will likely be no plain wire available for jobbers for the remainder of this year and probably none for the duration of the war. Prices for both wire and wire nails are unchanged.

Jewelers Court

The delicate and essential manufacturing which is carried on in the Jewelers Court Building in Maiden Lane requires an electric supply which shall be available at all times, and always dependable

For this reason, as well as the necessity of reducing the costs of building operation, the managers have abandoned their private generating plant, and installed Central Station Service

Today Edison Service is supplying 1500 lights, and motors totaling 150 horse-power

The current is there when they want it and at a minimum cost

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section four and section eleven of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York will be submitted to the people for the purpose of voting thereon, at the next general election to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE CONTRACTING OF DEBTS BY THE STATE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sections four and eleven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debts shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein [; and such]. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive, nor for more than fifty years from the time of the contracting of such debt. A debt hereafter contracted by the state, pursuant to an authorization hereafter made, and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted, may, if provided by the law authorizing such debt, be paid in equal annual instalments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. Such law shall if it authorizes the contracting of a debt payable otherwise than in equal annual instalments impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay, and sufficient to pay, the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof. No [such] law authorizing the contracting of a debt pursuant to this section shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election. On the final passage of such bill in either house of the legislature, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, to be duly entered on the journals thereof, and shall be: "Shall this bill pass, and ought the same to receive the sanction of the people?" The legislature may at any time, after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law; but the tax, if any, imposed by such act, in proportion to the debt and liability which may have been contracted in pursuance of such law, shall remain in force and be irrepealable, and be annually collected, until the proceeds thereof shall have made the provision hereinbefore specified to pay and discharge the interest and principal of such debt and liability. The money arising from any loan or stock creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever. No such law shall be submitted to be voted on, within three months after its passage or at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may provide for the issue of bonds of the state to run for a period not exceeding fifty years in lieu of bonds heretofore authorized but not issued and shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the same as hereinbefore required. When any sinking fund created under this section shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created, no further direct tax shall be levied on account of said sinking fund and the legislature shall reduce the tax to an amount equal to the accruing interest on such debt. The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt, which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section, or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof, which has been, or shall be created or issued before such alteration. In case the legislature increase the rate of interest upon any such debt, or part thereof, it shall, if such debt be payable otherwise than in equal annual instalments impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay and sufficient to pay the increased or altered interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof, and shall appropriate annually to the sinking fund moneys in amount sufficient to pay such interest and pay and discharge the principal of such debt when it shall become due and payable.

§ 11. The legislature may appropriate out of any funds in the treasury, moneys to pay the accruing interest and principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created, or any part thereof and may, if such debt be payable otherwise than in annual instalments, set apart in each fiscal year, moneys in the state treasury as a sinking fund to pay the interest as it falls due and to pay and discharge the principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created under section four of article seven of the constitution until the same shall be wholly paid, and the principal and income of such sinking fund shall be applied to the purpose for which said sinking fund is created and to no other purpose whatever; and, in the event such moneys so set apart in any fiscal year be sufficient to provide such sinking fund, a direct annual tax for such year need not be imposed and collected, as required by the provisions of said section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof. The legislature shall annually as the same shall fall due provide by direct tax, appropriation or both for the payment of the interest upon and instalments of principal of all debts created on behalf of the state, payable in annual instalments, pursuant to section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

STATE OF NEW YORK, IN SENATE

May 4, 1917

The foregoing resolution was duly passed, a majority of all the Senators elected voting in favor thereof.

By order of the Senate,
EDWARD SCHOENECK,
President.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
IN ASSEMBLY

May 8, 1917

The foregoing resolution was duly passed, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof.

By order of the Assembly,
THADDEUS C. SWEET,
Speaker.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, ss.:
I have compared the preceding copy of concurrent resolution with the original concurrent resolution on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole thereof.

GIVEN under my hand and the seal of office of the Secretary of State, at the city of Albany, this first day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

FORM FOR SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

"Shall section four and section eleven of Article seven of the Constitution relating to the contracting of State debts be amended so as to restrict the debt period to the probable life of the work for which the debt is contracted (in no case to exceed fifty years) and to authorize the issuance of bonds to be paid in annual instalments by direct tax or legislative appropriation," be approved?

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE FOREST PRESERVE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven or article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:
§ 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway from Saranac Lake in Franklin county to Long Lake in Herkimer county by way of Blue Mountain Lake and Raquette Lake.

[But the] The legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION EIGHT OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO A CERTAIN PORTION OF THE ERIE CANAL.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section eight of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 8. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Cayuga and Seneca canal, or the Black River canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. The prohibition of lease, sale or other disposition herein contained, shall not apply to the canal known as the Main and Hamburg street canal, situated in the city of Buffalo, and which extends easterly from the westerly line of Main street to the westerly line of Hamburg street, nor to that portion of the existing Erie canal in the city of Utica between the westerly line of Schuyler street and the easterly line of Third street, provided that a flow of sufficient water from Schuyler street to Third street to feed that portion of the canal east of Third street be maintained. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied to the improvement, superintendence or repair of the remaining portion of the canals.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE ONE OF THE CONSTITUTION, GENERALLY.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article one of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Compensation for taking private property; private roads; drainage of agricultural lands.

§ 7. When private property shall be taken for any public use, the compensation to be made therefor, when such compensation is not made by the state, shall be ascertained by a jury, or by the supreme court with or without a jury, but not with a referee, or by not less than three commissioners appointed by a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law. Private roads may be opened in the manner to be prescribed by law; but in every case the necessity of the road and the amount of all damage to be sustained by the opening thereof, shall be first determined by a jury of freeholders, and such amount, together with the expenses of the proceeding, shall be paid by the person to be benefited. General laws may be passed permitting the owners or occupants of agricultural lands to construct and maintain for the drainage thereof, necessary drains, ditches and dykes upon the lands of others, under proper restrictions and with just compensation, but no special laws shall be enacted for such purposes.

The legislature may authorize cities to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or relocating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property so authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. After so much of the land and property has been appropriated for such park, public place, highway or street as is needed therefor, the remainder may be sold or leased.

The legislature may also authorize cities, for the establishment of a uniform system of streets, to take real property within an abandoned street or highway and to sell and lease it.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ELEVEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION EIGHTEEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO PRIVATE AND LOCAL BILLS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows: § 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.
Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways, or alleys or for draining swamps or other low lands.
Locating or changing county seats.
Providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.
Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or empaneling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the rate of interest on money.
The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage, or allowances of public officers, during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association, or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Granting to any person, association, firm or corporation an exemption from taxation on real or personal property.

Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.

Legalizing, ratifying or confirming the proceedings of a municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or the officers or authorities thereof, in providing for the issuance and sale of the bonds or other evidence of indebtedness of such municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or liquidating such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness after their issuance and sale.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of, that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or in case the consent of such property owners cannot be obtained, the appellate division of the supreme court, in the department in which it is proposed to be constructed, may, upon application, appoint three commissioners who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWELVE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION EIGHTEEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE

CONSTITUTION, RELATIVE TO PRIVATE AND LOCAL BILLS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section, eighteen of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.
Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways or alleys, or for draining swamps or other low lands.

Granting any state lands, or any interest therein.

Locating or changing county seats.
Providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.
Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or empanelling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the rate of interest on money.

The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage or allowances of public officers, during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Granting to any person, association, firm or corporation, an exemption from taxation on real or personal property.

Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.

Legalizing, ratifying or confirming the proceedings of a municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or the officers or authorities thereof, in providing for the issuance and sale of the bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of such municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or validating such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness after their issuance and sale.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of, that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or in case the consent of such property owners cannot be obtained, the appellate division of the supreme court, in the department in which it is proposed to be constructed, may, upon application, appoint three commissioners who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section one of article twelve and sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of article three of the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THIRTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION ONE OF ARTICLE TWELVE AND SECTIONS TWENTY-SIX AND TWENTY-SEVEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE CONSTITUTION TO ENABLE THE LEGISLATURE TO GIVE GREATER

CONTROL OVER LOCAL AFFAIRS TO CITIES AND COUNTIES.

Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section one of article twelve of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the legislature to provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages and to restrict their power of taxation, assessments, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessments and in contracting debt by such municipal corporations. [; and] The legislature may by general laws confer upon cities such powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may from time to time deem expedient. [the] The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and make provision for the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state, or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof. City bills shall apply equally to all the cities of a class as defined in section two of article twelve and no special city bill affecting less than all the cities of a class shall be passed except to secure the public safety or in a case where it affects territory without the corporate limits of the city.

Resolved further (if the Assembly concur), That sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 26. There shall be in each county, except in a county wholly included in a city, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members and elected in such manner and for such period as is or may be provided by law. But the legislature may provide by law for another form of government for any county subject to the approval of the electors of such county at a general election in an odd-numbered year. Such law may also provide for the transfer to the county of functions now exercised by towns. In a city which includes an entire county, or two or more entire counties, the powers and duties of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the municipal assembly, common council, board of aldermen or other legislative body of the city.

§ 27. The legislature shall, by general laws, confer upon the boards of supervisors, or other governing elective bodies, of the several counties of the state such further powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient, [; and] In counties which now have, or may hereafter have, county auditors or other fiscal officers, authorized to audit bills, accounts, charges, claims or demands against the county, the legislature may confer such powers upon [said] such auditors, or fiscal officers, as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FIFTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SIX OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO COMPENSATION OF JUDGES OF THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven of article six of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The court of appeals is continued. It shall consist of the chief judge and associate judges now in office, who shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms, and their successors, who shall be chosen by the electors of the state. The official terms of the chief judge and associate judges shall be fourteen years from and including the first day of January next after their election. Five members of the court shall form a quorum, and the concurrence of four shall be necessary to a decision. The court shall have power to appoint and to remove its reporter, clerk and attendants. Whenever and as often as a majority of the judges of the court of appeals shall certify to the governor that said court is unable, by reason of the accumulation of causes pending therein, to hear and dispose of the same with reasonable speed, the governor shall designate not more than four justices of the supreme court to serve as associate judges of the court of appeals. The justices so designated shall be relieved from their duties as justices of the supreme court and shall serve as associate judges of the court of appeals until the causes undisposed of in said court are reduced to two hundred, when they shall return to the supreme court. The governor may designate justices of the supreme court to fill vacancies. No justice shall serve as associate judge of the court of appeals except while holding the office of justice of the supreme court, and no more than seven judges shall sit in any case. The judges of the court of appeals, including those now in office, shall receive for their services a compensation established by law which shall not be diminished during their official terms and shall not be less than the highest compensation allowed by law to any other judicial officer in the state. A justice of the supreme court while serving as associate judge of the court of appeals shall receive the same compensation as judges of the court of appeals.

AMENDMENT NUMBER SEVENTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE USE OF LANDS AND TIMBER IN THE FOREST PRESERVE FOR FUEL FOR DOMESTIC PURPOSES AND FOR ROADS AND TRAILS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Forest preserve: § 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. But the legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. The foregoing provisions of this section shall not prevent the legislature from authorizing the cutting and removal of dead and fallen timber on lands in the forest preserve for fuel or other domestic purposes; or authorizing the cutting and use by the state of timber on such lands for the construction of roads and trails necessary for protection against fire, and for ingress and egress. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in conformity with section one, article fourteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

EIGHTEEN

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to sections two, four, five, eleven and twelve of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,

Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER EIGHTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTIONS TWO, FOUR, FIVE, ELEVEN AND TWELVE OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO DEBTS CONTRACTED BY THE STATE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sections two, four, five, eleven and twelve of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The state may, to meet casual deficits or failures in revenues, or for expenses not provided for, contract debts; but such debts, direct or contingent, singly or in the aggregate, shall not at any time exceed one million of dollars; and the moneys arising from the loans creating such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which they were obtained, or to repay the debt so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever. contract debts in anticipation of the receipt of taxes and revenues, direct or indirect, for the purposes and within the amounts of appropriations theretofore made; bonds or other obligations for the moneys so borrowed shall be issued as may be provided by law, and shall with the interest thereon be paid from such taxes and revenues within one year from the date of issue.

§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debt[s] shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein, [; and such law shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay, and sufficient to pay, the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof. No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election.] On the final passage of such bill in either house of the legislature, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, to be duly entered on the journals thereof, and shall be: "Shall this bill pass and ought the same to receive the sanction of the people?" No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election nor shall it be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage nor at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may, at any time after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law. [but the tax imposed by such act, in proportion to the debt and liability which may have been contracted in pursuance of such law, shall remain in force and be irrepealable, and be annually collected, until the proceeds thereof shall have made the provision hereinbefore specified to pay and discharge the interest and principal of such debt and liability.]

Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, all debts contracted by the state after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty, pursuant to an authorization theretofore, heretofore or hereafter made and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted irrespective of the terms of such authorization, shall be paid in equal annual instalments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted, to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive.

The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof which has been or shall be created or issued before such alteration.

The money arising from any loan [or stock] creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever. [No such law shall be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage or at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may provide for the issue of bonds of the state to run for a period not exceeding fifty years in lieu of bonds heretofore authorized but not issued and shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the same as hereinbefore required. When any sinking fund created under this section shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created, no further direct tax shall be levied on account of said sinking fund, and the legislature shall reduce the tax to an amount equal to the accruing interest on such debt. The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt, which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section, or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof, which has been, or shall be created or issued before such alteration. In case the legislature increase the rate of interest upon any such debt, or part thereof, it shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay and sufficient to pay the increased or altered interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof, and shall appropriate annually the sinking fund moneys in amount sufficient to pay such interest and pay, and discharge the principal of such debt when it shall become due and payable.]

Real Estate Flags Flying From Many Buildings

Honor Emblem Shows Subscriptions Through Realty Division of Liberty Loan One-Half of One Per Cent. of Assessed Value

LIBERTY BONDS form the bridge that spans the space between patriotism and real estate," said Alfred E. Marling, chairman of the Real Estate Division of the Liberty Loan Committee, to his workers yesterday afternoon when they assembled, as they do each day, at the rooms of the Real Estate Board, 217 Broadway, to make their daily reports.

"The real estate owner already has the patriotism and the real estate, and the bonds provide the means by which the owner may show his patriotism."

Chairman Marling has estimated that if the quota of the division, $5,000,000 is to be reached, $270,000 of bonds must be sold every day of the drive.

Mr. Marling said yesterday, "This drive is not confined to large property owners, but applies equally to every person who owns a square foot of New York City real estate. I expect every owner to show his interest in real estate to the extent that the honor emblem shall be displayed from every property in the city."

A luncheon was tendered the members of the several teams at the board rooms yesterday afternoon. In the absence of Chairman Marling who was attending another meeting, Chairman Simon of the Steering Committee presided until the arrival of Mr. Marling.

Mr. Marling asked President McGuire of the Real Estate Board to speak, and Mr. McGuire said: "As president of the board I am disappointed that the members haven't taken hold in a firmer way, and it will be the cause of deep regret if the members of the board do not show their appreciation of the special privilege granted by the Liberty Loan Committee, the right to offer a special honor emblem.

"I ask every member of the board to get five subscriptions, and any man who fails to get five comes pretty near being in the slacker class. To the team turning in the greatest amount of subscriptions on Monday next I will give a box at the Hippodrome and the Real Estate flag will be placed over the box."

A request from the committee in charge of the Altar of Liberty, for the services of a real estate auctioneer at the altar every afternoon during the drive, was referred to Mr. McGuire, who assigned Joseph P. Day for this afternoon and promised to have an auctioneer in attendance every day during the drive.

The subscriptions each day were as follows:

September 28 .....	$168,600
September 30 .....	45,300
October 1 .....	167,000
October 2 .....	345,000
October 3 .....	362,750
October 4 .....	498,000

Total up to noon yesterday.....$2,087,700

Mr. Simon announced that the quota of the Real Estate division has been doubled and is now $5,000,000 and suggested that as a compliment to Mr. Marling, who celebrates his sixtieth birthday to-day, the members pledge themselves to raise $10,000,000.

The United States Realty and Improvement Company, the largest holder of real property in the United States, if not in the world, has subscribed to this Fourth Liberty Loan its full quota, through the Real Estate Division, as prescribed by the Liberty Loan Committee—that is half of one per cent. on the assessed valuation of its improved property.

In front of the Trinity, U. S. Realty, Whitehall, Flatiron, Mercantile, and Everett Buildings, the New York Hippodrome, Plaza Hotel, Breslin Hotel, 67-69 Wall Street, Federal Sugar building, and the company's numerous other properties may be seen the flag of the Real Estate Division which proclaims that these buildings are as it were sanctified and 100 per cent. patriotic.

Laurence McGuire, president of the company, and who incidentally suggested the plan that half of one per cent. of the assessed valuation of the property be established as a quota, in speaking of the subscription of the Realty Company, said:

"The directors of the company voted unanimously to subscribe through the Real Estate Division the amount required to meet the company's quota, and in doing this it was in no sense considered a duty, the Board believing it to be a privilege to subscribe fully to this loan. The company and its subsidiary, the George A. Fuller Company, and other subsidiary companies, have subscribed to this loan over $700,000, and did so gladly and willingly."

In speaking of the work of the Committee of the Real Estate Division, Mr. McGuire said that every owner of real estate in the City of New York must realize that he has a duty to perform at this time, not only in subscribing for Liberty Bonds, but to put his subscription through the Real Estate Division in order that its chairman and other members of the committee who are working day and night with him will be successful in not only reaching the prescribed quota of $5,000,000, but in doubling the quota, and it will be a disappointment to Mr. McGuire if the Real Estate Division reports less than $10,000,000.

The individual quota plan, half of one per cent. of the assessed valuation is not burdensome, particularly if one realizes that the bonds can be bought on installment payments, and if during the next week the buildings, especially those of lower Broadway, are not decorated with the quota emblems of the Real Estate Division, Mr. McGuire will be very much disappointed.

Mr. McGuire says that owners of real estate must realize it is impossible for members of the committee to call on each and every one, and property owners should send their subscriptions either by mail or by calling personally at the Real Estate Board, No. 217 Broadway.

Building Trades to Sell $7,000,000 in Bonds

Initial Week of the Drive an Enthusiastic One—Job Meetings Again a Campaign Feature

THE first week of the drive to put over the Fourth Liberty Loan is past and the building trades, with their affiliated interests, have obtained a good start. Although there is considerably less of the rush and excitement at the headquarters of the Building and Allied Trades Committee for the Fourth Liberty Loan than was apparent during past campaigns it is attributable to the fact that the industry is now thoroughly organized; that the sub-committees are all working in harmony with the intent of its general committee, and furthermore, by reason of the fact that the personal of the general and sub-committees, almost without exception, is composed of veterans of the successful Loan drives of the early part of this year.

To the building industry and its allied interests of Greater New York has been allotted a minimum of $7,000,000 as its quota for the Fourth Liberty Loan. The quota for the Fourth Loan is $2,000,000 greater than that established as the mark for the last drive. By almost superhuman effort on the part of the Building and Allied Trades Committee during the closing week of the Third Loan campaign, the building interests demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt just where their hearts were in this war by oversubscribing their allotment by $1,400,000.

Among the sub-committees which have already reported substantial bond subscriptions are the following: Asbestos Pipe & Boiler Covering, Owen Glasson, $300,000; Builders, Shorers and Hoisters, Edwin Thatcher, $95,750; Glass Trade, Joseph Dreyfuss, $96,700; Painters, Carl H. Dabelstein, $34,000; Plasterers, Davis Brown, $7,750; Plumbers, Joseph J. Jasper, $51,500; Roofing, Sheet Metal and Allied Interests, M. F. Westergren, $480,000; Steel and Iron Industry, Andrew J. Post, $75,000; and Woodworkers, John I. Downey, $9,200.

Cecil Landale, member of the Advisory Trades Committee of the Rainbow Division for the Fourth Liberty Loan and advisor to the committee responsible for the campaign of the building and allied interests in this city, stated yesterday:

"At general headquarters we are all confident that the building trades will make this drive the brilliant success that marked previous campaigns. The organization selected by the industry is composed of experienced workers who made enviable records in the past and who can be trusted to exert their best efforts in order to again place the interests they represent well among the leaders when the final totals of the drive are announced. I have only one suggestion to offer and that is that the chairmen of the various sub-committees report promptly to headquarters the totals of actual sales made. Judging from the returns of this week it is apparent that some of the committees are somewhat dilatory in making their reports and better action in this regard is urged so that the statistics of the campaign may be kept up to date. I know that the members of each and every sub-committee are enthusiastic for the ultimate success of the Fourth Liberty Loan and I regret that so far the figures have not averaged up to the schedule. It is sincerely to be hoped that every member of the Building and Allied Trades Committee will realize the importance of immediate strenuous effort to put this Loan across."

in discussing the first week of the campaign with a representative of the Record and Guide, stated: "Notwithstanding the numerous setbacks that the building interests have encountered during the past year or eighteen months I think that our industry will make a commendable showing in the present drive. Although the quota allotted to the building interests has been increased by a considerable amount over the figure placed as the mark for the Third Loan at a time when business is in a general way anything but satisfactory and there are many urgent calls for funds, I am sure that we will not fall far behind when the final results are ready to publish. The building industry is thoroughly aroused to the importance of the occasion and is organized to give its best effort. The chairmen of the various sub-committees are all men of wide reputation for efficiency in their respective lines and they have wisely chosen as their helpers men of enthusiasm and dash. We surely will measure up to what is expected of us."

During the entire campaign for the Third Liberty Loan the meetings conducted by various firms of general contractors on the operations progressing under their direction were so uniformly successful and resulted in such a satisfactory volume of bond sales direct to mechanics and laborers employed on these projects that this form of activity will again be one of the important features of the Fourth Loan campaign. Already a number of job meetings have been held and others are scheduled for the coming week.

One of the most enthusiastic of the sub-trade meetings of the week was that held at the Building Trades Club, Thursday afternoon, by the Roofing, Sheet Metal and Allied Interests, under the chairmanship of M. F. Westergren. After the canvass it was found that these interests have already subscribed to Fourth Loan Bonds to the total of $480,000.

Last Thursday afternoon, the Turner Construction Company conducted a mass meeting for their Italian workmen at the $40,000,000 army base building, now under construction at the Bush Terminal area, in Brooklyn, which was addressed by a speaker in their own language. The report is that the meeting was enthusiastic and resulted in a large sale of bonds, but the total is not yet available. Other meetings, to be addressed by Italian speakers will be held October 10 and 17. At the same job the Turner Construction Company held a rousing meeting Friday afternoon, when the speaker addressed the gathering in English. Other addresses in English are announced for this operation to be conducted October 11 and 18. At the Navy Base, Third avenue and 31st street, Brooklyn, the same company will hold a meeting for its workmen during the coming week, at which an interesting program will be rendered.

The George A. Fuller Co. on Friday afternoon arranged a meeting for their executives and office force which is announced as being highly successful from the standpoint of Liberty Bond sales. The same firm has scheduled monster job meetings at both the Commodore and Pennsylvania Hotel operations. The feature of the two latter meetings will be the appearance of the band from the U. S. S. Recruit, which will render patriotic selections, and addresses by men of prominence in the building industry who will make a direct appeal for the purchase of bonds by the mechanics and laborers employed on these jobs.

"Moving Day" Was Quiet in All Sections of City

Tenants Preferred to Consolidate Their Positions Under Old Landlords Than to Take Chances in New Quarters

MOVING day this year was not as active as it usually is and real estate men who had grown to fear October 1st because of the many changes that occurred and the difficulty in trying to get apartments repaired quickly for the occupancy of the new tenant were not inconvenienced this year. The fact that there has been little building activity since the entry of this country into the war has created a scarcity of apartments and offices. Tenants knowing this were content to stay where they are rather than to give notice of their intention to move, have their apartments rented over their heads and then find themselves without a home because of their inability to find other quarters.

With a view to getting a line on just what was doing on this year in the way of renewals as compared with other years, a Record and Guide representative interviewed several of the leading real estate brokers who specialize in apartments. At the office of Douglas L. Elliman & Company a representative said:

"We were very much surprised that there have not been more removals. We fully expected that because of the draft tenants would want to give up their apartments. But we have not had any more vacancies than we had in the last three years. A majority of our tenants renewed their leases this year in spite of the fact that rentals were raised, but we noticed that many of the tenants renewed on short term leases. Because of this landlords were not called upon to make any repairs or decorating and in consequence were able to let the apartments at a trifle lower rent.

"There have been no new houses erected since last year and people stay where they are. As a result our renewals were about twenty-five per cent. greater than usual. We have been able to get coal and have had it piled up in the yards of the apartment houses, while the bunkers in the private houses are filled. We are confident that we will be able to replace what coal we use from now on with an additional supply and tenants knowing that there is coal in the cellars or the yards are satisfied that the conditions existing last winter will not be repeated this year and prefer to remain where they know they will have heat rather than take chances on apartments of which they know nothing about the heating conditions."

Pease & Elliman said:

"We have had a much larger percentage of renewals this year than ever before. A great many people moved to make sure of their apartments. The renewals been very good because there are so few apartments to be had. Tenants knowing this did not wait until their leases expired but renewed in advance, thus insuring their quarters for another term. We are well supplied with coal and do not anticipate any difficulty this year on that score. October 1st this year meant less in the way of removals than at any time in our experience. We have had trouble, of course, with decorators due to the shortage of labor, but we are getting over this very nicely. This condition was to be expected but we anticipated it and gave our orders well in advance."

Geo. R. Read & Co. said:

"We have had fewer changes and more renewals this year than in the past three or four years, this in spite of the fact that we have been obliged to raise rents from ten to twenty per cent. and there were few of our tenants to object to the increase.

"Tenants realize the high cost of maintaining building nowadays and our tenants know that we always try to give them good service. The price of coal today in the quantities we buy is about $8.70 as against $3.45 three years ago. At that time we received 2,200 pounds to the ton but today we receive just a ton, 2,000 pounds, and we must pay for trimming the coal, which causes a greater depreciation in the weight and an increase in the cost of from 45c to $1.

"The coal situation, however, is better this year than it was last year and we have been able, after persistent urging, to get sufficient coal into our houses to tide us over the three worst months of the year, depending of course on the dealer to keep it coming right along so there will at no time be a complete shortage.

"Last year, taking one of our houses as an example, we had eight renewals. This year every apartment has been leased on a renewal and this proportion, while not holding good in all our houses, is a fair sample of conditions as we find them today. People know just what they have and although we know that some of our tenants have been shopping for other quarters they could not find any to equal, much less surpass those they now occupy and so they renewed their leases and remained where they are."

At the office of the Manhattan Storage Company a representative said:

"We were just as busy this year as ever. Our storage rooms were well filled before October 1 and we couldn't handle the orders for storage space. We don't do any moving excepting to and from our own warehouses and we could have handled considerably more business if we had the rooms."

At the office of the Guaranty Storage and Warehouse Company, John J. Webb, the manager, said: "Our business this year has been very good, greater than we really expected, for we were led to believe that there would be little doing in the moving line because of the shortage of apartments and houses, but we had all we could handle and had to refuse a lot of business. We feel that we received more than our share of the moving business and are told by other companies that they have been just as busy. We have had very little business in our storage department for the reason that our space is pretty well filled up but our moving department has been unusually active."

That the same condition prevailed in other parts of the city as well as Manhattan is evidenced by the statement of M. Just, who owns and manages about four hundred apartment houses in the upper part of Manhattan and the Bronx. Mr. Just said:

"From a real estate point of view, October 1 was one of the quietest I have witnessed in 31 years. This day of late years has been one that all real estate men dreaded on account of the many changes which occurred and the difficulty prevailing in trying to get apartments repaired quickly for the occupancy of the new tenant, for in those days no tenant would move into another apartment unless it was thoroughly renovated and decorated to suit.

"This season all these things are changed. The moving van was not as noticeable as in other years. Formerly one would see a van on every street, but this year I made a special survey and in his trips (which refers more particularly to the Dyckman section, also known as upper Manhattan) he passed through many streets without observing any general moving going on.

"As a matter of comparison, I have something like 400 apartments in my charge, and out of all these I only had four tenants move on October 1, and six who moved the last week of September. In one house of 84 families there were only four changes, one house of 60 families had two, and in a house of 30 families, one, while in many houses there were no removals at all.

"The peculiar fact of this situation also is that all apartments in my care, the rents were raised from two to ten dollars an apartment. The rents of many apartments were abnormally low, brought about by keen competition, and have been brought back to their fair standard. All repairs were dispensed with, except those that were absolutely necessary. Rents commenced from the day deposits were paid or leased apartments from October 1.

"Notwithstanding all these facts favoring improved property there is still no investment buying, no doubt held back on account of patriotism to our country, and our desire to do our full duty to our Government in purchasing Liberty Bonds. There is no doubt, however, that should the call of our Government cease, that the investor will see his opportunity."

Real and Personal Tax Assessments Increased

Official Figures for the Districts Throughout New York City—Statement from President Jacob A. Cantor

BY JACOB A. CANTOR,
President Department of Taxes and Assessments.

THE great increase in personal property assessments was arrived at by a preliminary inquiry and upon information contained in the records made in certain departments and agencies. This gave us a general idea of whom to assess and to some extent the amount of the assessments. Of course, it could not be accurate, as no assessment can be figured in advance. We have made extraordinary efforts this year on this class of property, as we realize that that is the only source available under the present law. So far as we can learn no previous efforts, such as those employed this year, have ever been used in the personal tax bureau. The figures above show that on the tentative assessment of last year about one-third was held in the final.

While we may not do quite as well this year owing to the fact that people generally know more of the state tax law than heretofore, and so much being used for Government objects, we certainly expect a very large increase in the amount of personal taxes. Until the law is changed so as to compel all of the residents of New York to make returns, I do not think it will be possible to make an improvement in the collection of this class of taxes. We have in view additional legislation that will modify the existing laws on personality and also suggest other sources of revenue, including a larger return of taxes received from public utilities and corporations than the present statute provides for.

ASSESSMENTS of real estate and personal property were both increased this year in the lists made public by President Jacob Cantor of the Department of Taxes and Assessments. The tentative personal assessments in the aggregate for all boroughs amount to $1,393,040,625, as against $795,541,690 for 1918, an increase of $600,498,695. The amount for Manhattan is $1,101,084,400, the Bronx, $45,809,100; Brooklyn, $191,296,975; Queens, $51,393,500, and Richmond, $6,456,600, indicating advances, respectively, of $539,201,500, $19,698,500, $25,109,130, $14,934,800, and $1,555,000.

Real estate valuations for 1919 have increased about $145,000,000 distributed as follows: Manhattan, $51,488,500; Brooklyn, $54,456,085; Queens, $15,185,725; The Bronx, $12,000,000 (estimated), and Richmond, $11,000,000 (estimated). The total assessed valuation for 1918 was $7,930,351,000, so that a 1919 valuation of $8,075,351,000 is indicated. The increases in Manhattan are most pronounced along the waterfront and in the section between 42d and 72d streets.

Water front property in Brooklyn and Queens were placed on a higher basis. The steady growth of the industrial colony in the Long Island City region of Queens was also an important contributing factor to the advance in that borough. In the Bronx increases were confined largely to the blocks between 169th Street and Fordham.

Valuations on most of the larger real estate properties remain practically unchanged, the $145,000,000 increase being distributed generally among the five boroughs on holdings of all types.

It is understood that the Tax Department has capitalized the high rentals which are being obtained throughout the city because of the shortage of rentable space.

The Borough of Richmond, the only one of the five not affected by new rapid transit, has had a comparatively large advance which must be charged up to the borough's prosperity because of the war.

Increased Production of All Kinds of Coal

Fuel Commissioner Garfield Calls Upon Operators and Miners For Extra Effort to Make Supply Equal Demand

PROSPECTS for sufficient coal to supply the actual needs of the country during the coming winter continue to be good, although it is imperative that every precaution shall be taken to prevent waste.

For the week ending September 14 the output in the bituminous fields was 12,692,000 tons, an increase over the previous week of 13.2 per cent., and of the same week last of 15.7 per cent. The anthracite production, which is more important for New York, was 2,088,000 tons, an increase of 29 per cent. over the week before.

The average daily production was about 115,000 tons above the usual average at this season of the year, and 1,827,000 tons a day over that of last year.

The shortage of coal for this year has now been reduced to 13,624,000 tons, according to the estimated needs of the country on April 1 for the summer and winter. The necessary daily production to overcome this shortage is 2,039,000 tons, or 2 per cent. in excess of that of the week ended September 14. Shipments to New England and the district adjacent to New York show a considerable increase over other weeks of the summer.

In a formal proclamation to operators and miners alike Fuel Administrator Garfield has called upon all to enlist in a detailed program to produce 12,234,000 tons of bituminous coal and 2,030,000 tons of anthracite every week. This tonnage, he promises, will give the country all the coal needed this winter. It represents a weekly increase of 1,731,000 tons of bituminous and 121,000 tons of anthracite over the weekly averages of the corresponding period of a year ago.

The increase in bituminous production called for is approximately sixteen and one-half per cent., and in anthracite six and one-third per cent.

Mr. Garfield's call was transmitted to every district production manager, who, in consultation with their mine production committees, will apportion a weekly quota for each mine. Carrying the quota idea to its logical conclusion each miner will be asked to assume personal responsibility for a weekly coal production representing his equitable proportion of the mine's allotment.

The conduct of the campaign in the various districts will fall upon the shoulders of the district production managers. Most of these officials are experienced coal men who have given their services to the Government to the exclusion of their personal business interests. They have succeeded in procuring the close co-operation of operators, mine production committees and miners in the effort to mine more coal, and in the opinion of the Fuel Administration officials much of the recent success in increasing production has been due to their work.

The production of bituminous coal in 1917 was 551,790,563 net tons, an increase over 1916 of 49,270,881 tons, or nearly 10 per cent., according to C. E. Leshner, of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior.

It is interesting to note that the preliminary estimate of the production of bituminous coal, published by the Geological Survey in the first week of January, 1918 (544,000,000 net tons), was low because it was based on the number of carloads of coal loaded at the mines, whereas the average loading per car had increased nearly 4 per cent. during the year, a fact not discovered

Realty Board's Attitude on Tax Lien Loan

EDWARD P. DOYLE, chairman of the Budget Committee of the Real Estate Board, in explaining the attitude of the Board toward the tax lien law, said:

"A lien for taxes on its own real estate is as good an investment as the city can have. The lien is a first lien and draws 7 per cent. interest and can be foreclosed at any time if the city needs money. The real reason for the passage of the existing law was to enable certain difficult titles to be cleared by the purchase of a tax lien and a foreclosure of the lien. Clouded titles can now be inexpensively cleared by the Torrens law and there is no longer any necessity for the present tax lien law with its dangers and injustice. If the city needs more power to enforce the collection of past due taxes, that can be given.

"The Board again points out the inequality and injustice of the State Military law which requires the city to pay the difference between the civil and military or naval salaries paid city employees who enlist or are drafted. At a meeting of the Budget Committee of the Board of Estimate held last week the comptroller estimated that this payment would require two and one-half millions during the coming year. For this two and one-half millions, the city would receive no service. Men with dependents are placed in the deferred classes or are exempt, and should they enter the service, provision is made for the care of their dependents. The city should keep open the positions so that when its employes return from the war their old places should be open for them and should hereafter prefer veterans for city positions, but this is all it should do.

"It is manifestly unfair to take the money of citizens who have been drafted or who volunteered and who in going to the war sacrificed positions or business and give it as a bonus to city employes who made no greater sacrifice. The whole proposition is a sordid one and is an unjust reflection on the patriotism of city office holders. No one doubts but they, as a class, would have gone to the war and made the financial sacrifices necessary as cheerfully as any other class of citizens. The State Military law should be amended or modified."

State and Municipal Credit May Be Imperiled

Federal Income Tax Provision, in Opinion of Comptroller Travis, May Cause Loss of Financial Prestige

By EUGENE M. TRAVIS,
Comptroller State of New York.

THE proposal to impose a federal income tax upon state and municipal bonds so vitally and detrimentally affects the finances of political subdivisions over which the comptroller is required by law to exercise supervision that I feel warranted in expressing opposition to the proposal.

While the conditions of the present time are different than any one could have foreseen some years ago, and the successful prosecution of the war requires taxation in forms none of us dreamed of (but which we concur in for obvious reasons of patriotism), the proposed tax on income from public bonds places state, county, city, town, village and school district governments in a most embarrassing position, and if imposed may seriously affect their credit for years to come. No motive except that of sound public policy could impel me to enter a protest against any means the Federal Government may see fit to employ to provide the sinews of war, but in this instance the revenue which would be obtained could not compensate for the loss of financial prestige which the various governments I have mentioned would suffer. In a very large degree the honor of the states is involved, for they have given their word that all these bonds would be free of tax.

In New York State alone there are outstanding hundreds of millions of bonds of this character. The state itself has out approximately $250,000,000, and to this must be added the enormous indebtedness of New York City and of the other cities and subdivisions, all of which have issued their bonds since 1909 with a clause covenanting that they shall be exempt from taxation.

This covenant was made in good faith. The Legislature authorized it for the purpose of creating a better market for public bonds and keeping down the interest rate. It was not assumed that the Federal Government would interfere with this agreement because its historic policy had been not to interfere with the taxing powers of the states, and, indeed, the interpretation which the highest courts in the land had put upon the constitution was that the Federal Government could not interfere. Good lawyers now contend that to tax the income upon these bonds will be an unconstitutional provision and cannot be enforced, but I am not a lawyer and will not discuss that phase of the question, confining myself to its moral and business side.

The greater part of these public securities are held in a fiduciary capacity by trust and insurance companies, savings banks and estates for the benefit of widows, orphans and other dependents. The income upon funds of this character is founded upon investments yielding a rate of return based upon the purchase price. If the proposed tax were deducted from such income it would cause hardship to those who, through lack of earning capacity, could not overcome the loss of income which this tax would entail. In the case of savings banks and trust companies, whose securities have been already considerably depreciated by war-time conditions, it would cause still further depression in values.

But the worst effect would be upon the state itself. For all time to come it would be under the stigma of not being able to protect its written promise. The war and its financial difficulties will pass and some day normal conditions will return, but never again could New York or any other state expect the investor to accept its guarantee of tax exemption because a higher power could set aside the guarantee. The only way in which the state and the municipality can keep this promise if the tax is imposed is to reimburse the bond holders out of the public treasury for any tax that may be imposed upon these public securities. No matter how extraordinary such a step would be from a business standpoint, no one can question its moral soundness.

Perhaps some one will say: "Conceding that it is improper to impose this tax on outstanding public bonds, why should future issues be tax exempt?" I believe there is an adequate answer to this. This is a natural statement. If Congress has the right to tax future issues of bonds then it has the right to tax past issues, and in the near future Congress could take advantage of this privilege.

Remember I am speaking in all this argument from the standpoint of the public as represented by its Government, and not from the standpoint of the investor or holder of the bonds. In the first instance it is the good repute of the state that would suffer; in the second instance the sufferer would be the public pocket-book. If Congress decided to impose this tax the effect will be to raise the interest rate on future issues; that is, the public would be required to pay more for the money it borrows from investors.

These bonds usually run a long time before maturing. In the meantime the necessity for the federal tax may disappear, whereupon the investor's income from these public bonds will increase and the securities grow in value. That will be putting public money in the investors' pockets. It cannot be successfully argued that such a result would offset the investor's loss upon his earlier purchases because the issues of the future would probably be in different hands than those now outstanding.

On the whole the proposition threatens so much of legal and other complications, apart from its embarrassment to the governments which issued the bonds, that the federal authorities ought to obtain from some other source the little revenue which these bonds would yield and assist in protecting the good name of the states and their various subdivisions.

War Revenue Bill Prevents Deduction of Interest as Expense

CORPORATIONS which have purchased real estate encumbered by mortgage will not be allowed to deduct as expense the interest on such indebtedness if the pending war revenue bill becomes law in the form in which it passed the House of Representatives. This applies to all corporations regardless of their purposes. It affects mercantile and manufacturing enterprises as well as corporations dealing in real estate.

The present law allows the deduction of such interest by real estate corporations as an expense for doing business. Furthermore, the pending bill allows individuals to make a similar deduction. There seems to be no ground for denying the justice of such allowances when we recall that the enterprise being taxed invests only in the equity which may exist above the mortgage and its profits are determined only by the income to be derived from that equity. In fact, it is not improbable that the pending bill is intended to cover the situation as it allows deduction of all interest "on its indebtedness." However, the Treasury Department distinguishes between the mortgage executed or assumed by a corporation and one upon which it has not assumed payment and interest on the latter would not be deductible under the present wording.

The law committee of the Merchants' Association of New York has advised Senator Simmons, chairman of the Committee on Finance, of its approval of a similar amendment. The subject is now before the Tax Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and also the tax committees of various other national associations and their favorable action is anticipated.

Rates Fixed by the State Board of Equalization

Those For Five New York City Counties Remain Same as Last Year, Notwithstanding President Cantor's Protest

[Special to the Record and Guide]

ALBANY, N. Y., October 2.—Although Commissioner Jacob A. Cantor, of the New York City Tax Department, made a strong appeal to the State Board of Equalization to have the rate of equalization for the counties comprising New York City fixed at 100 upon the theory that the property in all of the boroughs is assessed at full value the State Board adopted the same rates that were fixed in 1917. These rates are:

New York, 94; Kings, 93; Bronx, 93; Queens, 89, and Richmond, 89.

To support his contention of full assessment Commissioner Cantor presented to the board a list of auction sales indicating property values.

Following its annual custom the Record and Guide prints herewith the figures by districts throughout the five boroughs.

The complete equalization table adopted by the board is subjoined:

STATE EQUALIZATION TABLE FOR THE YEAR 1918.
Counties.	Assessed value of real property (1917).	Rate of equalization.	Full value of real property at rate of equalization.	Amount deducted from assessed value of real property.	Amount added to assessed value of real property.	Equalized value of real property.	Assessed value of personal property (other than bank stock) subject to taxation (1917).	Total equalized value of real property and assessed value of personal property (other than bank stock).

A Dangerous and Inexcusable Proposal

One of the strongest protests yet made against the proposed Federal tax on State and Municipal bonds is that of the Comptroller of the State of New York, Hon. Eugene M. Travis. The House of Representatives in Washington already has voted in favor of imposing such a tax and the proposal is now before the United States Senate for action.

It is difficult to see how such a tax can be justified, even as a war measure. Certainly it cannot have been proposed by any legislator possessed of correct information and sound judgment.

State Comptroller Travis properly bases his protest on the ground that the proposal vitally and detrimentally affects the finances of political subdivisions over which the Comptroller is required by law to exercise supervision.

"While the conditions of the present time are different than anyone could have foreseen some years ago," Mr. Travis declares, "and the successful prosecution of the war requires taxation in forms none of us dreamed of (but which we concur in for obvious reasons of patriotism), the proposed tax on income of public bonds places state, county, city, town, village and school districts governments in a most embarrassing position and, if imposed, may seriously affect their credit for years to come. No motive except that of sound public policy could impel me to enter a protest against any measures the Federal Government may see fit to employ to provide the sinews of war: but in this instance the revenue which would be obtained could not compensate for the loss of financial prestige which the various governments I have mentioned would suffer. In a very large degree, the honor of the states is involved, for they gave their word that all these bonds would be free of tax."

New York State has outstanding hundreds of millions of bonds of this character, as have other states. The municipal bonds of New York and other cities, also sold in good faith to purchasers tax-free, amount to an enormous total. The greater part of the public securities, as Mr. Travis points out, are held in a fiduciary capacity by trust and insurance companies, savings banks and estates for the benefit of widows, orphans and other dependents. The proposed tax would be certain to cause depreciation in the values of these securities and would be bound to affect seriously the sale of future bonds. The states and all municipalities would suffer from the stigma of being unable to protect their written promises. As Mr. Travis so well says:

"The war and its financial difficulties will pass and some day normal conditions will return, but never again could New York or any other state expect investors to accept its guarantee of a tax exemption, because a higher power could set aside the guarantee."

The protest against this proposed tax should be made so strong that the responsible leaders in the Senate will eliminate it from the House measure. Mayor Hylan and City Comptroller Craig several weeks ago voiced to the House of Representatives leaders the protest of New York City against it, but without avail.

The Government must have every aid it requires for the successful prosecution of the war, but this does not excuse such ill-advised proposals as the one to tax the incomes from state and municipal bonds.

Buy To Your Utmost

In one respect at least the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign already is a pronounced success. Although the campaign is only one-third over the enthusiasm it has aroused is clearly up to 100 per cent.

From various sections of the country, and notably from some sections having small quotas, reports come that the loan already has been over-subscribed there. But from the big centers, where the Government expects to get the bulk of the six billion dollars called for, the early reports are not so gratifying.

The committee in charge of the campaign in the New York district makes no concealment of its view that subscriptions are lagging here. It must be borne in mind, however, that to sell $1,800,000,000 worth of Liberty Bonds in one district is a tremendous undertaking. With the sales for the opening days of the campaign falling below the average required for success, the committee and all of its workers may be counted upon to redouble their efforts.

The committee representing the Real Estate interests, headed by Mr. Alfred E. Marling, and the Committee of the Allied Building Trades, of which Mr. Otto M. Eidlitz is chairman, have both made a fine start toward the success of the tasks assigned to them. Both these committees and every other committee working so earnestly deserve the co-operation of every patriotic citizen.

This not only is the time to buy Liberty Bonds, but it is a time when every American should buy to the utmost.

The Tentative Assessments

The Department of Taxes and Assessments announced this week its tentative assessments of real and personal property for the current year.

As compared with the final assessments for last year, the tentative assessments show an increase of about $145,000,000 on real estate and an increase of more than $1,100,000,000 on personal property.

It will be especially interesting this year to note the final assessment after dissatisfied taxpayers have made their complaints to the department. If we were not at war the increase in the real estate totals might occasion little surprise even if the total of the tentative assessments should ultimately prove to be the total of the final assessments. But, in view of existing conditions, New York taxpayers undoubtedly will take the attitude of Missourians. They will want to be shown how it happens that their real estate holdings in the Metropolis have enhanced in value to the extent of $145,000,000 during the last twelve months.

Not much surprise is to be expected over the fact that the tentative assessments on personal property have been increased more than a billion dollars as compared with last year's finals. Placing impressive personal assessments on the tentative list has been the custom for years, just as has been their reduction later on to insignificant totals.

No matter what may be the final figures for the current year's assessments, the fact is patent to every student of taxation that no permanent relief for New York realty owners can be expected until there has been an intelligent, systematic revision of the tax laws of the state. This revision must take the form of relieving real estate from the unjust share of the tax burden it has been carrying for years. This burden should be assumed in a very much larger degree by the owners of personal property and until the laws are so changed as to give real estate a square deal in taxation this problem will not be solved.

The most important duty which will confront the Legislature of 1919 will be the enactment of just tax laws. Whatever dissatisfaction arises over the tentative assessments announced by the city authorities should act as a spur to those who are striving to have the question of taxation properly and justly solved once and for all.

Taxpayers and Tenants League Formed

MR. WILLIAM E. HARMON, of Wood, Harmon & Company, has originated a movement to band together the small taxpayers and tenants of New York City into an organization to combat the constantly mounting real estate taxes. Mr. Harmon is chairman of the committee on organization, and the response of those who will be benefited by the limitation of taxation is large and influential. Already the movement has received the endorsement of the Council of Real Estate Interests.

It is proposed to secure a membership of 100,000 to the organization, which is named the Taxpayers' and Tenants' Protective League. Mr. Harmon is one of the largest taxpayers in the city, but his plan is not to appeal to the big taxpayers but to organize a co-operative movement among the smaller taxpayers and tenants who, once interested in the plan, will spread the organization among themselves not only as taxpayers, but as voters.

The object of the organization is to get behind a bill to limit the assessment on real estate in New York City to $17.50 per thousand of valuation and force the taxing authorities to find other sources of revenue.

Mr. Harmon says:

"The preliminary organization has been effected. The small real estate owner and tenant is back of this organization, and the initial response is so encouraging that there is no doubt of its success. Ample funds are being pledged by the members to support the growing membership. The control of the organization is to be in the hands of the taxpayers and tenants who are building it up.

"A mark of 100,000 has been set as the size of the membership in the city alone and as many more in the state. When this number of taxpayers and tenants who are voters unite on one platform, regardless of party affiliation, a pressure will be brought to bear on the Legislature which will be irresistible in securing legislation to reduce the tax levied on real estate to some just proportion and force other forms of wealth to bear their just part of the tax burden in the city

"The war revenue measures are showing the way to state and city authorities of how revenues can be raised without destroying the value of real estate."

until several months after the estimate was made.

The production of Pennsylvania anthracite in 1917 established a new high record of 99,611,811 net tons (88,939,117 gross tons), exceeding that in 1916 by 12,033,318 net tons, or nearly 14 per cent., and surpassing the previous record of 91,524,922 net tons in 1913. With the exception of West Virginia all the large coal producing states recorded increases, the only decreases having been in West Virginia (0.02 per cent), Oregon, South Dakota and Georgia.

The number of men engaged in producing bituminous coal increased from 561,102 in 1916 to 603,143 in 1917, and the number producing anthracite decreased from 159,869 in 1916 to 154,174 in 1917. However, the number of men employed underground in the production of bituminous coal increased from 474,244 in 1916 to 498,185 in 1917, a gain of but 5 per cent. compared with a gain of 20.8 per cent. in surface employees.

In the anthracite regions the number of underground employees decreased 5.8 per cent., but the surface employees increased 2.4 per cent. In both branches of the coal mining industry there was a relatively large gain in the number of men employed on the surface, which is significant when it is realized that it is the underground worker who actually produces the coal and who is the more skilled workman.

The average number of days worked in both bituminous coal fields and anthracite mines was the highest recorded—243 in the bituminous field and 285 in the anthracite.

Debate at Real Estate School

THE effect which the enforcement of the "bone dry" law will have on local real estate under present conditions will be the subject of a debate by two teams, picked from the members of the Real Estate Class of the Murray Hill Evening Trade School, 237 East 37th Street. The date set for this debate is Thursday evening, October 10th. It will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and any one interested is cordially invited to attend.

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of

Damage to Tenant's Goods by Rainfall.

THE New York Appellate Division holds, Acheson v. Roth, 169 N. Y. Supp. 461, that where a tenant's goods in a basement storeroom were damaged by water from an unprecedented rainfall, which caused storm sewers to back water into the basement, the damage resulted from conditions over which the landlord had no control, and for which he was not responsible. The fact that the janitor failed to notify the tenant of the damage for several days did not authorize recovery, in the absence of a showing of the proportion of damage resulting from the delay, or the value of the goods after the damage, where they were not totally destroyed.

Bonds—Release of Property.

A company suing to confirm title to lands obtained a favorable construction of the contract whereunder it claimed, so that it had no occasion to execute bond to supersede the judgment. By a clause of a supersedeas bond reading that in consideration of one dollar and the other consideration mentioned to release any and all claim of a defendant to the title of any of the lands, the bondsmen themselves in the sum of $23,000, the value of the defendant's interest in the lands, as valued by him, to perform the judgment by paying to the defendant any sum which might be decreed to him and declared a lien on the lands. The Arkansas Supreme Court holds, Bonner v. Cross County Rice Co., 203 S. W. 282, that the defendant released all claim to title in the lands which might be adjudged to him in consideration of the personal liability of the bondsmen to pay him the value, not to exceed $23,000.

Basis of Vendor's Lien.

The right of a vendee to a lien upon land agreed to be conveyed for the amount of purchase money paid by the vendee to the vendor has for its basis the fact that the purchase money has been paid in pursuance of a contract of sale.—Flickinger v. Glass, 170 N. Y. Supp. 459.

Waiver of Proof of Title.

The Texas Court of Civil Appeals holds, Stroburg v. Walsh, 203 S. W. 391, that the fact that the defendant in a suit for specific performance of his contract to buy lots, waived the issue of title is sufficiently shown by the facts, that though pleading the general denial he did not allege as a defense want of title; did allege that he never made the contract, but simply signed it on the agreement that it should not be delivered, and should not take effect, except on a third person making an agreement, which he failed to do; permitted the plaintiff to testify without objection that he had good title; and while receiving the abstract, never had it examined, and never claimed it did not show good title in the plaintiff.

Agreement to Furnish Heat.

In summary proceedings to dispossess a tenant for non-payment of rent, judgment was entered for the landlord where the tenant proved the landlord's agreement to furnish heat was breached, but interposed no counterclaim, nor proved any damages.—Green v. Brenner, 169 N. Y. Supp. 682.

Reformation of Agreement.

In an action for the reformation of an agreement to sell land it appeared that the plaintiff, having a contract to purchase land, agreed to sell to defendant a small portion thereof, and accurately stated the agreement to F., who reduced it to writing, but the writing included more land than was intended to be sold. The plaintiff, relying on F's integrity and ability, failed to observe the inaccuracy, and the defendant either failed to observe it or made no mention of it. The Montana Supreme Court held, Cox v. Hall, 168 Pac. 519, that there was a case for reformation as against the objection that the facts disclosed negligence on the plaintiff's part, since the term "mistake," as applied to the reformation of instruments, always involves the conception of negligence in some degree which may or may not be excusable under the particular circumstances.

Restrictions—"Single Dwelling House."

Land was conveyed with a restriction that but "a single dwelling house" should be erected on the lot, with a covenant that a like restriction should be imposed in any other conveyance of property within the district. Thereafter the grantor made conveyances providing that the restriction should not prohibit the erection of a duplex dwelling or apartment house upon the lots conveyed. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court holds, Rohrer v. Trafford Real Estate Co., 102 Atl. 1030, that the restriction referred to a single house or structure, and was not violated by the grantor's subsequent conveyances. Covenants restricting the use of property for building, etc., are not to be extended by implication.

Definition of Tenant.

The payment of rent is incident to every tenancy where the relation of landlord and tenant subsists, except as to mere tenancy at will or by sufferance, where this relation cannot be said to exist. A tenant is one who holds or possesses lands or tenements by any kind of title, either in fee, for life, for years, or at will. In a popular sense, he is one who has the temporary use and occupation of lands and tenements which belong to another, the duration and other terms of whose occupations are usually defined by an agreement called a lease, while the parties thereto are placed in the relation of landlord and tenant.—Young v. Home Telephone Co., (Mo.), 201 S. W. 635.

Reformation of Mortgage.

Where a mortgagee accepted a new mortgage and extended the time, at reduced interest, a mortgagor who had the mortgage prepared but signed it without reading it could not have reformation to express the alleged agreement that he should not be liable for a deficiency. And, as the mistake was on his part only, the mortgage must stand, on the principle that the writing contained all the terms, in the absence of fraud or mutual mistake.—Manley v. Smith, Oregon Supreme Court, 171 Pac. 897.

Termination of Easement.

An easement in a building is extinguished by the destruction of the building on which it can operate. It is an interest in real estate, and survives the destruction of a part of the servient estate when there is anything remaining on which the dominant estate may operate. But a reservation on the sale of half a lot improved by a double building, of a right of way over the stairways of the other half, such as would be necessary to the proper use of the second story, does not create an interest in the soil which survives the destruction of the building.—Cohen v. Adolph Kutner Co., California Supreme Court, 171 Pac. 424.

Exchange of Land.

The Washington Supreme Court holds, Rhodes v. Owens, 172 Pac. 241, that where a contract for the exchange of property unconditionally required the defendant and his son to execute a mortgage as part of the consideration, it was not permissible to show, by parol, a contemporaneous oral agreement that the defendant was not to be personally bound, or that the mortgage was not to be paid until the plaintiff should pay off a mortgage on the land deeded to

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Sales of Unusual Importance Reported This Week, Including Exchange of Broadway Property and Dr. Parkhurst's Church

THIS week has been a particularly inactive one as far as sales of any magnitude or even number are concerned, and this condition is probably due to the fact that most of the real estate men are engaged in the Liberty Loan campaign and had but little time to devote to their business affairs while the big drive is on.

Several sales, however, of unusual importance were consummated, involving not only property of particular importance, but also money considerations of large proportions.

The largest exchange of real estate for the current year was announced on Wednesday by the F. R. Wood-W. H. Doison Company, through its president, Mr. Frederick A. Wyckoff, that of the ten-story loft building at 543 Broadway, 456 Broadway, a five-story and basement building, 246 Mercer street, southeast corner of Third street, a five-story building, 453 Broome street, southwest corner of Mercer street, a six-story loft building, 257 Fifth avenue, a five-story store and office building, and 53 West Sixty-ninth street, a four-story high stoop dwelling.

In trade Colonel Green, president of the Windham Realty Company, the buyer of the property, took in exchange the northeast corner of Broadway and Sixty-second street, a six-story fire-proof building covering approximately six lots with a frontage of 110 feet on Broadway. This building is assessed at $1,000,000. The whole deal involved about $1,300,000.

Bronx apartments figured in the few sales of the week, Hehring Brothers and Byrne and Bauman sold for Lanzmer & Kahn, 1455 Ogden avenue, a new six-story structure held at $100,000, taking in part payment 2482 Devoe terrace, a three-story two-family house held at $12,000, and also a four-story flat at the northwest corner of Washington avenue and 172d street, held at $55,000.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company purchased the old Presbyterian Church at the northeast corner of Madison Square and 24th street, which will be remodeled for use as a social centre for the company's employees. This famous edifice, of which Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst was the pastor, was closed through the consolidation of its worshippers with the congregation of the Old Presbyterian Church at Fifth avenue and Twelfth street. Five hundred thousand dollars is said to have been the price paid by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for this property, or just about one-half what the property cost the congregation a few years ago. The insurance company originally owned the site on which the church stands.

Leasing was good all week, although a majority of the brokers had practically closed their leasing books prior to October 1, which is moving day, but which was not as generally observed this year as heretofore, due to the shortage of apartments and houses because of war conditions curtailing construction during the past year.

Charles F. Noyes Company closed a deal involving about half a million in leasing to St. James Baking and Restaurant Company, operators of a chain of restaurants throughout the city, of 1587-9 Broadway, at the southwest corner of Broadway and 48th street, covering a larger portion of the store floor, with a basement of 10,000 square feet. An interesting feature of the lease is that the landlord in addition to receiving about $500,000 during the term of eighteen years, receives as well an additional revenue of ten per cent. of the gross income from the restaurant business.

The Army authorities on Tuesday took possession of the big Grand Central Palace at Lexington avenue and 46th street, which will be known as Debarkation Hospital No. 5. Work has been commenced on preparing the twelve floors of this big structure for hospital purposes. All the former tenants of the building have found other quarters, with the exception of the dancing academy, which will be permitted to remain until the space it now occupies is needed for hospital purposes.

URGES EAST RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association Calls on National Government for Action.

The delegation from The Bronx Tax Board of Trade in attendance last week at the Eleventh Annual Convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association at Boston, Mass., returned over Sunday last, most enthusiastic over what they had accomplished at the gathering, and also what the convention had accomplished, for it was the most notable that this organization, almost national in scope, has ever held.

The delegation from The Bronx Board of Trade, consisting of President Eugene H. Rosenquest, James Brackenridge, Albert Goldman, Hon. William S. Bennet, Hon. Henry Bruckner, Hon. Joseph M. Callahan, Hon. William J. Flynn, Alexander Haring, J. Harris Jones, Olin J. Stephens, Robert J. Moorehead, George J. Murray, William A. Cokeley, John A. Steinmetz, M. J. de Rochemont, and Secretary Charles E. Reid, who attended the session entirely at their own expense, succeeded in having made a part of the general resolutions, and adopted unanimously by the Convention, the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That the unusual commercial importance of the East River, the Harlem River and Harlem or Bronx Kills, and their continued improvement to meet the insistent demands of the commerce of the City, State and Nation, differentiates these in large degree from all other projects and this Association reaffirms its action at its last meeting and urges the further improvement of the East River, the Harlem River and the Harlem or Bronx Kills, in accordance with the favorable report heretofore submitted by the Chief of Engineers."

On Thursday afternoon, during the course of the Convention, the former Bronx-Harlem Member of Congress, Hon. Murray Hulbert, now Commissioner of Docks of the City of New York, who was made Vice-President-at-large for the State of New York, made a most forceful address in favor of the immediate improvement of the waterways in and about New York City, and dwelt especially on the improvement of the East River, Bronx Kills, and the Harlem River, especially the necessity of removing the piers of Highbridge, eliminating the bend at Spuyten Duyvil, and deepening that important waterway through to the Hudson.

He pointed out the strategic importance of providing a deep channel for the use of the many large vessels using our waterways, and the benefits that would be derived from providing an East River-Harlem River-Hudson River route to the Battery, rather than an all East River route, with the Hell Gate passage drawback. Not only would a deeper and widened Harlem River reduce congestion of shipping at the Battery, he pointed out, but it would also reduce materially the number of ships using the Hell Gate route, and would therefore reduce the amount of improvement work that would have to be done there.

The New York State delegates met on Thursday afternoon, with Charles E. Reid, Secretary of The Bronx Board of Trade, presiding. At this session Dock Commissioner Hurlbert proposed a scheme whereby the various State delegations should form a permanent working committee, meeting regularly each month to discuss the pending and proceeding waterway improvements in their States. The New York State delegation adopted the idea at once, and the scheme was later adopted by the general convention, and similar plans made for the other State delegations.

Charles E. Reid at this State delegation meeting was re-elected New York State delegate and Secretary of the New York State Delegation.

PRIVATE REALTY SALLS.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 20 as against 17 last week and 21 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 10 as compared with 8 last week and 6 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 10 as compared with 9 last week and 15 a year ago.

From the Bronx 13 sales at private contract were reported as against 16 last week and 6 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 402 of this issue.

Buys Old Church Property.

Dr. Parkhurst's famous church on Madison Square at the northeast corner of Twenty-fourth street has passed into history. Closed through consolidation of its worshippers with the congregation of the Old First Presbyterian Church at Fifth avenue and Twelfth street, the building has been sold to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and in a short time it will be remodeled for use as a social centre for the company's employees. Five hundred thousand dollars is said to have been the price, or just half as much as the property cost the congregation only a comparatively few years ago. Negotiations leading up to this sale have been in progress since the decision was reached several months ago to unite the activities of the Madison Square and Old First Presbyterian churches, but the deal was consummated only yesterday, when Robert W. de Forest, chairman of the board of trustees of the Parkhurst church, announced that arrangements had been made for the sale of the property. The transaction will not be completed until late in the year, when the insurance company will take title. The organ and other parts of the church equipment which were not included in the sale are now being removed. In purchasing this property the Metropolitan Life regains a plot which it owned before the church was built. The former church edifice of Dr. Parkhurst occupied the site on which the tower of the Metropolitan Life Building now stands at the southeast corner of Madison avenue and Twenty-fourth street. The company gave its property in exchange for the corner across the street and a cash payment of $300,000. The site is 75 feet front on Madison avenue and 150 feet on Twenty-fourth street, running back to the Metropolitan Annex, a large office building owned by the insurance company.

Buy Broadway Loft Building.

The largest exchange of real estate of the current year was announced on Wednesday by Frederick A. Wyckoff, vice-president of the F. R. Wood, W. H. Dolson Company. The properties involved approximate in value $1,500,000. For the Windham Realty Corporation, Col. Edward H. R. Green, president, they have sold 543 Broadway, a ten-story loft building, on a plot 25x200 feet, running through to Greene street; 456 Broadway, a five-story and basement building, on lot 25x100; 246 Mercer street, southeast corner of Third street, a five-story building, on lot 25x100; 453 Broome street, southwest corner of Mercer street, a six-story loft building, on a plot 50x95 feet; 257 Fifth avenue, a five-story store and office building, on lot 25x100 feet, and 53 West Sixty-ninth street, a four-story high stoop dwelling, on lot 20x100 feet. In trade Col. Green, who is a son of the late Hetty Green, took from the estate of Charles F. Hoffman the northeast corner of Broadway and Sixty-second street, a six-story fire-proof building, covering approximately six lots, with a frontage of 116 feet on Broadway. This building is leased to a number of prominent automobile concerns. It is assessed at $700,000. This property is located in the heart of the automobile section, the buildings of the Packard, Cadillac and other concerns being directly opposite. Col. Green was represented in the transaction by Alexander & Green and the Hoffman estate by Middlebrook & Borland.

Bronx Apartments in Trade.

Several Bronx apartment houses figured in exchange deals this week. Nehring Brothers and Byrne & Baumann sold for Lanzner & Kahn 1435 Ogden avenue, a new six-story structure, covering a plot 75 by 100, which has been held at $100,000. The buyer is an investor, who gave in part payment 2482 Devoe Terrace, a three-story two-family house, 32x90, held at $12,000, free and clear, and also the four-story flat at the northwest corner of Washington avenue and 172d street, 30 by 95, held at $35,000.

Manhattan.*South of 59th Street.

CHERRY.—James H. Cruikshank resold to Raymond Buarini the 5-sty tenement at 306 Cherry st, between Jefferson and Clinton sts, on plot 25x100. Assessed by the city at $11,000. Charles P. Pinto negotiated the deal.

MADISON ST.—David Kotler and Jacob Cutler bought from Frederick Brown 348 Madison st, a 5-sty 20 fam tenement, on lot 23.6x95.4, near Scammel st.

PINE ST.—Charles F. Noyes Co. sold for Stonemor Realty Co. the property 83 Pine st, a 5-sty commercial building, through Arthur A. O'Malley.

SOUTH ST.—Dr. T. G. Dickinson and others sold through Cruikshank Co. 90 South st, a 4-sty brick business building. The structure occupies a lot 20.8x69.8, located 40.5 ft. north of Burling slip.

17TH ST.—Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Co. sold the 6-sty tenement, on lot 25x92, at 419 West 17th st, between 9th and 10th avs, through John P. Peel Co. The sellers took the property over in foreclosure proceedings about two months ago.

18TH ST.—Heil & Stern sold for Susquehanna Silk Mills the 11-sty loft building at 18-22 West 18th st, running through to 23-27 West 17th st, between 5th and 6th avs, on plot 75x184, also two adjoining buildings at 16 West 18th st, running through to 21 West 17th st, on plot 27x184. The sellers purchased the loft building about ten years ago from J. C. Lyon Building Co. and the adjoining property at auction from Sloane estate about a year later. The property rents for about $15,000 per annum, and is fully occupied by manufacturing concerns. The purchasers were represented by Stoddard & Mark as attorneys, and the seller by Hughes, Round, Schurman & Dwight.

44TH ST.—Harry C. Hohenstein sold to Ann Johnson 520 West 44th st, a 2-sty brick stable, on lot 25x100, between 10th and 11th avs.

48TH ST.—James H. Cruikshank purchased from William DeGoode the 5-sty tenement at 402 East 48th st on plot 25x75, assessed by the city at $15,000. As part payment Mr. DeGoode has taken the 3-sty private dwelling at 238 Jefferson av, Brooklyn, on plot 20x100. Harry Sugarman was the broker in this transaction.

North of 59th Street.

JANE ST.—Edward W. C. Arnold sold for $38,000 to Stephen B. Sofield, of Newark, 88 and 90 Jane st, running through to 357 and 359 West 12th st, between Greenwich and Washington sts, 2 and 3-sty flats, lofts and stables, on plot 43.2x41.1x160.1, assessed for $35,500.

72D ST.—United States Trust Co. sold the 4-sty modern residence at 332 West 72d st, on lot 22x100. Pease & Elliman negotiated the sale.

113TH ST.—Frontenac Apartments at 76 and 78 West 113th st, a 6-sty structure, on plot 50x100.11, has been resold by Lawyers' Mortgage Co. through Samuel Jaffe. The property was taken over by the selling company in foreclosure proceedings last month.

120TH ST.—Estate of Robert J. Brown sold to M. Guarino 316 East 120th st, a 3-sty dwelling on lot 19.7x100.11.

124TH ST.—Mrs. C. O'Meara sold to Hudwill Corp., Hudson P. Rose, president, the 3-sty dwelling at 311 East 124th st.

125TH ST.—James H. Cruikshank purchased from Broadway Savings Bank the 5-sty double flat at 551 West 125th st, adjoining the corner of Broadway, on plot 25x100. Assessed by the city at $22,000. Leon S. Altmayer was the broker in this transaction.

126TH ST.—James H. Cruikshank purchased from Mutual Life Insurance Co. 215-217 East 126th st, two 3-sty private dwellings, on plot 32x100. Assessed by the city at $10,600. Harry Sugarman was the broker.

127TH ST.—Annie Fleming bought from Max Greenwald, through Porter & Co., the 3-sty dwelling at 51 West 127th st.

146TH ST.—Ennis & Sinnott bought from F. C. Raymond the 4-sty apartment house at 602 and 604 West 146th st, on plot 50x100, near Broadway. The property, which is fully rented, was held at $85,000.

MANHATTAN AV.—O. G. Mans sold for cash for Sigmund Saxe 107 Manhattan av, a 3-sty dwelling, on plot 18x50, between 140th and 150th sts, to a Mr. Caccio.

Bronx.

RECENT LEASES.

Half Million Restaurant Lease.

Charles F. Noyes Company has closed another $500,000 restaurant lease in the Times Square section, having only recently handled the matter of leasing three buildings to Drake's Restaurants at 119 West 42d street through to 118-20 West 43d street, at a rental for the term in excess of $750,000. The transaction just closed by the Noyes Company is a lease for the Silk Realty Company (S. K. Jacobs, president), covering the larger portion of the store floor, with a basement of 10,000 sq. ft., at 1587-9 Broadway, the southwest corner of Broadway and 48th street, to the St. James Baking and Restaurant Company, operators of a chain of restaurants throughout the city. Not only is the landlord assured of a $500,000 return from this lease over the term of eighteen years, but an interesting clause in the lease calls for the additional payment to the landlord of 10 per cent. of the gross income from the restaurant business, with the mentioned guaranteed rental as above. The Noyes Company some time ago leased the balance of the ground floor at Broadway and 48th street, being the corner store, 17x65, to Ferris & Cronin, at an aggregate rental of about $300,000, for a similar term. E. Louis Jacobs was counsel for the landlord and Abraham Lichter was counsel for the tenant.

Government Takes Central Palace.

The army authorities on Tuesday took over the Grand Central Palace at Lexington avenue and Forty-sixth street, which is now officially known as Debarcation Hospital No. 5. A start was made to prepare the twelve floors for hospital purposes. All former tenants have found other quarters except one, who has a dance hall in one section of the building and who will stay until the space he occupies is wanted. It is understood that the wounded as they arrive in port will be transferred from the ships by automobile ambulances direct to No. 5 Hospital. Alfred du Pont, who owns the building, said that during the Government's occupancy of the Palace his plans for a foreign trade campaign would be matured, and when the building was again turned over to him it would be made a centre for world trade activities.

Back These Bayonets With Your Bonds

THEY FIGHT WITH THEIR WHOLE SOULS

You are reading every day of our boys over there—of Pershing's divisions charging into the blasting fire of the Boche trenches; of small detachments smashing their way from house to house through ruined villages; of single-handed deeds of sacrifice and valor.

One thought, one impulse only fills their souls—to fight and keep on fighting, until the war is won.

They know that all America is back of them; they know that they can count on us at home to send them all the guns and supplies they need to win.

There is only one way we can do it. All of us must work and save and buy Liberty Bonds, WITH OUR WHOLE SOULS, THE WAY OUR MEN ARE FIGHTING OVER THERE!

No less will win. There is no other way to provide the money the Government must have. No other standard can make the Fourth Liberty Loan a Success.

Steel Industry Adopts Eight Hour Working Day

About 40,000 Tons of Pig Iron Will Be Saved by the Standardization of Materials

COMMENCING with October 1 the United States Steel Corporation adopted the eight-hour basic working day in its various plants. This action, according to a recent announcement, was followed by the Cambria Steel Company and other independent firms, which also adopted the eight-hour measure. However, it is not to be supposed that the several departments of the steel industry will cut down to eight hours for a day's work just at a time when the maximum production is being urged by the Government for its war needs. The new eight-hour ruling simply means that the workers in the steel industry will be paid time and one-half for every hour more than eight that they work each day. Those who have worked in the past for twelve hours a day will continue and receive pay for fourteen hours of labor, while the men already working ten hours a day will make no change in their time, but receive eleven hours' pay.

The benefits to be derived from this arrangement are not only in the increased wages for the men, but the encouragement given to them to work full time and even overtime every day, thereby helping the manufacturers to answer the urgent calls from the War Industries Board for capacity production in all phases of the iron and steel industry.

Marked attention is being paid to the requirements of steel for the current half year, and a rigid investigation is now being made to determine the actual requirements in certain branches of the finished steel industry. In several instances it has been discovered that a slightly smaller amount of raw steel will suffice, and conservation is being practiced all along the line, as no steel is being supplied until the actual need for its use has been established.

In the matter of steel rails the fullest amount of raw material is being delivered as the railroads in this country must receive a much larger supply for repair work, as well as to build spurs and lay new tracks in those sections of the country where war materials are being produced in great volume. The authorities are ever scrutinizing shipments of steel to shipbuilding yards in order that they may receive no more ship steel than can be put into immediate use. No activity is being supplied with steel freely, and conservation is the watchword in every known avenue of steel and iron consumption throughout the United States.

Standardization of materials as a war necessity is to be enforced in the manufacture of various articles composed largely of iron and steel. The Building Materials Section of the War Industries Board estimates that a saving of 40,000 tons of pig iron can be effected by the new regulations as to iron pipes, tanks and accessories required for the Government projects now under construction or soon to be undertaken. The federal regulations will be paramount to all local municipal laws and ordinances and the building regulations in those places where the Government is erecting new structures. Existing manufactured stocks and special and exceptional features of certain projects may be made exceptions to the ruling upon approval of the Building Materials Section of the War Industries Board.

The regulations which follow were recently adopted at a meeting of the Building Materials Section, of which Richard L. Humphrey is chief, with representatives of the army and navy, the United States Housing Corporation, the Supervising Architect's office of the Treasury Department, the Railroad Administration and the priorities, conservation and steel divisions of the War Industries Board:

1. Nothing larger than four inch in diameter nor heavier than standard, plain, cast-iron soil pipe is to be used for vertical stacks above ground, the full-size stack to be carried through the roof. Portland cement, concrete or vitrified clay pipe shall be used for horizontal lines under ground.

2. There shall be no back vents used.

3. No house traps or fresh-air vents shall be used.

4. Water service pipes shall be of three-fourths inch galvanized wrought iron or steel for single houses and of proportionately larger size for larger buildings.

5. No patterns for soil pipe and fittings other than those listed in the schedule of the conservation section of the War Industries Board shall be used.

6. The installation of gas piping in houses will not be permitted where electricity is available for lighting purposes. This will not prohibit the installation of gas piping for heating and cooking purposes where the extreme extension of the distribution mains to the houses is less than 1,000 feet.

7. No system of gas mains shall be installed in any project requiring an extension of more than 1,000 feet from the existing source of supply without the special approval of the War Industries Board.

8. No metal pipe shall be used for water mains without special permission of the War Industries Board. This does not apply to pipe lines carrying pressure of more than 100 pounds.

9. The number of fire hydrants shall be reduced to the absolute minimum necessary for adequate fire protection.

10. All water supply tanks shall be of other material than metal.

11. Culvert pipes shall be reinforced concrete, burnt clay or other material than metal.

12. Cellar floor drainage shall be restricted to the use of underground drains which may be turned up to the floor level and finished with a screw plug connection.

Mayor's Committee Awards Building Permits

ARCHITECTS, manufacturers, contractors and material dealers were notified during the past week by Henry McDonald, director-general of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, in charge of the building situation in Greater New York, that pending the naming of the special committee, all requests for building permits in this city will be passed upon immediately at the headquarters of the committee, in the Hall of Records.

Frederick T. Newell, secretary of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, will receive applications and affidavits from nine until five each day. In a statement, Mr. Newell said all permits issued by the Mayor's Committee will be sent to the War Industries Board in Washington for final priority orders. He urged contractors and prospective builders to file their applications immediately.

W. E. Walsh, head of the Bureau of Buildings, Borough of Manhattan, is preparing to co-operate with the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, and a large squad of building inspectors will in a few days time start a survey of the city building projects. The building bureaus of every Borough are actively co-operating with the committee in investigating applications for building permits.

According to late advice from the Mayor's Committee headquarters, the personnel of the special committee will be announced in the early part of next week and the survey of the active building operations will immediately follow.

The building industry is now fully aware of the urgent necessity for the curtailment of all non-war construction and in every possible manner will assist the authorities in their efforts to provide the required materials and labor for the structural work needed to win the war.

While it is not the policy of the Government to unnecessarily interfere with any legitimate business, industry, or construction project, it must be borne in mind that there is an imperative and constantly increasing demand for labor, material, and capital for the production and distribution of direct and indirect war needs, to satisfy which much non-war construction must be deferred. A full realization of this fact by all loyal and patriotic citizens, including State and municipal authorities, is all that is required to postpone such construction activities as interfere with the war program. The State and local representatives of the Council of National Defense are with confidence depended upon to fully acquaint the whole people of these United States with the pressing need for the most rigid economy, measured not only in terms of dollars but in terms of labor, materials, and transportation service.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

DURING the past week the building interests of the Metropolitan district have largely concentrated upon the drive for the Fourth Liberty Loan, and as the campaign proceeds considerably more time will be given to assure the complete success of this gigantic undertaking. The building industry has been allotted the sum of $7,000,000 as its quota, $2,000,000 more than the allotment for the last drive, and it is needless to say that every concern and individual affiliated with the building interests must make every effort, and sacrifice, if necessary, to make certain that the full quota is obtained.

Architects, contractors, material dealers and prospective builders are gradually becoming familiar with the new requirements of the War Industries Board in regard to non-war construction. Within the boundaries of Greater New York all applications for permission to construct must be made to F. T. Newell, secretary of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, Hall of Records, Borough of Manhattan. The Mayor's Committee has been requested by the War Industries Board to make a thorough survey of all building activities in New York City, and inspectors of the Bureau of Buildings are ready to start their canvass.

Government building operations comprise the major portion of current active projects, and almost daily announcements are made from Washington, of the award of important contracts and entirely new projects for which plans are being prepared. Prominent among the recent Government awards is the general contract obtained by the White Fireproof Construction Co., for the erection of a large naval hospital at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. This structure will be constructed under the direction of the Bureau of Yards and Docks and will cost approximately $1,000,000. The hospital will include two buildings, of reinforced concrete, each three stories in height, with basements. One of the buildings, with three wings, will be for the accommodation of nurses, and the other, with five wings, will be used as the hospital.

More than $10,000,000 will be expended for additional buildings to be erected at Camp Mills, Mineola, L. I., plans for which are now being prepared under the direction of Col. F. B. Wheaton, advisory architect and Col. F. M. Gunby, advisory engineer, Washington, D. C. It is expected that a general contract for this work will shortly be let on the cost plus basis, and work project is contemplated. This involves the construction of a naval supply depot to cost approximately $10,000,000.

The markets for building materials and supplies are extremely quiet. Aside from the orders from Government sources and the contractors who have structures well advanced, there is little buying activity prevalent. According to the present outlook there will be no resumption of structural activity on a large scale until the war is over and the economic situation of the United States returns to a more normal basis. Prices in all lines are steady with a continued tendency toward further advances.

Common Brick.—The wholesale market for Hudson River common brick reflects the conditions that generally maintain in the building situation throughout the local territory—extreme quietude. Sales during the past week have been exceptionally light, but the market has been brightened considerably by the increasing prospects of direct Government buying activity. Wholesale common brick prices are unchanged with quotations ranging from $13.50 to $14 a thousand, to dealers, in cargo lots alongside dock, but there is evidence of a slight weakening tendency in the price situation owing to the lack of demand. Manufacturing operations along the Hudson are slowed down almost to the stopping point. But few brick are being turned out and the producers are greatly hampered on account of the fuel scarcity. Many manufacturers have a fairly large supply of unburned brick in their yards and they are anxious to obtain fuel in order to burn their brick before they are attacked by frost. Labor at the yards is also a disquieting factor, and from this source of annoyance there seems to be no immediate prospect of relief.

SUMMARY—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, October 4, 1918. Condition of market: Demand light; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $13.50 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 7; sales, 8. Distribution: Manhattan, 1; Brooklyn, 2; New Jersey points, 4; Astoria, 1.

Lumber—Probably the most important development in the lumber situation during the past week or so was the announcement of the embargo affecting this commodity. The new ruling prohibits shipments of lumber to embargo territory for the present, except those shipments consigned for Government work. The effect is not so drastic as it would be if practically all of current lumber business was not for direct Federal account. As it is Government building and industrial construction to advance the war program are the dominating factors in the existing building situation; a condition that will likely maintain for the duration of the war. The price situation is practically unchanged. Prices in both wholesale and retail department are firm, with a tendency toward further advance.

Structural Steel.—There will be no slackening of efforts toward the maximum production in the steel mills of the country. Federal requirements will dominate the entire situation for some time to come and will allow practically no fabricated steel for other than the most essential uses. The railroads are growing factors in the steel situation, as their needs for line extensions and repairs are heavier than they have been for a long while. Government building projects, calling for fabricated steel in large tonnages, are also important phases of present activity. Government control prices for fabricated material are unchanged.

Portland Cement.—But little variation in the Portland cement situation is to be noted from week to week. Producers are operating to the limit permitted by the fuel restrictions, and the fact that a place was not given to this material on the priorities list as it now stands would seem to indicate that the output may eventually be somewhat reduced beyond the restrictions now in force. New developments in the cement situation are constantly manifesting themselves, and it is difficult to anticipate what conditions are likely to appear in the near future. Portland cement prices are firm and unchanged.

Cast Iron Pipe.—Although the manufacturers of cast iron pipe have obtained an increase of $5 a ton, the increase in the price of pig iron, amounting to almost $4 a ton will reduce the advantage materially. Buying activity is light, as only that work specifically prescribed by the War Industries Board is allowed to proceed, and practically all municipal and private projects that would use cast iron pipe are in abeyance until the end of the war. Revised Government prices are as follows for New York delivery: 6 in., 8 in. and heavier, $67.70 a ton, 4 in., $70.70 a ton, and 3 in., $77.70.

Electrical Supplies.—Reports from various lines indicate a continuation of extremely active business conditions, but all, however, are military in character. Private building operations are a negligible factor in this market and only a limited volume of repair business is being cared for owing to the pressure of war needs for electrical supplies of all kinds. The past week brought to light a number of price changes and undoubtedly others are imminent. The Government action regarding the official price of iron, steel, copper and cotton, will undoubtedly affect the price schedules to a great extent.

Linseed Oil.—There is little activity in the linseed oil market and wholesale prices are unchanged from the levels that maintained one week ago. The continuation of high prices are chiefly due to the scarcity of oil, but the time is now rapidly approaching when the new domestic seed crop will be ready for the crushers and the delivery of new oil supplies might have a tendency to weaken prices to some extent. Seed importations from Argentina are extremely light and labor at the crushers is scarce.

Window Glass.—Conditions in the local window glass situation continue to be unsatisfactory and as yet it is doubtful whether any new glass will be manufactured before the commencement of the new year. At the present time there is no prospect of improved conditions in the trade, as the producing end of the industry does not know exactly how it stands regarding fuel and raw materials. Manufacturers' discounts remain unchanged.

Wire Products.—The situation as applied to wire and wire nails continues tense, with the various Federal interests taking almost one hundred per cent. of the output for war requirements. Private consuming interests are only able to obtain supplies from dealers' stocks, which are now at a low ebb, and none are getting anything like their real needs. Prices are firm at the Government control levels. Current quotations are as follows: Wire nails, $3.50, base, per keg, and bright basic wire $3.45 a hundred pounds, f. o. b., Pittsburgh.

BUILDING COMMITMENTS ARE HEAVY

Current Year Exceeds Any in Past Nine
According to Dodge Company Statistics

DISCOUNTING the fact that structural operations throughout the United States are gradually being reduced in number to those projects absolutely essential to winning the war, and that all construction of non-war buildings has been stopped for the duration of the war, the figures for the current year indicate an increase in the total expenditures for building construction over any year since 1910. A study of the table of comparative statistics compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company, which shows the totals of contracts awarded from January 1 to October 1 for the past nine years, indicates that the commitments for structural work for 1918 overtop the total for 1917 by $56,885,574 and all previous years by a considerably larger figure.

The figures given in the table of statistics are for building and engineering projects in the states north of the Ohio River and east of the Missouri River, including New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, North and South Dakota and portions of Missouri and eastern Kansas.

During the first nine months of 1918 the total of the contracts for building and engineering operations in the territory included in this list amounted to $1,335,526,000, of which 31 1/3 per cent. was for direct Government projects. The total for the current year is greater than for any similar period during the past nine years, and was only approached in 1917, when the total for the first nine months amounted to $1,278,640,426. In the years of record prior to 1917 the totals have never reached $1,000,000,000.

Figures for the past nine years, from January 1 to October 1, are as follows:

Contracts
1918	$1,335,526,000
1917	1,278,640,426
1916	970,251,397
1915	680,615,100
1914	579,042,100
1913	682,425,500
1912	627,477,000
1911	607,638,813
1910	633,002,305

In what might be considered as the local territory, including New York State and northern New Jersey, there has been a decided falling off from the figures for the same period of one year ago. The gross amount placed for new construction work for the first nine months of the current year is $193,666,000 as compared with $247,335,000 for 1917, which was the highest year's total on record for this territory, and $180,803,500 for 1916. Of the total of the building commitments for 1918 about 31 per cent. was Government expenditures for structural operations essential to the success of the war plans.

Figures for the first nine months for the past nine years in the local territory are as follows:

Contracts
1918	$193,666,000
1917	247,335,000
1916	180,803,500
1915	120,400,500
1914	100,266,000
1913	214,106,500
1912	186,517,000
1911	183,429,000
1910	186,084,000

The territory that indicates the greatest increase for the current year is unquestionably that which includes the cities of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. In this district the total of the contracts awarded for 1918 amounted to $345,561,000 as compared with $162,502,000 for 1917 and $119,773,000 for 1916.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.
STATE OF NEW YORK,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section four and section eleven of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York will be submitted to the people for the purpose of voting thereon, at the next general election to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE CONTRACTING OF DEBTS BY THE STATE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sections four and eleven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debts shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein [; and such]. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive, nor for more than fifty years from the time of the contracting of such debt. A debt hereafter contracted by the state, pursuant to an authorization hereafter made, and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted, may, if provided by the law authorizing such debt, be paid in equal annual instalments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. Such law shall if it authorize the contracting of a debt payable otherwise than in equal annual instalments impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay, and sufficient to pay, the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof. No [such] law authorizing the contracting of a debt pursuant to this section shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election. On the final passage of such bill in either house of the legislature, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, to be duly entered on the journals thereof, and shall be: "Shall this bill pass, and ought the state to receive the sanction of the people?" The legislature may at any time, after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law; but the tax, if any, imposed by such act, in proportion to the debt and liability which may have been contracted in pursuance of such law, shall remain in force and be irrevocable, and be annually collected, until the proceeds thereof shall have made the provision hereinbefore specified to pay and discharge the interest and principal of such debt and liability. The money arising from any loan or stock creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever. No such law shall be submitted to be voted on, within three months after its passage or at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may provide for the issue of bonds of the state to run for a period not exceeding fifty years in lieu of bonds heretofore authorized but not issued and shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the same as hereinbefore required. When any sinking fund created under this section shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created, no further direct tax shall be levied on account of said sinking fund and the legislature shall reduce the tax to an amount equal to the accruing interest on such debt. The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt, which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section, or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof, which has been, or shall be created or issued before such alteration. In case the legislature increase the rate of interest upon any such debt, or part thereof, it shall, if such debt be payable otherwise than in equal annual instalments, impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay and sufficient to pay the increased or altered interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof, and shall appropriate annually to the sinking fund moneys in amount sufficient to pay such interest and pay and discharge the principal of such debt when it shall become due and payable.

§ 11. The legislature may appropriate out of any funds in the treasury, moneys to pay the accruing interest and principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created, or any part thereof and may, if such debt be payable otherwise than in annual instalments, set apart in each fiscal year, moneys in the state treasury as a sinking fund to pay the interest as it falls due and to pay and discharge the principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created under section four of article seven of the constitution until the same shall be wholly paid, and the principal and income of such sinking fund shall be applied to the purpose for which sinking fund is created and to no other purpose whatever; and, in the event such moneys so set apart in any fiscal year be sufficient to provide such sinking fund, a direct annual tax for such year need not be imposed and collected, as required by the provisions of said section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof. The legislature shall annually as the same shall fall due provide by direct tax, appropriation or both for the payment of the interest upon and instalments of principal of all debts created on behalf of the state, payable in annual instalments, pursuant to section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE FOREST PRESERVE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven or article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway from Saranac Lake in Franklin county to Long Lake in Hamilton county and thence to Old Forge in Herkimer county by way of Blue Mountain Lake and Raquette Lake.

[But the] The legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION EIGHT OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO A CERTAIN PORTION OF THE ERIE CANAL.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section eight of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 8. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Cayuga and Seneca canal, or the Black River canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. The prohibition of lease, sale or other disposition herein contained, shall not apply to the canal known as the Main and Hamburg street canal, situated in the city of Buffalo, and which extends easterly from the westerly line of Main street to the westerly line of Hamburg street, nor to that portion of the existing Erie canal in the city of Utica between the westerly line of Schuyler street and the easterly line of Third street, provided that a flow of sufficient water from Schuyler street to Third street to feed that portion of the canal east of Third street be maintained. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied to the improvement, superintendence or repair of the remaining portion of the canals.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE ONE OF THE CONSTITUTION, GENERALLY.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article one of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Compensation for taking private property; private roads; drainage of agricultural lands.

§ 7. When private property shall be taken for any public use, the compensation to be made therefor, when such compensation is not made by the state, shall be ascertained by a jury, or by the supreme court with or without a jury, but not with a referee, or by not less than three commissioners appointed by a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law. Private roads may be opened in the manner to be prescribed by law; but in every case the necessity of the road and the amount of all damage to be sustained by the opening thereof, shall be first determined by a jury of freeholders, and such amount, together with the expenses of the proceeding, shall be paid by the person to be benefited. General laws may be passed permitting the owners or occupants of agricultural lands to construct and maintain for the drainage thereof, necessary drains, ditches and dykes upon the lands of others, under proper restrictions and with just compensation, but no special laws shall be enacted for such purposes.

The legislature may authorize cities to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or relocating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property so authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. After so much of the land and property has been appropriated for such park, public place, highway or street as is needed therefor, the remainder may be sold or leased.

The legislature may also authorize cities, for the establishment of a uniform system of streets, to take real property within an abandoned street or highway and to sell and lease it.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE
ALBANY, July 1, 1918

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section eighteen of article three of the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWELVE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION EIGHTEEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE

CONSTITUTION, RELATING TO PRIVATE AND LOCAL BILLS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.
Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways or alleys, or for draining swamps or other low lands.
Granting any state lands, or any interest therein.

Locating or changing county seats.
Providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.
Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or empanelling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the rate of interest on money.

The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage or allowances of public officers, during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Granting to any person, association, firm or corporation, an exemption from taxation on real or personal property.
Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.
Legalizing, ratifying or confirming the proceedings of a municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or the officers or authorities thereof, in providing for the issuance and sale of the bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of such municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or validating such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness after their issuance and sale.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of, that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or in case the consent of such property owners cannot be obtained, the appellate division of the supreme court, in the department in which it is proposed to be constructed, may, upon application, appoint three commissioners who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one, article fourteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THIRTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION ONE OF ARTICLE TWELVE AND SECTIONS TWENTY-SIX AND TWENTY-SEVEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE CONSTITUTION TO ENHANCE THE LEGISLATURE TO GIVE GREATER

CONTROL OVER LOCAL AFFAIRS TO CITIES AND COUNTIES.

Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section one of article twelve of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the legislature to provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages and to restrict their power of taxation, assessments, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessments and in contracting debt by such municipal corporations. [; and] The legislature may by general laws confer upon cities such powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may from time to time deem expedient.

[The] The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and make provision for the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state, or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof. City bills shall apply equally to all the cities of a class as defined in section two of article twelve and no special city bill affecting less than all the cities of a class shall be passed except to secure the public safety or in a case where it affects territory without the corporate limits of the city.

Resolved further (if the Assembly concur), That sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 26. There shall be in each county, except in a county wholly included in a city, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members as elected in such manner and for such period as is or may be provided by law. But the legislature may provide by law for another form of government for any county subject to the approval of the electors of such county at a general election in an odd-numbered year. Such law may also provide for the transfer to the county of functions now exercised by towns. In a city which includes an entire county, or two or more entire counties, the powers and duties of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the municipal assembly, common council, board of aldermen or other legislative body of the city.

§ 27. The legislature shall, by general laws, confer upon the boards of supervisors, or other governing elective bodies, of the several counties of the state such further powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient, [; and] in counties which now have, or may hereafter have, county auditors or other fiscal officers, authorized to audit bills, accounts, charges, claims or demands against the county, the legislature may confer such powers upon [said] such auditors, or fiscal officers, as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOURTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION NINE OF ARTICLE FIVE OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO PREFERENCES, IN EMPLOYMENT AND PROMOTION, OF SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND MARINES.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section nine of article five of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 9. Appointments and promotions in the civil service of the state and of all civil divisions thereof, including cities and villages, shall be made according to merit and fitness to be ascertained, so far as practicable, by examinations, which, so far as practicable, shall be competitive; provided, however, that honorably discharged soldiers, [and] sailors [from] and marines who have served as such in the army, [and] navy or marine corps of the United States in the [late civil] time of war, and who are citizens and residents of this state, shall be entitled to preference in appointment and promotion over all others, without regard to their standing on any list from which such appointment or promotion may be made, in the following order:

1. All honorably discharged soldiers, sailors or marines who served as such in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States during the civil war;

2. All honorably discharged soldiers, sailors or marines who served as such in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States during the war with Spain or the insurrection in the Philippine islands prior to July fourth, nineteen hundred and two, who were residents of this state at the time of enlistment.

Laws shall be made to provide for the enforcement of this section.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FIFTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SIX OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO COMPENSATION OF JUDGES OF THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven of article six of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The court of appeals is continued. It shall consist of the chief judge and associate judges now in office, who shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms, and their successors, who shall be chosen by the electors of the state. The official terms of the chief judge and associate judges shall be fourteen years from and including the first day of January next after their election. Five members of the court shall form a quorum, and the concurrence of four shall be necessary to a decision. The court shall have power to appoint and to remove its reporter, clerk and attendants. Whenever and as often as a majority of the judges of the court of appeals shall certify to the governor that said court is unable, by reason of the accumulation of causes pending therein, to hear and dispose of the same with reasonable speed, the governor shall designate not more than four justices of the supreme court to serve as associate judges of the court of appeals. The justices so designated shall be relieved from their duties as justices of the supreme court and shall serve as associate judges of the court of appeals until the causes undisposed of in said court are reduced to two hundred, when they shall return to the supreme court. The governor may designate justices of the supreme court to fill vacancies. No justice shall serve as associate judge of the court of appeals except while holding the office of justice of the supreme court, and no more than seven judges shall sit in any case. The judges of the court of appeals, including those now in office, shall receive for their services a compensation established by law which shall not be diminished during their official terms and shall not be less than the highest compensation allowed by law to any other judicial officer in the state. A justice of the supreme court while serving as associate judge of the court of appeals shall receive the same compensation as judges of the court of appeals.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur),

AMENDMENT NUMBER SEVENTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE USE OF LANDS AND TIMBER IN THE FOREST PRESERVE FOR FUEL FOR DOMESTIC PURPOSES AND FOR ROADS AND TRAILS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Forest preserve. § 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. But the legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. The foregoing provisions of this section shall not prevent the legislature from authorizing the cutting and removal of dead and fallen timber on lands in the forest preserve for fuel or other domestic purposes; or authorizing the cutting and use by the state of timber on such lands for the construction of roads and trails necessary for protection against fire, and for ingress and egress. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

EIGHTEEN

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, ss.:

ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to sections two, four, five, eleven and twelve of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER EIGHTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTIONS TWO, FOUR, FIVE, ELEVEN AND TWELVE OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO DEBTS CONTRACTED BY THE STATE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That sections two, four, five, eleven and twelve of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The state may, to meet casual deficits or failures in revenues, or for expenses not provided for, contract debts; but such debts, direct or contingent, singly or in the aggregate, shall not at any time exceed one million of dollars; and the moneys arising from the loans creating such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which they were obtained, or to repay the debt so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever. [The state may, in anticipation of the receipt of taxes and revenues, direct or indirect, for the purposes and within the amounts of appropriations theretofore made; bonds or other obligations for the moneys so borrowed shall be issued as may be provided by law, and shall with the interest thereon be paid from such taxes and revenues within one year from the date of issue.]

§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debt[s] shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein, [; and such law shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay, and sufficient to pay, the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof. No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election.] On the final passage of such bill in either house of the legislature, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, to be duly entered on the journals thereof, and shall be: "Shall this bill pass and ought the same to receive the sanction of the people?" No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election nor shall it be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage nor at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may, at any time after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law. [but the tax imposed by such act, in proportion to the debt and liability which may have been contracted in pursuance of such law, shall remain in force and be irrepealable, and be annually collected, until the proceeds thereof shall have made the provision hereinbefore specified to pay and discharge the interest and principal of such debt and liability.]

Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, all debts contracted by the state after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty, pursuant to an authorization therof, heretofore or hereafter made and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted irrespective of the terms of such authorization, shall be paid in equal annual installments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted, to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive.

The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof which has been or shall be created or issued before such alteration.

The money arising from any loan [or stock] creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever. [No such law shall be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage or at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may provide for the issue of bonds of the state to run for a period not exceeding fifty years in lieu of bonds heretofore authorized but not issued and shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the same as hereinbefore required. When any sinking fund created under this section shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created, no further direct tax shall be levied on account of said sinking fund, and the legislature shall reduce the tax to an amount equal to the accruing interest on such debt. The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt, which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section, or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof, which has been, or shall be created or issued before such alteration. In case the legislature increase the rate of interest upon any such debt, or part thereof, it shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay and sufficient to pay the increased or altered interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof, and shall appropriate annually the sinking fund moneys in amount sufficient to pay such interest and pay and discharge the principal of such debt when it shall become due and payable.]

§ 5. The sinking funds provided for the payment of interest and the extinguishment of the principal of the debts of the state heretofore contracted shall be continued; they shall be separately kept and safely invested and neither of them shall be appropriated or used in any manner other than for [the specific purpose for which it shall have been provided] such payment and extinguishment as herein-after provided. The comptroller shall each year appraise the securities held for investment in each of such funds at their fair market value not exceeding par. He shall then determine and certify to the legislature the amount of each of such funds and the amounts which, if there-after annually contributed to each such fund, would, with the fund and with the accumulations thereon and upon the contributions thereto, computed at the rate of three per centum per annum, produce at the date of maturity the amount of the debt to retire which such fund was created, and the legislature shall thereupon appropriate as the contribution to each such fund for such year at least the amount thus certified.

If the income of any such fund in any year is more than a sum which, if annually added to such fund would, with the fund and its accumulations as aforesaid, retire the debt at maturity, the excess income may be applied to the interest on the debt for which the fund was created.

After any sinking fund shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created no further contribution shall be made thereto except to make good any losses ascertained at the annual appraisals above mentioned, and the income thereof shall be applied to the payment of the interest on such debt. Any excess in such income not required for the payment of interest may be applied to the general fund of the state.

The legislature may also by general laws provide means and authority whereby outstanding bonds of the state, for which sinking funds are provided, may be exchanged at par for cancellation, for serial bonds of the form authorized under section four of this article, upon such terms and conditions as to interest and otherwise as it may in its discretion authorize or determine, except that the debt as thus refunded shall finally mature no later and at no greater comparative cost to the state than the original debt; the determination of the legislature as to such comparative cost shall be conclusive. No further contributions to the respective sinking funds shall be made on account of bonds so exchanged and the proportion of any such sinking fund which the amount of the bonds so exchanged shall bear to the amount of bonds outstanding of the same issue may be appropriated, as required, for the payment of the substituted serial bonds.

§ 11. [The legislature may appropriate out of any funds in the treasury, moneys to pay the accruing interest and principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created, or any part thereof and may set apart in each fiscal year, moneys in the state treasury as a sinking fund to pay the interest as it falls due and to pay and discharge the principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created under section four of article seven of the constitution until the same shall be wholly paid, and the principal and income of such sinking fund shall be applied to the purpose for which said sinking fund is created and to no other purpose whatever; and, in the event such moneys so set apart in any fiscal year be sufficient to provide such sinking fund, a direct annual tax for such year need not be imposed and collected, as required by the provisions of said section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof.] The legislature shall annually provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and instalments of principal of all debts created on behalf of the state except those contracted under section two of this article, as the same shall fall due, and for the contribution to all of the sinking funds heretofore created by law, of the amounts annually to be contributed under the provisions of section five of this article. If at any time the legislature shall fail to make any such appropriation, the comptroller shall set apart from the first revenues thereafter received, applicable to the general fund of the state, a sum sufficient to pay such interest, instalments of principal, or contributions to such sinking fund, as the case may be, and shall so apply the moneys thus set apart. The comptroller may be required to set aside and apply such revenues as aforesaid, at the suit of any holder of such bonds.

§ 12. Debts hereafter authorized for the improvement of highways shall be created only in the manner provided in section four of this article. No provision of this article shall be deemed to impair or affect the validity of any debt of the state heretofore contracted or any right or obligation heretofore created between the state and any of its civil divisions.

§ 13. A debt or debts of the state may be authorized by law for the improvement of highways. Such highways shall be determined under general laws, which shall also provide for the equitable apportionment thereof among the counties. The aggregate of the debts authorized by this section shall not at any one time exceed the sum of fifty millions of dollars. The payment of the annual interest on such debt and the creation of a sinking fund of at least two per centum per annum to discharge the principal at maturity shall be provided by general laws whose force and effect shall not be diminished during the existence of any debt created thereunder. The legislature may by general laws require the county or town or both to pay to the sinking fund the proportionate part of the cost of any such highway within the boundaries of such county or town and the proportionate part of the interest thereon, but no county shall at any time for any highway be required to pay more than thirty-five hundredths of the cost of such highway, and no town more than fifteen hundredths. None of the provisions of the fourth section of this article shall apply to debts for the improvement of highways hereby authorized.]

§ 2. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one, article fourteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER NINETEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION BY INSERTING THEREIN A NEW ARTICLE, IN RELATION TO TAXATION.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the constitution be amended by inserting therein a new article, to be article seven-a, to read as follows:

ARTICLE VII-A.

§ 1. For the assessment of real property, heretofore locally assessed, the legislature may establish tax districts, none of which, unless it be a city, shall embrace more than one town. The assessors therein shall be elected by the electors of such districts. The legislature may provide that the assessment-roll of a town shall serve for all the civil divisions or parts thereof within its boundaries. No such tax district embracing a town shall be established until a proposition providing therefor shall have been adopted by a vote of a majority of the electors voting thereon in such proposed district at an election for which provision shall be made by law.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSITION NUMBER ONE

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section four of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred and ninety-five of the Election Law, and of section two of chapter six hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eighteen, notice is hereby given that chapter six hundred and ninety-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eighteen, of which the following is a copy, will be submitted to the people for the purpose of voting thereon at the next general election in this State, to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,

CHAP. 626

AN ACT TO AMEND CHAPTER TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY-EIGHT OF THE LAWS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED AND TWELVE, AUTHORIZING THE SALE OF BONDS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION AND IMPROVEMENT OF STATE AND COUNTY HIGHWAYS, IN RELATION TO PROVIDING FOR THE DISPOSITION OF CERTAIN UNEXPENDED BALANCES FOR HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT; AND TO PROVIDE FOR A SUBMISSION OF THE SAME TO THE PEOPLE TO BE VOTED UPON AT THE GENERAL ELECTION TO BE HELD IN THE YEAR NINETEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTEEN.

Became a Law May 11, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Chapter two hundred and ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, entitled "An act making provision for issuing bonds to the amount of not to exceed fifty million dollars for the purpose of constructing and improving state and county highways, and providing for a submission of the same to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and twelve," is hereby amended by inserting therein, after section six, a new section, to be section six-a, to read as follows:

§ 6-a. Unexpended balances; how to be used. If moneys authorized by this act to be raised and which have been apportioned before the taking effect of this section to a county for use in the construction of state highways cannot be used within such county for that purpose, or if any of such moneys which have been apportioned before the taking effect of this section to a county for use in the construction of county highways cannot be used within such county for that purpose, under the foregoing provisions of this act and in the manner herein prescribed, the unexpended balances of such moneys apportioned pursuant to section four of this act shall be available, after appropriation by the legislature, for use in the discretion of the state commissioner of highways in the construction, reconstruction or widening of state or county highways as defined in the highway law or of such other highways as he may determine to be necessary to connect the systems of state highways, county highways or highways improved by federal aid. Such commissioner shall expend within any county having an unexpended balance of moneys originally apportioned to it by section four of this act, for the construction, reconstruction or widening of such highways, one-half of such unexpended balance, and such commissioner may expend within any other county or counties for the same purposes the remainder of such unexpended balance. In the use of such moneys in the construction, reconstruction or widening of any state, county or connecting highway, the county within which such highway is located shall contribute to the total cost thereof in the same manner and to the same extent and in the same proportion as is now provided by article six of the highway law in connection with the improvement of county highways within such county.

§ 2. This law shall not take effect until it shall at a general election have been submitted to the people and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election; and the same shall be submitted to the people of this state at the general election to be held in November, nineteen hundred and eighteen. The ballots to be furnished for the use of the voters upon the submission of this law shall be in the form prescribed by the election law, and the proposition or question to be submitted shall be printed thereon in substantially the following form, namely: "Shall chapter (here insert the number of the chapter) of the laws of nineteen hundred and eighteen, entitled 'An act to amend chapter two hundred and ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, authorizing the sale of bonds for the construction and improvement of state and county highways, in relation to providing for the disposition of certain unexpended balances for highway improvement; and to provide for a submission of the same to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year, nineteen hundred and eighteen,' be approved?"

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, } ss.:
I have compared the preceding with the original law on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole of said original law.

GIVEN under my hand and the seal of office of the Secretary of State, at the [L. s.] city of Albany, this first day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

FORM FOR SUBMISSION OF PROPOSITION NUMBER ONE

"Shall chapter six hundred twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eighteen, entitled 'An act to amend chapter two hundred and ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, authorizing the sale of bonds for the construction and improvement of state and county highways, in relation to providing for the disposition of certain unexpended balances for highway improvement; and to provide for a submission of the same to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen,' be approved?"

Predict No Increase in Tax Rate for This Year

Budget of $6,300,000 Over 1918 May Be Covered If Half of Increase in Tentative Assessments Holds

THE city's tentative budget for 1919 shows an increase of $6,300,000 over the budget for the present year, according to figures made public by Comptroller Charles L. Craig. Despite this increase, Mr. Craig said the indications are that the tax rate for next year will be lower than this year.

The Controller's statement follows:

In spite of decreases in the expenditures of numerous city departments the tentative budget for 1919 shows an increase of $6,300,000 over the final budget of 1918. These increases are due entirely to emergencies arising from the war. About $2,300,000 is due to the maintenance of a special police force to protect the Catskill aqueduct, bridges, and similar structures against alien enemies. Necessities for the Health Department, hospitals, charitable and other institutions required an increase of approximately $1,000,000 due to the high cost of food, drugs, and like supplies. The salaries of the men in the Police and Fire Departments were increased $150, while the salaries of all city employes receiving $1,800 or less were increased $100, and employes of the Street Cleaning Department have received substantially the same increase. These increases were made necessary by the high cost of living brought on by the war, and aggregate about $4,000,000. Altogether the compensation of about 60,000 employes was affected by these increases.

An increase of $360,000 was allowed to the Dock Department for dredging in order to fit the port for war purposes. The great increase in wages of skilled and unskilled labor by reason of competition of war industries required additional appropriations amounting to more than $3,000,000. The unparalleled severity of the weather last winter increased the cost of snow removal, so that, with the added cost of disposing of refuse, the requirement for the Street Cleaning Department is nearly $2,500,000 greater than last year.

War prices for coal, paving, and like materials and supplies have required increased appropriations of fully $800,000. Long delayed and necessary repairs to ferryboats, public buildings, structures, and equipment required additional moneys amounting to more than $500,000. An increase of $950,000 for the Board of Elections has been made necessary by extending the franchise to women. Unprofitable subways add $1,200,000 to last year's losses of $5,700,000 in interest on the city's investment in the dual system.

A great part of the foregoing increases are offset by the saving in the more economical administration of the various city departments. In many instances these departments, in spite of the increase in salaries, show a decrease appropriation from 1918.

In other words, a more economical and efficient administration has greatly reduced and held down what otherwise would have been an extraordinary increase in the budget due to war causes. Moreover, thousands of employes from the various city departments serving in the army and navy are carried on the city pay-roll and their families regularly receive their salary under the Fenner law. In spite of the increase in the budget, the indications are that the tax-rate for next year will be lower than in 1918.

Hearings on the budget will be held in the City Hall on October 15 and 16 and October 23 and 24.

In anticipation of the budget hearings Edward P. Doyle, chairman of the Budget Committee of the Real Estate Board, has prepared the following statement:

"The harm done to the City of New York by sentimentalists, social reformers and professional settlement workers of a certain type, during the past twenty-five years cannot be measured by increased taxes or by the excess of

President of the Real Estate Board.

WE had confidently expected an increase of at least $20,000,000 in the budget over last year, and of course are relieved to find that the additional amount is so much smaller than was anticipated. The Comptroller has itemized the increases and called attention to the decreases in expenditures.

What is apparent is that the Administration seems to have done considerable in the way of cutting down routine expenses, largely, it is probable, by not replacing employes who have dropped out of the service of the city and by economy in other directions. Of course the impossibility of new construction and repair work, made difficult because of war measures, has aided in keeping down the total expenditures.

From Comptroller Craig's statement it seems probable that many of the recommendations of the Budget Committee of the Real Estate Board, excepting those requiring legislation, have been approved. The tentative increased valuations of real and personal property amount to $745,000,000. If one-half of this increase is sustained there will be no increase in the tax rate over last year. In almost any event it seems probable that the tax rate for 1919 will not be more than a few points higher than the rate of 1918. As the real estate interests had looked forward to an increase of twenty-three points this is gratifying.

The Budget Committee of the Board of Estimate is entitled to credit for having accomplished what must have been extremely difficult when the cost of everything, including mandatory increases of salaries, has advanced so greatly. Of course, the budget is as yet only tentative.

Falling Off in Licenses is Sixteen Per Cent.

Total Sum of Revenue To City Is About $900,000—Expect Modification of Law

CONTRARY to the predictions by the big brewers the number of liquor licenses applied for this year was fairly good, and the falling off in revenue is less than was expected. Just after the announcement was made that brewing of beer must cease on December 1 and the sale of it on July 1, some of the big brewers predicted that not less than fifty per cent. of the saloonkeepers would refrain from applying for licenses.

A comparison of the figures for this year up to October 10, as compared with those up to the same day last year is interesting and does not bear out the predictions of the brewers. In Manhattan and the Bronx in 1917-18 the number of licenses issued was 3,799, representing a total revenue of $5,698,500 in class 1, which is the saloon class; while in class 2, the stores selling beer, 496 licenses were issued with a revenue of $596,400.

This year 3,206 licenses were issued in class 1, representing a revenue of $4,809,000, while 497 licenses were issued in class 2, with a revenue of $490,000. In class 1 the falling off represents in the number of licenses issued 593, and in revenue $899,500 as compared with last year. In class 2 the difference in number issued is 88 and the revenue decrease $5,600. The total decrease is estimated by the Excise Commissioner at about sixteen per cent.

At the office of the State Excise Commissioner yesterday a representative said:

"The falling off has not been so great as we were led to believe it would be; in fact we are greatly surprised that so many renewed their licenses. There is, however, a feeling that there will be a modification of the order and believing this to be possible many saloonkeepers applied for renewals knowing that in the event of the order standing as originally issued they can rebate any unused portion of their licenses and thereby lose nothing. We will have a few straggling applications come in after today but the number will be small and will not effect the figures we now have."

appropriations for purely social work. It is shown by the change in public opinion in regard to the rights of individuals and corporations in property. It can truly be said that there is no better way of determining the standing of a community or a nation among civilized communities and nations than by finding out the attitude of its people toward what are known as property rights.

"In those communities where such rights are strictly observed, and protected, and a man's property is sacred, and can only be taken by due process of law, and for the good of the entire community, and must then be fully compensated for, the acme of civilization is reached.

"The founders of this nation realized that, and the Constitution of the United States expressly provides that 'no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.' Anarchy is the reverse of civilization, and when its advocates obtain possession of government, as under the French Commune in 1871 or under the present rule in Russia, they at once deny all corporate and individual rights in property.

"History has shown that the only lasting and successful form of government is a representative democracy either under an elected or hereditary head. A pure democracy or an absolute despotism are either short lived or must maintain themselves by force, and have never been successful in that their subjects were happy and contented. The harm these reformers have done is that they have influenced public opinion to believe that this country should become a pure democracy with State socialism and with all property practically held in common. All public utilities should be owned and operated by the Government, and all industries should be cooperative and that individualism and personal initiative should disappear. They have been the more successful because of the change in the character of our citizens, especially in the great cities of the seaboard and the adjacent interior.

"Twenty-five years ago the strong, sturdy, self-reliant countries of the North of Europe ceased sending us their people. Such immigrants were an asset the moment they touched the shores of America, and as a rule passed inward and built up great and flourishing communities in the West, Northwest and Southwest. Another class instead began coming here. They were from the South of Europe and Russia. These people were accustomed to State socialism, and to the absence of individualism and initiative and unlike the other immigrants, who repulsed the social worker, they welcomed them. The idea that the State owed everybody a living and that all property should be owned in common was agreeable to them, and the work of the reformers was in fertile ground.

"These people were very numerous, and instead of passing through the seaboard cities and taking up and developing the unoccupied lands of the interior of the United States they remained in the seaboard cities, their children to be educated, their sick and feeble to be taken care of and their poor to become a charge on the community. To them the idea of getting city or private aid was not repugnant, and where the other and sturdier immigrants repulsed the social workers they gladly received them. At first the activities of the social workers were private, but it soon became apparent that the ambitious aims of the settlement workers were too great in scope to be taken care of other than by the municipality. Then each year there were greater demands on the city treasury—for instance: The appropriation for the Department of Charities was $1,976,000 in 1905 and $5,410,000 in 1918; although in 1918 there was also an additional appropriation of $1,553,000 for the Board of Child Welfare.

"A laborer whose minimum wage is $4.40 a day, or a skilled mechanic whose minimum wage is $6.60 a day, needs no help from the city, and twenty years ago under similar conditions would have spurned it.

"The budget committee of the Real Estate Board feels that now is the time for the real people of the community to attend the hearings October 15 and 16 and October 23 and 24 before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on the proposed City Budget for 1919 and protest against any proposition savoring of Municipal or State socialism. The other kind of people will be at these meetings in force trying to make a Petrograd out of New York City. The Board of Estimate is all right, but the members want to be backed up by the community."

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

The White House, Washington, D. C., Oct. 10, 1918.

Recent events have enhanced, not lessened, the importance of this loan, and I hope that my fellow-countrymen will let me say this to them very frankly. The best thing the loan should not only be fully subscribed, but very greatly over-subscribed.

We are in the midst of the greatest exercise of the power of this country that has ever been witnessed or forecast, and a single day of relaxation in that effort would be of tragical damage alike to ourselves and to the rest of the world. Nothing has happened which makes it safe or possible to do anything but push our effort to the utmost. The time is critical, and the response must be complete.

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON.

Building and Allied Trades After Big Figures

Chairman Otto M. Eidlitz Spurs the Workers to Renewed Endeavor—Supreme Efforts in Last Week of Drive

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11, 1918.

To the Chairmen of the Building & Allied Trades, Liberty Loan Committees:—

This coming week must witness the supreme effort of all of you to arouse tremendous enthusiasm for the Fourth Liberty Loan. Nothing will prove to the Hun the unalterable determination of our country to put him where he belongs so well as the over-subscription of this Loan. The Hun realizes that it means a super-human effort to do this, and will be properly impressed if, after he has failed, our country makes a wonderful

TWO-THIRDS of the time allotted for the canvass to put over the Fourth Liberty Loan has already elapsed and up to the moment of going to press the headquarters of the Building and Allied Trades Committee is only able to report that considerably less than one-half of the $7,000,000 quota has been subscribed by the industry. Unquestionably the chairmen of the various sub-committees have a number of additional subscriptions that would materially increase the total already announced, but the general committee headquarters must be in receipt of the official notification of the actual sale of Liberty Bonds before the amount can be credited to the respective interests making the canvass.

From all current accounts the building trades have not yet fully awakened to their duty in this loan drive, for they have not as yet responded in the satisfactory manner of former campaigns. The enthusiasm for the success of the drive that was engendered in the preliminary committee meetings was surely sufficient to assure the procurement of the full quota assigned to the building industry. Unquestionably the building trades will ultimately make good by obtaining $7,000,000 with an oversubscription just to prove that they have been heartily in accord with the National wish to banish autocracy from off the earth. It is thoroughly understood that the mark established as the goal for the building interests is relatively high and that the industry has passed through difficult times during the past year or two, but neither of these factors can be used as a legitimate excuse for failing to come up to the mark when the final bell of the campaign is rung.

Up to Friday noon the sub-committees representing the building interests had reported subscriptions as follows: Asbestos, Pipe & Boiler Covering, $347,900; Builders, Shorers & Hoisters, $421,300; Building Materials, $35,000; Cement Workers, $299,950; Elevator Manufacturers, $60,000; Glass Trade, $275,650; Lighting Fixtures, $177,600; Marble Industry, $50,000; Metal Lathers, $2,000; Ornamental Bronze & Iron Workers, $7,150; Painters, $109,750; Plasterers, $11,850; Plumbers & Gas Fitters, $80,550; Roofers, Sheet Metal Workers and Allied Interests, $480,000; Steam Fitters, $132,650; Steel and Iron, $135,350; Stone, $10,800; Wire Workers, $26,500; Woodworkers, $200,550; and the Building Trades Employers' Association, $20,000, making a total of $2,894,550.

There yet remains one whole week in which the building trades and all of the varied interests affiliated with them in this Fourth Liberty Loan drive can speed up their efforts to the limit of their capacities to assure the success of the campaign from the standpoint of their industry.

Francis A. Shinn, secretary of the Building and Allied Trades Committee, in discussing the outlook for the remaining week of the drive with a representative of the Record and Guide, said yesterday:

"The results of our campaign to date for the Fourth Liberty Loan in the Building and Allied Trades are discouraging. While many of our members are suffering from war conditions, the industry as a whole is well able to subscribe to seven millions of bonds. We all know the six billions of dollars must be raised; if not in the form of a loan, then in the form of tremendous taxes, in which latter case we showing. The road is hard and difficult and our resources have been cut; but I know our Building Industry well enough to feel that if each of our Chairmen makes a real sacrifice, the answer will be an over-subscription. We have done it three times—we can do it a fourth. It means many small subscriptions, as well as the bigger ones, and to secure small subscriptions, means effort. The news from the other side is encouraging. Let's make it encouraging on this side also by over-subscribing the Fourth Liberty Loan. Do not fail in this; our country expects it of you.

OTTO M. EIDLITZ.

"Many of our boys on the firing lines are not only risking their lives but also buying bonds from their small pay. A certain company of marines which covered itself with glory at Chateau Thierry subscribed 100 per cent. to the Third Loan, and a member of this company stated that the news of the over-subscription of the Third Loan put more courage into every heart.

"There are entirely too few of us who realize that our actions at home have an immediate and deciding effect on the firing lines. This war has become truly a peoples war. Every one of us is in the service; every one of us must do our allotted task in precisely the same spirit as those who fight. If we at home fail to make the early sacrifice of foregoing present pleasures to invest our savings in Liberty Bonds, which are supplies for the fighter, we weaken the line just as truly as the soldier who deserts. Unless we put our entire energy into backing our brave troops, we are unworthy of the name Americans.

"The German peace proposals were timed to hurt the Loan. Shall we relax our efforts, lulled to sleep by the soft words of a group of autocrats, or shall we so work day and night that we roll up a great over-subscription to our quota as a sign that we in the Building Trades are heart and soul with our boys over there and that we intend to see this war through until Democracy and Liberty are free forever?

"This is the critical moment of the war. This is the time for us to show the faith that is in us."

The past week was a notable one for the job meetings held and the large sales of bonds reported. Both of the meetings, held under the auspices of the George A. Fuller Company, at the Hotel Commodore and Pennsylvania Hotel, were attended by practically all of the workmen engaged on these projects. One of the features of both gatherings was the selections by the band from the U. S. S. Recruit. Although the actual figures of the sales made at these meetings are not available, it is said that the total was large, and indicated conclusively that the workmen in the building trades are most enthusiastic for the ultimate success of the Loan.

The Turner Construction Company will hold additional meetings at the Army Base, in Brooklyn, October 17 and 18, and Post & McCord will conduct another meeting for their employes at the Naval Barracks, Shore road and 74th street, Brooklyn, October 18.

About five hundred men connected with the elevator business were at the meeting arranged by W. L. O'Connell, at 154 East 54th street, Thursday evening, October 10. An interesting program of speakers and musical selections was rendered and important sales resulted.

Probably one of the most important of the sub-trade gatherings of the entire campaign is the dinner and Liberty Loan Rally scheduled to be held at the Building Trades Club next Monday evening. Benjamin Trailel, chairman of the committee representing the Marble, Tile and Mosaic industry, has arranged to have Captain Mathias, of the British Army, as the principal speaker of the evening, and his address should be a most interesting one, as he has spent many months at the front and passed through dangers of almost every character that occur in current warfare.

Realty Men Near Quota in Liberty Loan Drive

Chairman Marling Confident That an Oversubscription Will Be Reached—Honor Emblems Popular

THE stimulus effected by the adoption by the Realty Division of the Real Estate Honor Emblem has resulted in large accretions to the total of subscriptions to the Fourth Liberty Loan. With only seven working days before the end of the drive, the committee is confident that the minimum quota of $5,000,000 will be reached and Chairman Marling and his associates are hopeful that when the final returns are all in it will be found that the quota has been doubled.

As announced in our last issue, President Laurence McGuire of the Real Estate Board offered the use of the directors' box at the New York Hippodrome for last Monday to the team making the best showing for that day, and the team of which Albert B. Ashforth is captain was the winner, having secured from the Union Dime Savings Bank a subscription of $500,000 which represents one-half of one per cent. of the assessed valuation of its realty holdings. On Wednesday the prize was won by the team captained by Frederick Fox, which turned in 103 subscribers' cards.

Among the subscriptions received this week which represent one-half of one per cent. of the assessed values of the contributors realty holdings and which entitles them to fly the Real Estate honor emblem were: New York Title & Mortgage Company, $100,000, of which $40,000 was credited to Brooklyn, and $10,000 to White Plains; J. P. Morgan & Co. for their Broad street building, $25,000; the Chesebrough building, $21,000; Charles F. Noyes Company, $5,000; First National Bank, $11,200; Arnstein & Levy, $10,000; Elias Kempner, $5,000; Merchants Marine headquarters, $2,500; Johnston building at 30 Broad street, $11,400; Neptune Realty Company, for 30 Wall street, $5,250; Singer Manufacturing Company, $10,000; Bank of New York, $5,000; Brown Brothers & Co., $5,000; Mechanics Bank, $7,000; Manhattan Bank, $7,000; Equitable Trust Co., $12,000; Peter R. Weiler, $10,000; M. Morgenthau, Jr., Company, $5,000; Henry Morgenthau in addition to previous subscriptions, $10,000; Durham Realty Company, through B. N. Duke, for six large buildings, $20,000, and the estate of Charles F. Hoffman, $10,000; Woodlawn Cemetery, $68,000; Frederick Brown, $50,000; Bernard Mayer, $25,000; Farmers Loan and Trust Company, $15,000; Charles Kaye, $10,000; Flora Ehrman, $15,000; Home Life Insurance Company, for its building, $5,000; David and Harry Lippmann, $5,000; Manhattan Life Insurance Company, for its building, $20,000; The Harriman Bank, $50,000; Samuel K. Jacobs, $20,000; Haven's Relief Fund, $28,000; Slawson & Hobbs, $20,000; James McCreery Realty Corporation, $15,000, and $10,000 each from United States Rubber Company, Number 18 East Fifty-first Street Company, John F. Underwood, Schaefer Company, and the Washington Heights Bank.

At a meeting of the team captains yesterday Chairman Marling called attention to the steady influx of $50 and $100 subscriptions, pointing out that notwithstanding the large subscriptions which were being obtained through the division, canvassers were not slackening their efforts to obtain the small buyers. In urging continued efforts along these lines, Mr. Marling suggested an even greater drive to enlist the support of a great army of small property owners who can easily earn the right to fly the honor flag by subscribing to bonds equalling in value one-half of one per cent. of the assessed valuation of their realty holdings.

The honor emblems for subscribing to one-half of one per cent. of the valuations of their holdings went on Thursday to the following realty owners: Morris & McVeigh, for Louis Zhrowski, $20,000; Collegiate Realty Company, $5,000; No. 68 Broad Street, $5,000; James T. Lee, $30,000; Max Lowenthal, $5,000; corporations controlled by Benjamin Mordecai, $32,000;

Bing & Bing for officers and employees, $29,000; Lambert Suydam, $10,000; Blair & Co., $10,000; Lilla B. Hyde, $5,000; the Wall Street Exchange Building, $10,000; Cartier, $4,500; George Baker Construction Co., $5,000; Sonn Brothers, $10,000; Adolph Lewishon & Sons, $15,000; Oceanic Investing Company, $34,000 additional, from Brooklyn, $288,000, representing many subscriptions of small owners of flats, two-family houses, private houses, lots, etc. A rally will be held today at the rooms of the Real Estate Board, No. 217 Broadway at nine A. M., when arrangements for the final drive week will be discussed. Real estate workers expect to collect as many subscriptions next week as they have collected by this morning. Mr. Marling desires all the captains to attend this meeting.

There will be no relaxation in the efforts of the teams during the closing week, and if the experience of the past two weeks is to be a criterion the realty division will go away over the top, and it is a source of gratification to Mr. Marling and his very loyal aids that while other Liberty Loan divisions were running behind in their subscriptions the Realty Division not only reached its daily allotment but actually exceeded it each day.

Mr. Marling said:

"The best answer we can make to the latest German peace offensive is, redouble our efforts in making this Victory loan a success."

The total amount of subscriptions received up to yesterday was $4,406,550.

Zoning Resolution Helps Business Streets

Mistaken Idea Prevails That It Only Protects the Residence Districts—Centralization of Business Aids Every Business Man

By Edward M. Bassett, Counsel, Zoning Committee.

PEOPLE sometimes think that the new building zone law protects private homes and keeps garages in their proper places. They do not realize that the law is constantly and quietly helping business streets all over the city. Formerly there was a constant tendency to use a corner building in a thickly built-up residence locality for store purposes. Often a block-house owner decided that he could make his building earn more if he projected the first floor of his house out to the street line, put in some plate glass windows and rented it for business. In many cases this was done although all of the neighborhood were block houses standing back of the street line. Now instead of the sporadic store thrust among homes where it did not belong, these stores and the tenants who want to occupy them are compelled to go to the business streets. Sometimes new stores are built; more often a store on the business street which would otherwise be vacant is occupied. Thus there is a constant tendency for business to stay in business streets where it belongs and this centralization of business makes it better for the business street and better for customers, because, as a rule, customers like to have their stores close together in a nearby locality.

A few days ago the writer was appraising some new one and two-family houses about two minutes walk south of Jamaica avenue in the Woodhaven district. The builder told him that on the corner where he had built a substantial two-family house he was intending to build a store for a delicatessen dealer but he found that the building department would not accept his plans, stating that his land was in the residential zone and the store plan could not be accepted. The builder said it did not make much difference to him, because he would make just about as much on the dwelling as he would have done on the store. The storekeeper went over to Jamaica avenue where he belonged and the home district was protected against the corner store. The builder said that on the opposite corner a neighbor planned to build a butcher store but was similarly prevented. Thus the zoning law worked for the benefit of everybody. It was better for Jamaica avenue to have the stores; it was better for the home owners to have homes built next door instead of stores; it was better for the shoppers because they were not unwilling to take a two-minute walk to Jamaica avenue where all the stores were located. Values were preserved in the residential district and increased on the business street.

The improvement of business streets under the zoning law is going on quietly in every borough, but perhaps it is more noticeable in the outlying localities. But even in Manhattan there are large residential zones which formerly were at the mercy of the sporadic store and which are now protected. Storekeepers have to go to one of the avenues instead of spreading wherever they could do the most harm on residential streets.

When any city grows to have more than half a million people every surface car street is normally a business street or tends to become such. This fact was recognized by the Board of Estimate in framing the zoning law, and practically every car-track street was designated for possible business. The result is that there is a perceptible tendency to build stores in the first floors on car-track streets. Wise builders always foresaw the danger of placing purely residential buildings on car-track streets, but now with the zoning maps before them they are more than ever put on their guard. Untold thousands of dollars have been lost in Greater New York by building purely residential structures on car-track streets.

Saving Can Be Effected in Register's Office

IN response to its invitation to citizens to submit budget suggestions John J. Hopper has written the following letter to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment:

"I favor the increase of at least one step in the scale of salaries to all those who now receive $1,800 per annum or less. I also favor the increase of salary of the Searcher and Examiner from $2,000 to $2,500. This increase he is clearly entitled to for the work he is now doing. I also favor the increase of salary of the official examiner of titles under the Torrens system to $3,000, as stated in my letter of August 28, 1918.

"A recommendation is made by the Register that the salary of the Assistant Deputy be increased from $2,500 to $3,000 'to support the importance of the function; because the salary is less than some subordinates receive,' and 'that the salary was reduced arbitrarily and unjustly from $4,000 to $2,500 in 1917.' The salary of this position was reduced by me from $4,000 to $2,500 because the duties of the position are almost wholly clerical, and consist in signing the register's name to the certificates attached to the various estate papers, that pass through the office, showing that they have been properly recorded. These certificates are prepared by the experts in the office through whose departments the papers go. It is necessary to have the certificates signed by some one in authority and for this reason the title 'Assistant Deputy Register' is unnecessary. A salary of $1,500 or $1,800 would be enough to pay for the kind of work done, but on account of the official title I allowed an extra amount, making $2,500 for this position. There is no need of increasing this amount inasmuch as all of the executive and administrative duties of the office can be performed by the Register and his regular deputy.

"The satisfaction of mortgages requires careful scrutiny by a person qualified to examine real estate papers.

During 1917 I was able to bring about a rearrangement of the office functions so that the satisfaction papers were received and were examined in the same method and through the same channels as the other real estate papers. This eliminated the necessity of a separate satisfaction division and I omitted from my request for the budget of 1918 the position of Satisfaction Clerk at $3,000.

"Originally the office of the register was spread over three floors, cash was received in two places on different floors and two cashiers were necessary. In 1917 the floor space was much reduced by a better arrangement and the receiving of fees was put in one place in the main office on the second floor. This did away with the need of a second cashier and I recommended in 1917 that the place be dropped. The books of the regular cashier were ruled over a year ago to take care of this cash. The place is now unnecessary and should be dropped.

"The Board of Estimate granted an allowance for 1918 to complete the alphabetical index for the period from 1856 to 1917 for which adequate alphabetical indexes were lacking. The 'Printed Index' covers the period prior to 1856.

"It is possible to do almost an endless amount of work in re-arranging and re-copying real estate records but there is a limit to the amount of such work which can be done with profit to the community. I am not in favor of going farther with the alphabetical index than is necessary to make a working plant for the office. I therefore do not approve of the appropriation of money for continuing the alphabetical index, on indefinite lines, or in addition to what was provided for in the budget of 1918, the specifications for which are a matter of record in your department. The alphabetical index is now secondary to the locality indexes and is intended

Office Tenants To Pay For Electric Current

Building Managers Agree to Make Direct Charge With View to Reduce Waste and Conserve Fuel

AT a meeting of the New York Building Managers' Association, held at the Park Avenue Hotel on Tuesday evening, October 8th, it was decided by unanimous vote to insert in all future leases a clause which will provide that the tenant shall pay for actual electric current consumed. This action means that the time worn custom of furnishing free electric current for lights, fans, dictaphones, addressographs, adding machines, etc., will be abolished and that meters will be installed to measure the current, or, if local wiring conditions make the installation of meters impracticable, a monthly charge will be made on some other equitable basis.

The members of the Association said they have been compelled to take this action as a result of the failure of tenants generally to assist in the conservation of fuel needed for war purposes. Numberless instances were cited of the flagrant abuse of free light. It was said that tenants have failed to realize that it takes coal to generate electricity and that the United States Fuel Administration insists on greater conservation of fuel than is now being practiced, in order that the war program may be carried out and that immediate steps be taken to put an end to the gross wastefulness of electric light, which has continued without abatement even in the face of numberless requests, both from the agents of buildings and the Conservation Division of the Administration, for their more economical use.

The Special Meter Committee of the New York Building Managers' Association, consisting of Clarence T. Coley, Lee T. Smith and J. Clydesdale Cushman, Chairman, appointed to investigate the advisability and feasibility of metering electricity in office buildings or of otherwise making an equitable flat rate charge for current consumed, has made an exhaustive study of the situation from every possible angle.

Not being content to enter into such a drastic step without first having a thorough knowledge of the way the matter is handled in other cities, the committee sent a questionnaire to members of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers in every large city in the United States and Canada seeking light on the subject. Mr. Cushman who made the report for the committee said, "the enquiries were confined to ten members in the largest cities. The total number of questionnaires sent out numbered 280 and 139 replies were received. The results were most gratifying to the committee and showed that in the majority of cities electric current is now being charged for and in all instances in the entire country, with but a single exception, the opinion prevails that electric current should be charged for instead of including it in the rent, as being the only logical way of enforcing an actual economy in office lighting. Building managers throughout the country are anxiously awaiting the result of the action to be taken by New York, whose example will be emulated in the smaller cities where timidity to take the step has heretofore existed."

RECOMMENDATIONS, METER COMMITTEE, NEW YORK BUILDING MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION.

1. Electric current in all New York Buildings should be charged to the tenant instead of including it in the rent.
2. We recommend the installation of meters for the most equitable method of measuring current.
3. For those who do not wish to install meters at this time, we advise that they make provision in all future leases for cancellation of free electric current clause upon the option of the landlord.
4. All charges for current should be made at local lighting companies' general rate. No minimum charge should be made for meter rental. Landlord to pay for meters, installation and maintenance.
5. Tenants to pay for lamps at local lighting companies' regular rates for original installation and renewals. Lamps to become the property of the tenant.

6. No allowance to be made for current used when offices are being cleaned or inspected.

7. Where it is impracticable to install a meter due to the expense of wiring difficulties, a flat charge for watt installation should be made for light and other electrical equipment. The Committee advise that a charge of 1 cent per watt per month be made where five hours per day is the average use at 7 cents per k.w.h.

8. One of the suggestion methods of charge where individual meters cannot be advantageously installed is to meter a group of offices under one meter and prorate the charge.

9. We advise the universal adoption of the following clause for all future leases:

"The landlord agrees to supply electric current to the equipment of incandescent lamps installed in said demised premises and also the lamps and to renew said lamps from time to time when necessary. The tenant agrees to use such electric current during the term of this lease and in consideration therefor pay to the landlord an additional rent equal in amount to the cost of the lamps to the landlord and the value of the electric current used. The amount of current used is to be determined by a meter to be provided by the landlord. The value of the current used shall be determined by the price then charged by public lighting companies in said city for a similar amount of current. The meter shall be read from time to time and the charge for the current found to have been used shall be added to and paid with the next month's rent. No change shall be made in the equipment or type, size or number of lamps or other appliances connected therewith, nor shall the current be used except for such equipment, nor other electrical services introduced or permitted in connection with the equipment without the landlord's consent in writing. The landlord reserves the privilege of stopping the service of the steam, elevator or electric light systems at such times as may be necessary by reason of accidents, repairs, alterations or improvements desirable or necessary to be made, until such time as said repairs, alterations or improvements shall have been completed, or whenever the landlord, exercising due diligence, is unable to comply with this preceding covenant by reason of invasion, insurrection, riot, strikes, war or commotion or military or usurped power, or by order of any civil authorities, or for any other reason beyond the power of the landlord to control."

Mayor's Committee Awards Permits

ARCHITECTS, manufacturers, constructors and supply dealers were notified during the week by Henry MacDonald, director-general of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, in charge of the building situation here, that pending the naming of a special committee, all requests for building permits in this city will be passed upon immediately at the committee's headquarters in the Hall of Records.

Mr. Frederick T. Newell, secretary of the Mayor's Committee, will receive applications and affidavits from nine until five each day. In a statement, Mr. Newell said all permits issued by the Mayor's Committee will be sent to the War Industries Board in Washington for final priority orders. He urged contractors to file their applications immediately.

W. E. Walsh, head of the bureau of Manhattan, is preparing to co-operate with the Mayor's Committee on National Defense and a large squad of building inspectors will in a few days start a survey of the city building projects. The building bureaus of every borough are actively co-operating with the committee in investigating applications.

Double the Third

Secretary McAdoo makes no attempt to minimize the disappointment of the Washington authorities over the progress of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign during the early days of the present week. It must be assumed, therefore, that efforts to speed up the loan must be made during the remaining week of the campaign.

Just how much effect the German peace talk has had in causing the Loan campaign to lag is problematical. There can be no question that a good many people have taken advantage of the peace talk as an excuse for not doing their full duty in subscribing for bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

To pursue such a course at this critical time is highly inexcusable. In the first place, it reflects upon the patriotism of the lagging subscribers themselves, and in the second place it promotes what would be the greatest victory Germany could win just at this time, namely, the failure of the loan.

The Fourth Liberty Loan must not fail. It must be made a success, and the way to make it a success is for every loyal American to buy bonds to the utmost.

Big Business Ahead

Judge E. H. Gary's statement concerning the steel situation at present and its prospective position has a direct bearing on the building program for the post-war period. What he has to say evidently was meant to allay fears as to the values of the so-called "war" stocks, of which U. S. Steel is the leader, as differentiated from the "peace" stocks.

Every time General Foch deals the enemy a staggering blow speculators sell the steel shares and buy rails and oil and automobile stocks on the principle that the Government orders the mills are turning out will not be matched by the demands for building construction, replacement of railroad supplies and the other activities of peaceful times.

Judge Gary, who as Chairman of the Steel Corporation is in a better position than most men to gauge the demands of the post-war period and who has never been accused of talking to affect speculation, says that some demoralization may be expected when conditions are changed radically from those which have prevailed for the last four years.

"However," he says, "it is for the business men of this country to keep in mind that this is the leading country of the world; that the wealth of the world is largely here; that this country will continue to lead; that we will continue to progress, and that there will be business done on a large scale after the war.

"So far as the steel industry is concerned the plants in this country for some time have been devoted exclusively to war work for the United States Government and its Allies, and no outside business has been taken. This has resulted in additions, extensions, new buildings and all other domestic work being postponed.

"In addition the warehouses of the world are practically bare of stocks of steel, which must necessarily be replenished. All this will likely result in a large demand for steel products for some time after the industry has been adjusted to a peace basis."

What fairly may be deduced from Judge Gary's declaration is that steel is a peace as well as a war stock and the same reasoning with like emphasis may apply to many other so-called war securities. Judge Gary does not itemize the conditions which are likely to bring about the continuation of the leadership of this country in world affairs, to which place it has attained since the war began, but he intimates that the leadership which is now political and financial will become commercial as well.

Business will be done on a large scale after the war, he predicts, and it does not seem unreasonable to expect it. Our huge commercial fleet; our immensely augmented manufacturing plants; our tremendously developed natural products; our greatly expanded financial resources place the country in a commanding place in the world's commerce. Judge Gary says the warehouses of the world are bare of stocks of steel. So, too, are they bare of almost every other necessity and there is no other country that can so advantageously work to fill them and place the world back again on a peaceful basis as the United States.

Since this country entered the war the resources of the national banks have increased nearly two billion dollars, almost ten per cent., notwithstanding the fact that the Government has sold and collected for over fourteen billions of bonds and certificates of indebtedness. This is only one factor of the tremendous increase in the total resources of the country. Every year for many years our neighbors will pay us several hundred millions of interest money. The money that has gone into Government bonds has provided the investors with the best banking collateral in the world and the financial pyramid that can be firmly established on the total Liberty Bond issues of the Government is colossal. Money does not like to be idle. It will seek investment and turn over.

Business will be good—we have all been getting along without things, but when peace comes we are all going to have the things we were accustomed to before the war stopped us, and something additional to pay us for our "privations." The farmers who have banked ten billions of dollars over and above what they would have received for their three crops of wheat, corn and cotton before the war are going to have more automobiles and other things. The railroads that have run along on old rails and with worn-out engines and cars are going to have new equipment, and the people who have acquired the habit of investing are going to look out for chances to put the money no longer needed by the Government into the one other thing that ranks with Government bonds as a conservative investment—improved New York City real estate.

When money is plentiful, and it is going to be, then investment buying of real estate begins.

There may be a certain amount of inflation in the financial situation. There probably is, but the most conservative financiers look with calmness to the reconstruction period. The American way of doing big things handily has become more than ever a natural habit with us and this huge reconstruction job should have no terrors.

Fire—The Kaiser's Ally

The National Board of Fire Underwriters announces that the number of fires that are traceable to the Kaiser's agents has been over-estimated, but the number of fires that are working directly and effectively for the Kaiser can easily be stated. It averages fifteen hundred per day. In other words, preventable fires which destroy property are diminishing our national resources, for all of which we have urgent need in waging war to an extent little realized by uninformed people. Twenty-nine per cent. of all fires are found by the Fire Underwriters to be strictly preventable, forty-eight per cent to causes which are partly preventable and twenty-three per cent to unknown causes which probably are largely preventable.

Wilbur E. Mallalieu, General Manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, is authority for the statement that what can be done in the way of fire prevention, in terms of building codes, fireproof and fire-resistive materials, lighting, heating and power installations, alarm systems, fire protection devices and fire fighting apparatus, has been amply demonstrated in the great mushroom wooden cities, the army cantonments. These cantonments were, during their erection, given every reasonable provision for fire prevention and fire protection consistent with the conditions under which they were built. Up to the time they were turned over to the Government there were fire losses of less than $3,000 upon approximately $100,000,000 of construction. This, Mr. Mallalieu says, is a record.

He lays the great fire cause to the one distinguishing American trait of carelessness, and pleads for a new point of view toward life generally—he asks that we shall become a careful nation.

If the temporary frame buildings in the cantonments can be rendered practically immune to fire hazard it looks as if it was worth while for every realty man to take steps to assure his brick and stone buildings the same measure of safety when to do so is so much less difficult and means so much more financially.

only to supplement them. Brooklyn has spent nearly $2,000,000 for re-indexing purposes and the Commissioner of Records there states that the work will not be completed for several years. A definite limit should be placed on work of this kind.

"In 1917 the Board of Estimate allowed a sum of about $3,000 (which had been saved out of the Register's appropriations for the year) to equip a fireproof building in the Ashokan watershed to receive the duplicate record plant. Every detail for equipping and moving the plant was made and all contracts were let so that the work would be done and the records moved in the spring of 1918. For various reasons I find that this important matter has been delayed. The cost is small and I earnestly urge that nothing be allowed to interfere with the prompt removal of this duplicate plant to a safe place away from the City of New York.

"I notice that Bronx County not only retains the position of Chief Satisfaction Clerk, but asks that the salary be increased from $2,340 to $3,400. This position, in my judgment, is wholly unnecessary, as the satisfactions of mortgages are better disposed of in regular routine than by a separate division. The increase should not be allowed and the position should be abolished.

"I have already written fully recommending that the position of examiners of title in all counties should be established at a salary of not less than $3,000. Richmond county, I understand, has applied for this position at a salary of $2,500, which is reasonable.

"The law restricts the time for the receiving of papers to four o'clock. This does not mean that the office must close at four o'clock. Banks under their rules close their windows at three or four o'clock, but the employees stay later to clean up the day's work and have everything ready for the beginning of work the next day. This business rule should apply in the public offices, especially in these times when every one is expected to do his utmost.

"In 1916 the legislature passed a law providing for Standard Short Forms for about twenty of the most commonly used real property instruments. These standard forms were put to practical use in New York during 1916 and 1917 by having the forms printed in loose leaf form, thus saving the copying of the printed part. This is a great improvement and saves New York County many thousand of dollars a year. New York County still continues this method but to my great surprise I learn that the registers' offices of the other counties have made no use of this improvement but still continue to copy at length all of the papers, including the printed part of the Standard Forms. All of the registers' offices should adopt the uniform method used in New York County. To do this in all of the counties would probably save $50,000 a year.

"I advocate the change in the law to make it possible to consolidate the registers' offices of the five counties into one office under a single head. The convenience of the various communities within the city can be served by establishing branch offices in the various boroughs. Such a consolidation would result in a large saving in overhead expense and would also result in uniform administration of the office. The convenience to the public would be greatly increased because a person could then record a deed in any of the branch offices affecting any property in Greater New York.

"The work of the registers' offices is entirely technical and administrative. It has been charged that the technical work involved in a successful Torrens law cannot be done by a political office. To remove this impression I, therefore, am of the opinion that all of the positions in the office should be made appointive under Civil Service regulations, which would eliminate the political motive altogether."

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Statute of Frauds.

AN oral agreement to convey an estate or interest in real property, other than a lease for a term not exceeding one year, is nugatory and unenforceable. Real Property Law (Consol. Laws, c. 50), § 242. A party to the agreement may legally and rightfully refuse to recognize or perform it. The breach of a void agreement is not a fraud or a wrong in law. He may, however, withdraw himself from the policy and defense of the statute, or waive its protection, by inducing or permitting without remonstrance another party to the agreement to do acts, pursuant to and in reliance upon the agreement, to such an extent and so substantial in quality as to irremediably alter his situation and make the interposition of the statute against performance a fraud. In such a case a court of equity acts upon the principle that not to give effect to those acts would be to allow the party permitting them to use the statute as an instrument defending deception and injustice. The acts must, however, be so clear, certain, and definite in their object and design as to refer to a complete and perfect agreement of which they are a part execution, must be unequivocal in their character, and must have reference to the carrying out of the agreement. An act which admits of explanation without reference to the alleged oral contract or a contract of the same general nature and purpose is not, in general, admitted to constitute a part performance. Because the acts in part performance are essential to the relevancy and enforceability of the oral agreement, it has been held that the agreement cannot be proven until the acts which constitute the part performance of some contract to reconvey have been proven. Wooley v. Stewart, New York Court of Appeals, 118 N. E. 847.

Action for Price of Land.

Suit was brought on a contract to sell and convey real estate, the purchase price being payable in installments, and it being provided that on a complete payment of the purchase price the vendor would furnish a good and sufficient warranty deed. The Oklahoma Supreme Court holds, Lookabout v. Gourley, 171 Pac. 464, that the vendor could maintain a suit at law to compel the payment of the installments of the purchase price as they became due, notwithstanding that a later paragraph in the contract provided that the vendor would execute and deliver to any part or subdivision of the property sold a good and sufficient warranty deed any time during the pendency of the contract, upon the payment of such amount of said sale in cash, the amount so paid not to be less than the proportional part of the unpaid balance due under the contract. This clause being for the benefit of the vendee, so that he might sell any lot, block, or subdivision of said tract on paying for that part in full, would not qualify or limit the right of the vendor to compel payments of installments of the purchase price as they became due under the first paragraph of the contract.

Joint Adventure to Acquire Land.

The Alabama Supreme Court holds that where a continuing contract jointly to acquire land existed, and several attempts to acquire the land had failed, the failure of one to perform by paying his share of money under a contract with the owners did not terminate the joint adventure, in the absence of a prior agreement to such effect. A joint adventure may be dissolved at any time by one of the parties, but vested or acquired rights cannot be defeated, and dissolution will be delayed if irreparable injury would result from immediate dissolution. In the absence of an agreement, partners in a joint adventure cannot forfeit the rights of a member or expel him even if they pay him what is due him, unless there are gross faults, and mere failure to pay his part of the expenses or promptly to perform his part of the services is not enough. McDonough v. Sanders, 78 So. 160.

Discharge of Incumbrances.

Where the vendor contracts to convey a clear title at a stipulated date on receiving payment from the vendee, and time is of the essence of the contract, and the vendee is ready and offers to pay on receiving a clear title, but the land is subject to liens which the vendor is unable to have discharged at the time fixed for repurchase, the vendee may rescind the contract and recover back the earnest money paid. The rule that where an incumbrance is presently payable, the vendor is not required to discharge it out of his own funds, but may do so out of the purchase price simultaneously with the payment of the price and delivery of the deed, does not apply where time is of the essence of the contract, unless the vendor is able to cause the liens to be satisfied at the time fixed for performance.—Johnston v. Herbst, Minnesota Supreme Court, 167 N. W. 356.

Waiver of Right to Rescind Contract.

The Iowa Supreme Court holds, Wokoun v. Jameson, 167 N. W. 676, that misrepresentations by the vendor as to the fair mortgage value of land is ground for rescission, where made, not as matter of opinion, but as a statement of fact to induce the purchaser to enter into a contract to buy the land, and where the purchaser, unacquainted with the value of the land, believes the statement and relying thereon enters into the contract. But if, upon investigating the value of the land after making the contract, he fails to rescind and assigns the contract as part consideration in a land exchange deal he is deemed to have waived his right to rescind.

Commission for Obtaining Tenant.

In an action for commission for obtaining a tenant, it is held, Koslove v. Dittmeier (Md.) 203 S. W. 499, that recovery could be had under allegations that the defendant was the owner, although he was merely an agent, where he represented himself to be the owner.

Stamp Tax on Deeds.

In line with a ruling from Washington received Monday deputies under William H. Edwards, Internal Revenue Collector for the second, or Wall Street, district, began an investigation looking to the strict enforcement of the stamp tax on deeds covering real estate and on notes and bonds given in connection therewith. "Under Title VIII, Schedule A, Subdivision 7, of the War Revenue Act of October 3, 1917," said Mr. Edwards, quoting the law as interpreted by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Daniel C. Roper, "deeds conveying real estate sold are subject to stamp tax calculated upon the consideration or value of the interest or property conveyed, exclusive of the value of any pre-existing encumbrance upon the property at the time of sale and not removed as a result of the sale. It is thus seen that the sale price of the property and not the nominal consideration is the basis upon which said stamp tax is to be computed. While mortgages are not subject to stamp tax the amount of any mortgage placed upon the property contemporaneously with or after the sale cannot be deducted from the amount upon which stamp tax upon the deed of conveyance is calculated. Bonds accompanying real estate mortgages are subject to stamp tax under Subdivision 1, Schedule A, of the above act upon the amount secured. Promissory notes given in connection with the sale of real estate are subject to stamp tax under Subdivision 6, Schedule A, of the act."

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Unusually Inactive Week Due Probably to Brokers' Activity for Liberty Loan. Several Sales Reported and Leasing Shows Falling Off

PARTLY due to the fact that most of the real estate brokers have been so busy soliciting subscriptions to the Fourth Liberty Loan and partly to the conditions imposed by the war, the week just ending has been one of the most inactive as far as sales are concerned for over a year. There were few sales consummated and they were of no great magnitude either as regards the property or the money involved.

In conversation with a Record and Guide representative this week a member of one of the leading real estate firms in this city said: "We are doing less today than at any time since the war started. Our office force is doing practically nothing in the way of new business and for the first time since the organization was started we are not taking on any new employees. Although we made it a practice to take on every year at least one new man we had to deviate from that custom this year for the reason that we have not enough to do for those we now carry on our rolls.

"We could make many sales if we could only make the necessary repairs to buildings, but the Government order restricting building or even repairing to buildings leaves us with property on our hands that could easily be moved if we could only make the repairs necessary. There are few places that would not take at least $2,500 to make repairs and ten times that amount is nearer the usual amount expended in repairing buildings offered for sale.

"There is, of course, no new building going on and this leaves a dearth of suitable quarters either for residential or business purposes, and the tenants now in buildings find it convenient to remain where they are, knowing as well as we do that there is nothing to be had. I do not expect a resumption of building activity for some time to come, no matter how soon the war ends, and that of course means real estate, which was never more attractive as to price than it is today, will remain unsold."

The Markham Realty Company, of which Clarence W. Eckhardt is president, purchased this week 81 Hudson street, a three-story brick building on lot 19.10 by 49.7 from Diedrick and Dorothea Miller. The property is directly opposite the Mercantile Exchange and is the second parcel in that neighborhood recently acquired by this corporation.

Another sale of downtown property was consummated when the two six-story store and loft buildings at 4 and 5 South street, just north of Whitehall street, was sold to Morris Evans, of Caldwell, N. J. In the Bronx County Building Corporation sold to the Isaac Lowenfield Realty Corporation 1251 and 1253 Franklin avenue, a five-story apartment house, giving in part payment 615 and 617 Courtlandt avenue, two four-story buildings with stores, and held at $35,000. Another sale in the Bronx was that of Crotona Hall, a five-story apartment house, sold to James M. Craig, actuary of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, by James L. Van Sant. In part payment the buyer gave his summer home at Long Branch, N. J., held at $25,000.

Nathan Musher, an importer of Washington, D. C., purchased from the estate of Charles F. Hoffman the five-story stores and office building at 257 Fifth avenue.

The Shoreham and Lucille seven-story elevator apartment houses were purchased by Daniel H. Jackson from Cements Realty Corporation. The entire building is leased and has a rent roll of $68,000 and was held at $500,000. Leasing was fairly good this week, although activity in this department practically ceased with October 1. Several large suites in modern buildings were reported by brokers and some business rentals as well. Compelled to vacate the quarters in the Grand Central Palace, because of the taking over of that structure by the Federal Government for hospital purposes, the dancing carnival for many years in this building leased for ten years the St. Nicholas Ice Skating Rink at 66th street near Broadway, which will be closed down tonight for necessary alterations.

Real estate auctioneers turned this week from the sale of realty to the sale of Liberty Bonds and each afternoon a realty auctioneer was on duty at the Altar of Liberty to dispose of bonds.

At the Vesey Street Auction Rooms Liberty Loan meetings are being held every day at noon during the campaign, with well known real estate men in attendance to deliver addresses.

Minimize the Fire Hazard.

The insurance committee of the New York Building Managers' Association calls attention to the fire hazard and the importance of minimizing it in view of the Government ban on construction. "With the Building Department restricted against issuing permits except for war building and jobs under $2,500," says the committee, "it will be seen that extraordinary care should be taken at this time to prevent fire loss. It is probable that Government permission will be granted to restore fire damage where the withholding of it would cause great loss to the owner, but where the building is so far gone that its restoration would savor of the new construction, no such permission is likely to be granted. Besides the fire loss there would also be lost the cumulative interest and taxes on the damaged property for as long as the Government restriction continued. This risk is carried by owners themselves, and is an actual one."

UNITED SERVICE

Sufficient Outlets

should be thought of primarily in the construction of new, and remodeling of old buildings, so as to avoid unnecessary expenditure on re-arrangements and re-decorations.

The steadily increasing demand for electrical devices makes it imperative that plenty of outlets be provided when plans are drawn.

Buys Downtown Dwelling.

Markham Realty Corporation, Clarence W. Eckardt, president, has purchased from Diedrich and Dorothea Muller No. 81 Hudson street at the southwest corner of Hudson and Harrison streets. The lot is in sixe 19 feet 10 inches by 49 feet 7 inches on which there is a three-story brick building. The property is located opposite the Mercantile Exchange and is the center of the grocery and produce district. Harold Lewis is the broker in the transaction. This is the second parcel in this vicinity acquired by the Markham Corporation, it having recently purchased Nos. 46, 48 and 50 Hudson street, and 88 Thomas street, situated at the southeast corner of these thoroughfares.

Sell Store and Loft Buildings.

The two six-story store and loft buildings known as No. 4 and 5 South street, located 84 feet north of Whitehall street and facing the Municipal ferry, Brooklyn, forming a plot 40 feet 4 inches in front by 79 feet 6 inches in depth, has been purchased by Morris Evans of Caldwell, N. J. The buildings are leased to a single tenant on a net basis for a long term of years. The stations of the Seventh avenue and Broadway subway and the South Ferry Terminal of the Second, Third, Sixth and Ninth avenue elevated lines are in close proximity to the property. This purchase is interesting, in that it reflects the belief of investors in the continued improvement of realty values of property in the lower section of the city. Mr. Evans is a new investor in this section. Cruikshank & Company represented the sellers and Rice and Hill represented the buyer.

Sales in Bronx.

County Building Corporation sold to the Isaac Lowenfeld Realty Corporation, 1251 and 1253 Franklin avenue, a five-story apartment on a plot 77 by 100 by 168, held at $95,000. In part payment the buyers gave 615 and 617 Courtlandt avenue, two four-story buildings, with stores, on a plot 50 by 100, held at $35,000. J. Blackner and C. Kuntze negotiated the sale. James M. Craig, actuary of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, purchased from James L. Van Sant, Crotona Hall, a five-story apartment, 44 by 110, on the northwest corner of Crotona avenue and 176th street, held at $110,000. In part payment the buyer gave his summer home on Norwood avenue, Long Branch, N. J., held at $25,000. W. W. Gilman and J. A. Clark negotiated the sale.

Buys on 5th Avenue.

As an investment, Nathan Musher, an importer, of Washington, D. C., has purchased from the estate of Charles F. Hoffman the five-story store and office building, 257 Fifth avenue, on a lot 24.7 by 100. This is one of the properties taken by the estate in the $1,500,000 trade involving the northeast corner of Broadway and Sixty-second street, closed Wednesday. It is reported that Mr. Musher is negotiating for the purchase of the adjoining property, 255 Fifth avenue, title to which is held by Catherine L. H. Hinckley. This purchase would give him a frontage of 49.2 feet on the east side of Fifth avenue, between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets. There have been several other sales recently in the vicinity, including 162 Fifth avenue, to Titus Blatter & Co., and the Victoria Building, at 230 Fifth avenue, to Bing & Bing. The F. R. Wood, W. H. Dolson Company negotiated the sale and resale of 257 Fifth avenue.

Apartments in Cash Deal.

Shoreham and Lucille, seven-story elevator apartment houses, covering the easterly block of St. Nicholas avenue, from 113th to 114th street, were purchased today by Daniel H. Jackson from Clements Realty Corporation, H. B. Davis, president. The houses cover plot 200x36.8x131x irregular, and contain 102 apartments of five, six, seven and eight rooms, and twelve stores on the main floor. All apartments and stores are leased at an annual rent of $68,000, and were held at $500,000. The sale was a cash transaction, negotiated by I. Friedman and Sol Feinberg. The purchaser was represented by Goldsmith & Rosenthal as attorneys.

WHAT WE DO NOW WE DO FOREVER!

IN A MINUTE IT IS GOING TO STRIKE TWELVE ON THE CLOCK OF THE WORLD.

What we do now, we do forever.

What we say now, we say forever!

What we say now shall be written in letters of fire upon the sky, shall be written in iron and thunder on the hills and plains of Germany, shall be signed by God across the face of Essen, Cologne and Berlin!

We speak the heart of a hundred thousand cities!

Why do the newsboys cry in the streets that there is a new Peace Chancellor appointed by the Kaiser?

What of it? What is it to us? Who cares? As long as there is a Kaiser?

War with the Kaiser is Heaven, four years of Heaven as compared with Peace with him.

Who wants to belong to the kind of human race or be locked up in the kind of nation that can make peace with the Kaiser?

What are two million people going around and taking up a national collection for this week?

What do the American people want their six billion dollars for?

We want six billion dollars to tell the German people with guns and airplanes that no little theatrical peace-strut by a Kaiser up and down before twenty nations half hung on their crosses will be of any avail!

Are we spending in America four million men and seventy billion dollars to get out of the Germans thirty cents' worth of peace—to get out of the Germans a dummy peace, with a dummy peace chancellor, with a dummy victory over a dummy democracy?

Shall a hundred million Americans stand on the graves of four million dead men and tell them that they have died for nothing?

We have sent over our own two millions sons to face death for victory. Shall we snatch victory away from them before their own eyes, before their faces while they are holding it in their hands? Shall we send word to them to come home and that we are going to send their little boys over presently to do what they have tried to do all over again?

We ask this week for six billion dollars to save four million soldier boys from being made fools of before the world.

We throw this week a hundred million pocketbooks at the Kaiser!

To a world bound for Berlin one hundred million Americans say

Not Asked To Give—Only To Lend

The Princes of Germany Are Shaking Dice for the United States!

By Herbert Quick

WE must buy bonds to the last cent of our ability, because our country is fighting for its very life. Make no mistake, citizens of America, the crisis is just that—we are fighting for our very life.

We must fight this war through. We must fight it through to a peace the basis of which will be written by us and our Allies.

Germany must not write a single clause in the Treaty. She must be whipped until she will sign a treaty every word of which will be drawn by the Allies. Germany must not be allowed to dot an i or cross a t.

Why?

Because Germany has become nothing but a robber empire, a murderer empire, an empire every purpose of which is the enslavement of the rest of the world. Such purposes admit of no compromise. We must conquer or die. If we do not conquer we shall, nevertheless, die—and die slaves.

Germany began with the intention of robbing France of her iron, her coal, her best land and her great factories; of making Belgium with her rich mines, great cities and immense factories a part of Germany; of gaining the Belgian coast, from which she might conquer England, and of combining under her flag the hordes of Mohammedan Turks, and all the Balkan States, so that she might train soldiers in countless millions, build navies to sweep the oceans, and conquer the world.

This war was to be a step toward world conquest.

If we do not fight the war through to complete victory she will still keep on and she will succeed. She will surely succeed!

Russia with her nearly 200,000,000 people lies prostrate at Germany's feet. Germany could now give up the Balkan States, give up Belgium, force Austria to yield up the Italian territories, give up conquered France, yes, she could give up these, and even Alsace-Lorraine, and if allowed a free hand in Russia, she would still have won a victory greater than any of which she ever dreamed at the beginning of the war.

Give her control of Russia and she can, and will, within a few years come back with power to take back Alsace-Lorraine, crush poor Belgium once more and destroy exhausted France, sweep every vestige of resistance from Europe, Asia and Africa, and then what?

Then she will thunder at our doors—from Asia she will invade us on the West, from Europe on the East, and from Mexico on the South.

If Germany has control over the terms of peace, we who read this will live to see one of the Kaiser's six sons Emperor of America.

The time to whip Germany is now!

It is now or never!

The Princes of Germany are shaking dice for the United States!

It will take money, money, money, that we may send men, men, men!

Buy Bonds, for so only can the war be won. Unless it is won, everything you possess is lost, and with it the American soul is lost

Take the Germ Out of Germany

"Carry On"

THE fighting slogan in France, gathering inspiration and significance as the conflict grows more violent and more desperate, is "Carry On." On land, on sea, in the air, it rings sharp and clear.

Into the front line trenches comes the signal to charge. The company commander swings "over the top." At his heels, pushing and stumbling through the hell of "No Man's Land," come the boys. They gain a yard, five, ten, and the machine guns speak. The commander falls, but over his shoulder, above the din of battle, he shouts, "Carry On, Lieutenant!" So on and on, till every officer falls, and the grizzled old Sergeant sets his teeth and takes what's left of them on to victory.

"Carry On" must be our slogan here at home. We must "Carry On" to the utmost limit our ability, to the last dollar of our resources, till Victory is won. Let us stand shoulder to shoulder—buy all the Liberty Bonds we can. Let us keep our Bonds and save to buy more.

DEMOCRACY -

Executive Mansion. Washington, November 21, 1864.

Mrs. Bixby, Boston, Massachusetts.

"Dear Madam: I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant-General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I can not refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

Yours very sincerely and respectfully,

A. Lincoln

We are fighting for the safety and liberty of our children, our homes, our country. No price is too great to pay for Victory.

The Road To France— He Is Keeping It Open

This sailor is constantly facing German submarines and German shells. The War cannot be won without him. He faces the biting winds of the North Atlantic with a smile and a song—but 'way down in his heart is the knowledge that he is facing the biggest job that has ever fallen to the American Navy.

An ever increasing Army of American Soldiers in France is doing its part in a way to win the admiration of the civilized world.

New troops are constantly being sent across to back up the boys who have gone before. A ceaseless supply of food, guns, shells, airplanes and tanks must be sent to their support.

The Victories of our Arms—the very existence of our Armies—and those of our gallant Allies—depend upon safe transport through seas infested with submarines.

The American Sailor and Soldier is doing his part—we at home must do ours. They need money—lots of it—to keep open the road to France. We will not fail them.

The Flower of America in France today, offer—for us—the last full measure of devotion. Let us be with them in our thoughts, our work, every hour of the day until they come home to us victorious.

It is not only the privilege, but the absolute duty of every citizen to contribute the last dollar if need be to the success of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of Real Estate Record & Builders' Guide, published Weekly at New York, N. Y., for October 1, 1918.

State of New York, County of New York, ss.:

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Frank E. Perley, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the President of the Record & Guide Company, publishers of the Real Estate Record and Builders' Guide, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in Section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:

Publisher—Record & Guide Company, 119 West 40th Street, New York, N. Y.
Editor—Frank E. Perley, 119 West 40th Street, New York, N. Y.
Managing Editor—Same, 119 West 40th Street, New York, N. Y.
Business Manager—S. A. Paxson, 119 West 40th Street, New York, N. Y.

2. That the owners are: (Give names and addresses of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent. or more of the total amount of stock.)
The F. W. Dodge Company, 119 West 40th Street, New York, N. Y.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent. or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state. None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

FRANK E. PERLEY,

President of the Record & Guide Company, Publishers of the Real Estate Record and Builders' Guide.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 23rd day of September, 1918.

(Seal) HENRI DAVID,
Notary Public, No. 184, New York County.

Government Priority System To Be Explained

Mr. Maurice Hirsch, of the War Industries Board, Will Address the Merchants' Association at the Hotel Astor Next Wednesday

THE business men of New York City will be able to obtain complete information concerning the operation of the Government Priority System at a special meeting of the Merchants' Association, which will be held in the Hotel Astor at 10.30 a. m. on Wednesday, October 16.

This meeting will be addressed by Mr. Maurice Hirsch, secretary of the War Priorities Division of the War Industries Board. He will explain the policies of the Priorities Committee and the operation of the priority regulations, and will also give those present an opportunity to present special problems for explanation.

Mr. William Fellowes Morgan, president of the Merchants' Association, who is Regional Advisor of the War Industries Board for this district, will preside.

Priority regulations control absolutely the distribution of iron and steel and their products. Any raw material of which there is a shortage must be supplied in conformance with the priority regulations. These regulations are also the basis of the supply of power, of transportation and of building up the labor force of our war industries. Fuel must be supplied first to those consumers who are either automatically or specially placed on the so-called preference list. In fact, all business is directly or indirectly affected by the priority regulations.

In view of the serious effect of the priority regulations on business and their complexity, it is expected that a large number of business men will attend the meeting. It should be of particular interest to purchasing agents, manufacturers, jobbers and exporters because the operation of the priority regulations causes their most serious problems.

Because his position as secretary of the Priorities Division brings him into the closest contact with the actual working of the regulations as well as with the underlying policies, Mr. Hirsch is probably more familiar than any other official of the War Industries Board with the priority problems of the business men. Thus he is most able to give advice in such matters.

The importance of the problems created by the priority regulations is shown by the great number of business men who are asking for interpretations and information, and requesting that special cases be brought to the attention of the Priorities Division at Washington. A great variety of the problems are thus brought up for consideration.

Mr. Hirsch will address the Purchasing Agents' Association at its dinner on Tuesday evening, and it is at the joint request of the Merchants' Association and the Purchasing Agents' Association that arrangements have been made with Mr. Morgan and with the Priorities Division, whereby he will remain in this city to discuss priority problems with business men at the Hotel Astor conference.

Building Situation Influenced by Potent Factors

INCLUDED in the present situation, as applied to non-war construction, there are two symptoms that are likely to exert an adverse effect upon operations of this character for some time to come, if not for the remaining period of hostilities. In the first place it is becoming increasingly evident to all interested in structural conditions that building operations for direct Federal account are as yet far from completion. This is best indicated by the remainder of the program for the erection of additional structures at cantonments, training stations, base hospitals, and the construction of isolated buildings for a large variety of Government usages in almost every part of the country. The list of projected work is a large one that will keep in active service hundreds of skilled and unskilled workmen and require thousands of tons of building materials and supplies before they are finally completed and ready for use by the various departments for which they have been designed. The trend is apparent from the number and size of the recently placed contracts for work of this nature, involving the erection of important military structures as well as hospitals, welfare buildings, and gigantic housing projects.

Prominent among the latter group must be included the contemplated housing operation scheduled for erection on Neville Island, near Pittsburgh, and said to be the largest project of this character undertaken. The work will involve the expenditure of approximately $50,000,000. The plans provide for the erection of about 15,000 separate dwellings, accommodating in the neighborhood of 50,000 persons, and in addition will include a large number of community buildings such as stores, schools, churches, moving picture theatres, etc.

In the second place there are a number of direct evidences that the Government will not encourage the construction of new buildings or permit large operations to proceed, unless the relation of these projects to the war are direct and quite unmistakable. As indicative of this attitude may be taken the recent embargo on lumber shipments within or to the specified zone in the West. It is also most significant that the matter of issuing permits for building operations has been reorganized throughout the country and henceforth the attitude of the authorities in this particular will be considerably more drastic than it has been in the past.

On the other hand, however, there are certain definite factors of an economic nature that deserve consideration. To be sure these may not become immediately operative, but their force is steadily accumulating and eventually the effect of these influences may materialize. Reference is made to the fact that certain types of structures, although not so obviously related to the war or to the military program, are still of a character that, in the final analysis, must be considered essential to comfortable living. Among such types of buildings may be mentioned the farm buildings required for the care of crops, sanitary needs of communities, housing facilities arising from community changes, reconstruction of necessary buildings that have been destroyed or materially impaired by fire, factories for the imperative requirements of civil population and many other forms of structural activity that might be considered in the same category. The stoppage of normal activity in such lines of structural endeavor is just beginning to be felt and as the weeks wear on and no additional non-war construction is undertaken, the effort of placing construction of this character in abeyance until the end of the war will be materially increased. It has been estimated that the percentage of underconstruction at the present time is somewhat more than forty per cent. over the entire country and this percentage will undoubtedly increase rapidly in the future.

A recent analysis indicates that in New York City alone there is at the lowest estimate at least $94,000,000 worth of essential building ready to be submitted to the authorities for permission to proceed. In addition there is contemplated construction to the approximate value of $115,000,000 that has been postponed by prospective builders in deference to the requirements of the nation. None of this work represents speculative building operations, but all are based upon intrinsic industrial, commercial or residential needs.

The United States Employment Service is finding a steadily increasing need for building craftsmen in Government construction work. Since the completion of the first cantonment program, men of the building trades, both skilled and unskilled, have not been in quite so large a demand as other mechanics, but because of the large increase in the Army personnel, immediate additions are planned to be made to the existing cantonments, a large number of hospitals are to be erected and the Army and Navy bases are to be materially enlarged. All of this extra construction carries with it a largely increased demand for building craftsmen.

The Federal program for the housing of the workers in the shipyards and factories manufacturing war munitions may be considered to be well advanced. The original contracts for housing projects are rapidly nearing completion and there are quite a large number of important housing operations, especially in the East, for which the plans are well advanced, and for which contracts will shortly be awarded. The Mariners Harbor project is now being figured and it is anticipated in building circles that this contract will be placed and work started before November 1. Calls for both skilled and unskilled building mechanics for the housing operations are being received in increasing number.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

ASIDE from the newly announced projects soon to be undertaken by the various Federal Departments as additional military and naval facilities, the past week has been a quiet one for the building trades. Large contracts for essential war construction have been placed and plans are being prepared for a number of other projects of a like nature that will involve a large total expenditure. Quite a number of these Government jobs are located within the Metropolitan district or in such close proximity to it that it is more than likely that Manhattan building firms will obtain the contracts and that the local material markets will furnish a large percentage of the required supplies.

One of the chief interests of the week from the standpoint of the building and allied trades has been the effort to put over the Fourth Liberty Loan. The building industry of the Metropolis has a quota of $7,000,000 and at present is considerably behind in the schedule of daily subscriptions. Every effort must be made during the coming and final week of the campaign to make certain that the full quota is obtained and, if possible, to get a large oversubscription. There is no work of paramount importance at the present time than that involved in assuring the success of the Fourth Liberty Loan, and all of the building interests are urged in the strongest possible terms to spare no effort in their canvass, and furthermore to make no delay in reporting their subscriptions to their committee headquarters so that the individuals responsible for the success of the Building Industry's campaign may know at all times exactly how they stand.

The material markets with but few exceptions are quiet, with orders not in great volume, and inquiries for future deliveries light. Practically all of the material demand is emanating from other direct or indirect Government business and such non-war construction as was substantially under way at the time of the ruling of the War Industries Board relative to the curtailment of non-war building operations.

Material prices are well maintained in almost all lines. Hudson River common brick prices are slightly weaker at wholesale and sales are ranging between 13 and $14 a thousand, with the top figure only obtained with difficulty and for the best grades. Lumber prices are generally firm and with an advancing tendency due to the scarcity of stocks and the strong demand from all quarters. The demand for trap rock and crushed limestone is exceptionally heavy and dealers in both materials are being hard pushed to keep their deliveries ahead of new orders. The demand is almost without exception for direct and indirect Federal construction.

Common Brick.—No feature of particular interests has been manifest during the week in the wholesale market for Hudson River common brick. The sales of the period have been light and the arrivals from up-river points have been relatively lighter than for the past few weeks. The latter condition has been brought about not by any shortage of brick at the shipping points but because of the fact that manufacturers have been unwilling to load and ship while the demand was so light in the Metropolitan market. Prices are somewhat weaker than they have been and are ranging between $13 and $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots, alongside dock. The latter figure is difficult to obtain, however, and the consensus of opinion is that prices will be slightly easier than they have been during recent months. Although there have been but a few direct common brick sales to the Government, the market from the viewpoint of Federal business is hopeful, and there is quite a volume of anticipated business that is likely to be placed in the near future. During the week there were two barge loads shipped to Mineola, L. I., for use on the new cantonment buildings there and other shipments for Government account have been made to nearby points.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, October 11, 1918. Condition of market: Demand light; prices weaker. Quotations: Hudson River, $13 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 7; sales, 8. Distribution: Manhattan, 4; Brooklyn, 3; New Jersey points, 1.

At the present time as well as for weeks past about 95 per cent. of the deliveries of trap rock going to direct and indirect Government building operations and the balance into non-war work. The Government has established the price now being quoted for all deliveries within lighterage distance of the city at the following rates: Trap rock, 1½ in., $1.85 per cubic yard, and ¾ in., $2 a cubic yard.

Building Stone.—Owing to the general recession of building construction other than essential war operations there is but little activity in the market for building stone. Government projects almost without exception are the predominating factors in the building situation throughout the country and operations of this character use but little, if any, stone. Prices are unchanged since the last quotation.

Structural Steel.—There is no change in the conditions that are surrounding the steel industry. The fabricated end of the business is dominated by the demands from the Government for material in immense tonnages desired for military and naval construction and the requirements of the shipyards. The use of fabricated steel for private building operations may be discounted at present as the line has been tightly drawn regarding the furnishing of materials of every kind for these jobs. There has been a heavy demand for steel for the construction of freight cars for the various railroads, both for domestic lines and for the use of the American Expeditionary Forces in France. Federal control prices are governing all quotations.

Linseed Oil.—Market conditions are exceptionally quiet and there is at the present time practically no prospect of increased activity for some time to come. The price situation is somewhat easier than it has been for the past month or so, with current quotations a trifle lower and ranging from $1.87 to $1.88 a gallon. The outlook is for a gradual weakening in prices during the coming months. Domestic seed of the new crop is now moving toward the crushers and within a short time it is likely that the supply of oil will be easier than it has been recently.

Window Glass.—A trade rumor persists to the effect that the Government is making a determined effort to conserve the available supply of window glass for the most essential uses and will probably place a drastic restriction on future glass sales. An additional factor that will most likely operate adversely in the glass manufacturing industry would be a restriction against the renewal of manufacturing operations until next spring. Glass stocks at the factories are at a low ebb. Prices are unchanged at the present writing.

Electrical Supplies.—If it were not for the great volume of direct and indirect Government building operations now under construction there would be practically no demand for electrical supplies other than the few inquiries coming from alteration and repair projects. As it is, however, the manufacturers and jobbers in all lines of electrical goods are burdened to capacity with what might be considered in every manner as war orders. A number of price changes have been announced during the past week, the most important being that on incandescent lamps. There is a serious shortage in the supply of lamps at the present time. Although there is a dearth of new building construction of a non-war character, the electrical trades are looking forward to the coming spring with anticipations of a materially increased volume of buying activity from this quarter.

Cast Iron Pipe.—Manufacturers are considerably disturbed on account of the attitude of the Federal authorities in regard to allowing the mills to obtain the required tonnage of pig iron to keep their plants in operation throughout the winter months. At the present moment the market is almost without movement of any kind. Buying interest is practically negligible and inquiries are few and far between on account of the general curtailment of all construction excepting the most essential to war requirements. Cast iron prices are unchanged.

Wire Products.—Manufacturers of both wire and wire nails are hemmed about by restrictions against production for other than war purposes and it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain supplies for any use that is not essential to the military aims. The demand from the ordinary lines of manufacturing consumption is fairly active, but dealers are almost unable to fill large orders owing to the fact that their stocks are low and there is no immediate prospect of refilling them for months to come.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

Abe Urís Iron & Steel Corporation, 423 Kent avenue, Brooklyn, announces that it has bought the entire stock of the Kent Iron & Steel Corporation, located at 40 South 8th street, Brooklyn.

George A. Fuller Company has now under construction for the Nitrate Company of New York, a large chemical plant at Cincinnati, O., the cost of which will approximate $10,000,000. The same firm is also building for the American Cellulose Company, at Cumberland, Md., a chemical plant from plans prepared by that company's engineers, that is estimated to cost several million dollars.

Major General George W. Goethals, has been made a member of the War Industries Board. He is assistant chief of the General Staff and director of the Division of Purchase, Storage and Traffic. As such his work brings him into close and frequent contact with the operations of the War Industries Board. General Goethals takes the place on the board formerly filled by his recent assistant, Brigadier General Hugh A. Johnson, who has been assigned to a field brigade for active service.

W. J. Crouch Company, Inc., and Rowson, Drew & Clydesdale, Inc., announce the amalgamation of their respective organizations. All trading and manufacturing operations henceforth will be conducted under the name of Rowson, Drew & Clydesdale, Inc., with general offices at 68 William street, New York. In future, the name of "Crouch Steel" and all that it implies, will be linked with the century old traditions of the house of Rowson, Drew & Clydesdale which should be a guarantee to their customers all over the world of the highest in service. P. G. Donald, president of Rowson, Drew & Clydesdale, Inc., will continue in this office, while I. Smullyan, president of the W. J. Crouch Company, Inc., will act as managing director of the new firm. Victor E. Karminski and A. E. Hearne, both treasurer and general manager of the W. J. Crouch Company, Inc., and Rowson, Drew & Clydesdale, Inc., respectively, will in future act as joint general managers of the new concern. Mr. Karminski conducting the Crouch Steel Division, and Mr. Hearne directing all other trading operations. Plans have been made for the further development and expansion of the Rowson, Drew & Clydesdale Engineering Division in order to cope with the wholly unprecedented demand for their gravity runways, portable elevator conveyors and other labor saving devices. These plans will be carried out under the personal direction of John J. Smart. A vigorous advertising campaign will be undertaken by the new firm, embracing both Crouch Steel products and Rowson, Drew & Clydesdale specialties. This campaign will be carried into all foreign countries, as well as into every state of the Union, and will be directed in all its branches by M. Oppenshaw, who has hitherto had charge of the advertising for the W. J. Crouch Company, Inc. H. Lad Landau, assistant secretary and general manager of sales of the W. J. Crouch Company, will continue with the new concern. So will other leading officers of the company, such as John H. Allen, purchasing agent, who will in the future be assisted by M. Greenberg, of Rowson, Drew & Clydesdale, Inc.; Albert Smullyan, controller; O. W. Andrews, traffic manager, and head of the company's Licensing Bureau and all others occupying positions of trust with the old companies.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section four and section eleven of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York will be submitted to the people for the purpose of voting thereon, at the next general election to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE CONTRACTING OF DEBTS BY THE STATE.

Section 1. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That sections four and eleven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debts shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein [; and such]. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive, nor for more than fifty years from the time of the contracting of such debt. A debt hereafter contracted by the state, pursuant to an authorization hereafter made, and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted, may, if provided by the law authorizing such debt, be paid in equal annual installments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. Such law shall if it authorize the contracting of a debt payable otherwise than in equal annual installments impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay, and sufficient to pay, the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof. No [such] law authorizing the contracting of a debt pursuant to this section shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election. On the final passage of such bill in either house of the legislature, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, to be duly entered on the journals thereof, and shall be: "Shall this bill pass, and ought the same to receive the sanction of the people?" The legislature may at any time, after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law; but the tax, if any, imposed by such act, in proportion to the debt and liability which may have been contracted in pursuance of such law, shall remain in force and be irrevocable, and be annually collected, until the proceeds thereof shall have made the provision hereinbefore specified to pay and discharge the interest and principal of such debt and liability. The money arising from any loan or stock creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever. No such law shall be submitted to be voted on, within three months after its passage or at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may provide for the issue of bonds of the state to run for a period not exceeding fifty years in lieu of bonds heretofore authorized but not issued and shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the same as hereinbefore required. When any sinking fund created under this section shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created, no further direct tax shall be levied on account of said sinking fund and the legislature shall reduce the tax to an amount equal to the accruing interest on such debt. The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt, which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section, or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof, which has been, or shall be created or issued before such alteration. In case the legislature increase the rate of interest upon any such debt, or part thereof, it shall, if such debt be payable otherwise than in equal annual installments, impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay and sufficient to pay the increased or altered interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof, and shall appropriate annually to the sinking fund moneys in amount sufficient to pay such interest and pay and discharge the principal of such debt when it shall become due and payable. § 11. The legislature may appropriate out of any funds in the treasury, moneys to pay the accruing interest and principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created, or any part thereof and may, if such debt be payable otherwise than in annual installments, set apart in each fiscal year, moneys in the state treasury as a sinking fund to pay the interest as it falls due and to pay and discharge the principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created under section four of article seven of the constitution until the same shall be wholly paid, and the principal and income of such sinking fund shall be applied to the purpose for which said sinking fund is created and to no other purpose whatever; and, in the event such moneys so set apart in any fiscal year be sufficient to provide such sinking fund, a direct annual tax for such year need not be imposed and collected, as required by the provisions of said section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof. The legislature shall annually as the same shall fall due provide by direct tax, appropriation or both for the payment of the interest upon and installments of principal of all debts created on behalf of the state, payable in annual installments, pursuant to section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof.

§ 2. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE FOREST PRESERVE.

Section 1. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That section seven or article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway from Saranac Lake in Franklin county to Long Lake in Hamilton county and thence to Old Forge in Herkimer county by way of Blue Mountain lake and Raquette lake.

[But the] The legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

§ 2. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

Section 1. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That section eight of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 8. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Cayuga and Seneca canal, or the Black River canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. The prohibition of lease, sale or other disposition herein contained, shall not apply to the canal known as the Main and Hamburg street canal, situated in the city of Buffalo, and which extends easterly from the westerly line of Main street to the westerly line of Hamburg street, nor to that portion of the existing Erie canal in the city of Utica between the westerly line of Schuyler street and the easterly line of Third street, provided that a flow of sufficient water from Schuyler street to Third street to feed that portion of the canal east of Third street be maintained. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied to the improvement, superintendence or repair of the remaining portion of the canals.

§ 2. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.
STATE OF NEW YORK,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE
ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section seven of article one of the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,

Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE ONE OF THE CONSTITUTION, GENERALLY.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article one of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Compensation for taking private property; private roads; drainage of agricultural lands. § 7. When private property shall be taken for any public use, the compensation to be made therefor, when such compensation is not made by the state, shall be ascertained by a jury, or by the supreme court with or without a jury, as with a referee, or by not less than three commissioners appointed by a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law. Private roads may be opened in the manner to be prescribed by law; but in every case the necessity of the road and the amount of all damage to be sustained by the opening thereof, shall be first determined by a jury of freeholders, and such amount, together with the expenses of the proceeding, shall be paid by the person to be benefited. General laws may be passed permitting the owners or occupants of agricultural lands to construct and maintain for the drainage thereof, necessary drains, ditches and dykes upon the lands of others, under proper restrictions and with just compensation, but no special laws shall be enacted for such purposes.

The legislature may authorize cities to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or relocating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property so authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. After so much of the land and property has been appropriated for such park, public place, highway or street as is needed therefore, the remainder may be sold or leased.

The legislature may also authorize cities, for the establishment of a uniform system of streets, to take real property within an abandoned street or highway and to sell and lease it.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ELEVEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION EIGHTEEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO PRIVATE AND LOCAL BILLS.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section eighteen of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows: § 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.
Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways, or alleys or for draining swamps or other low lands.
Locating or changing county seats.
Providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.
Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or empanelling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the rate of interest on money.
The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage, or allowances of public officers, during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association, or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Granting to any person, association, firm or corporation an exemption from taxation on real or personal property.

Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.

Legalizing, ratifying or confirming the proceedings of a municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or the officers or authorities thereof, in providing for the issuance and sale of the bonds or other evidence of indebtedness of such municipal corporation or political subdivision of the state, or validating such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness after their issuance and sale.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of, that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or in case the consent of such property owners cannot be obtained, the appellate division of the supreme court, in the department in which it is proposed to be constructed, may, upon application, appoint three commissioners who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section one of article twelve and sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of article three of the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THIRTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION ONE OF ARTICLE TWELVE AND SECTIONS TWENTY-SIX AND TWENTY-SEVEN OF ARTICLE THREE OF THE CONSTITUTION TO ENABLE THE LEGISLATURE TO GIVE GREATER

CONTROL OVER LOCAL AFFAIRS TO CITIES AND COUNTIES.

Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That section one of article twelve of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the legislature to provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages and to restrict their power of taxation, assessments, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessments and in contracting debt by such municipal corporations. [; and] The legislature may by general laws confer upon cities such powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may from time to time deem expedient.

[The] The legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and make provision for the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by the state or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the state, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the state, or for any county, city, town, village or other civil division thereof. City bills shall apply equally to all the cities of a class as defined in section two of article twelve and no special city bill affecting less than all the cities of a class shall be passed except to secure the public safety or in a case where it affects territory without the corporate limits of the city.

Resolved further (If the Assembly concur), That sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 26. There shall be in each county, except in a county wholly included in a city, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members as is or may be provided by law. But the legislature may provide by law for another form of government for any county subject to the approval of the electors of such county at a general election in an odd-numbered year. Such law may also provide for the transfer to the county of functions now exercised by towns. In a city which includes an entire county, or two or more entire counties, the powers and duties of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the municipal assembly, common council, board of aldermen or other legislative body of the city.

§ 27. The legislature shall, by general laws, confer upon the boards of supervisors, or other governing elective bodies, of the several counties of the state such further powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient, [; and] in counties which now have, or may hereafter have, county auditors or other fiscal officers, authorized to audit bills, accounts, charges, claims or demands against the county, the legislature may confer such powers upon [said] such auditors, or fiscal officers, as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient.

§ 2. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FIFTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SIX OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO COMPENSATION OF JUDGES OF THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Section 1. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That section seven of article six of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The court of appeals is continued. It shall consist of the chief judge and associate judges now in office, who shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms, and their successors, who shall be chosen by the electors of the state. The official terms of the chief judge and associate judges shall be fourteen years from and including the first day of January next after their election. Five members of the court shall form a quorum, and the concurrence of four shall be necessary to a decision. The court shall have power to appoint and to remove its reporter, clerk and attendants. Whenever and as often as a majority of the judges of the court of appeals shall certify to the governor that said court is unable, by reason of the accumulation of causes pending therein, to hear and dispose of the same with reasonable speed, the governor shall designate not more than four justices of the supreme court to serve as associate judges of the court of appeals. The justices so designated shall be relieved from their duties as justices of the supreme court and shall serve as associate judges of the court of appeals until the causes undisposed of in said court are reduced to two hundred, when they shall return to the supreme court. The governor may designate justices of the supreme court to fill vacancies. No justice shall serve as associate judge of the court of appeals except while holding the office of justice of the supreme court, and no more than seven judges shall sit in any case. The judges of the court of appeals, including those now in office, shall receive for their services a compensation established by law which shall not be diminished during their official terms and shall not be less than the highest compensation allowed by law to any other judicial officer in the state. A justice of the supreme court while serving as associate judge of the court of appeals shall receive the same compensation as judges of the court of appeals.

§ 2. Resolved (If the Assembly concur),

§ 18. Inferior local courts of civil and criminal jurisdiction may be established by the legislature, but no inferior local court hereafter created shall be a court of record. [The] Except as herein provided the legislature shall not hereafter confer upon any inferior or local court of its creation, any equity jurisdiction or any greater jurisdiction in other respects than is conferred upon county courts by or under this article. The legislature may establish children's courts, and courts of domestic relations, as separate courts, or as parts of existing courts or courts hereafter to be created, and may confer upon them such equity and other jurisdiction as may be necessary for the correction, protection, guardianship and disposition of delinquent, neglected or dependent minors, and for the punishment and correction of adults responsible for or contributing to such delinquency, neglect or dependency, and to compel the support of a wife, child or poor relative by persons legally chargeable therewith who abandon or neglect to support any of them. In the exercise of such jurisdiction such courts may hear and determine such causes, with or without a jury, except those in which a felony is involved, and in otherwise provided, all judicial officers shall be elected or appointed at such times and in such manner as the legislature may direct.

§ 2. Resolved (If the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER SEVENTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE USE OF LANDS AND TIMBER IN THE FOREST PRESERVE FOR FUEL FOR DOMESTIC PURPOSES AND FOR ROADS AND TRAILS.

Section 1. Resolved (If the Senate concur), That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. But the legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. The foregoing provisions of this section shall not prevent the legislature from authorizing the cutting and removal of dead and fallen timber on lands in the forest preserve for fuel or other domestic purposes; or authorizing the cutting and use by the state of timber on such lands for the construction of roads and trails necessary for protection against fire, and for ingress and egress. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and, in conformity with section one, article fourteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to sections two, four, five, eleven and twelve of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred eighteen.

FRANCIS M. HUGO,
Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER EIGHTEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTIONS TWO, FOUR, FIVE, ELEVEN AND TWELVE OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO DEBTS CONTRACTED BY THE STATE.

Section 1. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That sections two, four, five, eleven and twelve of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The state may, to meet casual deficits or failures in revenues, or for expenses not provided for, contract debts; but such debts, direct or contingent, singly or in the aggregate, shall not at any time exceed one million of dollars; and the moneys arising from the loans creating such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which they were obtained, or to repay the debt so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever. Contract debts in anticipation of the receipt of taxes and revenues, direct or indirect, for the purposes and within the amounts of appropriations theretofore made; bonds or other obligations for the moneys so borrowed shall be issued as may be provided by law, and shall with the interest thereon be paid from such taxes and revenues within one year from the date of issue.

§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debt[s] shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein, [; and such law shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay, and sufficient to pay, the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof. No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election.] On the final passage of such bill in either house of the legislature, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, to be duly entered on the journals thereof, and shall be: "Shall this bill pass and ought the same to receive the sanction of the people?" No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election nor shall it be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage nor at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may, at any time after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law. [but the tax imposed by such act, in proportion to the debt and liability which may have been contracted in pursuance of such law, shall remain in force and be irrepealable, and be annually collected, until the proceeds thereof shall have made the provision hereinbefore specified to pay and discharge the interest and principal of such debt and liability.]

Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, all debts contracted by the state after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty, pursuant to an authorization theretofore, heretofore or hereafter made and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted irrespective of the terms of such authorization, shall be paid in equal annual installments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted, to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive.

The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof which has been or shall be created or issued before such alteration.

The money arising from any loan [or stock] creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever. [No such law shall be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage or at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may provide for the issue of bonds of the state to run for a period not exceeding fifty years in lieu of bonds heretofore authorized but not issued and shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax for the payment of the same as hereinbefore required. When any sinking fund created under this section shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created, no further direct tax shall be levied on account of said sinking fund, and the legislature shall reduce the tax to an amount equal to the accruing interest on such debt. The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt, which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section, or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt, or upon any bond or other evidence thereof, which has been, or shall be created or issued before such alteration. In case the legislature increase the rate of interest upon any such debt, or part thereof, it shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax to pay and sufficient to pay the increased or altered interest on such debt as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt within fifty years from the time of the contracting thereof, and shall appropriate annually the sinking fund moneys in amount sufficient to pay such interest and pay and discharge the principal of such debt when it shall become due and payable.]

§ 1. The sinking funds provided for the payment of interest and the extinguishment of the principal of the debts of the state heretofore contracted shall be continued; they shall be separately kept and safely invested, and neither of them shall be appropriated or used in any manner other than for the specific purpose for which it shall have been provided; such payment and extinguishment as heretofore provided. The comptroller shall each year appraise the securities held for investment in each of such funds at their fair market value not exceeding par. He shall then determine and certify to the legislature the amount of each of such funds and the amounts which, if thereafter annually contributed to each such fund, would, with the fund and with the accumulations thereon and upon the contributions thereto, computed at the rate of three per centum per annum, produce at the date of maturity the amount of the debt to retire which such fund was created, and the legislature shall thereupon appropriate as the contribution to each such fund for such year at least the amount thus certified.

If the income of any such fund in any year is more than a sum which, if annually added to such fund would, with the fund and its accumulations as aforesaid, retire the debt at maturity, the excess income may be applied to the interest on the debt for which the fund was created.

After any sinking fund shall equal in amount the debt for which it was created no further contribution shall be made thereto except to make good any losses ascertained at the annual appraisals above mentioned, and the income thereof shall be applied to the payment of the interest on such debt. Any excess in such income not required for the payment of interest may be applied to the general fund of the state.

The legislature may also by general laws provide means and authority whereby outstanding bonds of the state, for which sinking funds are provided, may be exchanged at par for cancellation, for serial bonds of the form authorized under section four of this article, upon such terms and conditions as to interest and otherwise as it may in its discretion authorize or determine, except that the debt as thus refunded shall finally mature no later and at no greater comparative cost to the state than the original debt; the determination of the legislature as to such comparative cost shall be conclusive. No further contributions to the respective sinking funds shall be made on account of bonds so exchanged and the proportion of any such sinking fund which the amount of the bonds so exchanged shall bear to the amount of bonds outstanding of the same issue may be appropriated, as required, for the payment of the substituted serial bonds.

§ 11. [The legislature may appropriate out of any funds in the treasury, moneys to pay the accruing interest and principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created, or any part thereof and may set apart in each fiscal year, moneys in the state treasury as a sinking fund to pay the interest as it falls due and to pay and discharge the principal of any debt heretofore or hereafter created under section four of article seven of the constitution until the same shall be wholly paid, and the principal and income of such sinking fund shall be applied to the purpose for which said sinking fund is created and to no other purpose whatever; and, in the event such moneys so set apart in any fiscal year be sufficient to provide such sinking fund, a direct annual tax for such year need not be imposed and collected, as required by the provisions of said section four of article seven, or of any law enacted in pursuance thereof.] The legislature shall annually provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and instalments of principal of all debts created on behalf of the state except those contracted under section two of this article, as the same shall fall due, and for the contribution to all of the sinking funds heretofore created by law, of the amounts annually to be contributed under the provisions of section five of this article. If at any time the legislature shall fail to make any such appropriation, the comptroller shall set apart from the first revenues thereafter received, applicable to the general fund of the state, a sum sufficient to pay such interest, instalments of principal, or contributions to such sinking fund, as the case may be, and shall so apply the moneys thus set apart. The comptroller may be required to set aside and apply such revenues as aforesaid, at the suit of any holder of such bonds.

§ 12. Debts hereafter authorized for the improvement of highways shall be created only in the manner provided in section four of this article. No provision of this article shall be deemed to impair or affect the validity of any debt of the state heretofore contracted or any right or obligation heretofore created between the state and any of its civil divisions.

§ 13. A debt or debts of the state may be authorized by law for the improvement of highways. Such highways shall be determined under general laws, which shall also provide for the equitable apportionment thereof among the counties. The aggregate of the debts authorized by this section shall not at any one time exceed the sum of fifty millions of dollars. The payment of the annual interest on such debt and the creation of a sinking fund of at least two per centum per annum to discharge the principal at maturity shall be provided by general laws whose force and effect shall not be diminished during the existence of any debt created thereunder. The legislature may by general laws require the county or town or both to pay to the sinking fund the proportionate part of the cost of any such highway within the boundaries of such county or town and the proportionate part of the interest thereon, but no county shall at any time for any highway be required to pay more than thirty-five hundredths of the cost of such highway, and no town more than fifteen hundredths. None of the provisions of the fourth section of this article shall apply to debts for the improvement of highways hereby authorized.]

§ 2. Resolved (If the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one, article fourteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER NINETEEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION BY INSERTING THEREIN A NEW ARTICLE, IN RELATION TO TAXATION.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the constitution be amended by inserting therein a new article, to be article seven-a, to read as follows:

ARTICLE VII-A

§ 1. For the assessment of real property, heretofore locally assessed, the legislature may establish tax districts, none of which, unless it be a city, shall embrace more than one town. Assessors thereon shall be elected by the electors of such districts. The legislature may provide that the assessment-roll of a town shall serve for all the civil divisions or parts thereof within its boundaries. No such tax district embracing a town shall be established until a proposition providing therefor shall have been adopted by a vote of a majority of the electors voting thereon in such proposed district at an election for which provision shall be made by law.

§ 2. #### PROPOSITION NUMBER ONE

EXPLANATION—Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old matter to be omitted.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, ALBANY, July 1, 1918.

Pursuant to the provisions of section four of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred and ninety-five of the Election Law, and of section two of chapter six hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eighteen, notice is hereby given that Chapter six hundred and ninety-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eighteen, of which the following is a copy, will be submitted to the people for the purpose of voting thereon at the next general election in this State, to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

CHAP. 626

AN ACT TO AMEND CHAPTER TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY-EIGHT OF THE LAWS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED AND TWELVE, AUTHORIZING THE SALE OF BONDS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION AND IMPROVEMENT OF STATE AND COUNTY HIGHWAYS IN RELATION TO PROVIDING FOR THE DISPOSITION OF CERTAIN UNEXPENDED BALANCES FOR HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT; AND TO PROVIDE FOR A SUBMISSION OF THE SAME TO THE PEOPLE TO BE VOTED UPON AT THE GENERAL ELECTION TO BE HELD IN THE YEAR NINETEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTEEN.

Became a Law May 11, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Chapter two hundred and ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, entitled "An act making provision for issuing bonds to the amount of not to exceed fifty million dollars for the purpose of constructing and improving state and county highways, and providing for a submission of the same to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and twelve," is hereby amended by inserting therein, after section six, a new section, to be section six-a, to read as follows:

§ 6-a. Unexpended balances; how to be used. If moneys authorized by this act to be raised and which have been apportioned before the taking effect of this section to a county for use in the construction of state highways cannot be used within such county for that purpose, or if any of such moneys which have been apportioned before the taking effect of this section to a county for use in the construction of county highways cannot be used within such county for that purpose, under the foregoing provisions of this act and in the manner herein prescribed, the unexpended balances of such moneys apportioned pursuant to section four of this act shall be available, after appropriation by the legislature, for use in the discretion of the state commissioner of highways in the construction, reconstruction or widening of state or county highways as defined in the highway law or of such other highways as he may determine to be necessary to connect the systems of state highways, county highways or highways improved by federal aid. Such commissioner shall expend within any county having an unexpended balance of moneys originally apportioned to it by section four of this act, for the construction, reconstruction or widening of such highways, one-half of such unexpended balance, and such commissioner may expend within any other county or counties for the same purposes the remainder of such unexpended balance. In the use of such moneys in the construction, reconstruction or widening of any state, county or connecting highway, the county within which such highway is located shall contribute to the total cost thereof in the same manner and to the same extent and in the same proportion as is now provided by article six of the highway law in connection with the improvement of county highways within such county.

§ 2. This law shall not take effect until it shall at a general election have been submitted to the people and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election; and the same shall be submitted to the people of this state at the general election to be held in November, nineteen hundred and eighteen. The ballots to be furnished for the use of the voters upon the submission of this law shall be in the form prescribed by the election law, and the proposition or question to be submitted shall be printed thereon in substantially the following form, namely: "Shall chapter (here insert the number of the chapter) of the laws of nineteen hundred and eighteen, entitled 'An act to amend chapter two hundred and ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, authorizing the sale of bonds for the construction and improvement of state and county highways, in relation to providing for the disposition of certain unexpended balances for highway improvement; and to provide for a submission of the same to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen,' be approved?"

Realty Board Elects Stephen H. Tyng President Succeeds Laurence McGuire, Who Retires After Four Successive Terms—Membership Now 1,300

STEPHEN H. TYNG, president of the real estate firm of Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., & Company, and one of the best known brokers in New York City, was elected president of the Real Estate Board of New York at its annual meeting on Tuesday. Mr. Tyng, who was formerly vice-president and a member of the Board of Governors of the Board, succeeds Laurence McGuire, who retires after four years of service as head of the organization.

Mr. Tyng brings to the presidency of the Real Estate Board thirty-one years of experience in the real estate field. He has been an active broker and realty manager since 1887. He opened his first office at 63 William street a year after his graduation from Williams College. Aside from a keen interest in real estate affairs, Mr. Tyng is prominent in New York club life and a great outdoor enthusiast. He is a member of the University, Manhattan, Players, Williams College and Alpha Delta Phi Clubs, the Automobile, Rockaway Hunt Club, Oakland Golf Club, Sleepy Hollow Country Club and the Arkola Club as well as the Seawanaka Yacht Club.

Discussing his new responsibilities as president of the Real Estate Board, Mr. Tyng said yesterday to a representative of the Record and Guide:

"I accepted the nomination as president with a full realization of, and admiration for, the remarkable work which Mr. Laurence McGuire has done in behalf of the organization, and my chief hope lies in the inspiration which his record affords. The new administration shall, of course, maintain and continue to strengthen the effective organization through which the Board now carries on its work. We shall continue to maintain the high ethical standards which have always characterized its relations with the public.

"During the great reconstruction era which must come in due time, in which period real estate will again be restored in the hearts of the investing public and this sorely harrassed commodity will be permitted once more to come back into its own, tremendous responsibilities will devolve upon the Real Estate Board, as a representative body, to maintain the best traditions of the New York broker and retain the confidence of the investing public.

"The Board has long ceased to be purely an organization of real estate brokers. Its scope has been enlarged to include representation from all of the great real estate interests. We have sought, and will continue to seek, the creation of a thoroughly representative body, having as its aim, genuine public service."

Mr. McGuire reviewed his association with the Real Estate Board for the Record and Guide. He said:

"It is doubtful if the real estate interests as a whole have come to realize the measure of protection and insurance which the Real Estate Board has offered to property owners for the past five years.

"Originally the activities of the Real Estate Board were confined to the regulating of commissions and promoting a better basis of dealing as between the real estate broker and property owner, and in addition establishing a code of ethics to guide the transactions of brokers as between themselves.

"Four years ago the corporate name of the Board was changed from the Real Estate Board of Brokers to the Real Estate Board of New York, and at the same time important changes were made in the Constitution and new classes of membership established. It is from the time of this change that the real effective work, and if I may say the success of the Real Estate Board dates. Its active membership, which is limited to brokers actively engaged in the brokerage business, and the limit by its Constitution to 200 is filled and there is a large waiting list.

"The original associate membership numbering about 500 has been practically transferred to a later class commonly known as Active Associate, which now numbers well over a thousand. In the Active Associate membership there are represented the foremost and largest owners of real estate and the interests associated with real estate. The total Board membership is over 1,300.

"The valuable service the Board has rendered to real estate interests cannot, I take it, be over-estimated. It has at all times been free from selfish interests, and never to my knowledge allowed or permitted itself as an organization to be used for selfish interests. This is perhaps one of the most difficult problems with which the Real Estate Board has been confronted. It has been importuned to make alliances which could not but be harmful, and it has been encouraged to lend itself to suggestions emanating from those who have had first and foremost in mind their personal or corporate profits. The Real Estate Board has, I am glad to say, held aloof from all such interests, and it is vital to its

Real Estate Division Passes $7,800,000 Mark

Seeks to Raise $10,000,000—Adopts Slogan of "$1,000,000 a Day"—
Subscriptions Pouring In

SWEEPING onward past its new goal of $7,500,000, the Real Estate Division of the Fourth Liberty Loan drive is continuing its spectacular campaign to reach the $10,000,000 mark. At a late hour yesterday afternoon, with subscriptions piling in so fast that they could hardly be tabulated, the team captains had reported a grand total of $7,896,000.

The original quota of $5,000,000 was passed last Saturday, earning for the real estate division the distinction of being the first trade division to achieve this result. Inspired by the appeal of Chairman Alfred E. Marling and Robert E. Simon, chairman of the Steering Committee, the team captains and members of others booming the real estate honor emblem idea adopted the $7,500,000 mark as a new goal and with the slogan of "$1,000,000 a day" to spur them on, plunged anew into the work of rounding up more real estate dollars for the Loan.

Alfred E. Marling, discussing the work of the Division, said yesterday:

"No one could have had the privilege, as I have done, of standing at the head of a real estate organization devoted to securing subscriptions to the Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds, without having his heart stirred by watching the splendid results. We have had seventeen days of strenuous effort. Our first goal was fixed at $2,500,000. Then Headquarters raised our quota to $5,000,000. We still kept cheerfully at work, determined to win out. We have done so, and more. Wednesday, October 16, was a red letter day, for we raised $1,000,000. Thursday, October 17, not to be outdone by the previous day, registered another $1,000,000, so that as we closed our books on the evening of the 17th, we had reached the grand total of $8,063,300.

"This splendid result has been due, principally to two causes. In the first place, Laurence McGuire's suggestion that all property owners be invited to subscribe on the basis of one-half of one per cent of the tax valuation of their holdings, was immediately seen to be a sane and business-like proposition by our solicitors, and in the second place, we had a corps of captains and team workers who have, with industry and intelligence, and self-denial, steadily worked day after day to secure subscriptions. The well-known abilities of these real estate salesmen have been used to the fullest extent and hence we need not be surprised at the grand results.

"When we analyze the whole subject, we find that we had a patriotic appeal to make, second to none. We have had a splendid proposition from a business standpoint, by the McGuire suggestion. We had a band of earnest and clear-headed solicitors. My fond hope is that before we close the books on Saturday night we will be able to have close to $10,000,000.

"Permit me to take this opportunity to express on behalf of our Committee my warmest thanks for the great support which the Record & Guide has given to us in this Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign."

Among the large loan subscribers this week through the Real Estate Division, practically all of whom now have the right to fly the real estate honor flag, were $250,000 from the Herald Square Realty Company, $100,000 from the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, covering all of its buildings in the borough; $750,000 from William H. Barnum, of the Greeley Square Realty Company, covering the Gimbel building; $100,- 000 additional from the United States Realty and Improvement Company; $26,000 from William Demuth, $10,000 from the North Side Savings Bank, $6,000 from the State Realty Company, $15,000 from Andrew Connick, $20,000 from Stephen H. Tyng, $10,000 each from Peter Doelger and George Ehret, Jr., $6,000 from the Merchants' Refrigerating Company, $12,500 from Frank A. Munsey covering the old Stewart building; $15,000 from Courtlandt Field Bishop, $20,175 from the Guaranty Trust Company for its buildings at 140 Broadway and at Madison avenue and Sixtieth street, $60,000 from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and $10,000 from the Adams Express Company.

The American Sugar Refining Company subscribed $25,000, the estate of William G. Moore, $30,000; J. Curry Watson for Major William Ziegler, now on foreign service, $33,000 on his real estate holdings in New York City; Mrs. Elizabeth M. Anderson, $25,000; Robert E. Dowling for the Adams Express Building Company, $35,000; Consolidated Stock Exchange, $5,000; Hallenbeck, Hungerford Company, $7,500; Mrs. Hope Horton Lewis, $7,000; Joseph P. Day, $5,000, and Walter Stables, $1,000; Michael Coleman, $151,000, through Spear & Company.

Col. Jacob Ruppert subscribed $50,000, thereby permitting him to fly the real estate honor flag from his properties. H. Oakley Hall subscribed $5,000, and the estate of Catherine M. Hall $2,000. The Hochelaga Realty and Development Company subscribed $4,000 for its property at 64 and 66 Wall street; the West Side Taxpayers' Association took $8,200; Udo M. Fleischmann, $25,000; R. F. McQueen, $5,000; Louis Smyth, $5,000; Hannah Hyman, $4,500; E. B. Levy, $9,000; Murray & Hall Co., $5,000, and the H. & A. Building Co., $5,000. Brooklyn teams, turning in large additional reports, have made, in the aggregate, sales amounting to $1,023,350.

After the annual meeting on Tuesday, when the board members were asked to subscribe, Lawrence Elliman, William L. De Bost, Joseph P. Day, John N. Golding, Alfred R. Kirkus, Robert E. Simon and the board as a body, subscribed amounts ranging from $5,000 to $25,000.

At this time, it was estimated that $10,000 more was needed to reach $6,050,000, and Laurence McGuire, A. N. Gitterman, John N. Kalley, Charles F. Noyes, Charles E. Duross, Robert E. Simon and one other subscribed $1,000 additional.

advancement if not its very existence that this course be rigidly followed.

"It is needless for me to review the Board's work in connection with the Budget of the City of New York, where it is generally admitted it has done most excellent work and was I know helpful and possibly instrumental in keeping the budget figure for 1919 down to its present level. This will be perhaps of more substantial benefit to real estate interests than is at present realized. # Building and Allied Trades Almost Over Top

Hard Work by Committees Assures Big Subscription to the Fourth Liberty Loan

FROM indications yesterday the Building and Allied Trades will go over their quota of $7,000,000. Despite the hard times which the war has brought to the industry its members have consistently demonstrated that they are American through and through and that they are ready to back up their Government not only with their services but also with their dollars. The various committeemen have sacrificed their time, in many cases a financial sacrifice in their efforts in behalf of the Liberty Loan. The trade has been carefully canvassed with unusually gratifying results. Following are the figures obtained by the various teams up to noon yesterday, the grand total being $6,554,400.

The results are given after the name of each team captain in the various divisions of the industry:

Owen Glasson, $354,400; Edwin H. Thatcher, $1,147,850; Frank E. Wise, $424,000; H. C. Turner, $462,550; W. L. O'Connell, $100,850; Joseph Dreyfuss, $391,600; Albert Wahle, $389,850; Benjamin Traitel, $190,000; Max Baumann, $18,100; C. A. Fullerton, $63,200; Carl H. Dabelstein, $385,000; Davis Brown, $60,050; Joseph H. Jasper, $424,100; M. F. Wastergren, $553,100; W. H. Curtin, $270,250; Andrew J. Post, $567,350; L. W. Dennis, $86,900; E. F. Rattey, $143,000; John I. Donway, $492,250, and the Building Trades Employers' Ass'n, $30,000.

Budget Hearings Before Board of Estimate

Strong Pressure for Increases Over the Tentative Figures Brought to Bear by Many City Employees

THE Board of Estimate and Apportionment hearings on the tentative budget for 1919, on Tuesday and Wednesday, developed the fact that a good many employes of the city think that their salaries should be raised to meet the high cost of living.

During the early hours of the hearings Mayor Hylan repeatedly stated that increases would not be granted.

"We have attempted to make up an honest budget," said the Mayor, "so that it will not be necessary during the year to issue special revenue bonds for any of the city departments."

The Citizens Union, the Real Estate Board and other organizations commended the Board of Estimate for keeping the budget down. Objection was made to reducing the sum appropriated for printing for the Bureau of Education of the Department of Health and the public school teachers, the firemen and the Public Library employes filed requests for more money in their pay envelopes.

Labor representatives asked for equalization of wages in all the boroughs as well as an increase of laborers' wages from $3.25 to $3.50 a day, with an increase to $4 a day for men who work in sewers.

Borough President Dowling of Manhattan called attention to the fact that when the board receives full data as to prevailing rate paid to any class of labor the Board at once adopts the rate. Bricklayers, he said, get $7 a day, but had agreed to go on an annual basis. Under this agreement, he said, they get paid for sick time and holidays.

Representatives of the public libraries protested against the figures in the tentative budget as inadequate. Controller Craig said if the library trustees had made an effort to adjust affairs to war conditions an effort would have been made to find a way to make the increase asked.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Commissioner of Health, defended his request for an increase in the wages of nurses from $60 to $1,200, and assistants from $560 to $750, and expressed gratitude for support in the influenza epidemic.

Increases in salaries amounting to $3,500,000 were urged by Arthur S. Somers, president of the Board of Education.

Mayor Hylan suggested that teachers receiving the smallest salaries be given $100 advance. Mr. Somers asked that the advance apply to all who receive $1,800 or less. To provide decent living wages, Mr. Somers said, women teachers must have the increase.

Mayor Hylan indicated that he thought well of the proposal. Mr. Somers said all proposed increases for officials in the department with fair salaries had been cut out and that no effort was made to carry out the program for new schools.

Dr. S. M. Berg, representing the West End Association, asserted that with a good board of bankers he could furnish for $36,000,000 as good education for the children of the city as the present Board of Education did for $46,000,000. He opposed increasing the teachers' salaries, declaring that they were getting enough and should not be raised faster than their yearly increment.

During the hearings Comptroller Craig said:

"One of the strongest incentives for economy in making up the 1919 budget was a firm determination to deprive rent profiteers of the last vestige of excuse for overcharging tenants. We have made the strongest possible drive to keep the tax rate of 1919 within that of the current year, and present indications are that we shall succeed. This ought to be a warning to landlords who have been depriving tenants of heat and other services."

There will be numerous executive sessions of the Board before the final budget is presented next week. Hearings on the final budget will be held Tuesday and Wednesday. What develops will largely indicate what the tax rate for next year will be.

May Store More Coal

PERMISSION to householders and other fuel consumers of the country to store hereafter from 10 to 50 per cent. more coal for future use than has been allowed in the past was given by Fuel Commissioner Garfield this week.

Residents of New York city, together with industries on the preference list of the War Industries Board, will be permitted to store enough fuel to take care of their needs for a period of ninety days, except those in classes 3 and 4 of the list, who are restricted to fifty and forty days each. Concerns not on the preferred list may stock fuel for a month's needs.

Legislative Program of the Real Estate Board

Bill Limiting Tax on Realty and Providing for Other Sources of Revenue the Main Feature

THE Legislative program of the Real Estate Board of New York has two objects:

A fixed rate and simplicity and economy in the administration of the State and City government. When the Constitution of the State of New York was drawn, its framers, having in mind the possibility of the presence in large cities of a majority of voters indifferent to the burdens of taxation, put in a provision that the tax on real estate and personal property for city and county purposes in any county containing a city of over 100,000 persons, should not exceed 2 per cent. in any one year.

As the interest on the city debt and the state tax can be levied in addition to this, the tax on real and personal property at present may be as high as 3 per cent., which would be confiscatory. The Real Estate Board feels that the limit should not exceed, for all purposes, 2 per cent. on real estate and one quarter of one per cent. on personal property. The tax on secured debts is now one-fifth of one per cent. annually and the tax on mortgages one-half of one per cent. payable once only during the term of the mortgage. Tax on mercantile and manufacturing corporations is 3 per cent. on net income payable annually.

The Real Estate Board believes that the tax on all forms of personal property should be the same and as the proportion of personal property in the city of New York is estimated as eight to one that one quarter of one per cent. tax on personal and a two per cent. (2 per cent.) tax on real estate would be a fair and equal distribution of the burden of supporting local and state government.

As all real estate in private hands is taxed, so should all personal property be taxed, and the Department of Taxes and Assessments should be given all the power needed to enable a proper levy against personal property to be made. The personal tax should be levied and collected before February 15 of each year and should be at the fixed rate of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  mills.

The additional sums then needed for the support of government, less the surplus revenues of the general fund, should be levied on real estates, but in no case should such levy exceed two per cent. of the assessed valuation.

The amount so raised will be ample for the support of government honestly and economically administered.

Certain interests which in the past have always been successful in preventing an equitable tax on personal property are now talking of new sources of revenue and asserting that a tax on personal property cannot be collected. They seem to feel that a man's home, which usually is purchased after years of thrift, industry and self denial, is a proper subject for taxation, but that personal property, however obtained, is sacred—in spite of the fact that personal property needs the protection of government more than real estate. The claim that a personal tax cannot be successfully levied and collected is of the same character as the claims urged against the imposition of an income tax. A  $2\frac{1}{2}$  mill personal tax can be levied and collected. There should be no exemptions and all other forms of taxation on such property should be abolished, if, as the advocates of no tax on personal property claim, rich men will leave the city, their departure would be welcomed, for they would prove themselves undesirable citizens. Such statements are unwarranted. The vast majority of wealthy men are as patriotic as their fellow citizens, and while naturally they fight a confiscating personal tax they would willingly pay a tax of \$2,500 on a million dollars.

In the last analysis it will be found that whatever their character they will come from the same people who pay now. There should be no indirect taxes. Taxation should be direct and apparent. Extravagance would then be known and resented.

The Real Estate Board will urge economy at Albany, relying upon the pledges of the candidates for state offices, and will cause to be introduced legislation enforcing local economy and simplicity in administration. The program in detail is as follows:

A bill repealing the Tax Lien law.

A bill abolishing the Bronx Parkway Commission.

A bill abolishing the Court House Board.

A bill abolishing the Board of Inebriety and the Parole Commission.

A bill abolishing the Board of Water Supply.

A bill enabling all taxes, assessments and water rates to be collected in one bureau of the Comptroller's Office.

A bill making the Department of Markets and the Department of Weights and Measures part of the Bureau of Collection of City Revenue in the Comptroller's office.

A bill to put the Department of Licenses in the Mayor's office.

A bill to give the Board of Estimate and Apportionment power to fix all county salaries except those of elected officers.

A bill will be introduced defining the responsibility of agents and owners under the labor laws and also more thoroughly defining a factory.

A bill will also be introduced to properly provide for and apportion the assessment for the extension of Varick street and the widening of Seventh avenue.

A bill to amend the Tenement House law, generally, relative to four-family converted dwellings.

The Board will also support a bill to give the local legislative bodies power to consolidate departments doing similar work and to abolish unnecessary city departments.

Income Tax Law Amendment

THE governors of the Real Estate Board of New York have sent the following letter to Hon. James W. Wadsworth and Hon. William M. Calder. The board expressed the hope that some action would be taken to secure the amendments so urgently needed to the proposed Federal Income Tax Law:

"Dear Sir:

"At a meeting of the governors of the Real Estate Board of the city of New York, held on October 8, 1918, the following resolution was made, seconded and unanimously carried: RESOLVED, That, in the opinion of this board, it is extremely important and desirable that paragraph 2 of sub-division 'a' of section 234 of the proposed Federal Income Tax Law, which provides that certain deductions may be allowed to corporations from gross incomes, be amended so as to read as follows:

"'All interest paid or accrued within the taxable year on its indebtedness and on encumbrances upon its real property, or, in the case of a foreign corporation, the proportion of such interest paid which the amount of its gross income from sources within the United States bears to the amount of its gross income from sources within and without the United States, provided that in the case of interest on encumbrances the amount of encumbrances on which interest may be deducted shall not be in excess of the fair value of such real property.'"

"(The words in italics are new matter.) And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to each of the Senators representing the state of New York in Congress.

"The suggested amendment probably explains itself, but so as to avoid any misunderstanding, I desire to call your attention to the fact that if the law be enacted as drawn and not amended as above it will work great hardship upon a corporation that owns property subject to a mortgage which it has not assumed because it will have to pay interest on the mortgage, but it will not be able to deduct the interest so paid from its gross income. This would be a great injustice, and no good reason can be assigned for creating any such unfair distinction.

"As secretary of the board I ask that you use your influence to try and bring around the proposed amendment.

"THOMAS P. GRAHAM, Secretary."

Sales and Conveyances For Last Nine Months

Comparison With Corresponding Period of 1917 Shows General Market Situation To Be Practically Unchanged

Tables compiled by the Record and Guide indicating the number of recorded sales in the Boroughs of Manhattan and Bronx during the nine months of the present year as compared with the similar period last year reveal the information that the sales market has remained practically unchanged. In the aggregate 992 sales at private contract were reported for the first nine months of 1917 as against 994 for 1918, a negligible increase, but significant in view of the generally prevailing impression that the real estate market is retrogressing.

The section south of Fifty-ninth street, which has felt the steady and recent buying movement of business properties, receives a substantial increase in the number of reported sales for 1918, whereas the section north of Fifty-ninth street shows a marked decline.

The comparative figures for the Bronx furnish another surprise in a gain of 117 private sales for the first nine months of the present year, the 1918 total being 484 as compared with 367 for 1917.

This situation may be regarded as decidedly favorable especially since the great unimproved sections of the borough have been receiving scant attention on the part of speculative builders.

Recorded deeds show a decline for 1918 in both Manhattan and the Bronx. Up to September 28 4,614 conveyances affecting Manhattan properties were filed as against 5,705 for the corresponding period during 1917. In the Bronx the conveyance figures respectively for 1918 and 1917 were 3,286 and 4,481.

Priorities Regulations Explained by Expert

Secretary Maurice Hirsch, of the Priorities Division, War Industries Board, Talks to New York Merchants

WILLIAM FELLOWES MORGAN, Regional Advisor of the War Industries Board, called a meeting this week at the request of the Merchants' Association and the Purchasing Agents' Association, to hear an explanation of priorities problems by Mr. Maurice Hirsch, secretary of the Priorities Division, War Industries Board.

Mr. Morgan said that one of the duties of the Regional Advisor is to answer questions and that the office of the Regional Advisor is on the ninth floor of the Woolworth Building, in the offices of the Merchants' Association. The object of the Regional Advisor is to be of service to business men, to help them in every way possible. His assistant is Mr. Alfred L. Smith, who is prepared to answer questions at all times. Mr. Morgan then introduced Mr. Charles K. Foster, the Vice Chairman of the Priorities Committee of the War Industries Board, who declared that the only way to get a working knowledge of the priorities regulations was by personal intercourse, and that he hoped Mr. Morgan's office would be fully utilized for this purpose.

Mr. Hirsch said:

Today, of all days, is the time the industrial fighter must be depended upon as never before. We have each noted with satisfaction the response of President Wilson to the peace overtures of Germany. That response places upon the United States and the Allies a duty more virile than ever before, of seeing to it that this war will be ended by a complete military victory and an unconditional surrender by Germany. It is our privilege, who remain here and who are engaged in industrial activities, to be as much a vital part of the firing fighting line as the soldier in the front line trench.

In the industrial fight we are today confronted by conditions that we have not had before. "Priority" is a new word in the vocabulary of business. Formerly it was a question of knowing the sources of supply and of bargaining and of paying the price for delivery. That is not true today. Delivery must be regulated in accordance with the urgency of the need to be satisfied and that is the function of the Priorities Division.

The military necessities, the military program, is of course mapped out and controlled by those in authority in military ways. They present their military necessities with their eye on the front line trench and all the way back. They present these necessities to the Priorities Division and to the War Industries Board as a whole, and it is then our duty to attempt as best we may to co-ordinate the productivity of this country to meet these military requirements. In priority we think of various things; we are frequently under the necessity to get things to the front or to get materials where they are most needed. We must consider fuel; we must consider transportation; we must consider the delivery of the materials themselves. The Priorities Division has the duty of administering priority along these several lines. The Priorities Division is divided into several sub-divisions. The Priorities Board is a co-ordinating group on which there are representatives of each of the governmental departments—representatives of the army, the navy and the Emergency Fleet, and likewise representatives of various industries—are business men who represent the industry. Those men attempt to lay down the fundamental principles which will co-ordinate the activities of industry with the needs, from a military standpoint. The great result that we have seen up to the present time from the activities of the Priorities Board has been the issuance of the Preference List.

The Preference List is frequently confused with the Priority. The Preference List, however, is supposed to be a guide to governmental agencies and to others in the supply and distribution of electrical energy and fuel, labor, and in the supply of transportation service to the extent that that service helps toward the completion of the finished product and there it stops. The Preference List is a list of industries and plants entitled to preference. It has nothing to do with priority in materials other than that the Priorities Committee has adopted the Preference List as a basis for what we term an automatic C Classification. The Preference List is divided into four classes, 1, 2, 3, and 4. Those classes have a significance when it comes to fuel and electrical energy, etc. They have no significance when it comes to the delivery of the material. The Preference List is, however, as I have suggested, a basis for the Automatic Class C Priority. The second sub-division of the Priorities Division is the Priorities Committee, and of its activities I shall deal more at length later.

The third sub-division is the new non-war construction section, which now has jurisdiction and control over all new construction of non-war character throughout the country. It has published its regulations in a pamphlet which may be obtained by you—I think from the office of the Regional Advisor here in New York—if any one of you may happen to be interested in that particular type of activity.

Then there is the labor priorities section. The labor priorities section assists the Priorities Commissioner in determining priorities with reference to labor. It offers its suggestions to the other governmental agencies interested in labor, to the United States Employment Service, to the Draft Boards, to the Industrial Advisors of the Draft Boards; in other words, it gives the point of view of the War Industries Board and of the Priorities Committee particularly, with reference to the necessity of that industry receiving, so far as it may, an unhampered supply of labor.

The Priorities Committee deals with priority in production and delivery of materials, and it is to that that I shall direct my remarks more in detail.

Priorities in production and delivery are divided into classes, A, B and C, and a AA superimposed upon them all in case of absolute urgency and necessity.

Ratings are given by Priorities certificates, or by automatic priority ratings. Priority certificates are granted on applications made on a regular application form, and the application gives a rating to the order; and if an earlier delivery is required than has been contracted for, will specify, if the Priorities Committee deems it to be in the public interest—will specify an earlier delivery date.

It also administers priority items of the automatic classifications. These classifications are not intended to be all-inclusive. Up to the present time we have not intended to cover the entire field of industry. Really those classifications were at first based upon our experience with over 100,000 applications and certificates, and were designed to be almost as much an aid to the Priorities Committee as they were intended to be an aid to the manufacturing plant; because they were intended to relieve the terrific strain and pressure that was there in Washington by virtue of the tremendous number of applications that were being received.

These automatic ratings are obtained by attaching to the order an affidavit in a form definitely set out in our circulars. There is one little provision of that affidavit that has caused some confusion. That is paragraph 1 of the affidavit, which states that "I have taken and filed whatever pledge has been required by the War Industries Board from the industry of which I am a member." Those pledges have not been required of a great many industries. Note the wording of that paragraph. It states "whatever pledge has been required." If no pledge has been required of your industry, and if you are entitled to an automatic rating under the provisions of our circulars, then you may with propriety use that affidavit with that particular clause left in. It should not be omitted, otherwise your affidavit might be questioned when it reaches your source of supply.

In this connection I might say that in supplement to our circular No. 2, to our circular No. 4, which we hope to have from the printer in the course of a week or ten days, there will be added a further list of purposes entitled to automatic ratings. Probably there are fifteen other purposes than are enumerated in the lists you have before you.

There will likewise be a change which I conceive to be a real help to the concerns which place a great many orders. We are going to allow a blank affidavit. We are going to allow a concern intending to place a large number of orders with another concern to make an affidavit to that second concern, stating that all the orders placed with the concern will be entitled to the automatic rating, as suggested in the certification to accompany the order. When that affidavit has once been presented to the second concern, all that will be necessary under this new supplement will be that the concern that has so presented the affidavit, place on its orders from that time on, a certification stating precisely what rating the order is entitled to, and sign it. No further affidavit is necessary.

Supplement No. 2 is likewise going into further explanations with reference to the extent of the use of automatics. It is going to explain what has been misunderstood by practically everybody, and that is the meaning of the word "equipment" in the heading of those sections allowing automatic ratings. You will note that those sections state that each order for materials, equipment and supplies for the purpose following will be entitled to the automatic ratings.

That word "equipment" was not designed to cover new equipment for the purpose of manufacturing those products. It was designed solely to cover such equipment as entered into the product as a component part thereof. In other words, if you were a builder of ships, you would be entitled to the automatic rating provided for the building of ships on a turbine that entered into the ship, but you would not be entitled to the ship-building automatic rating on, say, a crane which you were going to use for the purpose of building these ships. That will be definitely explained in supplement No. 2.

It will likewise be explained that automatic priorities are not intended to go down the line. In other words, they are provided for the particular manufacturer noted. A manufacturer of machine tools, for instance, is entitled to an automatic A-6 on materials to manufacture those machine tools, but if he places his order with another concern and that next concern desires materials, even though those materials are ultimately to enter into the manufacture of machine tools, the order would not be entitled to the automatic A-6 rating provided for the manufacture of machine tools. In other words, it is an automatic rating provided for the immediate manufacture of the products definitely stated as entitled to the automatic rating.

We are going to have one thing further which we believe will be of great assistance to those manufacturers operating under direct contracts from the Government. If a concern has not been otherwise provided for by an automatic rating, in other words if Section 8 of our circular does not allow him a rating that he can use in his general manufacturing process, and if that manufacturer is working under a contract placed directly with him by the United States War Department, Navy Department, or United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, and that direct order to him bears an A-5 automatic rating or an A-5 or higher priority certificate, then we will allow him to use an automatic A-5 priority rating to secure his materials to enter into the manufacture of that direct Government order.

That will be, we conceive, of tremendous assistance to those who are working under direct contracts with the Government, but it should be noted there also that that applies only to the concern under direct contract, it does not apply to the sub-contractors. With reference to orders placed with or through jobbers, there has been a great deal of confusion or misunderstanding. The jobber up to the present time has been justified in delivering for any purpose which would, if the order were placed with a manufacturer, be entitled to an automatic rating or for any purpose included in the preference list, or to any plant included in the preference list. In other words the automatic ratings were not designed to apply against the jobber; so far as the jobber has been concerned it should have been absolutely immaterial whether a concern is entitled to an A-4 automatic rating or with manufacturers, or whether a plant was included in the preference list. One or the other has been a complete justification for the jobber of iron or other materials. This applies to the making of delivery.

There is a possibility, a practical certainty that that will be somewhat amended in the supplement that we have referred to. There is a possibility that owing to the absolute need for a large number having on hand sufficient materials to satisfy the urgent war needs, that they will allow the jobber an automatic A-6 priority on replacement of materials that he is to use exclusively for direct orders placed with him by the United States War Department, Navy Department, or the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and allow him an automatic B-4 rating on materials for other places.

Suppose, however, that you require certain materials in your manufacturing process, have placed an order with the jobber, the jobber has not the materials in stock. Can you use what automatic rating may be provided for your particular manufacturing purpose? That will likewise be explained in the new supplement. You will be allowed to use the automatic rating on orders placed through jobbers, and in fact you will be allowed to make application for priority certificates on orders placed through jobbers or agents provided the jobber has not in stock the materials required by you, and provided also that the delivery is for direct shipment from the manufacturer or the producer to the consumer. Under those conditions the automatic rating may be applied on orders placed through jobbers or agents.

One question that is very fundamental and that has been raised a great many times with us in Washington: What orders, or rather what delivery should a manufacturer promise to a concern entitled to an automatic rating? Suppose, for instance, you have your entire production schedule filled up with priority orders of A and B classification until the 1st of January. Suppose a concern comes to you and states that they need certain materials of your manufacture—they need it this month, and they state to you that they can present to you the affidavit entitling them to an automatic, say, A-6 rating, and you promise them delivery tomorrow, and take it away, say, from the concern that has placed with you an order covered by an automatic B classification or a certificate covered by a B rating. The answer to that is this:

A manufacturer should not promise any deliveries which will interfere with the deliveries when and as required of orders covered by class AA, class A, or class B priority ratings, whether under certificates or automatic ratings. In other words, the manufacturer in that particular instance can promise, even though his customer was entitled to an A-6 rating, could promise him only delivery after the 1st of January. If he requires delivery earlier than that time, and if he can show—and the burden is upon him to show that the public interest will be served by allowing an earlier delivery—then he should make application to the Priorities Committee on the regular form, stating precisely when he needs delivery, stating precisely the justification that he could offer for displacing other orders on the books of the concern from whom he desired the materials. The Priorities Committee will give careful consideration to such applications, and if they deem it advisable they will issue a priority certificate calling for a particular delivery date. That delivery date, of course, to be held only in accordance with the rating that is given on the priority certificate.

The mere fact that you have a priority certificate in your pocket does not mean that you are going to get the materials when you want them. When there is not enough to go around, when in some instances even the direct, urgent requirements cannot be satisfied immediately when they need them, then of course it can be understood that there must be some delay in deliveries, even though you are covered by a very high priority rating. Those consequences are absolutely unavoidable. They are absolutely based upon the limiting and controlling factor of the quantities of materials that there are to answer the requirements.

I understand that there are here today a large number of exporters, who would be interested in the new rulings that have just gone into effect with reference to priority on exports. I may state that the automatic

Sidetracking a Bad Plan

It is highly satisfactory to note in the dispatches from Washington that the Finance Committee of the Senate has eliminated from the War Revenue Bill the House provision taxing incomes from state and municipal bonds. This change, if supported by Congress, will head off a condition of affairs that would have reacted disastrously upon the credit of every city and State in the Union.

To State Comptroller Travis and City Comptroller Craig go a large part of the credit for this action. These discerning officials early saw the danger and the injustice of taxing bonds which had been sold with the distinct provision that they should be exempt from taxation. The House Committee on Ways and Means showed a lamentable lack of good judgment in incorporating this provision in the War Revenue measure in the first instance, especially in view of the fact that its constitutionality was gravely questioned. Messrs. Travis and Craig sent to Washington strong protests against the proposed tax, and it is fortunate that their arguments have appealed effectively to the members of the Senate Finance Committee.

Even aside from the injustice of the proposal, it would seem wholly inexpedient to disturb the status of state and municipal securities at a time when the burden of meeting the expenses of the war falls so heavily on both the State and City of New York, as well as upon the other large commonwealths and cities of the nation.

Realty Board Elects New President

Of interest to every man in the real estate business is the change that has taken place this week in the titular head of the Real Estate Board. Mr. Laurence McGuire, who has been president of the Board for four successive terms, has retired, and Mr. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., has been elected to succeed him.

Mr. McGuire was elected president on October 13, 1914. During the five years that he has presided over the destinies of the Board it has not only grown and prospered, but has come to be recognized as the dominant real estate organization in the city, if not in the state.

When Mr. McGuire assumed the presidency the Board was known as the Real Estate Board of Brokers and had a membership of 146. The membership today is near 1,300. These figures speak better than words for Mr. McGuire's administration of the Board's affairs.

At great personal sacrifice Mr. McGuire gave of his time and his energy to the upbuilding of the Board, and while there are many who will regret his withdrawal, they nevertheless will be glad to learn that his interests in the Real Estate Board will in no sense be lessened. He is to continue as a governor, having been re-elected for a three-year term.

The Real Estate Board deserves the success which it has had and the enviable position it now holds, and this in no small sense is due to the personal efforts of Mr. McGuire. It could hardly be expected that he would continue to preside over the destinies of the Board after his election as president of the United States Realty and Improvement Company, which in itself is a grown man's work. Mr. McGuire will always have the respect and good-will of the real estate interests, and this may well be so as one reviews the great work and the valuable undertakings of the Real Estate Board in behalf of property owners during the past four years. The Record and Guide, which has been in an exceptionally good position to accurately gauge the efficiency and disinterestedness of Mr. McGuire's activities, takes this occasion to express its appreciation of his sterling qualities and of his unselfish devotion to the furtherance of the interests of all those engaged in the real estate business.

Mr. Tyng comes into office at an exceptional period in the affairs of the world, and at a time when real estate is in a most dejected condition; but he has the advantage of finding the organization to the presidency of which he has succeeded numerically and financially on its feet. He has the experience and ability to ensure success, and with his many valuable connections in the real estate and general business life should prove a most efficient leader. He will have the hearty support of the Record and Guide.

An Unfortunate Statement

The Record and Guide feels impelled to enter an emphatic protest against the statement of Comptroller Craig, made at an open hearing on the tentative budget before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, that "one of the strongest incentives for economy in the making of the 1919 budget was a firm determination to deprive rent profiteers of the last vestige of excuse they might have for exorbitantly overcharging tenants."

Because of his highly-important position as Chief Financial Officer of the city, any statements made by Comptroller Craig, especially at public meetings, receive wide notice. The statement quoted in this article, although probably not so intended, would seem to give official sanction to the demagogic cry raised by mischief makers that the landlords of the metropolis are not giving their tenants a square deal. It is not to be denied that in some instances unscrupulous landlords have been shown up as rent profiteers, but these cases have been exceptional rather than the rule and have been denounced as emphatically by the great mass of reputable landlords as by the aggrieved tenants. It is not fair to hold up to scorn the great body of upright landlords in the metropolis because of the reprehensible policy pursued by a few landlords of another sort.

Taxes, as has been frequently demonstrated within the last year in these columns, are very much higher than a year ago, and nothing the Comptroller and his associates can do to the 1919 budget will lower them. It has also been shown that wages of employes, cost of supplies, especially of coal, and of repairs and of the hundred other items that enter into the expenses of the landlords have risen out of all proportion to the advance in rentals. Taxes form only a relatively small, although an important, proportion of the cost of building management.

roduced and realized, and which has proved most beneficial to real estate generally.

"In amending its Constitution making arbitration as between its members compulsory, the Real Estate Board took a forward step. Since making arbitration compulsory there has not to my mind been one court proceeding and there has not been an arbitration the decision in which was not acceptable to both parties.

"To review in detail all of the activities of the Board would not only take too much time, but I believe it unnecessary, as most of these helpful activities are well within the knowledge of those who have been benefited.

"The Real Estate Board of New York, now the largest organization of its kind in the world, offers a form of insurance to property owners at a minimum premium, which I firmly believe should be availed of by all those who believe that that particular form of wealth as represented by real estate should have the same protection as all other forms of wealth. I am convinced that this protection can best be had through the advancement and increasing influence of the Real Estate Board as an organization that this advancement and influence may be realized to the fullest extent the membership of the Real Estate Board should and in fact must be increased, otherwise the service it has rendered must be curtailed, to say nothing of how unfortunate it would be if its service to real estate interests and the public were not increased.

"It was with regret that I retired as President of the Board, and it was because of my firm belief that the time had come for a change, and that interests which I now represent are fairly entitled to all of my efforts.

"Mr. Stephen H. Tyng, jr., who has been elected President of the Board and who will, if given reasonably fair assistance and help, insure the advancement of its influence as a power for good. It is a privilege which I take on to myself to give wholeheartedly to Mr. Tyng and the incoming administration, of which I have the privilege of remaining a part, my full co-operation, and while I retire as President of the Board, my interests are in no sense abated, as I shall always feel, and may I say proudly feel, that the work of the Real Estate Board for the past four years stands out prominently as one of accomplishment in behalf of the real estate interests.

"Mr. Tyng carries with him to the presidency the good will of a host of friends and the active support of all loyal members of the Real Estate Board. This need not be asked, though I feel equal to assuring it to him in the same measure that I have enjoyed it during five successive administrations."

The active governors elected were: Laurence McGuire (re-elected), David A. Clarkson and William M. Benjamin.

The three governors whose terms expired were: Laurence McGuire, Thomas Hovenden and Charles A. Cone, the six continuing active governors being Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., Walter C. Wyckoff, Mark Rafalsky, Alfred V. Amy, Thomas P. Graham and Eugene J. Busher.

In the active associate class of governors: Ranald H. MacDonald and H. H. Murdock were elected, the four continuing active associate governors being: Richard G. Babbage, Leo S. Bing, Francis S. Bangs and Michael Friedsam.

After the members' meeting the Board of Governors organized and elected Mr. Tyng president; David A. Clarkson, vice-president; Thomas P. Graham, secretary; and Alfred V. Amy, treasurer.

The following committees were also elected: Nominating committee—Thomas Hovenden, Warren Cruikshank, Herman LeRoy Edgar, Frank D. Ames and J. Irving Walsh, and auditing committee—Irving S. Whiting, Robert R. Rainey and Vincent C. Pepe.

The Board voted to create a new class of membership, to be known as sustaining membership, with annual dues of $1,000. It is understood that membership in this class will not become effective until ten sustaining members have been obtained. This additional income will be utilized for furthering the various activities of the Board and improving its facilities for better service, both to its members and to the public.

ratings were never intended to apply to exports. That certainly should have been very clearly explained in our circular, but we have not been in many wars like this, and we have not had many experiences to base our publications upon. It is a question of growing into the need that is presented to us, and we hope from time to time to clear up in our publications these problems that arise and are presented to us from day to day.

The procedure that the exporter must go through today is very much simplified. All that is required is that he present his application for an export license on forms, and some of them are revised forms, provided by the War Trade Board. He need not make application to the Priorities Committee. He need not communicate with the Priorities Committee. Everything that is necessary is embodied in his application for an export license.

It has been provided that a Class C automatic rating will follow on those things on which the Priorities Committee ordinarily administers priority, and which are included on the export conservation list. If a higher priority is required, the War Trade Board will itself take up the problem with the Priorities Committee, and, if they together deem that a higher rating should be granted, they will issue a priority certificate which will accompany the export license, and which will of course place that order on the manufacturer's schedule in accordance with the priority rating granted.

I believe that this covers in a general way the broader questions of priority regulation.

Real Estate Review for the Current Week

Concentration of Effort on Liberty Loan Tends to Restrict Sales Market—Leasing Moderately Active

WITH the efforts of practically all the active brokers concentrated upon the Liberty Loan drive and with the continued steady flow of vast sums into this investment medium it is not surprising that interest in real estate languished this week. The market was as a result restricted to scattered sales in various parts of the city.

The week's business, limited as it was, reflected no new developments, but continued rather to follow along the same narrow lines that have characterized market conditions for many months.

Nevertheless real estate interests can glean some encouragement from the present situation. The announcement by Comptroller Craig during the week that the increased cost of city government would not involve an advance in the tax rate was received in real estate circles with considerable optimism. It is generally conceded that one of the principal factors which has been operating to discourage purchases of real estate has been the steadily mounting tax rate. Both property owners and prospective investors have been watching with growing apprehension the advancing cost of municipal operation, but have been powerless to check the trend and the resultant pressure in the form of increased taxes.

Sales of business properties on Front and Beekman streets and on Burling Slip served to emphasize the well maintained buying movement in that section of the city, which still continues as one of the most encouraging and substantial features of the real estate market. The restriction of new building operations, the steady expansion of business and the resultant increased requirements of merchants in the downtown section of the city has stimulated to an unusual degree the call for space in the districts south of Chambers street, and the result has been a marked disposition on the part of many merchants to buy the property which they have been heretofore holding under lease in order to assure permanent occupancy.

The sale of the valuable residence at 933 Fifth avenue by Mortimer L. Schiff served to attract attention once more to the buying movement which has been under way for some time and which has been directed toward high class residential holdings in the Lenox Hill and Carnegie Hill sections. Ever since the Park Avenue building movement resulted in the erection of a number of apartment houses arranged in large suites and designed to attract wealthy New Yorkers, the trend away from private house occupancy became marked and it was not long before many of the leaders in New York City's social and business life became apartment house dwellers rather than private house owners.

The sudden slackening in building operations resulted in the early absorption of practically all of the high class apartment space on the upper east side of the city and many wealthy New Yorkers were compelled to return to the private house in order to maintain a winter home in the city. The result was the renewal of interest in this form of property and recent months have witnessed a buying movement of no small proportions bringing back many New Yorkers to private house occupancy.

In Harlem considerable interest centered upon the purchase of a famous old church at Seventh avenue and 128th street to a negro congregation, an event which marks a new southerly point in the steady expansion of the negro community in that section of the city.

The leasing market continued moderately active, business being about equally divided between commercial and residential transactions. The demand for space of all descriptions has resulted in the absorption of practically all of the available floor areas, and business is now concerning itself with a rapidly diminishing supply.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 18 as against 18 last week and 19 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 5 as compared with 8 last week and 5 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 13 as compared with 10 last week and 14 a year ago.

From the Bronx 9 sales at private contract were reported as against 7 last week and 12 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 468 of this issue.

933 Fifth Avenue Resold.

Mortimer L. Schiff, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. resold the residence at 933 Fifth avenue, which he bought last March to protect his home at 932, adjoining. The buyer's identity could not be learned, although he was understood to have bought it for occupancy. It is a four-story house covering a lot 25 by 150, and is assessed by the city at $275,000. Mr. Schiff bought the property from the estate of Lamon V. Harkness. Shortly after the purchase he commissioned C. P. H. Gilbert, architect, to prepare plans for alterations and additions.

Negro Colony Still Growing.

According to a report yesterday the church at the northeast corner of Seventh avenue and 128th street, the home of the New York Presbyterian Church and one of the oldest edifices in Harlem, has been sold to a negro congregation. The structure is of brick and stone construction, with a frontage of 100 feet on each thoroughfare, and has been held at $100,000. The buyer, the Metropolitan Baptist Church, of which the Rev. W. W. Brown is pastor, now occupies a private dwelling on West 138th street, between Lenox and Seventh avenues. Occupancy of this property by negroes will further reflect the steady expansion of the negro colony in Harlem, this being probably the furthest point south which it has reached.

Dwellings-Taxpayer Trade.

In an exchange of properties valued at $325,000, William Woodward, president of the Hanover National Bank, sold to Ennis & Sinnott, operators, the two dwellings at 13 and 15 West 51st street, on a plot 50 by 100. The property has been held at $200,000. The site lends itself for a desirable improvement. In part payment, Mr. Woodward took the one-story taxpayer at the northeast corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 182d street, covering a plot 79.9x60, which has been held at $125,000. William B. May & Co. negotiated the deal.

Front Street Cash Sale.

In an all cash transaction, the Charles F. Noyes Company sold for Thomas S. Gladding to Edward H. O'Brien, 95-97 Front street, corner of Gouverneur lane, a six-story building covering plot 45 feet on Front street and 60 feet in depth. The property is one of the most desirable in the coffee district, being the widest corner property on Front street from Wall to Coenties Slip. Mr. O'Brien is from San Francisco, and a member of the coffee brokerage firm of C. E. Bickford & Co., with branch offices in many of the large cities. It is not stated whether or not Mr. O'Brien has purchased this property as an individual investment, but it is believed that he has in mind opening a large office in the building, and if so this sale is the forerunner of an important reimpement of the property. There have been a number of recent sales in the immediate neighborhood, among them deals for 65 Front street, 66 Front street and the Venezuela Building at 135-137 Front street. Other sales were 52 Front street to Ross W. Weir & Co., and 71-73 Front street to Markham Realty Company.

A Beekman Street Purchase.

H. M. Weill sold, through the Charles F. Noyes Company and the Duross Company, the five-story basement and subcellar building with elevator covering a lot 25 by 85 between Nassau and William streets. The building is to be extensively altered from plans of John H. Knubel. The property is assessed at $65,000. The purchaser is the Baltic Realty Company, which recently acquired at auction 145 West 49th street. Stoddard & Mark were the attorneys for the buying company in both transactions.

Tobacco Merchant Buys.

Bernard Lichtenstein, tobacco merchant, made his second real estate venture this week by acquiring from J. Calmenson, the two four-story buildings at 7 and 9 Burling slip, on a plot 40 by 56.8. The transaction marked the first sale of the property in nearly 100 years. Mr. Lichtenstein some time ago bought 11 Burling slip, at the northwest corner of Water street, adjoining his present purchases, remodeled it and resold it at a substantial profit.

162 REMSEN ST. BROOKLYN
Telephone 6480 MainLEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTYPrepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, ChairmanAcceleration Clause in Mortgage.

WHERE an acceleration clause in a mortgage provides that upon the default of the mortgagor it shall be legal for the mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by the mortgage to be due, the entire debt does not become due upon the failure to pay an installment note so as to start the statute of limitations running against the action to foreclose, in the absence of a declaration to that effect by the holder of the mortgage.—McCarty v. Goodman, North Carolina Supreme Court, 167 N. W. 503.

Joint Adventure.

A contract by which the parties agree to purchase real estate in the name of one of the parties who shall furnish the money with which to purchase and improve it, and also agree to sell the property within a specified time and divide the net profits equally between the parties, after applying rents received and so much of the proceeds of sale as may be necessary in repayment of the money so advanced for the purchase thereof and an agreed rate of interest thereon, is analogous to a conveyance of title to secure the payment of money. In such a case, if the contract fixes a definite time for the sale of the property and termination of the contract, and the property is not sold accordingly, either party may obtain sale of the property and division of the proceeds in accordance with the terms of their contract by proceedings in equity.—American Security Co. v. Barker Co., Nebraska Supreme Court, 167 N. W. 780.

Demand for Deed.

A contract for the sale of land provided that where the buyer has paid one-fourth or more of the purchase price he can, after five years, demand a deed for a proportional amount of land. The Washington Supreme Court holds, Pratt v. Arcadia Orchards Co., 172 Pac. 918, that a notice by letter before the expiration of the five-year period that he desired a deed for a proportional part was sufficient notice of election, although it also suggested that he be given a deed of the entire tract and be allowed to give a mortgage for the purchase price.

Sufficiency of Title.

In an action by a vendee to recover earnest money paid on the purchase price of certain land because of failure of title, the Washington Supreme Court holds, Flood v. Von Marcad, 172 Pac. 884, that evidence that a title insurance company refused to guarantee the title and its general counsel would not approve it warranted a finding that a title offered by the vendor was not merchantable. Few titles are good to a mathematical certainty, nor does the law demand that they shall be so, but the value of a title on a resale is an element to be considered. A purchaser is entitled to a merchantable title—a marketable title—such a one as will bring in the market as high a price with as without the objection. While the law will not countenance the idle scruples of one interested in withholding the purchase money, it will not compel one who seems to be acting in good faith to accept a title if there be reasonable probability of a lawsuit to convince a purchaser on resale, or to quiet the title.

Parole Evidence.

In a suit for the specific performance of a contract for the sale of real estate which recited the receipt of a certain sum of money as part of the consideration, the Washington Supreme Court holds, Roberts v. Stittner, 172 Pac. 738, that it was not error to admit oral testimony showing that the true consideration consisted in retention by the defendants of part of the premises; such evidence not varying the contract terms, or being in contravention of the statute of frauds. The true consideration of a deed of conveyance may always be inquired into, and shown by parole evidence.

Fire Insurance.

Where an insurance company issues its policy insuring certain property against loss by fire with full knowledge of the condition of the title to the property, the nature of the insured's interest therein, and of the changes made in the ownership at the time of the issuance and delivery of the policy, the Oklahoma Supreme Court holds, Springfield Fire and Marine Ins. Co. v. First Nat. Bank, 172 Pac. 652, that it is estopped from setting up as a defense in an action on the policy the facts and circumstances concerning the condition of the title of the property, the nature of the insured's interest, and the change of interest, of which it had knowledge and notice at the time of issuance of the policy.

Vendor's Liability.

It is not necessary for the relationship of agency to exist between a vendor and the party inducing or procuring the sale of lands through fraud and deceit in order to warrant relief against the vendor. A vendor will be held liable if he participates in the fraud, or if he had knowledge of the fraud and adopts or takes advantage of it.—Grayling Lumber Co. v. Ebbitt, Arkansas Supreme Court, 203 S. W. 686.

Second Mortgagee's Authority.

The Arkansas Supreme Court holds, Catherina v. Porter, 203 S. W. 683, that a contract between a second mortgagee and the mortgagor defaulting on the first mortgage, under which the mortgaged premises were conveyed to a third party for the equal benefit of both contracting parties, both parties to be allowed commissions for making sales of lots in the premises, and the surplus after payment of commissions, first mortgage, etc., to be equally divided between them, gave the second mortgagee a power coupled with an interest, under which it could give a valid option on the whole property.

Unlawful Detainer Action By Landlord.

For a lessee to hold over after the original term, paying rent, the lessor acquiescing, was held an exercise of the option by the lease given to the lessee of two years' extension at the expiration of the term. A tenant holding an extended term under the original lease, so that he has no necessity for a new lease, and does not require the aid of equity to maintain his right to the premises, all his rights being assertable at law in his landlord's action for unlawful detainer, cannot maintain a suit in equity to restrain the landlord from enforcing such an action for unlawful detainer.—Medicus v. Altman (Mo.), 203 S. W. 637.

Seek Definition of Law.

For the purpose of obtaining from the Legislature at its next session a definition of the distinction between conveyancing and practicing law a meeting was held at the Real Estate Board last week, at which delegations were present from the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, the Real Estate Board of New York, the Brooklyn Board of Real Estate Brokers and the New York Board of Title Underwriters. Alfred E. Marling presided.

A committee of five was appointed, consisting of Walter Lindner, F. S. Bangs, Cyril H. Burdett, D. S. Coe and Robert E. Simon, to prepare a bill to amend the existing law so that it would no longer be an offense, punishable by fine or imprisonment, for a broker or agent, individual or incorporated, or a trust or title company to draft a contract, deed, lease, mortgage or other document incidental to the carrying on of business.

Have Good Lighting

There is a vast difference in lamps. To many people an electric lamp is just "a wire in a glass bottle." Such is by no means true. It has taken over a quarter of a century of steady progress for the incandescent lamp industry to bring its product to the present stage of perfection. New principles are constantly coming to light—better methods of making discovered. In

RECENT LEASES.

Quick Downtown Renting.

Amsinck & Company have subleased, through the Charles F. Noyes Company, the three, four, five and six-story office buildings at 76-80 Beaver street and 123-7 Pearl street and 6-9 Hanover street, occupied by Amsinck & Co. until October 1. The ground floor of the entire properties was rented to Despard & Co., the second floor of two buildings to Mecke & Co., the second floor of 80 Beaver street to Siegr Gruner & Co., and in conjunction with the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, the most important lease was made, involving the balance of the property and including ten floors in the different buildings, to the Independent Steamship Corporation. The quick rental of these buildings shows the demand for office space as the tenants were secured from the day Amsinck & Co. removed to its new quarters at Wall and Water streets.

Government Leases Garage.

The United States Government, through the American Railways Express Company, its holding company, has leased from the Warner Hudnut Corporation the plot 131x100, at 120 to 130 west Nineteenth street, formerly part of the site of the Altman store, upon which the owner will at once erect a one-story transfer station. Horace S. Ely & Co., and Manning & Trunk negotiated the lease which is for ten years. Recently the American Railways Express Company leased the Baumgarten factory at 228 to 238 East Forty-fourth street for a warehouse.

HUGHES & HAMMOND have placed a loan of $345,000 on the new 15-sty Allerton Hotel at 143 East 39th st; also a loan of $180,000 at 5 per cent. on the new 6-sty apartment house on the southeast corner of 162d st and Riverside dr.

THE HOTEL DE FRANCE CO. was incor- porated at Albany on Tuesday with $100,000 capital, and Ferdinand De Lenne, H. F. Dris- coll and J. A. Hayden, directors, to operate the Van Cortlandt Hotel, 142 West 10th st. It will be renamed the De France Hotel.

A. MITCHELL PALMER as Alien Property Custodian has started an action to foreclose a mortgage of $14,000 on the 5-sty flat 365 Brook av, in the Bronx. The suit is brought against S. and J. Cowan. The loan was made by Her- man Munheim, who was declared an enemy alien last March.

NEHRING BROTHERS sold for W. Meacham and others to H. & M. Building Corp. the "Ardleigh," a 5-sty modern apartment house, at 716 West 180th st, between Broadway and Fort Washington av, on plot 58.4x100. The prop- erty rents for $11,000 and was held at $85,000.

THE 18 WEST 18TH STREET CORPORA- TION, capitalized at $25,000 and having as di- rectors J. M. Stoddard, C. A. Mier and A. G. Quinn, has been incorporated at Albany to take title to the 11-sty loft building and adjoining property at 18 to 22 West 18th st and 23 to 27 West 17th st, sold recently by the Susquehanna Silk Mills. Title will pass about the middle of November.

Every now and again it's "buy new shades or clean the old ones," isn't it?

Hundreds of owners buy NEW shades because they either have been "stung" on unsatis- factory work or don't know where GOOD work is to be had.

We do GOOD work—and we expect you to ask us to prove it.

All right. Give us your worst shade to clean free. Any fu- ture work up to sample or no pay.

Is that FAIR? Well, then, take us up on it.

Building Analysis An Aid to Contractors

Far-Sighted Men in Field Study Industrial Fundamentals—Situation In Twenty Cities During Last Eight Years.

NATURALLY contractors are most directly interested in the conditions concerning their own particular localities and applying specifically to the building industry. The far-sighted contractor, however, realizes that his own business is intimately connected with industrial fundamentals and that in the long run these underlying conditions have a vital effect upon his own affairs. It is therefore interesting, especially in the existing critical situation, to carefully examine the present trend of the more important fundamentals.

In the first place there are the figures on building itself. Taking into account the structural permits issued for twenty representative cities during the past eight years it is found that the monthly volume of permits is at an exceedingly low ebb. In August of the current year the estimated cost of construction as indicated by these permits was $22,498,580. This is the lowest figure for the month of August that has been recorded during the eight-year period under examination. August building figures usually range between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000. The highest total on record for the month was in 1911, when the figure reached the maximum of $63,123,423. The record month during the eight years was July, 1916, when the total of the building permits issued reached $87,947,719. From this point onward the trend has been sharply downward, reaching the minimum in February, 1918, when the monthly total was but $17,315,219.

Looking over the figures for the past eight years it is shown that from 1910 to 1915 inclusive permits for buildings maintained an even level, with a downward trend if anything, but so slight as to be scarcely noticeable. Beginning with February, 1916, there was a sharp rise, reaching the maximum previously mentioned in July, whence there has been a steady downward trend.

The twenty cities included in this analysis are the following: New York City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, Detroit, Memphis, Atlanta, New Orleans, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City (Kan. and Mo.), Milwaukee, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle.

In regard to the tendency of general business during the eight-year period, one of the best indicators is bank clearings, especially when we eliminate the clearings for New York City, in which locality transactions in securities play too large a part to be a fair indicator of ordinary commercial business. Taking then the bank clearings for the country outside of New York City a fairly level trend from 1910 to the latter quarter of 1915 is found. During this period there was a gradual gain, indicative of the general expansion in population and other basic factors. Toward the latter part of 1915, however, there is a very marked trend upward, which has persisted almost without interruption to the present record figures of over $13,000,000.

This great growth in terms of money represents two factors: First, an enormous industrial expansion due to the war and related activities; and second, an extraordinary increase in commodity prices. An idea of this great growth may be had by comparison of the present monthly figure of over $13,000,000 with corresponding records of less than $5,000,000 in 1910, or in other words, an increase of more than double.

Another fundamental of interest to every man in business is the record of commercial failure. Surveying the statistics from 1910 to date, there are two very marked tendencies. The first movement was an increase both in number of concerns failing and percentage of failures to concerns in business. Both these figures were low in the middle of 1910 and reached the maximum at the close of 1914, the greatest portion of this advance occurring after the outbreak of the war. Beginning with 1915, however, there has been a gradual decline, both in actual number of failures and in the percentage to concerns in business. These figures have now reached a phenomenal low level, in fact, even below the minimum occurring in 1910.

Liabilities of failures also show much the same characteristics, although the maximum point was reached slightly earlier in 1914 than was the case with the factors mentioned above. Too much emphasis, however, should not be laid upon this point inasmuch as the curve of liabilities is frequently distorted by the occurrence of some single failure of great magnitude.

At the outset of the war, exports of merchandise so far as measurable in terms of dollars, began a sharp and almost continuous climb upward, reaching a peak at the close of 1916. Of course, a portion of this great advance lasting over a period of more than two years, is accounted for by the increase in prices; but even discounting for this factor, there still remains an unquestionable growth in physical volume of goods. Beginning with the early part of 1917 the trend shows a sagging slope, reflecting the burden of military requirements upon carrying capacity. This drop, however, has not been so radical as is generally supposed. In fact, monthly exports still run over $500,000,000 as compared with $100,000,000 or $200,000,000 in 1910. The figures mentioned do not include supplies sent to the United States Army.

Looking ahead at the future period of construction after the war, the outlook is that foreign trade will be in an even greater magnitude. Among other fundamental indicators of the volume of general business, the three factors, pig iron production, unskilled tonnage of U. S. Steel Corporation, and production of copper, all show somewhat the same general trend over the eight-year period.

From 1910 to the beginning of the war this trend was approximately horizontal with the exception of the sharp uplift marking the industrial boom culminating in 1912. There is also clearly exhibited in these statistics the shocks which followed the beginning of the war and the ensuing tremendous expansion since that date. At present the story told by the production of these leading metals is one of hesitation. During the past two years there has been obvious difficulty in continuing the tremendous growth which characterized 1915 and 1916. Production figures, however, are still at a very high point as compared with 1910. These figures are of especial significance in that they are expressed in tonnage and therefore free from inflation due to price increases.

Announce Additional Building Restrictions

Following a conference in Washington with B. M. Baruch, Chairman of the War Industries Board, and Dr. R. McLennan, chief of the Non-War Construction Section, Henry MacDonald, Director General of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, yesterday announced that by order of the board no theatre, school, hotel, hospital, or church will be allowed to be built in New York during the war, or until further notice from the War Industries Board.

This ruling of the Board, said Mr. MacDonald, is the latest addition to the non-war building order recently published by the War Department. Operations on buildings partly completed must cease at once, but those structures so near completion that only finishing material is needed may continue, providing a permit is obtained at the office of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense at the Hall of Records, New York City.

Another new feature of the non-war building ruling, according to Mr. MacDonald, deals with buildings substantially completed and with builders who have materials on the ground of operations. Manufacturers and distributors of and dealers in building materials may continue to furnish such materials for the completion of such building, pending further action by the War Industries Board.

According to the Director General the labor, material, fuel and transportation power of the city must be thrown into the war program. The great loss to builders, contractors, and supply men must be faced, he pointed out, as a war measure to end the great struggle within the shortest possible time.

Included in the list of industries which the Priorities Division of the War Industries Board has ordered to restrict output is builders' hardware, the manufacture of which will be curtailed for six months from October 1 to forty per cent. of the tonnage used in 1917 production.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

UNDER the present limitations of building to necessary work more than usual significance is given to losses by fire. Such destruction frequently occurs in the case of plants essential under war conditions, necessitating immediate reconstruction and thus forming an influential factor in the building trades. While loss from this source during the month of September was of less value than that of any other month, either in 1918 or 1917, the total losses of the first nine months of 1918 are almost as great as those for the entire year of 1917. Many of the fires caused extensive destruction of building connected with war activities, and the loss incurred in several instances has been very great.

Compared with previous months the strike situation is somewhat improved. In New England there are no strikes reported in building trades. In the central states there is but one point of trouble reported. At Watertown, N. Y., the plumbers have struck for higher wages. Labor conditions in the South appear to be somewhat worse than in previous months. At Asheville, N. C., carpenters have struck for higher wages and it is expected that the matter will be referred to the federal board. Sheet metal workers at Columbia, S. C., are on a strike, the point at issue being, as usual, the matter of wages. For New Orleans, La., there is reported a wage strike of 100 carpenters at Camp Martin, and according to latest announcements the strike has been won. At another camp—Raleigh, N. C.—fifty carpenters are on a strike for higher wages. The Middle West at present is quite free from friction in the building trades, there being but one strike reported, and that at Houston, Texas, where shipyard carpenters won their demands for union recognition, as well as higher wages. Like the central states and the Middle West there is only one trouble reported for the Rocky Mountain and coast district, 100 paper hangers at Salt Lake City, Utah, having struck for the customary demand of higher wages.

Common Brick.—Practically all of the yards in the Hudson River section stopped operations this week, the customary procedure at this season of the year. Otherwise the general situation with regard to Hudson River common brick remains practically unchanged, extreme quiet continuing to prevail. Wholesale common brick prices continued to range from $13 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock, but the top price was weak and the demand light.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, October 18, 1918. Condition of market: Demand light; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $13 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 3; sales, 5. Distribution: Manhattan, 1; Brooklyn, 2; New Jersey points, 2.

Steel. Ever-increasing demand characterizes the war market for steel, putting the estimated requirements for the last half year at from 23,000,000 to 26,000,000 tons. Present estimates for production during the same period are set at 19,000,000 as the probable maximum. Every effort will be made, however, to bring these figures up to a more adequate total. Curtailment in use of finished steel is being carried into action to an extent calculated to produce effective results. Such regulations are being worked out by the Steel Section of the War Industries Board, and will affect particularly the following products: tin plate, stoves, gas stoves and gas appliances, boilers and radiators, black galvanized and enameled ware, metal beds, agricultural implements and farm tractors, bicycles, cutlery, passenger automobiles, burial goods, clothes wringers, baby buggies and refrigerators. Although the amount of steel released in some instances will not be very great, yet the move indicates the care with which distribution will be made.

The chief hindrances to production—lack of fuel and labor—are being attacked with good effect, and results are shown by the September output, which was greater than that of August, although the working days were fewer. Further efforts are being made with regard to the labor situation, as shown by the recent establishment of the basic eight-hour day adopted by the Steel Corporation. Its application will imply no shorter hours of work, but an increase in wages of from 10 per cent. to 16½ per cent., which is hoped to bring still greater production per capita. This wage advancing has been accepted almost generally among iron and steel consumers, and will create an added expense to be contended with, since no increase in steel prices has been allowed for the last quarter. After November 1st still further costs will be encountered by consumers east of Pittsburgh by reason of an advance in freight rates. This will be occasioned in part by an equalizing of eastern rates with those to the Central West and partly in the change from commodity rates to classified rates. Inasmuch as higher steel prices were not allowed by the War Industries Board, however, appeal may be made to the producers' committee, and in individual cases rulings will be made to relieve unprofitable manufacturing.

Linseed Oil. A scarcity of linseed oil is still evident, and wherever possible substitute drying oils, such as soya bean oil, are being used where linseed has been specified. With the favorable outlook for the flaxseed crop, however, a break in the price has occurred. While the price has been maintained at $1.90 for some time it has now dropped to $1.87, and much oil is being sold at a still lower figure. Latest crop reports give an acreage for 1918 of 1,967,000 as against 1,939,000 acres planted in 1917.

The October 1st condition is reported to be 70.8 per cent., a slight decrease over the 72.6 per cent. given as the condition on September 1st, but it is a considerable increase over October 1, 1917, at which time only a 51.3 per cent. condition was given. The total yield was estimated October 1st as 15,606,000 bushels, an important gain over the 11,335,000 bushels production estimated at the beginning of October in 1917. Indications are, therefore, that there will be a plentiful supply for the crushers, with somewhat lowered prices as a natural consequence.

Cast-Iron Pipe. As a result of the conference recently held between representatives of the cast-iron pipe manufacturers and officials of the Finished Material Section of the War Industries Board a committee has been appointed. The function of this committee will be to co-operate with the War Industries Board in an effort to maintain production of pipe and still release a quantity of raw material for other uses. The United States Shipping Board has declared that additional steel plates and shapes must be procured to meet shipyard demands. No curtailment can be made in the case of ships or munitions. Although cast-iron pipe is necessary in the equipping of cantonments, housing projects and other Government construction it must take a secondary place in view of still more direct war work. For this reason extensive curtailment will be made. The suggestion has come from Government officials that cast-iron pipe producers will be expected to use as much as 85 per cent. of scrap iron as a substitute. Although this solution of the problem is not considered feasible by manufacturers, both from the adaptability and supply standpoints, it is probable that restrictions along this line may be expected.

Supplementary action is also being taken through regulations concerning the use of pipe in Government construction. These rules are strict, and their application will be carried out even when incurring conflict with municipal or state regulations. Only in special cases will application to the Building Materials Section be considered.

Steel Available for Builders.

Architects, engineers and contractors who have projected work that is being held up by virtue of the scarcity of fabricated steel will no doubt be interested to know that a large tonnage of lattice girders, varying in length and depth, and all having a safe load of 2,500 pounds per foot, are available at short notice. Girders of this type may be used to excellent advantage in the construction of garages, moving picture theatres and small factory and warehouse buildings where the span is not too great. The lengths of these girders run up to 51 feet, with the majority running from 39 to 49 feet. The depth ranges between 4 feet 5 inches to 6 feet. Further information in regard to this steel may be had by referring to the advertisement on the third cover of this issue.

Sand and Gravel Rates.

Announcement has been made by the Railroad Administration that it will not modify the order increasing rates on sand, gravel and crushed stone one cent per hundred pounds, as asked by producers. However, applications for specific modifications, the administration says, will be welcomed by district traffic committees, which are investigating applications for rate amendments.

Big Hospital Contract.

The Cloughs Bros. Company has been awarded the contract for a base hospital for the United States army at Camp Mills. The plans call for 4,000 beds, and the work will be started at once. It is expected that 5,500 men will be employed. The Government estimate of the cost of the work is $13,000,000. This contract is in line with the Government's policy to make a permanent camp of Camp Mills.

Merchants' Association Year Book.

The 1918 Year Book of the Merchants' Association is being distributed among the members of the association. It covers the activities of the organization from May 1, 1917, to May 1, 1918.

The predominating feature of the book is the space that is given to the war work done by the association in co-operation with the federal authorities. A large proportion of the energy and activity of the association was devoted during the year to this kind of work.

The book contains alphabetical and classified lists of the members. The names of nearly all the leading commercial houses and financial institutions in the city appear on these rolls, together with the names of many individual professional men and others.

The membership of the association now stands at the highest point in its history, with a total of 5,481. The patriotic service which the association is giving and the fact that it is in constant touch with the various bureaus and commissions in Washington which now control every phase of business activity have stimulated a decided membership increase during the summer months, when usually a slowing up is noted.

The Year Book contains a number of illustrations, including photographs of William Fellowes Morgan, president; Lewis E. Pierson, James G. White and William Hamlin Childs, vice-presidents; Silas D. Webb, treasurer, and S. C. Mead, secretary.

The president's report is followed by the report of William C. Breed, chairman of the Members' Council, and the reports of the secretary, the Bureau of Research, the Publicity Bureau, the Membership Bureau, the Traffic Bureau, the Foreign Trade Bureau, the Industrial Bureau, the Convention Bureau, the Legislative Service Bureau, the Anti-Litter Bureau and the librarian.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

A. D. Whipple, chief engineer of the structural bureau of the Portland Cement Association, has become chief engineer of the Lime Association, with headquarters in Washington.

Kenneth Allen, sanitary engineer, Board of Estimate and Apportionment, New York City, district engineer, Bureau of Industrial Housing and Transportation, with headquarters at Washington.

Col. T. Hugh Boorman, 51 Chambers street, New York City, has opened an office as consulting engineer on military roads and engineering construction at 703 Fifteenth street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Vance McCarthy, for the past twelve years Pittsburgh branch manager of Edward R. Ladew Company, Inc., has been appointed general sales manager of the same company, with headquarters in the New York office.

New Secretary of Mayor's Committee.

Nathan Hirsch, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Taxation and the Investigation of Mortgage Loans, announced yesterday the appointment of J. P. Lohman as secretary of the committee, to succeed Sig Cederstrom, who resigned some time ago. Mr. Lohman, who is a member of the staff of the Record and Guide, was formerly assistant real estate editor of the New York Times, and has been writing on real estate and kindred subjects for a number of years. He will serve, as do all the other members of the committee, without compensation.

"This appointment," Mr. Hirsch said, "was made in accord with the purpose of the committee to build up an effective non-partisan organization for the important work we have under way and in contemplation. Mr. Lohman, who has been identified with the committee in an advisory capacity since its formation last February, is in sympathy with its aims and plans. This situation, coupled with his familiarity with the general real estate situation, make him, I believe, exceptionally well qualified."

Dr. Abraham Korn.

Dr. Abraham Korn, for many years prominently identified with real estate and taxpayer matters in Harlem, died of pneumonia last Saturday at his home, 1857 Madison avenue, after a few days' illness. Dr. Korn was born in New York City fifty-five years ago. He was a graduate of the College of the City of New York, Columbia University and the College of Physicians and Surgeons. For fifteen years he had been president of the Harlem Property Owners' Association, and he was also actively interested in the Greater New York Taxpayers' Association and the United Real Estate Owners' Association of New York.

Dr. Korn was a member of Emanuel Lodge, F. & A. M.; the New York County and State Medical Societies and the Upper Eighties Alumni Association of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He is survived by a widow, three sons and one daughter.

Dr. Korn will be remembered as a sturdy and aggressive fighter in behalf of property owners in this city. He was a familiar figure at practically all important hearings affecting real estate, both in New York City and at Albany, and was ever ready to offer constructive criticism.

New York's Neighbors.

Few New Yorkers realize the importance of the twin cities across the river. Jersey City has a population, according to the last census, of 267,779, while that of Hoboken is 70,324. If we add West Hoboken, with its 35,493, and West New York's 13,569, we have a concentration of 387,066 people, or approximately more than the population of Queens, and yet even those who live on the very outskirts of the New Jersey area under consideration are within thirty minutes' ride of the downtown financial and the uptown shopping center of Manhattan.

The "Mile Square" city is rapidly overlapping its borders. The giant viaduct, connecting the Fourteenth street ferry slip with the residential district, and with West Hoboken and the territory beyond, is making for a Greater Hoboken.

Proposed Budget May Raise Tax Rate to 2.48

If Adopted, This Will Be Manhattan Figure, an Advance of Twelve Points Over 1918—Other Boroughs in Proportion

THE proposed budget presented by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment at the public hearings this week showed an increase over last year of $9,-984,728.18. This is a considerable increase over the tentative budget in its original form, and is due largely to the additional amount allotted to the Board of Education. The budget now stands at $248,108,487.38, as compared with $238,123,759.20 for last year.

Although the Board of Estimate may make decreases up to October 31, when that body must finally pass on the budget, and the Board of Aldermen then has twenty days in which to make decreases, it is probable that there will be little change from the above figures.

The biggest increase in the budget over 1918 is in the Department of Education, $9,730,658, but in reality the schools will get only about $2,600,000 more than last year, as last year the budget carried a special fund of $7,110,651. This year the special fund has been thrown into the general fund for the reduction of taxation.

Department—	1919 Budget total	1918 Budget total	Inc. 1919 over 1918
Police Dept.....	$20,671,579	$19,394,613	$1,276,965
Fire Dept.....	10,814,665	10,251,145	563,520
Dept. of Health.....	3,932,292	3,711,376	220,915
Dept. of Public Charities..	5,794,963	5,111,440	683,522
Board of Child Welfare...	1,664,120	1,552,170	111,950
Bellevue and allied hospitals .....	2,415,233	2,089,625	325,608
Dept. of Street Cleaning..	11,240,668	9,033,349	2,207,319
Payments to charitable institutions .....	6,949,800	6,485,510	464,290
Dept. of Correction.....	2,042,074	1,814,954	227,119
Dept. of Plant and Structures .....	2,785,440	754,632	2,030,808
Debt service.....	77,931,938	75,590,460	2,341,478

The Law Department budget is increased over this year's by over $30,000. In the mayor's office there is an increase of several thousand dollars.

At the hearing on Wednesday the mayor explained the increase of his secretary's salary to $6,500 as follows:

"I had Whalen's salary reduced to $5,000 when I took office. I have found out that he did a great deal to help save the $9,000 which the Mayor's Department turned back to the city treasury last year, and which we intend to turn back again this year, so I recommended that his salary be restored."

Controller Craig issued a statement in connection with the Board of Education appropriation in which he said:

"For the first time in the history of the present City of New York the appropriations for educational purposes have been the subject of joint conferences and discussions between the members of the Board of Education and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. On Thursday, the 17th, these two bodies were in continuous joint session from 11 o'clock in the morning until midnight. Never before has a Board of Education sat down with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to discuss budget requirements.

"The appropriations for the 1919 budget were the result of this harmonious co-operation. Substantial reductions were made in the amounts originally requested by the Board of Education; but in every instance this was done by the voluntary and spontaneous action of the members of the Board of Education.

"The appropriation provided in the proposed budget for the Board of Education is $45,121,163.26. This is $3,025,-000 in excess of 4.9 mills on taxable values required by law.

"Numerous attempts have been made to create the impression that this appropriation barely exceeds that of 1918. Such attempts are founded upon sheer manipulation of the figures involved and careful avoidance of the facts.

"Last year the Board of Education requested appropriations of $49,599,834.79. This was cut by the former Board of Estimate and Apportionment to $43,330,363.02 in the proposed budget. An examination of the newspaper files of last year will disclose that not one of the mischief makers now active uttered one word of protest against this reduction of more than six and one-quarter millions. The amount thus allowed for 1918 was $829,206.98 in excess of the 4.9 mills required by law.

"The appropriation proposed by the present Board of Estimate and Apportionment for 1919 is $3,025,000 in excess of that mandatorily required, and is $2,620,007.22 above the appropriation for 1918."

Charles A. Beard, director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, says that while the budget shows an increase of only $9,984,728.18, the actual increase is $12,249,329.98 over 1918. He said:

"The difference between the actual increase and the apparent increase is explained by the fact that the item for tax deficiencies is placed at $1,835,000 in the budget, while the actual tax deficiency, according to the statement of Charles L. Craig, city controller, to the Board of Estimate, amounts to $4,101,302.88. This difference the controller is permitted this year to take from the sum of $2,-204,601.80 of unspent moneys from previous administrations.

"In spite of this twelve-million-dollar and over increase, it has been pointed out that the service of the city has been materially depleted, because of the large decrease in personnel. For illustration, the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity drops about 140 employees, at a total salary of about $180,000. The Tenement House Department drops about 76 employees, at a total of $56,000 salary. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment drops about 66 employees. Holes like these are shot through the service of practically all divisions of the city government.

"In other words, the present administration is furnishing less service for more money."

The Citizens' Union in a statement pointed out numerous cases in which salaries over $1,800 had been increased in the proposed budget, most of which had not appeared in the tentative budget.

Leonard M. Wallstein, counsel of the Citizens' Union, in a communication to the Board of Estimate, said:

"Your earlier general policy of establishing no new exempt jobs at high salaries and of making no substantial salary increases in well paid positions has been abandoned. For instance, we find that the proposed budget published yesterday contains provision for the following new and necessarily exempt jobs which were not mentioned in the tentative budget, and which in many instances were not even contained in the published requests of department heads for appropriations:

"Two assistant corporation counsels at $5,000 each per annum and one at $3,780, a secretary of the Teachers' Retirement Fund at $3,000, a confidential inspector in the Department of Public Markets at $1,800, and a water register in the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity at $3,500.

"The new positions enumerated are in addition to other new positions which may or may not be made exempt, as, for instance, an accountant in the Finance Department at $4,000; a municipal examiner in the Teachers' Retirement Fund at $1,980, and two assistant engineers in the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity at $3,900 and $2,700, respectively.

"Similarly the proposed budget for the first time contains for the increase of the salary of a deputy comptroller from $7,500 to $8,500, a confidential inspector in the office of the Bronx borough president from $2,300 to $2,500, the private secretary to the commissioner of correction from $2,340 to $2,500, the secretary to the commissioner of health from $3,000 to $3,500, three assistant corporation counsels from $2,940 to $5,000, a superintendent of telegraph in the Police Department from $4,000 to $4,500, an accountant in the Teachers' Retirement Fund from $2,400 to $4,000, a clerk in the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity from $3,500 to $3,750, and an assistant engineer in the same department from $4,000 to $5,000."

The Real Estate Board's Budget Committee issued the following statement on the budget:

"When the tentative budget was finished the Real Estate Board of New York expressed its satisfaction with the serious and partially successful attempt to keep the budget for 1919 close to the budget of 1918. The board realized that there must of necessity be many increases in salary, and that the cost of the supplies in the several departments and of the allowance for maintenance of the dependents in the city's charitable institutions must be largely increased.

"When the tentative budget showed an increase of $6,000,000 only the Real Estate Board felt that the members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment were entitled to commendation. Since then increases have been allowed which brings the budget up to practically $10,000,000 more than the budget for 1918. Although the comptroller repeatedly stated that he was opposed to giving the Board of Education more than 4 9/10 mills allowed by law, the Board of Estimate has allowed over $3,000,000 in addition.

"The Real Estate Board feels that at this time it should call attention to the rapidly increasing cost of the Department of Education. In 1908 the amount appropriated for the Department of Education was $26,712,963; in 1912, $33,849,819; in 1916, $42,512,896 and in 1919, $45,120,000. In all probability the expenditures for the coming year will be in excess even of this amount. This shows an increase in ten years of about $18,000,000 in spite of the activities of the Parochial School System, and in spite of the fact that through loss of immigration there are fewer children of school age in the city today than there were five years ago. The phenomenal increase in the expenses of this department must be attributed to the perfect teachers' organization, which, by including all the teachers and forming them into a close political union, has enabled them to dominate the schools and to unduly influence both the state and local legislative bodies. That this organization is detrimental both to the schools themselves and to the city is beyond question.

"Although there were printed in last Sunday's newspapers many columns of 'Help Wanted' advertisements, and although the wage for unskilled labor is $4.40 per day, an appropriation of $50,000 is made for school lunches. The reason for this is said to be the great number of poorly nourished children in the schools. As there are no poor people in the city among the so-called laboring classes, except those who are physically or mentally disabled, there is no need for this appropriation as an act of charity, and for the community to feed school children as a matter of right and not as a matter of charity is to establish a precedent extremely dangerous to the future well-being of this city. There is no reason why, if the community feeds ill-nourished children in certain sections of the city, the children in every section of the city should also be fed; if children are fed, why not adults?

"The budget as now proposed, and which will without doubt be adopted, will mean a tax rate in 1919 of about 0248.5 for Manhattan, 0252.5 for the Bronx, 0252.5 for Kings, 0253.5 for Queens and 0258.5 for Richmond. It is true that the assessed valuation of both real and personal property has been tentatively increased, but at the Department of Taxes and Assessments there is a constant stream of citizens swearing off the personal property assessment, and the best real estate experts do not believe that it will be possible for the Department of Taxes and Assessments under existing conditions to maintain the tentative increase in real estate valuations.

"An examination of the budget shows that in the matter of tax deficiencies sufficient moneys are not provided. For this purpose $3,100,000 was appropriated last year. According to the comptroller's report, January 31 of the present year, at least $18,000,000 of personal taxes were considered uncollectable, and there are many millions of real estate taxes uncollectable, because of tax liens that could not be sold. An appropriation, therefore, of $1,835,000 seems to be absurdly small. A sufficient amount to cover the increase in the debt service has not been provided.

"The Real Estate Board regrets also that it has been stated in connection with the budget that the landlords have taken advantage of the slightest increase in taxes to 'raise rents to an oppressive degree.' There are more vacant stores in the city than ever before in its history, and very little attempt, if any, has been made to raise rents in the cheaper grades of tenements. It is only in certain classes of office buildings and the better class apartments that rents have been raised, and an impartial investigation conducted recently shows that the increase in rent has been more than met by the increase in all kinds of fixed charges. Not only have taxes increased twenty-five per cent. in a few years, but interest rates have increased from four to five and one-half and six per cent.; plumbers are getting $1.00 an hour; painters, $6.60 a day; carpenters, $6.60 a day; coal is almost double in price, and every article that the landlord must buy to properly maintain his building is almost double in cost. There is no justice in calling the landlord a 'profiteer' and not applying the same term to every man to whom the landlord must go, either for supplies or for personal service. It can be stated without fear of successful opposition that the net income from real estate today in the City of New York is less than it was five years ago."

Raw Materials and New U. S. Merchant Marine

Vital to American Commerce After the War That This Country Should Buy From the People We Sell To

By EDWARD N. HURLEY,
Chairman United States Shipping Board.

RAW materials have grown to be a dominant issue in the war. Not even Germany with all her boasted foresight understood the significance of raw materials at the outbreak of the war, for she was badly provided with many necessary things such as metals and fibers. But four years of waste and embargo have brought the world to a new appreciation of raw materials, and they will not only be a vital issue when peace is arranged but the world will take steps to guard them and increase production.

This is a question which vitally concerns us in connection with our new merchant marine.

In thinking of foreign trade we are too prone to think of the sale of goods to a customer in some other country and forget that trade is always an exchange of goods—our foreign customer has to pay us in the commodities that he is able to produce. With several thousand ships carrying the American flag and American goods to other nations we shall have to bring home return cargoes. So, while we are again acquiring international vision and preparing for the extension of our markets abroad, as salesmen, we must devote just as much attention to the buying end and grasp the possibilities in raw materials.

In many cases the quickest way to make a sale to a foreign customer is to buy something from him first.

Let us picture an imaginary customer. Suppose we want to do business with Robinson Crusoe on his desert island. He needs our fabrics and tools. His island has good soil capable of raising foodstuffs. It has goats to yield milk and meat. It has guano for fertilizer and maybe it has undeveloped minerals. Robinson Crusoe does not possess any money and his island resources have been developed only for the needs of himself and Friday. But if we send him a merchant ship several times a year with calico and shoes and good American tools for farming, woodworking, and blacksmithing, Crusoe and Friday will gather guano or fatten goats, or raise crops to pay for our goods. That is, they will pay us in raw materials. What was useless now has value to them because through our ships we have provided markets. Crusoe's labors pay him a profit. He and Friday live better—wear better clothes, have a better table, live in a better house. They may even think about bringing in settlers to help them and open mines inland and running a railroad to the mines.

Our new merchant marine can establish trade on this basis with many a nation which while not in any sense deserted, is still undeveloped as to resources and markets and profitable employment and good living standards. Half the world is on rations for raw materials today, while in the other half there are surplus supplies piled up—thousands of shiploads, waiting ocean transportation. The people who produce these raw materials are almost as badly off as people in the war zone, because trade has stopped and employment and wages and buying capacity.

The world has learned much about this question of raw materials during the war, and when peace comes will bring new ideas and new methods to bear upon the problem.

Already two broad policies are discernible—that of Germany, which is based upon national selfishness, and the policy of Great Britain and the British Empire, which is so largely our own.

Germany believes in autocratic control of raw materials wherever she can bring them under the domination of her trusts and her Government. At home she has very little raw material to sell the world, except potash and a few chemical products. Her policy before the war was to sell these at extortionate prices, and wherever she could gain a monopoly of a raw material in some other country she charged outrageous prices, too, or put other nations at a disadvantage, as was the case with her secret control of our metal markets. She is already preparing to force other nations to trade their raw materials with her by holding her own raw products over them as a club. Were she permitted to hold a great colony in Middle Africa, she would make it a great tropical machine for producing raw materials through industrial slavery of the natives.

British policy seeks to develop all the resources of the far-spread British Empire. A world-wide inventory is being taken of the metals, the fibers, the crops, and other resources of British colonies so that John Bull may supply his own needs as far as possible and may increase the prosperity of Britains everywhere by developing their resources, broadening their trade and raising their incomes and living standards.

Our task is to use American merchant ships, American dollars, American factories, and American ability to help other nations in the same way.

Since the Civil War we have learned what railroads, money and energy will do for undeveloped sections in our great West. After the world war we must learn what American ships and American money and American energy can do for the undeveloped sections of other nations—such sections as the rich mineral country of the west coast of South America, the great fertile Amazon Basin, the growing nations of Australia and South Africa, so like our own in many ways.

Before the war both Great Britain and America were commercially asleep. The United States had no merchant marine on the ocean and could neither develop her own trade in manufactured goods nor serve other nations by improving their markets for raw materials. Great Britain had her wonderful empire, but permitted Germany to develop many of its resources through German ships and German scientific production. Germany overreached herself because her philosophy of trade and shipping was wrong—based upon selfish exploitation and one-sided dealing. England and America have both learned their lessons. They are now waking to the possibilities in a new world of international service. "He profits most who serves most." One nation cannot prosper at the expense of another. World trade is not one-sided—both parties to a bargain must be better off after the exchange is made. Trade in both raw materials and manufactured goods is unsound and transitory unless behind it the nations making the exchange are developing their agriculture, their mines, their factories, transportation, wealth and living standards. Our new merchant ships will take us into this great field of international service and international opportunity. It is time for Americans everywhere to be thinking of world trade from this angle of raw materials.

Realty Men and Builders Exceed Loan Quotas

Team Work, Enthusiasm and Untiring Devotion Push Drives Over the Top

EXCEEDING the expectations of the most ardent boomer in the ranks, the Real Estate Division of the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive reported yesterday, a grand total of $10,625,250 in subscriptions, or more than double its original quota of $5,000,000. With belated returns continuing to drift in, there is a possibility that this total will assume even greater proportions, attesting further the remarkable energy, perseverance and patriotic fervor which inspired every one of the real estate workers in the great drive.

Aside from launching a spectacular campaign engineered by Alfred E. Marling, as chairman of the di-

THE Liberty Loan Committee of the Building and Allied Trades exceeded their quota of $7,000,000 by $2,673,900, according to the final returns announced yesterday, an unusual achievement considering the depressed condition of the building situation, but reflecting, nevertheless, the unusual efforts and activity of the members of the committee to successfully perform their obligations to the Government in this greatest of all Loan drives.

The grand total raised by the building and allied trades was $9,673,900, representing 27,679 subscriptions. The largest amount was raised by the sub-division of Builders, Shorers and Hoisters, headed by Edwin Thatcher, which turned in $1,510,850. The largest num-

The Record and Guide and the Fourth Liberty Loan

FROM ALFRED E. MARLING

Chairman Real Estate Division, Fourth Liberty Loan.

"Permit me to take this opportunity to express on behalf of our Committee my warmest thanks for the great support which the Record & Guide has given to us in this Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign."

FROM FRANCIS A. SHINN

Secretary Liberty Loan Committee, Building and Allied Trades.

"On behalf of the Building and Allied Trades Liberty Loan Committee I wish to thank you for your co-operation with us during the recent campaign. The publicity which you gave us both in the Record and Guide and in the Dodge Reports very materially helped in our results."

vision, and Robert E. Simon, chairman of the Steering Committee, and the introduction of striking new methods of salesmanship, the Division achieved the distinction of being the first to reach its quota. This event, happening at the end of the second week of the drive, was signalized by the raising of the quota to $7,500,000. Adopting the slogan of $1,000,000 a day, the members of the various teams continued their work with undiminished vim, their efforts finally being crowned by a rush of subscriptions that carried the division over the $10,000,000 mark.

The team captained by Charles S. Brown and John N. Golding won the distinction of turning in the largest amount, $3,472,400, or nearly one-third of the amount raised by the entire division. The Albert B. Ashforth and Douglas L. Elliman team raised $1,429,700. Brooklyn teams turned in $1,549,450, many of these representing subscriptions from small owners.

The amounts raised by each of the teams and the names of the team captains follows:

Captain	Amount
Charles S. Brown, John N. Golding.....	$3,472,400
Alwyn Ball, Jr. (H. H. Trice), the Cruikshank Co. (Mr. Raywood) .....	811,000
Frederick Fox & Co., Aaron Rabinowitz.....	644,450
Goodale, Perry & Dwight, M. & L. Hess (Mr. Hahner) .....	513,850
Geo. R. Reed & Co. (Mr. Kuder), Cross & Brown Co .....	613,350

Probably the most interesting feature of the entire drive from the standpoint of the Real Estate Division was the adoption of the original idea of Laurence McGuire, offering a real estate honor flag to every property owner who subscribed for bond amounts equalling one-half of one per cent. of the assessed valuation of his real estate holdings. This plan met with such a hearty and generous response that hundreds of buildings are now displaying the honor emblem.

ber of subscriptions, 6,188, was reported by the cement workers, campaigning under H. C. Turner.

The committee, in addition to the heads of the various sub-divisions, consisted of Otto M. Eidlitz, chairman; Ronald Taylor, vice-chairman; Chas. J. Kelly, vice-chairman; John P. Kane, vice-chairman; Francis A. Shinn, secretary, and Bertram Sears, publicity member.

The name of each team, its captain, the amount raised and the number of individual subscriptions follows:

Team	Amount	Number
Asbestos, Pipe and Boiler Covering, Owen Glasson .....	$358,850	198
Builders, Shorers and Hoisters, Edwin Thatcher .....	1,510,850	3,850
Building Materials, Frank E. Wise.....	478,300	387
Cement Workers, H. C. Turner.....	731,900	6,188
Elevator Manufacturers, W. L. O'Connell..	565,150	1,384
Glass Trade, Joseph Dreyfuss.....	502,350	710

Wine Workers, E. F. Rattey.....	158,650	641
Woodworkers, John I. Downey.....	913,900	1,175
Builders' Traders Employers Ass'n.....	30,000	1
Total .....	$9,673,900	27,679

In spite of the fact that the quota for the Fourth Loan was raised to $7,000,000, as against $5,000,000 in the Third Loan, the men in the building trades, captained by the representative men in the industry and inspired by their record of $6,400,000 in the Third Loan Drive, rallied to the call for these extra demands on their purses and time. With the organized efficiency of all the trades concentrated upon the passing of the quota, their ultimate success was assured in spite of the fact that even after two-thirds of the allotted time for the canvass had elapsed, considerably less than one-half of the $7,000,000 had been subscribed. During the last week the returns began to pile in and with practically every man in the construction field sending out his message of the loan through every possible medium, including meetings at all the big building jobs now under way, the committee swept on past its quota.

Checks Unnecessary Violations on Property

Mayor Hylan Directs Commissioners of City Departments to Curb the Annoying Activities of Inspectors

MAYOR CALLS A HALT ON "SNOOPING" INSPECTORS.

Heads of city departments directing inspection forces have received the following letter from Mayor Hylan:

"Dear Commissioners: I am in receipt of many complaints relative to the drastic action of inspectors while making investigations and the annoyance caused property owners by compelling them to make unnecessary changes in these war times.

"I want you to direct the inspectors to treat people courteously and put a stop to inspectors rushing around the city and placing unnecessary violations of all kinds on city property. They are making themselves ridiculous and a nuisance. If they have nothing else to do except to go snooping around annoying people who are already overburdened, I would advise you to give them a permanent vacation without pay.

"Very truly yours,

"JOHN F. HYLAN, Mayor."

LEADERS in the metropolitan realty field are discussing with much interest and with earnest approval a letter against over-regulation which Mayor Hylan recently sent to various heads of departments in his administration.

This letter, which is here reproduced, is held by realty leaders as proof that the new city administration will give to owners of buildings a respite from the many petty annoyances to which they have been subjected for years past.

There has been a great deal of complaint of over-regulation on the part of city inspectors. In hundreds of instances property-owners have maintained that they have been put to a great deal of trouble and a great deal of unnecessary expense in complying with trivial orders issued by inspectors from various city departments. In the city campaign last fall this became quite a prominent issue, scores of property-owners feeling that they had been made the victims of an unreasonable system made intolerable through the lack of exercise of good judgment on the part of the city inspectors.

Mayor Hylan's letter is regarded by realty leaders as indicating that New York property-owners no longer will be subjected to the over-regulation about which there has been so much complaint. In this connection it is being recalled that the Real Estate Board of New York brought the matter to the attention of the several candidates for mayor in the 1917 campaign. At that time the Real Estate Board pointed out that it favored such revision and administration of the laws relating to building construction and inspection and orders for structural changes as would provide for fire prevention by bringing really hazardous buildings up to a better standard. The board expressed its preference for that sort of regulation rather than a continuance of the existing system of administration of fire prevention laws, involving, it declared, "unreliable, changing and vexatious orders relating to the alteration or construction of buildings already proved to be safe under ordinary occupancy."

Replying to the board's request that he make his position clear on this subject, Judge Hylan stated at that time:

"From my investigations, I am of the opinion that the administration of the Fire Prevention Law has been undertaken and carried out not only in an unscientific manner, but in a way that has brought much hardship to small owners. The reorganization of that bureau with a view of ending hazardous conditions by actual construction measures in accord with a consistent policy will be one of the subjects to which the attention of the fire commissioner will be directed in case I am elected."

Charles F. Noyes, head of the Charles F. Noyes Company, is one of the prominent New York realty leaders who has given a good deal of thought to this subject. Mr. Noyes expresses to the Record and Guide his gratification that Mayor Hylan has sent his recent letter to the heads of all city departments having inspection forces under their jurisdiction. Mr. Noyes regards the mayor's action as an important step, and he believes it will have a far-reaching effect on realty conditions.

Discussing the subject a short time ago, Mr. Noyes declared that, "Over-inspection with its kindred evils is stated to have taken $40,000,000 out of the pockets of owners and tenants during the last few years, and the greater part of this money positively was wasted as far as accomplishing any real benefit was concerned. One statistician of recognized standing has estimated that the Fire Prevention Bureau and its activities in connection with the labor law has cost Greater New York the staggering sum of $400,000,000 during the last five years, and, to add insult to injury, it is stated that it has cost approximately $2,000,000 to the taxpayers during the last six years for the city to maintain its Fire Prevention Bureau."

Mr. Noyes expressed the belief that New York City real estate could not have stood the drain were it not for the fact that this is probably the fastest growing metropolis in the world.

"It is unnecessary," Mr. Noyes added, "to go deeply into statistics and give details of the vast expense involved by the city in the enforcement of the irritating, expensive and unnecessary hardships brought about by over-inspection and over-regulation. The records show that 1,500,000 inspections had been made by the uniformed fire force in 1915 and 96,876 cases reported (50,000 of which were immediately thrown out or corrected); 85,000 formal orders were issued by the Fire Prevention Bureau from the time of its organization, including 200 sprinkler orders and more than 8,500 directions to fireproof shafts and make other structural changes. There was a loss of $186,000,000 in assessed valuations of real estate alone on Manhattan Island south of Fortieth street due, it is believed, largely to the over-regulation of buildings.

"The Court of Appeals' decision in the Wm. H. Browning case revealed the fact that thousands of orders had been unlawfully issued and illegally enforced, and millions of dollars had been spent by owners and gone beyond recall."

Must Maintain Gold Reserve

By WILLIAM C. REDFIELD,
Secretary of Commerce.

ONE vital factor of the readjustment period brought by peace will be our foreign trade. It was valuable before the war; it will be essential after it. This country has the greatest unexhausted supply of credit in the world. The mechanism which makes this credit effective is our gold reserve. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that our banking system is the mechanism and the gold reserve is the foundation upon which the whole credit system rests. The whole credit-making power of the country depends upon the gold reserve. If this is seriously depleted, our ability to give credit is by so much reduced.

There are four ways by which, according to my mind, this reserve can be maintained. These are, by sales abroad, by loans abroad, by investments abroad, and by services abroad.

We may render services abroad by our ships, by insurance of various kinds, and in similar ways. We should make investments abroad in order that the normal business arising from the use of those investments may flow to us and that the earnings upon the investments may be returned to us also. We must make loans abroad in order that others may prosper, that we may through their prosperity gain better customers, and that we may receive the interest upon our loans. And we must make sales abroad that our workmen may be employed, our capital receive its due income, that our necessities may be met, and that we may in turn receive in return the supplies that we need from other

Electric Meters for Tenants Will Save Coal

Wasteful Use of Current Will Be Stopped, to the Benefit Alike of Tenant and Landlord

By REGINALD PELHAM BOLTON.

TO those who have followed the development of the modern office building, the recent announcement in your issue of the 12th, of the probable abandonment of the free electric service, affords some interesting reflections.

Such burdens carried by the owners of real estate have been, to a considerable extent, of their own making, born of the competition arising from excessive and unregulated construction of one class of building.

In the good old days of modest-size buildings, occupied by a single tenant, the investor was able to determine the limit of his expense and liabilities, confined usually to outside repair and taxation. But when real estate prices were boomed, and larger buildings became a necessity in order to provide an income on the inflated value, the owner was forced to embark on a growing number of expenses, the cost of which was uncertain, such as elevators, heating, lighting, cleaning and sanitation involved by the multiple tenancy of the building, and the cost of which, owing to lack of means of measuring the individual usage, the owner was obliged to shoulder.

The extent and expense of these common conveniences gradually grew until they have become so burdensome, as to deprive business buildings of much of their attractiveness as an investment. The apparatus involves substantial additions to the original investment, largely increases the expense of operation and maintenance, and has a much shorter life of useful effectiveness than the building which houses it.

Tenants' habits of wastefulness have been aggravated by the facility afforded them of obtaining something for nothing. The careful or thrifty tenant gains nothing by care or thrift in their use, but pays in his rent a part of the wastage of the careless neighbor.

The ground floor tenant pays for elevator service which he never uses, and the occupant of light rooms pays for the lighting of dark ones, and the person who washes his hands in cold water pays for his neighbors' hot water supply.

The system, as I wrote years ago, is utterly lacking in inducements for thrift or care, and the time was bound to come when the owners of buildings would be forced, in order to protect their investment from destruction, to find some means of apportioning these expenses among tenants according to their use. The stress of war conditions has now brought this about in the business building, as it has long ago been established in the apartment and the loft building in regard to the use of electric energy for light or power.

The measuring of electric energy has been found to have the effect of inducing the user to exercise care and economy, even when the service is not the subject of a direct charge. Thus, wastage is reduced by the mere installation of a metered service, and the effect is much increased by a direct payment for the service afforded. It will doubtless be found that the first result of the provision of meters in individual office spaces is a substantial reduction in the amount of energy used by tenants. This will effect a direct reduction in fuel whether the supply be provided from the public system or from a plant within the building.

The system of sub-metering the public service of electricity will probably be found profitable in many such buildings, and should in all cases be examined, as it is in successful operation in a large number of loft and residential buildings in the city.

It is now unfortunate that the planning of most office buildings has been so defective in failing to provide for this development, by a suitable arrangement of the interior electric conductors. Much can, however, be accomplished at no considerable expense, by modern systems of exposed and concealed wiring carried in fire-proof casing and flexible armored conductors, thus rearranging the circuits so as to admit of measuring the usage of each individual suite of offices.

The care, repair and maintenance in accurate recording condition of small meters is also a matter which of recent years has developed into a standard form of business, and the common idea of the inaccuracy of meters applies only to those in which this constant and systematic attention is neglected.

The new step is as much in the interest of the tenant as the landlord, since no one gains by waste, and if tenants do not support good buildings, no good buildings can be built.

This development of war economies is a hopeful and long-needed change of a bad system in the operation of the highest class of metropolitan real estate. It should never be permitted to be re-established.

Board of Standards and Appeals Makes a Record

CAPTAIN JOHN P. LEO, chairman, Board of Standards and Appeals, announces that the work of the Board of Appeals has been brought up to date, that all pending appeals and Building Zone applications, forty-two in number, have been set for hearing within the next six weeks.

The work of the Board of Standards and Appeals will be up to date by December 10, all the old pigeon-holed petitions having been brought out of the files and set for hearing before that date. These cases number more than five hundred, and will be disposed of by holding extra sessions of the Board, so as to clear up the calendar.

As showing, so far as figures can, what has been done since Captain Leo became chairman of the Board on March 11, 1916, these figures are cited:

Cases pending March 11, 1918.....	2032
(Including 209 cases filed prior to March 11, but not put on the calendar until after that date).
New cases filed between March 11 and October 18..	520
Cases reopened .....	57
Total .....	2609
Cases disposed of since March 11.....	2027
Cases pending October 18.....	582
Net reduction in number of cases pending as compared with March 11.....	1450
These figures show that the number of cases disposed of has been nearly four times as many as the number of new cases filed.

In regard to the progress made, Captain Leo says that great credit is due to the members of the Board, John J. Beatty, Alfred J. Boulton, John DeHart, James P. Holland, James Kearney, Fire Chief Kenlon, Fire Commissioner Drennan, and the superintendents of buildings, Walsh of Manhattan, Reville of The Bronx, Kleinert of Brooklyn, Moore of Queens, and McDermott of Richmond.

To give effect to the decisions of the Board, the law requires that each resolution be published in the Bulletin of the Board, and that certified copy be sent to the petitioner or appellant and to the administrative official. Captain Leo, when he became chairman, found that there were 1225 decisions of the Board which had not been published. With the co-operation of the secretary, Wm. Wirt Mills, the new chairman instituted the practice of publishing every resolution on the Tuesday following the meeting at which it was adopted, and all resolutions adopted since March 11, numbering 1327, have thus been printed and in addition 1105 of the old unpublished resolutions have been promulgated. Thus, as the records of the Board stand today, there are only 582 cases pending and every one of these has been set down for hearing within the next six weeks, and there are only 120 unpublished decisions of the Board, all of them of a date prior to March 11, 1918.

Candidates Who Favor Realty Board's Program

Replies to Questionnaire Indicate Attitude of Many Is Favorable to Measures Proposed by Real Estate Men

ON September 18, 1918, the Real Estate Board of New York addressed a letter to the candidates for the legislature of the principal political parties in Greater New York. The letter is as follows:

Dear Sir: We are in the midst of a great war which must be pressed to a successful conclusion no matter at what sacrifice of life and property. The burden of Federal taxation is enormous, but is cheerfully borne with the full knowledge that as time goes on the burden may be greater and more enormous.

To enable the people to meet these ever increasing expenses of the Federal Government it becomes the paramount duty of all local legislative and administrative bodies to exercise the most rigid economy and to enact and carry out measures of relief. All unnecessary City, County and Borough departments should be abolished and those doing duplicate work should be consolidated. Existing building and labor laws should be amended so as to prevent unnecessary expense and yet adequately protect life and property.

The tax lien law should be repealed, or at least suspended during the period of the war and for two years after the war. The limit of taxation on real estate should be fixed at 2% or 20 mills and on personal property at one quarter of 1% or 2½ mills.

There should be but one place to pay all taxes and assessments and the personal tax should be levied and collected before February 15 of each year and the balance of the budget, less the surplus revenues of the general fund, should then be levied on real estate. These matters are of such importance that some expression of your sentiments regarding them are deemed necessary by the real estate interests of the city to enable them to determine with accuracy your attitude toward what they consider the most important question to be submitted to the next legislature or to be considered by executive heads.

Robert E. Dowling,
Laurence McGuire,
Stephen H. Tyng,
Thomas P. Graham,
George T. Mortimer,
Robert W. Goelet,
Edward P. Doyle.

The following candidates replied and their answers and legislative record on legislation directly affecting real estate is given:

Black, Loring M. Jr., candidate for senator, Kings.—Favorable. Served in Senate 1911, 1912, and was especially active in opposing legislation seeking to place an unfair share of the burden of the State expenses on New York City.

Boylan, John J., candidate for senator, New York.—Favorable. Member Real Estate Board. Served in Senate 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests. Introduced and passed in Senate, 1918, bill to limit tax rate on real estate; secured many important amendments to labor laws in the interest of property owners while at the same time adequately protecting life and property.

Burlingame, Alvah W. J., candidate for senator, Kings.—Favorable. Served in Senate 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918. Excellent record. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests of the City of New York.

Dowling, Edward J., candidate for senator, New York.—Favorable. Served in Senate, 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests. Introduced in 1918 Four Family House bill.

Dunnigan, John J., candidate for senator, Bronx.—Favorable. Served in Senate, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests. Introduced resolution urging investigation of unnecessary and conflicting city departments. Introduced bills to abolish unnecessary city departments which would have saved the city $20,000,000 annually and to amend the Tax Lien law so as to give proper notice to owners of property.

Foley, James A., candidate for senator, New York.—Favorable. Served in Senate, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests. Introduced 1918 bill to give local legislative bodies power to abolish or consolidate conflicting city departments.

Lawson, Robert R., candidate for senator, Kings.—Favorable. Served in Senate 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests. Introduced and passed Three Family House bill at the instance of the Brooklyn Board of Brokers.

Lockwood, Charles C., candidate for senator, Kings.—Favorable. Served in Senate 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests. Introduced and passed bill creating the Board of Standards and Appeals whose work has so much benefited real estate. Represents large real property interests and is a capable and efficient legislator.

Meyer, Schuyler M., candidate for senator, New York.—Favorable. Served in the Assembly 1917, 1918. Introduced a number of measures affecting the City of New York and is especially familiar with local conditions and able to pass intelligently on city measures.

Murphy, Charles F., candidate for senator, Kings.—Favorable. Served in Senate 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests. In 1918 worked hard to secure the passage of the bill Limiting the Tax Rate on Real Estate. A strong supporter of measures for the benefit of real estate.

Favorable replies were also received from the following Senatorial candidates who have had no legislative experience:

Adel, Frank F., Kings; Brewer, Mary G., Richmond and Rockland; Herzfeld, Max, Kings; Marsch, Edwin C., Kings; Lynch, John A., Richmond and Rockland; Russell, Charles E., Kings; Walsh, John T., Kings.

Bourke, Martin, candidate for Assembly, New York.—Favorable. Served in Assembly, 1917, 1918. Introduced a number of measures in the interests of real estate.

Curley, Thos. F., candidate for Assembly, Richmond.—Favorable. Represent large property interests. Served in Assembly 1917. Introduced and passed bill extending the time the Comptroller could adjourn tax lien sales. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests.

Johnson, E. A., candidate for Assembly, New York.—Favorable. Served in Assembly, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests.

O'Hare, W. H., candidate for Assembly, Queens.—Favorable. Served in Assembly 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests.

Seeselburg, Henry A., candidate for Assembly, Richmond.—Favorable. Served in Assembly 1917, 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests. Introduced bill to establish a fixed tax rate.

Leininger, Peter A., candidate for Assembly, Queens.—Favorable. Served in Assembly 1918. Consistent supporter of measures urged by real estate interests.

Favorable replies were also received from the following candidate for the Assembly, who have had no previous legislative experience:

The Same Old Story

The hearings on the city budget for 1919 have been finished, and the indications are that there will be a good deal of disappointment when the final figures are announced. The hope earlier expressed that the total of the budget would not exceed that of last year is doomed.

Some slight changes may be shown in the final work of the city budget makers, but it is reasonably certain that the total of the new budget will exceed $248,000,000. This means an increase of approximately $10,000,000 over the budget for 1918, even eliminating from the calculation an additional item of $2,264,601.80 appropriated by former administrations but not spent. This item now becomes applicable toward the expenses of the city for 1919. Without this piece of good fortune, therefore, the net increase in the 1919 budget would exceed $12,000,000.

Representatives of various organizations at the recent budget hearings are frank in their expressions of disappointment. Instead of a reduction in the tax rate, or instead of a tax rate of higher than that for 1918, the cold fact of an actual increase in the tax rate for 1919 now must be faced.

It is bad news for the taxpayers of the metropolis. When the new budget was in the making, and even up to the time when it was tentatively agreed upon, students of the subject felt warranted in expressing the hope that at the worst there would be no increase in the budget and consequently no increase in the tax rate. It is most unfortunate that the budget-makers could find no way to sustain the optimism of their friends who predicted a budget and a tax-rate at least no first budget, naturally will be subjected to the criticism of their opponents in the last city campaign. When such criticism is inspired mainly by political motives it is apt to receive, as it deserves, little attention. Those out of power always regard it as a duty, as well as a privilege, to criticise the actions of those in power. When this criticism is constructive it sometimes helps, but for the most part it accomplishes little toward advancing the public weal.

The misfortune of the situation lies in the fact that the realty owners of the metropolis find themselves hard hit at a time when they were especially hopeful of some lightening of their tax burdens. It does seem as if, in a budget of a quarter of a billion of dollars, the saving of a few millions here and there might have been effected. But it is the old story right over again, and in spending more money than their predecessors the city authorities are merely doing the same thing which the state authorities at Albany are doing.

It is apparent that public officials, regardless of their political affiliations, have not yet learned the homely lesson that the only way to save money is to not spend it. This applies just as truly to public officials handling the money of the taxpayers as it does to the individual handling his own money.

In every political campaign all candidates and all parties promise, if successful at the polls, to give to the people a business administration of public affairs. And then, no matter which side wins, the indiscriminate spending of the taxpayers' money goes right on.

Great Work in a Great Cause

New York well may feel proud in having once again sent word to our fighting men in France that they are ready to go "Over the Top" when it comes to buying bonds.

Despite the large total of $1,800,000,000 which the New York district was asked to subscribe in the Fourth Liberty Loan, the result justified the confidence of the Washington authorities in asking New York for it. This district again exceeded its quota, and great credit is due to the campaign committees for the efficient and patriotic manner in which they performed their task.

The Record and Guide feels that too high praise cannot be given to the Real Estate Division and the Building and Allied Trades Division in the recent drive. Originally the quota of the Real Estate Division was placed at $5,000,000, and this latter was raised, in accordance with the wish of the real estate workers, to $7,500,000. Chairman Marling's energetic assistants have turned in a total of more than $10,000,000 in subscriptions. The quota assigned to the Building and Allied Trades was $7,000,000 and Chairman Eidlitz's hustling assistants have turned in more than $9,670,000 of subscriptions.

That was great work in a great cause.

The Mayor's Warning

Mayor Hylan strikes a popular chord in his recent order to heads of departments calling upon them to check the misdirected zeal of some of their inspectors. It gives a ray of encouragement to property-owners who for years have been subjected to much needless annoyance and expense.

In view of the general suspension of building on account of the war it is difficult to understand why city inspectors should be paid salaries for telling property owners to make various changes in their buildings which the Federal authorities will not allow to be made. If, as Mayor Hylan indicates, these activities of the inspectors are furthered by "snooping" tactics, there is double reason why property owners should feel indignant.

Proper inspection and proper repair of buildings is accepted without question as necessary, not only by tenants but by landlords themselves. Objection is made only when officious inspectors, possibly impelled solely by a desire to show sufficient activity to keep on the city payroll, exceed their instructions and lay aside both discretion and judgment. With this type of city inspector Mayor Hyland's letter should have a salutary effect.

How Nuisances Are Affected by Zoning Law

By HERBERT S. SWAN,
Secretary of Zoning Committee.

NEXT to controlling the erection of new buildings, nothing is more important in zoning than to regulate the use of old ones. The latter is as necessary as the former to protect "spotted" districts against steady deterioration.

It is clear that it would be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible—and if possible, most inequitable, to treat existing buildings that do not conform to the regulations in the same manner as those that do. All existing uses have been established under the sanction of existing or past laws and are therefore entitled to protection. But this does not apply to changes or extensions of non-conforming uses. A new use or an extended use has not acquired a vested right to exist. To prevent its introduction into a restricted district, therefore, presents no question of equity like that of continuing an existing use.

In making this distinction between the continuance and the change of a non-conforming use the Zoning Resolution, it is believed, goes a long way in ultimately healing the wrong suffered by restricted neighborhoods in the days of unregulated building through the invasion of inappropriate uses. In time the consequence of obliging the change of use in non-conforming buildings to be as far as possible in conformity with the regulations of the use district in which the building is situated will undoubtedly be to "weed out" many of these sporadic uses and thus restore the district to its proper character.

Non-conforming uses in the restricted districts are sub-divided under the resolution into two classes—the nuisance uses which are especially noxious or offensive by reason of the emission of odor, dust, smoke, gas or noise; and the non-nuisance uses which are objectionable chiefly because they violate the amenities of the neighborhoods in which they are situated.

The continuance, extension and change of use in all non-conforming buildings and the conditions and limitations under which such buildings may be reconstructed or structurally altered are defined in a very painstaking and precise manner by the resolution. These restrictions are very appropriately more stringent in the case of nuisances than in the case of non-nuisances.

The nuisance uses are sub-divided into forty-five separate and distinct classes. Blacksmith shops, for instance, are in class 4; boiler shops in class 5; breweries in class 6; carpet cleaning establishments in class 7; garages for more than five cars in class 15; stables for more than five horses in class 36, etc. The non-nuisance uses are broadly speaking sub-divided into two groups, factories and business establishments other than those enumerated in the nuisance group.

Speaking now only of the buildings occupied July 25, 1916, by a use described in the law as a nuisance, the regulations are as follows:

Once structurally altered, a building used for a nuisance cannot have its use changed into another nuisance. The converse is also true—if the use has been changed from one nuisance into another, the building may not thereafter be structurally altered. For the purpose of continuing the particular nuisance use existing July 25, 1916, structural alterations are allowed in a building only up to 50 per cent. of its value exclusive of foundations.

The law makes no distinction between nuisance uses situated in residence districts and those situated in business districts. Both are treated identically the same in all respects.

How do these provisions apply to a specific nuisance, say a brewery? To what extent may a brewery be extended? Into what other uses may it be changed? And to what degree may the building be reconstructed?

An analysis of the law reveals the fact that the conduct of a brewery, like that of any other nuisance, is restricted in the following ways:

The brewery may be continued and the building in which it is situated may be reconstructed or structurally altered to an extent not exceeding 50 per cent. of its value, exclusive of foundations, provided absolutely no extension is made to the floor space used for brewery purposes.

The brewery may be changed into a nuisance use of any other class, say a soap factory, a paint works, or a lard refinery, provided the building in which it is maintained has in no wise been structurally altered since July 25, 1916. This provision is as broad as it is long, for when a nuisance of one class has been changed into a nuisance of another class, the building in which it is situated may not be structurally altered after the change unless the use is changed to a use in the non-nuisance class.

The brewery may under no circumstances be extended at the expense of a non-nuisance use. The extension of the brewery may be effected only at the expense of floor space used by other nuisances at the time the law was passed, i. e., other nuisance uses must be discontinued in order to permit the enlargement of the brewery.

A brewery which has in any manner been reconstructed or structurally altered since July 25, 1916, may not be changed to a nuisance in another class. Changes of use in such cases are limited to non-nuisance uses.

A brewery which has had its use changed since July 25, 1916, to a non-nuisance use may not thereafter be changed back again into a nuisance use. In other words, when a nuisance use has once been changed into a non-nuisance use, future changes of use in the building are restricted to uses in the non-nuisance group.

These limitations apply not only to breweries, but to all nuisances. Extensions of use, changes of use, and structural alterations made in buildings contrary to these provisions since the adoption of the resolution are in the nature of violations unless they have been specifically sanctioned by the Board of Appeals after a public hearing at which all property owners immediately affected were notified to appear and have their objections heard. The exceptions of this character that may be granted by the Board of Appeals are very restricted by the law except in the case of stables and garages.

The Story of THE WINDOW SHADE

(This talk is No. 8 of a series)

When a restaurant keeper leaves his restaurant to go and get his lunch, you can bet his lunch will be a mighty good one.

When Shade concerns give us their shade cleaning jobs, it is because we are specialists and can do their jobs better than they can.

To prove to you why we should handle your shade cleaning, we will take your worst shade and clean it free. Future work up to sample or no pay.

RECORD AND GUIDE

LARGE ADDITIONS TO STATE LANDS

Pending Negotiations for Vast Tract Assures
Citizens of a 2,000,000-acre Forest Preserve.

The summary just compiled by State Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt indicates that a forest preserve of over two million acres is assured to the people of the State of New York, and the purchase of more than two hundred thousand additional acres is now being negotiated with the owners. The summary represents what has been accomplished by the Conservation Commission in the eighteen months since funds became available under the $7,500,000 bond issue which the voters of the State approved for the acquisition of lands in the Adirondacks and Catskills for State park purposes.

The figures show that, since the approval of the bond issue, 460,731 acres of forest land have been offered for sale to the State, of which, after deducting such tracts as by their location were manifestly unsuitable for forest preserve purposes, 411,650 acres have already been examined and appraised by the Commission's foresters. This is an area almost one-quarter the size of the entire forest preserve owned by the State previous to the bond issue, which has been gradually accumulated since the year 1883.

Absolutely no property is recommended for purchase to the Commissioner of the Land Office until it has been completely examined and appraised by the experts of the Conservation Commission. This painstaking method of careful survey and valuation assures to the people of the State full value for every dollar expended.

Of the 411,650 acres, of which the Conservation Commission has completed its inspection, it has agreed upon a price for 171,045 acres, and recommended their purchase to the Commissioners of the Land Office. This Board has so far approved the acquisition of 156,398 acres—135,398 in the Adirondacks and 21,000 in the Catskills—and passed the cases on to the office of the Attorney-General for the necessary examination of titles. The lands purchased in the Adirondacks average $5.79 per acre, and those in the Catskills $7.10 per acre. Altogether, a total expenditure of over $900,000 is involved.

Deny Anti-Heating Report.

Mercer P. Moseley, chief of conservation, announced this week that no order has been issued by the United States or the State Fuel Administration directing proprietors of apartment houses and office and loft buildings not to give heat before November 1.

This announcement was made by Mr. Moseley because a great many letters and telephone calls received at State Fuel Administrator Cooke's office indicate some proprietors had refused to give heat because of such an order by the State Fuel Administration.

"While all good citizens were interested and anxious to meet the present coal situation with every feasible and logical economy," Mr. Moseley's statement read, "nevertheless those in charge of fuel in this State wish it distinctly understood that the public health comes first, and that nothing should be done that will jeopardize it."

Heating of all tenements or buildings where more than three families live is required by terms of a proposed ordinance introduced Tuesday in the Board of Aldermen by Aldermen Kenneally and Palitz. Violation of the rule is to be punishable by $250 fine, the ordinance provides. It was referred to the Committee on General Welfare.

No owner or lessee occupied by three or more families shall "permit the building to remain heated at a temperature of less than sixty-eight degrees between October 15 and April 15, excepting between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and seven o'clock in the morning," the resolution states. This action by the aldermanic body is in conformity with the ruling of the Board of Health, which has decided that to prevent the spread of influenza all tenements must be heated.

Add to Bronx Acreage.

During the last twenty-three years, the Department of Street Cleaning has added 240 acres of land to the Borough of the Bronx by filling in certain sections of the East River around Riker's Island.

The task of adding to the Bronx was started long before it was a county. To be exact, it was in 1895, and it has continued despite the change in administration and commissioners ever since. Before it is completed, the work must be carried on for seven years more.

As an illustration of what a gigantic task it is to add 240 acres of land to the Bronx, one need but point to the fact that nearly 22,000,000 cubic yards of ashes, all of which have been removed from Bronx County, have been dumped adjacent to Riker's Island and that it will require at least 8,000,000 more cubic yards to complete the work.

It will be recalled that during the administration of Mayor McClellan there was considerable agitation on the part of societies engaged in prison work to have the Penitentiary on Blackwell's Island, where it has been located since 1874, removed to Riker's Island.

The Board of Estimate, after considerable discussion, agreed to the removal of the Penitentiary from Blackwell's to Riker's Island, and authorized the Commissioner of the Department of Corrections to retain the services of an architect to draw up plans for a proposed new prison to cost $2,000,000.

When the late Mayor Gaynor came into power, the plan proposed by the McClellan administration was abandoned, and nothing more was heard of what use was to be made of Riker's Island until the Street Cleaning Department in 1912 attempted to located there a garbage disposal plant. The ire of the residents of the Bronx was aroused, and the plans killed.

The Department of Corrections, at the present time, is using a portion of the southerly half of this island as an annex to the Penitentiary. Several small buildings have been erected to house the prisoners. It is conceded by several persons familiar with prison work in this city that the plan, as suggested by the McClellan administration, to remove the Penitentiary from Blackwell's to Riker's Island will have to be revived.

During the year 1918, the Street Cleaning Department handled and disposed of 436,000 cubic yards of ashes, 319,000 cubic yards of garbage, and 139,000 cubic yards of rubbish in Bronx County alone.

William R. Nash.

William R. Nash, who has been with Pease & Elliman since 1905, is dead from pneumonia, following influenza. Mr. Nash was particularly active during the Fourth avenue boom of a decade ago, and closed many sales along that thoroughfare. Following this he was made manager of the West Side office which Pease & Elliman opened on West Seventy-second street. Of late years he had been connected with the main office.

Improvements at West Point.

Plans are being prepared for extensive improvements at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point under the direction of Lt. Col. W. J. Timberlake, Commandant and Quartermaster General. Plans call for the erection of a garage to cost $10,000, additional wings to barracks, $40,000, addition of wing to stable, $40,000, and the addition of a wing to a large shed, $32,000 and eight sets of quarters for married officers $60,000.

Real Estate Review for the Current Week

Market Shows Broadening Tendencies, Reflecting a Decided Improvement—Good Demand For Small Investment Properties

SUBSTANTIAL progress was recorded in the real estate market this week, business displaying distinct broadening tendencies. Not only was there a consistent and well maintained demand for downtown business property, but there was an increased call for small investment holdings in various parts of the city, the demand concerning itself chiefly with moderate priced dwellings and tenements. A distinctly encouraging feature of the business was the comparatively small number of trades, many of the transactions being negotiated on cash basis. One of the weaknesses of the market for many months has been the practical monopoly of the market by exchange deals, in other words, transactions involving trades with little or no element of cash. This factor in the real estate situation has rarely been considered an indication of strength since no new capital is released into real estate, and deals simply involve transfers of equities.

The departure therefore from this trend and the acquisition of a number of small parcels on a cash basis may be regarded with considerable optimism since it may be interpreted as the possible beginning of an upward turn of the market. While undue optimism cannot be expressed at this time because the market has always been inclined to be spotty and one week's particular activity cannot be fairly taken as a foundation for a new trend, nevertheless the fact that there has been a quickening of real estate interest and a substantial increase in the demand is worthy of comment.

Coming at the close of probably the most remarkable financial campaign loan in the history of the world, during a period when unprecedented sums were taken from ordinary investment channels and placed into Federal securities, the business of the week assumes an additional favorable position. Sales of mercantile buildings in the downtown section continued to reflect the steady interest which business men and investors are displaying in holdings in downtown neighborhoods.

The investment possibilities of New York real estate was again demonstrated by the purchase of a Front street office structure by a San Francisco buyer, who has become interested in downtown properties and has been adding to his holdings from time to time. An important transaction reflecting the continued growth of the automobile center on Broadway north of 53rd street involved a tall office building at Broadway near 57th street, acquired by a prominent automobile company which already has extensive real estate interests in the block. The establishment of this section as the automobile's trade zone has tended to stabilize values to an unusual degree and the purchase by the Chevrolet Co. of the fee to this building indicates not alone their confidence in the future of the section, but tends to strengthen the belief that this district will remain the permanent center of the automobile industry.

Important leasing transactions of more than passing interest involved a Pine street building taken by a bank to meet increased business requirements and the leasing of large space in a Madison avenue building by a leading silk concern. The growth of Staten Island as a promising center for industrial activity was emphasized the lease of a large tract at Stapleton to an English manufacturing concern.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 24, as against 18 last week and 16 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 9 as compared with 5 last week and 9 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 15, as compared with 13 last week and 7 a year ago.

From the Bronx 10 sales at private contract were reported, as against 9 last week and 11 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 496 of this issue.

Adds to Broadway Holdings.

An important purchase in the automobile section involved the nine-story Peerless Building at 1762 Broadway, with an "L" to Fifty-seventh street, which was sold by the Doan Realty Company, representing the Peerless Motor Car Company, to the Chevrolet Company. Recently the same company purchased the nine-story Demarest Building on the southeast corner of Broadway and Fifty-seventh street. The Peerless Building fronts 70 feet on Broadway and 25 feet on Fifty-seventh street, the northerly and southerly frontage measuring about 92 feet. The two buildings have a combined frontage of 136 feet on Broadway and 141 feet on Fifty-seventh street, the easterly and southerly lines measuring 116 and 91.6 feet, respectively. The General Motors Company, through the Chevrolet Company, now controls the block front on the east side of Broadway, between Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh streets, with the exception of the Broadway Tabernacle at the Fifty-sixth street corner. These two investments involve close to $1,500,000. The Cross & Brown Company negotiated the sale.

A San Francisco Buyer.

The Charles F. Noyes Company has sold for Max Marx for about $50,000, all cash, to Edward H. O'Brien, of San Francisco, the Richardson Building, a seven-story office structure, at 124 Front street on lot 18 by 75. The building is 100 per cent. rented at an aggregate rental of nearly $6,000. The property is well located, adjoining the corner of Wall and Water streets, leased by the Noyes Company to G. Amsinck & Co. for 21 years, and also abuts the Beadel Estate holdings at Wall and Front streets. Earlier in the week Mr. O'Brien purchased through the same broker 95-97 Front street, corner of Gouvener Lane, and both transactions were made on an all cash basis. The Noyes Company has been appointed Mr. O'Brien's agents. The Front street building just purchased is in the neighborhood where a great deal of activity has occurred. Lanborn & Co. are erecting an office building at 130-132 Front street, corner of Pine, and Joseph F. Cullman recently purchased the Venezuela Building at 135 Front street.

John Street Investment Purchase.

Charles L. Huisking, head of a large drug brokerage firm, has purchased through the Charles F. Noyes Company from Frederick J. Stimson the five-story building at 110 John street, covering a lot about 20 by 50. The property was valued at $35,000. Mr. Huisking is the owner of 5 Platt street adjoining, and by this purchase now controls a plottage of about 3,000 sq. ft., with entrances on both John and Platt streets. He will probably make extensive alterations to the property just purchased, and use 110 John street exclusively for the offices of his firm, maintaining his present quarters at 5 Platt street for warehouse and shipping purposes.

Plan Long Island Aero Club.

Prominent New Yorkers interested in aviation and hydroplane practise have purchased a tract of 260 acres at Lloyd's Neck, L. I., under the name of the Lloyd's Neck Club, of which Reginald C. Vanderbilt is president. It will be used to further Government work in this field. The tract has a frontage of two and a half miles on the Sound and Lloyd's Harbor, and almost in the centre of the tract is a lake of about ten acres. Its location for schooling and post-graduate work in aviation and hydroplaning is considered ideal. Few changes will be necessary to place the property in almost immediate Governmental use. A farm house on the property, together with portable barracks, will furnish comfortable quarters for aviators. The vice-presidents of the club are Henry Payne Whitney and Lawrence Lewis Gillespie. Samuel Willets is secretary and Henry Sanderson treasurer. With them on the board of governors are C. Oliver Iselin, Edward D. Morgan, Frederick N. Watriss, Elbert H. Gary, T. Coleman Du Pont, Cornelius K. G. Billings, and others equally prominent. After the war it is planned to make the club a great centre of social outdoor life. In due time a clubhouse will be erected and an eighteen-hole golf course, a polo field, and a race course will be laid out.

Manhattan-Brooklyn Trade.

Meister Builders, Inc., have sold to the Progressive Realty Company, 229 East Twelfth street, a seven and a half story elevator apartment house, on plot 50 by 103.3, held at $100,000. In part payment the company took fifteen two-family houses at 491 to 525 Alabama avenue, East New York, on a plot 300 by 100.

Buys Long Island City Plant.

The American Chiclé Company bought from the American Bar Lock Co. its property on the north side of Borden avenue, 275 ft. east of building, covering six lots. The property has been held at $50,000, and adjoins the six lots to the west, the property recently sold to the same company, on which a building is now being erected to be used in conjunction with this building as an experimental laboratory for the refining of gum. M. & L. Hess, Inc., were the brokers.

RECENT LEASES.

Bank Takes More Space.

In order to meet increasing business demands the Mercantile Bank of the Americas, Inc., now at 38 Pine street, has leased for its exclusive occupancy the entire nine-story building adjoining at 40 to 44 Pine street, next to the corner of William street. The lease was arranged by Horace S. Ely & Co. for Mary A. Hoyt, Angelus A. Morgan and Gertrude L. Hoyt. The building just taken has been occupied by various concerns for office purposes, and will be extensively remodeled to meet the special needs of the bank.

The leasing concern is an American bank for foreign trade established in 1915, and controlled by Brown Brothers & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., the Guarantee Trust Company, and the Central Union Trust Company of this city, and other banking firms from out of town. It has branches in Paris, France; Barcelona, Spain, and various parts of South America.

$300,000 Store Lease.

Huberth & Huberth have rented the entire Broadway frontage of 75 feet in the New York Evening Journal Building, from 58th to 59th streets, with a frontage of 50 feet on 58th street and 48 feet on Columbus Circle, for a long term of years to the Auto Supply Company, dealers in motor accessories, at a gross rental of $300,000.

Big Madison Avenue Lease.

Pease & Elliman have leased for the 31st-Madison Company, of which Frederick Tench is president, the store, basement, first and second floors in 135-41 Madison avenue, which is built around the northeast corner of 31st street and Madison avenue. The Duplan Silk Company, now located on Fourth avenue, is the lessee. This space has been occupied by the Peck & Hills Furniture Company, which has taken through Pease & Elliman a large amount of space in the upper part of the same building. The total rental which the Duplan Company will pay is in the neighborhood of $400,000. The George Rosenfeld Company represented the 31st-Madison Company. This lease represents a considerable advance in rental over the previous one, and proves the great existing demand for such space.

UNITED SERVICE

Conservation

Much money can be wasted and inconvenience caused by the failure to provide sufficient outlets for the use of the electric current in connection with the many appliances that have become part of the every-day life—in the home and elsewhere.

In planning the new building as well as in remodeling and bringing up to date the old, both owner and agent will see the advantage of installing sufficient outlets to fill the needs and desires of the tenants.

Engineering School Ideas.

Larger problems of engineering education are discussed and new teaching methods outlined in the eleventh bulletin of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, issued Thursday. This study of the country's engineering education for the last fifty years has been in process of preparation for the last four years by the Foundation in co-operation with the joint committee on engineering education of the National Engineering Societies, and the bulletin, which is the final condensed result of the four years' work, was prepared by Dr. Charles R. Mann, formerly associate professor of physics in the University of Chicago, now chairman of the Advisory Board to the War Department Committee on Education.

The need for such investigation into engineering curricula has been apparent for several years; the criticism having been frequently made that the teaching of engineering had not developed consistently with the progress of applied science in general, and that the teaching modifications made from time to time have been such that coherence and unity and a general consistence of purpose were lost from the courses. Ten years ago the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education appointed a committee to make a study of the situation, and with this committee were associated delegates from the five great national engineering societies. It is this joint committee with which the Carnegie Foundation has done its work of research.

The present study of the situation is not merely historical and critical, but constructive, methods of dealing with the chief problems being suggested in detail. The larger problems are considered to be those of admission, content of courses, faculty organization and curriculum, and among the suggestions are noted the necessity for more objective methods of rating and testing students and more accurate records of their progress; the need for closer co-operation between the various departments in each school; the introduction of practical experience with engineering materials into the freshman year, and the increase in the emphasis placed upon the humanities and humanistic studies. The chapters on admission and on testing and grading give a series of original experiments carried out by Prof. E. L. Thorndike, of Columbia University, who is working out a sounder method of measuring real engineering ability.

East Side Dwelling Sold.

Frederick J. Sterner, architect, who has modernized a number of dwellings in the upper Park avenue district, has concluded a quick and profitable realty deal in that quarter. He has disposed of the four-story and basement dwelling at 121 East Sixty-fourth street, on lot 20 by 100.5, between Park and Lexington avenues, to a buyer who will occupy the house. Mr. Sterner acquired the property a month ago through Pease & Elliman.

Dentistry College Buys.

The New York College of Dentistry, at 205 and 207 East Twenty-third street, has arranged for an important extension of its activities through the purchase of the former home of the Manhattan Trade School for Girls, at 209 to 213 East Twenty-third street, adjoining. The school is six stories—the same height as the college building—and occupies a plot 73.2 by 100. With it the college almost trebles its present accommodations, getting control of a plot that fronts 122 feet on Twenty-third street, adjoining the northeast corner of Third avenue, which is occupied by the New York Ophthalmic Hospital. Sale of the property was arranged by the building committee of the Manhattan Trade School for Girls, of which V. Everit Macy is chairman. The College of Dentistry will acquire title on Oct. 30. The Manhattan Trade School vacated the Twenty-third street building last August to take possession of the ten-story structure at the northwest corner of Lexington avenue and Twenty-second street, erected by the City of New York at an estimated cost of $700,000.

Halt School Extensions.

All extension or enlargement of public schooling has been halted by the Board of Education pending an investigation of the financial condition of the Department of Education for the remaining months of this year and for all of next year. The members of the board discussed the situation at an executive session before and after the regular meeting Wednesday, and were agreed that every possible effort should be made to keep within the budget for 1919 and at the same time increase the salaries of teachers as suggested by the Board of Estimate. This means that it is going to be necessary to keep down present expenditures so as to release approximately $1,500,000. If present efforts fail to accomplish this either of two procedures will be followed—the board will use what unencumbered balances it has or will request an appropriation to make up the balance.

Plan Newport Monastery.

An American monastery is to be established in Portsmouth, near Newport, R. I., by the Order of St. Benedictine Monks, the site for which has just been purchased. The American Benedictine House or Priory will be under the supervision of Downside Abbey, England, made famous by Cardinal Gasquet, but eventually it will be purely an American institution. Its founding is for the purpose of training Americans as monks. The property purchased for this purpose is known as Hall Manor, comprising an estate of 82 acres, with large residence and outbuildings. These structures will be utilized until it is possible to erect a suitable monastery. Fr. H. Leonard Sergeant, who recently came from England to the Newman School in Hackensack, will be in charge.

Bronx Parkway Work.

The Bronx Parkway Commission has informed the Board of Estimate and Apportionment that it could not suspend certain of its activities because of a ruling of the corporation counsel.

Some months ago the Board of Estimate and Apportionment requested the corporation counsel, William P. Burr, to apply for a court order restraining the commission from further acquisition of real estate during the war.

In a communication to the corporation counsel the commission says that because of the act creating the commission the lands constituting the parkway were described the commission directed to acquire title to them. The owners are entitled, the commission says, to payment as soon as the price is determined, and nothing is to be gained by delaying payments, because the awards bear 6 per cent. from the date of vesting of title.

Liberty Shaft to Remain.

The red brick shaft that is being built in City Hall Park with bricks representing purchases of $50 Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds at the Liberty Bell in the last campaign is to remain standing for the duration of the war.

The fact that work on this shaft was begun under a temporary permit issued by the Park Department gave rise to the belief that it would be torn down when the loan drive was over. It was explained at the office of the Park Commissioner this week, however, that the temporary permit referred to the duration of the war.

The shaft, which is to be eighty-six feet high, stood at forty-seven feet today. It will probably be completed before the end of next week.

The shaft, when finished, will contain 53,563 bricks, representing $2,678,150 in bonds. Forty-one thousand four hundred and fifty-eight bricks were in place today.

Ending Railroad Congestion.

Director General McAdoo's survey of Federal administration of the railroads at six North Atlantic ports was made public this week. Export accumulations at these ports last December amounted to 44,320 carloads, approximately 2,000,000 tons, with 12,552 loads standing in cars. They had been reduced Oct. 1 to 18,796 carloads, of which 5,383 were on wheels.

Data compiled by A. H. Smith, the Regional Director, show that in New York, which handles 60 per cent. of North Atlantic exports, the accumulations of freight in cars, on piers and in warehouses, and unloaded on the ground, were 26,388 tons in December, 16,474 in March, 15,945 in June, 11,638 in September and 9,578 in October, being 63.97 per cent. of decrease.

Under the old system material was rushed to the ports and held standing in cars, while speculators waited for advantageous prices. By the new way receivers of freight were required to obtain permits before a receiving railroad would furnish a car, and the consignee had to satisfy a supervising committee of railroad men of his ability to remove freight promptly on arrival at the station of delivery, thus vesting in central authority absolute control of the traffic handled.

Weight of Big Buildings.

The Municipal Building weighs 188,000 tons, the Woolworth Building 103,000, and the Equitable building 203,000 tons.

Queens Borough Notes.

The Borough of Queens has 196.3 miles of natural waterfront.

The first white man to own the Rockaway coast, stretching from Belle Harbor to Nassau County, was John Palmer, a New York merchant, who acquired it in 1785, from Tack-a-Pou-Sha, an Indian chief.

Damage from Fires.

The cost of fires each year is one-half the cost of all the new buildings erected in a year.

Defective flues are responsible for 13 per cent of all the fires.

All fires are the same size at their start. Every second counts, so be prepared.

An ounce of fire prevention is worth a pound of fire extinguishment.

"Living in the Country."

In the year 1787 Colonel Ramsay, member of Congress, representing part of New York City, in describing his new home near Leonard street, declared he was "living out in the country."

In Memory of John Chrystie.

Chrystie street was so named to perpetuate the memory of John Chrystie, an officer in the American army, who was killed in the War of 1812.

Base Hospital at Camp Mills for 4000 Patients

Clough - Bourne Corporation Gets Government Contract for $13,000,000 — Buildings Erected in Record Time

CAMP MILLS at Garden City, Long Island, is being changed from a temporary to a permanent cantonment to accommodate 50,000 men. The general contract covering all phases of the work, which will involve an expenditure of $13,000,000, has been awarded to the Clough-Bourne Corporation of 103 Park avenue. Active construction work has begun, and three hospital wings and a number of barracks have been entirely completed. Hospital facilities for about 600 men will be ready by November 14.

The contractor's daily force engaged on the project numbers 5,000 men, and this number will be increased to 8,000. Walter H. Clough, president of the Clough-Bourne Corporation, is directing the construction, and he is being assisted by C. L. Pierson, general superintendent of the corporation. Col. C. H. Smith, of the United States Quartermaster Department, is the construction officer representing the Government.

The contractors are not experiencing any difficulty in obtaining the necessary labor, since large forces are being recruited from the Metropolitan District, and they are working in conjunction with the United States Employment Service. There is, however, a present need for about 1,000 additional carpenters and 2,000 more laborers.

The plans, which have been prepared under Government direction, call for the erection of 1,200 buildings, consisting of mess halls, kitchens, barracks, officers' quarters, latrines, laundries, large base hospitals to accommodate 4,000 patients, and nurses quarters. About ten miles of concrete roads will be built, and complete water, sewerage and lighting systems and street layouts installed.

The present day war-time efficiency of the American builder was again demonstrated by the completion of an entire block of buildings at the cantonment in what may be considered record time. Last Sunday, the men of the Clough-Bourne Corporation raised and covered one block containing 16 barracks and four mess halls in nine hours. Work started at 9:45 a. m. All the walls and second floor beams were raised and placed at 11 o'clock, the roof framing on all the buildings was ready by 2 p. m., and the bridge, bracing, water cables and sidings up to the second floor level, including hoods over the windows, completed by 4:30 p. m., when work for the day ceased. On Monday morning at 8 o'clock construction commenced again, and by 11 o'clock the entire exteriors and interiors were completed, the entire work having been completed during a period covering one full work day of nine hours.

Extensive Government Housing Program

More than 100 housing projects have been taken up by the various Government agencies so far, and the result of the work must be to exercise an important salutary influence upon the housing problem throughout the country. Uncle Sam has not only undertaken war upon an unprecedented scale, but, in the midst of the almost unlimited energy demanded by the war he has found time, so to speak, to lift himself up by the bootstraps over some critical and annoying pre-war conditions.

The history of each of these Government projects is a fascinating story in itself. However, but few can be mentioned here, just enough to show that not all of the money Uncle Sam is raising for war is being destroyed in the waging of war, but that much of it is being put into splendid investment. Following are descriptions of some of the past projects:

Nitro, near Charleston, W. Va., is a wooden city of 1,700 bungalows and many dormitories, bunkhouses and the like, planned and created on vacant land by a single builder, Thompson-Starrett Company, for the Hercules Powder Corporation. September finds it complete and crowded. The bungalows are ready cut construction and can be taken down and sold when the war ends.

The highest grade village is at Perryville, Md. It catches the eye from the Pennsylvania Railroad trains crossing the Susquehanna—a pleasant town of white cottages with green roofs. These houses have three or four bedrooms, fireplaces, furnaces, good electric fixtures, living rooms 11 by 18, and spacious porches. Only a few types are used, but monotony is avoided by adroit spotting and a good street plan.

In the future is one town that deserves special mention—Neville Island—for there lies the greatest chance of all. Neville Island is a long bar in the Ohio River, two miles below the city limits of Pittsburgh, where the United States Steel Corporation is building for the Government a great permanent cannon and shell plant at a cost of $140,000,000. It will employ upward of 12,000 men—possibly 25,000. The region is already congested and a great housing development is indicated on an admirable site of farm land on the southern shore.

The land is 400 feet above the river, broken by ravines, and from a low bridge across the shallow and unnavigable branch of the river a roadway will lead a mile up to the town through one of these wooded ravines, following a brook which at one point could make a small lake. From the head of this ravine the plateau spreads like a four leaf clover between other ravines, which would naturally be parks. The $7,000,000 which is reserved for this project is only a starter.

At least $20,000,000 more will be required from later appropriations, and a new city of at least 5,000 dwellings—25,000 people—seems certain to be put there before the end of 1919.

The U. S. Government, through the Bureau of Industrial Housing, of which Otto M. Eidlitz is director, is planning a housing development at Niagara Falls, N. Y., which will involve an expenditure of about $6,000,000. Plans for the project which call for the erection of 152 houses, 2 stories in height of brick and stucco material, have been prepared by Dean & Dean, 137 So. LaSalle street, Chicago, Ill.

The town layout has been designed by John Nolan, Cambridge, Mass., Town planner. Walter McCullough, 407 Gluck Bldg., Niagara Falls, is the engineer. The general contract has been awarded to the George W. Stiles Construction Co., 11 So. LaSalle street, Chicago, Ill.

Another interesting housing development is planned by the United States Government at Mariner's Harbor, Staten Island, the contract for which has just been awarded to Bing & Bing, 119 West 40th street. Plans for the project, which will cost about $400,000, have been prepared by Delano & Aldrich and Charles H. Higgins, 126 E. 38th street, Manhattan; A. D. Brinkerhoff, 527 Fifth avenue, town planner, and Pollock & Tabor, 113 Park Row, engineers.

The buildings will be used for the housing of employees in the various shipbuilding yards. The plans called for 18 double houses with accommodations of 6 rooms and bath for 36 families; 18 double houses containing accommodations for a similar number of families, but arranged in suites of 5 rooms and bath and an additional apartment house to house 30 families.

A hundred houses in a single month for employees of shipyards is the job undertaken by a construction company of Portland, Ore., on a contract with the United States Government. The individual houses are to be sold to the company's employees virtually at cost and on the easy payment plan.

Urgent necessity for these homes was responsible for the agreement of the company to start construction upon all of them at once, and to finish them all within the given time. They will be built entirely of wood.

Wood is being transformed into a house every sixteen minutes, according to the statement recently issued by a lumber and supply concern of Huntington, W. Va., having a contract with the Government. This company has been building these houses at that rate of speed for the Government for many months, and in these little portable, standardized, knock-down and set-up houses the war work of Uncle Sam is being conducted from the farthest line to within sight of the shell craters.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

DURING the year 1918 the cost of building materials has outstripped other commodities in rate of increase. This does not necessarily mean that building materials have made a greater total gain in price, but rather that they have advanced more recently. Building materials were slow to show the general trend which characterized the commodity market previous to this year, but when other things began to fall off somewhat, however, this group started to tend more definitely upward.

The growing importance of information about the cost of living becomes readily apparent in connection with the possibility of the establishment of maximum wage rates by the War Industries Board. Presumably these rates will be applied according to a zone system, and there will be differentials established according to the variation in the cost of living for the various localities. It is anticipated that wages will be set on the basis of what the War Policies Board considers will give an adequate margin over and above the bare cost of living. These rates undoubtedly will be somewhat flexible and from time to time adjusted in accordance with changing conditions.

An official report of the Federal Reserve Board summarizing conditions in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts with respect to construction, building and engineering, is substantially as follows for the three Eastern Districts:

District No. 1—"Boston." The advanced cost of labor and materials of every kind has restricted all unnecessary building; and operations, except for government work, are being materially reduced. While there is an extraordinary demand for lumber by the United States Government, retail lumber trade is very quiet, with little prospect of improvement. This district embraces the New England States.

District No. 2—"New York." There is scarcity of materials even for the government program, which comprises virtually total construction. Government housing projects call for structural steel, brick, linseed oil for paint, etc., but supplies are inadequate. In addition to New York State, this district includes Connecticut and northern New Jersey.

District No. 3—"Philadelphia." Scarcely any activity, except for war industries. This district is limited to Delaware, central and southern New Jersey and central and eastern Pennsylvania.

Increasing seriousness in the situation of the spruce and fir industry has been evident for some time. Vast quantities of the wood are needed for the maintenance of present speed in airplane output. Only 5 per cent. of the wood cut is acceptable for this purpose, however, and this necessitates a side-cut of 95 per cent. In the case of one mill this approximates 4,000,000 feet a month, estimated at a cost of $100,000. This condition is aggravated, moreover, by the reluctance of banks to make loans over 40 per cent. of the present market value, on account of the bad position they would otherwise encounter should peace come rather suddenly.

The President has approved the agreement made by the Price Fixing Committee of the War Industries Board with the representatives of the iron ore, pig iron and steel interests, that the maximum prices now prevailing on iron ore, pig iron and iron and steel products be continued in effect for the three months ending December 31, 1918, with the following exceptions:

1. Lake Superior iron ore.

Base prices of Lake Superior iron ore delivered to lake ports are increased 25 cents per gross ton on and after October 1, 1918, subject to the following condition: These increased prices are based on the rail freight rates now in effect and on the present lake rates, and in the event of any increase or decrease in either rail or lake rates said prices shall be increased or decreased accordingly on all deliveries made during the continuance of such increased or decreased freight rates.

2. Pig iron.

The base price on basic iron is increased to $33 f. o. b. furnace. The base price on No. 2 foundry is increased to $34 f. o. b. furnace. The price of standard Bessemer iron is fixed at $35.20 f. o. b. furnace. The above prices are subject to the following changes from previous practice as regards delivery:

(a) Pig iron produced in Virginia, Tennessee and Birmingham districts and the scattering districts south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, including furnaces at St. Louis, Mo., but not including furnaces bordering on the Ohio River, shall be sold on an f. o. b. Birmingham, Ala., basis.

REPUTATION

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

(b) Pig iron produced in the Eastern district, i. e., from all blast furnaces located east of the Allegheny Mountains and north of the Potomac River, shall be sold on an f. o. b. Pittsburgh basis.

(c) Pig iron from all other producing districts or furnaces shall be sold f. o. b. furnace as heretofore.

No new contracts calling for delivery of any of the above commodities or articles on or after January 1, 1919, are to specify a price unless coupled with a clause making the price subject to revision by any authorized United States Government agency, so that all deliveries after that date shall not exceed the maximum price then in force, although ordered or contracted for in the meantime. It is expected that all manufacturers and producers will observe the maximum prices now fixed.

Common Brick.—The situation remains unchanged, the condition of the market continuing to be characterized by a light demand. The prices remain $13 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock.

SUMMARY—Transactions in the North River

brick market for the week ending Friday, October 25. Condition of market: Demand light; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $13 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 9; sales, 9. Distribution: Manhattan, 3; Brooklyn, 2; New Jersey points, 3; outside points, 1.

Steel.—War requirements show no abatement whatever, as illustrated by orders for portable track for shipment to France which show a complete doubling in rate of demand over a recent period. Production, moreover, while it can scarcely be reported as keeping pace with this demand, is also showing a definite increase. September output showed an excess of 12 per cent. over August, with every indication that October should be a still more favorable month, with continuance of this high rate except as it may be temporarily interrupted by extreme cold weather.

Present peace talk has had no adverse effect upon the speed of production, nor will the ultimate coming of peace disrupt the market. Although there is no slackening of present effort, manufacturers are necessarily concerning themselves with the solution of the problem which will confront the industry with the advent of peace, and the readjustment which the transition period would imply for an industry so expanded with war production. In many cases the agreement of the Government to reimburse manufacturers if war contracts were suddenly canceled would aid the situation. Moreover, price fixing arrangements of the Government would figure in stabilizing the market. For a time at least, after the war difficulties of readjustment will be made less severe by the continuance of a great portion of the present bulk of demand.

Foreign demand, emanating from reconstruction which will be maintained in great volume, as well as equipment and construction needed for railroads, and a certain amount of building during the reconstruction period—these factors will contribute largely toward stabilizing the market for this important industry, other war demands as such, are discontinued.

Old Material.—Steel plants are constantly urging shipments of heavy melting steel and will take whatever is offered. The volume of business being done by dealers is being steadily reduced, largely through inability to obtain supplies.

Lead.—The lead situation, under the complete control of the Lead Producers Committee which handles all distribution, remains unchanged. Prices continue fixed by agreement at a maximum of 7.75c., St. Louis, or 8.05c., New York. There are no inquiries reported, all apparently going directly to the committee.

Lumber.—There is little change in the local lumber market. The embargo on forest products is still effective, although necessary permits for both Government and public supplies are being secured with fair despatch. The explosion at Perth Amboy on the 5th resulted in a large demand for lumber to reconstruct damage done to both Amboys, as well as to speed up the reconstruction of the Gillespie plant. Immediately following the explosion trucks were commandeered and lumber supplies were drawn from all New Jersey districts, New York, etc. The demand for lumber in the retail trade continues of fair volume and prices are firm all along the line. Supplies in the yards are well up to normal, but of course trade is limited under the embargo, permits being available where proper proof is given that the stock is necessary for the replenishing of supplies in yards.

Charles E. Halback.

Charles E. Halback, president of C. E. Halback & Co. at 23 East 26th street, one of the best known contractors in ornamental iron work in this city, died suddenly last Sunday night at his residence 2861 Bainbridge avenue, Bronx, aged 52.

Mr. Halback was for many years superintendent for Winslow Bros., establishing his own business in 1906. He was a 32d degree Mason, a member of Polar Star Lodge No. 245 F. & A. M., and had other Masonic affiliations. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Flora H., and two sons, Charles Edward, Jr., and J. Henry. Funeral services were held at the Crescent Avenue Baptist Church on Wednesday afternoon. Interment was at Woodlawn Cemetery in the family plot.

Edison Service? —Of Course

New buildings, or buildings made over, they are mostly the same when it comes to electric service—none but the best will do

That is why, as in the case of the ten story office structure at 14-18 Broadway, Edison Service is so often installed. This building is being entirely remodelled. Its hydraulic elevators are being displaced by electric elevators, motor driven pumps are taking the place of steam pumps and the private generating plant has given way for electric service from the Central Station

When the improvement is completed, the electrical requirements, totaling 2,000 lamps and 180 horse-power in motors, will be supplied by The New York Edison Company

Empty Broadway Stores May Find Tenants

Railroad Administration Will Release Tenants Affected by Federal War Rulings

REAL estate men throughout the city will be interested in the announcement that the United States Railroad Administration, through the New York City Real Estate Advisory Committee, has inaugurated an important innovation in its leasing policy affecting the stores formerly occupied as ticket selling and information offices. These stores were placed on the market last May, when it was decided to consolidate all the ticket selling places into four large branches.

Under the new arrangement, those tenants who are called into army service after they have affixed their signatures to leases of stores formerly occupied as ticket selling offices will be relieved from the financial responsibility incumbent upon them under the terms of the lease. Similarly, if a tenant's business is declared to be non-essential by the Government and he is forced to give it up in accordance with the Federal edict, he will not be required to meet the original lease requirements and his lease will be cancelled at a minimum loss to all parties concerned. The adoption of this new policy is expected to greatly facilitate the leasing of the stores now available in various parts of the city.

Most of the stores were located on Broadway in localities where there has been decided real estate inactivity and all of them were held under leases for terms of years direct from property owners. A number of the stores were rented almost as soon as they came into the market. However, as a result of general real estate conditions and a slackened demand for store space in many localities, the rental of the remainder became no easy task, especially since the Advisory Committee offered no concessions and rigidly maintained its policy of obtaining the normal renting value of the stores.

When the United States Government placed its necessary restrictions upon non-essential business, many prospective store tenants in lines coming possibly within this ruling, withdrew from the market. A similar situation was created when the draft age was raised to 45 years, and a number of business men, subject to this call, deemed it inadvisable to tie themselves up in iron-clad leases.

In view of these factors in the situation, the New York City Real Estate Advisory Committee, acting for the Railroad Administration, decided to remove such restrictions against lessees of their store properties and consented to insert lease clauses which would relieve lessees, in the event of their being drafted or in the event that the merchandise which they handle is declared non-essential. Under the new clause, the Government will cancel the lease with a minimum loss to all concerned.

About thirty stores and offices are effected by this new policy, twenty-eight having been rented since the committee came into being on May 1.

When the United States Government, as part of the war program, took over the operation of the railroads, one of the things that presented itself was the keen competition between the ticket selling offices of the various railroads. It was decided in the interests of economy to consolidate these agencies so that now there are only four established at such strategic and accessible locations as 114 West 42d Street, 31 West 32d Street, 57 Chambers Street and 64 Broadway.

The original ticket selling stores were at the following Broadway numbers, 84, 94, 149, 170, 171, 172, 236, 237, 290, 377, 385, 387, 398, 399, 1158, 1182, 1183, 1198, 1200, 1216, 1232, 1236, 1238, 1244, 1245, 1246, 1270, 1276, 1278, 1282, 1354, 1460, 1465; also 263, 264, 487, 501 Fifth Avenue and 140 West 42d Street, and 2094 Seventh Avenue. In Brooklyn, the railroads used stores at 4 Court Street, 24 Court Street, 9 Flatbush Avenue, 264, 236-238 and 505 Fulton Street. There were in addition a number of small offices in buildings in various parts of the city.

Among the tenants who have been obtained for Manhattan stores are the Gillette Safety Razor Company for 172 Broadway; Bigio Brothers & Company, woolens, for 387 Broadway, and the St. Regis Restaurant Company, for 1460 Broadway. The Italian Savings and Discount Company, identified with the Guaranty Trust Company, took the store at 399 Broadway.

All the Brooklyn space has been leased, the tenants including Henry Willard, stationer, for 24 Court Street, and the Louise Waist Shop, for 505 Fulton Street.

The New York City Real Estate Advisory Committee, which was appointed for the purpose of sub-leasing these stores, consists of the real estate representatives of five of the railroads, namely: H. A. Howarth of the Long Island Railroad, chairman; H. M. Andrews, of the Erie Railroad; R. D. Van Duzer, of the Lehigh Valley; F. A. Von Moschzisker, of the Pennsylvania, and H. R. Wilson, of the New York Central. Francis M. Valk, associated with the organization of Douglas L. Elliman, was made secretary and placed in active charge of the office.

The financial saving from the consolidation of all these ticket selling activities is indicated by the results already attained. With half the remaining space still to be rented, enough has been realized to cover the rental of the new consolidated ticket selling places, so that when all the former offices are rented the Government may hope to realize a saving in rental of close to $250,000 a year.

Additional income has been obtained from temporary leases of centrally located stores which are still on the market and are being held under terms calling for brief cancellation notices, if tenants are obtained under long term leasing arrangements.

Most of the old railroad offices are in favorably located sections where the demand for stores should soon be good.

Fire Prevention a National and Personal Duty

Loss, Largely Preventable, Amounts to $250,000,000 Yearly—Rules That Every Realty Man Should Enforce

THIS is Fire Prevention Week and President Wilson has declared that "preventable fire is more than a private misfortune. It is a public dereliction. At a time like this, of emergency and of manifest necessity for the conservation of national resources, it is more than ever a matter of deep and pressing consequence, that every means should be taken to prevent this evil."

Fifteen hundred buildings are damaged by fires in the United States every day. The money loss totals about $250,000,000 yearly, of which $192,000,000, it is known, might be partly or wholly saved. Carelessness is the cause of most of this loss, and in this respect the United States leads all other nations. The per capita fire loss for the last year for which figures are available show the following figures: United States, $2.10; France, 49 cents; England, 33 cents; Germany, 28 cents; Italy, 25 cents; Austria, 25 cents; Switzerland, 15 cents; Holland, 11 cents.

The average of all is a little less than fifty cents; the average of the seven European countries without the United States is a little less than twenty-seven cents. The inclusion of our figures nearly doubles the European average, and then multiplies it four times in our own loss, which is nearly eight times the average European loss.

The following fourteen questions should be answered by every owner and manager of a factory or plant of any kind:

Are your employes organized into an efficient fire-fighting unit?

Where is your nearest fire-alarm box?

Whose business is it to turn in an alarm—by day—by night?

Are your chemical fire extinguishers charged and operative? How long since you looked them over?

Under what precautions do you admit strangers to your plant?

Have you a night watchman? Is he physically and mentally efficient?

Are your elevator-shafts, areas, spaces under stairways and benches and dark corners clear of rubbish, oily wastes and debris?

Is there smoking in your plant by your employes or by you?

Are any matches except safety matches allowed in your plant?

Have you metal containers for rubbish? Are these emptied in a safe place daily?

Have your lighting and heating equipments been overhauled for the winter?

Is your standpipe and hose equipment in order?

Is your water supply effective and reliable?

Is some one of your employes responsible to (?)

The following seven rules should be posted and observed in all factories:

1. Learn the factory safety rules and observe them.

2. If you discover a fire, give the alarm promptly. Do you know how to do this? Ask to be shown.

3. Don't smoke where it is not permitted.

4. Never drop a lighted match, cigar or cigarette; be sure that it has no spark left before throwing it away.

5. Report suspicious strangers seen about the plant.

6. If you notice any unusual smoke, the overheating of any machine, or any other accident, notify the foreman at once.

7. Carry your precautions into your own home; keep your house and yard free from rubbish, and help others to do the same.

New Leasing Commissions

NEW leasing commissions adopted by the Real Estate Board of New York went into effect yesterday and call for rates fifty per cent. higher than have heretofore been charged for renting real estate.

Following a comprehensive investigation of conditions surrounding the real estate situation occasioned by the increased operating costs of organizations having to do with the supervision of real property, the Board of Governors came to the conclusion that it was equitable to revise renting commissions on a parity with the new conditions, and thereupon voted unanimously to make the upward revision.

Every class of real estate is affected by the new renting rates, with the exception of furnished houses and furnished apartments, which are to remain at the current rate of 5 per cent.

The rates follow:

Renting for a term of one year or under on an amount equal to one year's rental,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  per cent.

For renting private dwellings or apartments unfurnished for the season, on the total rent to be paid,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  per cent.

For renting private dwellings or apartments furnished for the season on the total rent to be paid, 5 per cent.

Leases for a period of more than one year and less than three years,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. on the average of full year rentals. Fractional parts of a year are not to be considered.

Renting for terms of three years or longer on aggregate gross rental of \$200,000 or less,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. on aggregate gross rental; on transactions involving an aggregate gross rental of over \$200,000 the  $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. rate will govern up to \$200,000 and 1 per cent. additional on the amount of the gross rental in excess of \$200,000.

Budget for 1919 Adopted

THE Board of Estimate and Apportionment adopted the city budget for 1919. The new budget totals $248,025,434.88, which is an increase of $9,901,675.68 over the budget for the current year, which was passed by the Mitchel administration.

The proposed budget, which was filed October 21, totaled $248,108,487.38, but since that date deductions have been made.

The appropriation of the Public Service Commission for salaries of employes on rapid transit operation was reduced $48,970. The Department of Docks and Ferries shows a saving of $16,125 on dredging. The next largest cut is shown in the Police Department, which amounts to $9,360 for salaries of regular employes, such as the uniformed men, surgeons and others.

The Budget now goes to the Board of Aldermen for action.

The budget now goes to the Aldermen, and although they cannot increase items they are allowed to reduce them. The Mayor may veto the decreases and the Aldermen may override the veto by a two-thirds vote.

New Viaduct Spans 42nd Street at Park Avenue

Driveway Around Grand Central Nears Completion, Calling Attention to Greatest Hotel and Traffic Centre

THE viaduct at Park avenue and Forty-second street to the driveway around Grand Central Terminal is approaching completion. One of the giant spans was flung across Forty-second street this week and the work is being pushed rapidly. When the drive is completed another great north and south thoroughfare will be opened up and the congestion on Fifth avenue and other streets relieved.

This novel roadway is the result of efforts of the

It will take several more years to complete developing of this great focal point, from which lines of communication lead to all parts of the city. Work will continue until the section in question forms one of the world's greatest squares. The greatest improvement the coming year will be the completion of the Commodore, a twenty-eight story structure containing striking novelties. This hotel will next year be the home of 1,000,000 travelers—men, women and children. It will be the latest addition to the great group of tall hotels surrounding the Terminal zone controlled by John McE. Bowman. It will be under the personal direction of George W. Sweeney, one of the best known hotel men in America. Its lobbies, parlors, reception rooms, restaurants and cafes will be unusually spacious. It will have the largest ballroom of any hotel in the world, with two tiers of private boxes, available for both entertainments and banquets, seating 3,000 for the first named purpose and 2,000 for the second. It is a $15,000,000 institution. The war has delayed its completion two years but it will open January 1, 1919.

GROUP OF BUILDINGS IN THE GRAND CENTRAL TERMINAL ZONE.

Fifth Avenue Association and others identified with property in this section who took action some time ago for its prompt construction as a means of relieving street congestion. A traffic count made more than a year ago on Fifth avenue, Thirty-fourth, Forty-second and Forty-eighth streets, showed the urgent need of building the viaduct. An analytical report of the statistics then gathered made it plain to engineers that Park avenue today, in spite of its being useless between Forty-fifth and Forty-second streets, accommodates a tremendous amount of traffic, and when it becomes a continuous thoroughfare it will be used to a far greater degree.

The forwardness of the work on the viaduct, coming so soon after the opening of the dual subway lines and the divergence of underground travel to new transportation routes, calls attention again to the importance of the Grand Central zone. A suggestion has been made that the city give the name of "Pershing Square" to the plot of ground once occupied by the old Grand Union Hotel, which was taken over by the city owing to the necessity of providing for the entrances to the subway station. This proposal may come up later in the Board of Aldermen.

From the accompanying illustration it will be seen that the new Murray Hill hotel at Park avenue between Forty and Fifty-first streets, will be a giant in size and will be as distinctive and compelling a note in New York sky line as the Woolworth building. The plot of ground upon which it will stand will combine the site of the present Murray Hill hotel with additional property adjoining. The lot will contain 37,200 square feet, or almost an acre.

The new Murray Hill will be the realization of a dream of B. L. M. Bates. Mr. Bates planned the Bel-

Mayor's Committee Reviews Building Permits

Applications Made to Chairman McDonald Taken Under Advisement—Basis for Granting Requests Is War Necessity

SEVERAL sessions of the special committee on Building and Construction of the Mayor's Committee on National Defence were held this week in the Hall of Records. This committee acts as a sort of clearing house for the War Industries Board at Washington. The chairman is George McDonald, and the other members are: George H. Benjamin, vice chairman; members of the Executive Committee, John H. Carl, John E. Dordan, Cass Gilbert, Charles J. Kelly, Adrian Larkin, Adolph Lewisohn, Cornelius A. McGuire, and Charles G. M. Thomas.

The committee meets three times a week.

A statement issued by Chairman McDonald says:

"All applicants must appear in person, and the meetings will be open to the public. The application will be passed upon and the decision will be expedited, so as to cause the least possible delay and expense to those seeking to proceed with building construction, this being made possible by reason of close co-operation between the Mayor's Committee and the War Industries Board at Washington.

"I desire to issue a warning to all owners, contractors, architects, and others interested in building construction at this time that no work on buildings of any kind shall be started in New York unless a permit is first obtained from this committee. We request the cordial co-operation of the entire building interests of New York in this matter, reminding them that this committee is organized as a war measure put in operation in New York and vicinity to conserve labor and material.

"The committee, however, will welcome any suggestion or criticism from builders that will help to make its scope and plan operate to the least possible inconvenience of those affected, at the same time serving to accomplish the fullest possible purpose for which it was created."

There were about 125 applications for permission to build on the calendar when the committee got to work. About one-third of these were acted upon during the week. Most of the applications presented on the first day were denied, on the general ground that they were not essential to the prosecution of the war. A few were given leave to renew the application in thirty days, because "the situation might be different."

Practically all the applications at the second hearing were "taken under advisement," which means that an inspection of the work will be made by the committee's inspectors. Most of the applications were for work costing comparatively small sums of money.

The War Industries Board is the final judge as to whether any application which receives the approval of Chairman McDonald's committee shall be allowed.

At a meeting of the committee, at which the presidents of all the boroughs and the superintendents of buildings of all the boroughs attended, it was decided that hereafter any permits issued for new work or alterations should be stamped, subject to the approval of the Mayor's Committee on National Defence.

Chairman McDonald stated, in answer to an inquiry of a spectator, that Circular No. 21 of the War Industries Board, which permitted operations where the cost did not exceed $2,500 to be carried out without review, would continue to be permitted, but application would have to be made to the Mayor's committee. He said the committee would grant permits for such work where it proved the cost is within that amount.

Great Convention of Industrial Chiefs

PLANS for assembling at Atlantic City December 4, 5 and 6, all members of the country's more than 300 industrial war service committees for a great war emergency and reconstruction conference has been announced by the War Service Executive Committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting will bring together from 2,000 to 3,000 industrial leaders to discuss problems that have arisen with the war. National councillors of the Chamber, representing more than 1,100 commercial and industrial organizations which comprise its membership, will meet at the same time and place.

The main purposes of the conference will be the determination of practical methods whereby industry may co-operate still more closely with the Government through a more centralized scheme of organization. This probably can be accomplished best by the creation of a federation of all the war service committees. Questions of reconstruction, too, will be taken up.

For nearly a year the Chamber has been engaged in directing the organization of war service committees in all lines of industry to assist the Government in mobilizing most effectively the country's industries for prosecution of the war. It is evident that however far away the end of the war may be it is necessary to begin to outline a general program of organizing business for the period of reconstruction.

Single industries, acting individually, can scarcely hope to prepare for reconstruction on the scale that will be necessary and a federation of all the war service committees of all the industries will be of inestimable value in co-operating with those agencies of the Government to be created to deal with this subject.

The war service committees represent the most important and best informed body of business men ever associated for a practical and patriotic purpose and the conference therefore will be one of the most important business gatherings ever held in this country.

Certain common interests and duties that bind together all the war service committees include:

To keep efficiency and production of war industries at the highest possible point through stable labor conditions and steady flow of materials through plants, thus assuring the utmost aid in carrying out the war program of the Government.

To keep plant organization and production of non-war industries from falling below the danger line in the fact of shortage of materials, labor and transportation.

To face squarely and constructively the reconstruction period and to be ready through accurate and exhaustive study to lay before such governmental agencies as may be created to deal with reconstruction the necessary data bearing on the subject.

Speakers who already have accepted invitations to appear include Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield, A. C. Bedford, James A. Farrell and Paul Warburg.

mont when he was the manager of the famous old Everett House. There is no hotel man in the world whose judgment in hotel matters is rated higher by his confreres than Mr. Bates.

In the operation of the Belmont and by study of the great hotels of the Bowman group and others which he has seen spring up since he opened the Belmont some twelve years ago, he has gained new ideas, and revised and improved others, and in the opinion of Mr. Bowman and Mr. James Woods, who is now managing director of the Belmont and Murray Hill, who have passed upon the plans, the new Murray Hill will be "the last word" in hotel building for a long time to come.

This group of hotels, the Manhattan, Belmont, Biltmore, Commodore and the new Murray Hill, centered around the Grand Central terminal, and with their foundation in close proximity to the walls of the subway stations, presents one of the most unique, as well as stupendous, real estate features of New York City. The accompanying illustration is designed to show in pictorial form how intimate is the connection between the largest hotel group, the greatest railroad terminal station and the most extensive subway system.

Investigation of Depreciation of Buildings

Proposal to Formulate Uniform Method of Fixing Allowances for Purposes of Federal Taxation

A RECENT meeting of the representatives of large owners of improved real estate, requested the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests to send a circular of inquiry to persons and institutions who charge off depreciation on buildings for purposes of taxation and also of investment accounting. The Council was requested to appoint a committee to manage the investigation and to arrange for further meetings, Mr. George T. Mortimer serving as acting chairman of that committee.

The circular requests certain information as the basis for further discussions and to insure receipt of meeting notices and other information. The circular says in

A conference of real estate interests is proposed to determine taxable income, assessable values and investment profits.

What are you entitled to deduct under the war revenue acts? What are you now charging off for building depreciation?

Informal discussion has developed that there is no uniformity of practice on these points by owners. The Treasury Department is allowing anywhere from one to three per cent. on similar properties belonging to different owners, and there is much criticism of its allowances for depreciation by special purpose buildings. Furthermore, more definite information on the subject of depreciation appears to be essential to the development of a sound investment market for office buildings, apartment houses, lofts and storage buildings.

Allowance for "exhaustion, wear and tear" is construed to include more physical deterioration, and not the other well known charges against actual net income. We believe that Congress never intended such inequity.

The very broadness of the Department's rulings permits of injustice to owners from the widely variant standards adopted by different inspectors, reflecting lack of experience in many cases and applied without appraisal of the property and by "lumping off" the holdings of each owner.

Some complaints refer to the allowances for special purpose buildings of limited life, also for "taxpayers," buildings to be demolished, etc.

The remedy lies either in amendment of the pending bill, which otherwise will re-enact the present provisions and decisions thereunder, or in adequate representations to the Department to establish that an allowance of "exhaustion" must refer to income capacity rather than to mere material decay.

The assessable value of real property, so far as pertains to the improvements placed on the land, should depend upon the net income resulting from the improvement. This is not to be determined by subtraction of cash outgo from the income. It is, or should be, actual income on the investment, for building cost is wiped out when earning capacity of the investment is wiped out.

The State law provides for more accurate assessment than does the Federal, but even here the building is too often assessed according to physical condition rather than to the "taxable ability" which it creates for the owner. For example: Over-assessment of new buildings may result when cost of construction is added to the value of the vacant plot. Under-assessment results when assessors would hide the not infrequent inflation of land value by exaggerated depreciation on the building.

The office building business is in its infancy, from the investment viewpoint. More accurate methods of determining depreciation should improve present holdings and encourage new ones.

The proper charge for depreciation of a modern steel building may be regarded by "the man in the street" to be a nominal amount, while it is new and a very considerable amount when obsolete. But is it not obvious that from the viewpoint of investment and taxable ability the building must be charged off while its earning capacity is at maximum rather than minimum? Error on this point has produced more than one failure.

The co-operation of all concerned is essential. The expense of the work will be but a fraction of the savings that will result.

Will you not communicate at once with the secretary, Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, 55 Liberty street, New York, giving your opinion and any facts or material you have at hand? You will then be advised of another meeting to be called within a few days.

GEORGE T. MORTIMER, Chairman.

ZONING LAW AND BILLBOARDS

By HERBERT S. SWAN,

Secretary of the Zoning Committee.

PRIOR to the adoption of the zoning resolution there existed in New York absolutely no safeguards to protect residential districts against billboards. Advertisers were free to erect huge signs wherever they wished—whether the site chosen was opposite a church or a warehouse, a park or a railroad yard, a home or a gas house. No locality had any amenities which the billboard was bound to respect—it could go anywhere. A private dwelling had no more rights in a residential district than fences featuring Ziegfeld's Follies, Haig & Haig or Bull Durham.

All this has been changed by the zoning resolution which prohibits property situated in residential districts from being put to any but the following uses and the accessory uses customarily incident to these uses.

1. Dwellings including dwellings for one or more families, boarding houses, and hotels having 30 or more sleeping rooms.
2. Clubs, excepting clubs the chief activity of which is a service customarily carried on as a business.
3. Churches.
4. Schools, libraries or public museums.
5. Philanthropic or eleemosynary uses or institutions, other than correctional institutions.
6. Hospitals and sanitariums.
7. Railroad passenger stations.
8. Farming, truck gardening, nurseries or green houses.

The term "accessory use" does not include any building or use not located on the same lot with the building or use to which it is accessory.

Billboard advertising can in no sense be deemed accessory to any of the uses specifically permitted in residential districts. The erection of signs in the future will therefore be confined to such sections of the city as are situated in business districts or unrestricted districts.

The zoning law, it must be remembered, is not retroactive in any of its provisions. Uses not conforming to the restrictions imposed on the districts in which they are situated are allowed to continue provided they existed in the district previous to July 25, 1916, the day the law passed. Hurtful or harmful uses, which have invaded residential neighborhoods since that date, unless authorized by the Board of Appeals after a public hearing at which all property owners immediately affected by the proposed use were notified to appear and have their objections heard, are in the nature of violations.

The zoning resolution has at one stroke done more to remedy the billboard evil in the residence districts of the city than all the laws and ordinances previously passed on this subject put together. Instead of merely regulating the height, size and construction of signs, it frankly recognizes the fact that there is no such thing as a billboard respectable enough to rub elbows with churches, schools and private homes.

Realty Taxes Are Higher Than in Other Cities

New York Levies More Money on Its Property Owners and Spends More Lavishly Than Anywhere Else

TO use such a unit as the City of New York for laboratory tests of the effect of excessive cost of government and extreme levies upon real property, is again condemned by a comparison of data furnished by the United States Census Bureau. The "financial statistics of cities, 1917" has just been issued and some of the important facts bearing upon the situation in New York City have been summarized by the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests:

The cost of city government is increasing more rapidly than population. Since 1903 there has been an increase in the total cost of government in 146 principal cities or 40 per cent.

The larger the city the larger becomes the amount of necessary revenue per person. In fact, in the large it is nearly double that in the small cities. But omitting comparisons between New York City and the smaller cities of the country, it is worth noting that the total revenue per capita in 1917 in New York was $42.17, Chicago $35.20, Philadelphia $27.30, St. Louis $34.36, Baltimore $30.84. The average for the ten largest cities in the country was $38.24, or $4 per person less than

The general property or real estate taxes in these cities was about as follows: New York, $30; Chicago, $20; Philadelphia, $16; St. Louis, $19; Baltimore, $19, and the average for the ten largest cities $25, per capita.

The true extent of the tax burden on realty is shown by the percentage of the total revenue receipts which is derived from the property taxes in each of the cities as follows: New York, 71; Chicago, 56; Baltimore, 61; Philadelphia, 60; and St. Louis, 56. The average for the ten largest cities is 66.2 per cent. as compared with New York's 71.5 per cent.

In fact, New York is shown to obtain a higher percentage of its revenue from the property tax than does any other large city of the country, excepting only Boston and Pittsburgh where the percentage is slightly higher because of peculiar conditions.

The effect of using city credit for projects not covered by current income, gives New York the distinction of requiring a larger percentage of its revenue receipts for interest payments than in any other large city of the country. The percentages are as follows: New York, 22.1; Chicago, 4.5; Philadelphia, 11.2; Detroit, 14.9; and the average ten largest cities 14.9; average for 219 cities, 13.2 per cent.

As to sources of income, the report indicates that New York received only 0.7 per cent. of its revenues from earnings of its general departments, whereas the other large cities received from 3 to nearly 8 per cent. from that source. The taxes on business and other license charges ranked from a little over 3 per cent. in New York to as high as 15 per cent. in St. Louis, or an average of 5.6 per cent. for the ten largest cities. The earnings from public service enterprises averaged 9.5 per cent. of total revenues in the ten large cities, the New York percentage being 8.9 per cent.

This report, when considered in connection with the recent report from the Census Department on "Specified Sources of Municipal Revenue, 1917," gives new importance to the need for thorough revision of the revenue system for New York City. The very evident faults in the present methods are made more evident by the recent report of the National Tax Association for a model system of State and local taxation. The need is manifest for distributing large and growing city and State budgets according to the benefits obtained by persons, property or business in the jurisdiction. The previous policy of constantly enlarging the real estate tax and practically exempting all other taxes as urged by the single tax religionists, must be abolished. The problems are too deep to be considered without the most thoroughgoing investigation of facts and the advice of those who make it a business to be posted on tax experience.

Increases of rent, decreased building activity, larger congestion of population, poorer housing accommodations, smaller funds for mortgage investment,—these are among the tendencies of the present New York policy of increasing the tax burden on realty. What will happen when owners of vacant property refuse to pay their taxes because of over-assessment and lack of possible purchasers can only be surmized—but the danger is real.

Zoning Restrictions Protect Private Property

By EDWARD M. BASSETT,
Counsel, Zoning Committee.

BEFORE the zoning system went into effect July 25, 1916, the only way to keep apartments or stores out of a proposed residential neighborhood, or nuisances out of a proposed business district, was by restrictions in deeds. This was always unsatisfactory because parties could not always clearly see the future development. I know a tract in Woodhaven that is restricted to houses of not more than two families on 40 feet front. It is still vacant, as it has been for over fifteen years, because the demand was all for one-family houses on a smaller front. Sometimes a logical business district is restricted to residences. The trouble with restrictions in deeds is that they cannot be altered to suit the reasonable necessities of the future. Sometimes the courts step in, especially in cases of perpetual restrictions and declare that the restrictions are void because of a change in the character of the neighborhood. This takes off all restrictions, allow stables or factories to come in, and the district rapidly declines. Restrictions in deeds often do not protect, and if they are insisted on, often result in constant litigation. If a neighbor is not alert to enjoin the first violation, he may be surprised to find in a year or two that all his rights under the restrictions have evaporated.

One of the most surprising instances of the ineffectiveness of private restrictions occurred recently in Flatbush. An owner of vacant land on Newkirk avenue between Ocean avenue and Flatbush avenue, restricted home builders to one-family detached houses. After these homes were built and to the consternation of their builders, the owner sold his remaining land without restrictions of record. Apartments were built. One of the home builders moved his home away because he was surrounded by apartments, and sought to have the restriction pronounced obsolete by the courts on the ground that the character of the neighborhood had changed. He then expected to sell his lot for an apartment house. The courts held, however, that the original owner of the vacant land had imposed the detached house restrictions so that future apartments might be provided with light and air. The result is that the lot of the home owner is not practicable for a detached home and not lawful for anything else.

So it often happens that private restrictions do not restrict and often when they do, they bring about unexpected results. The zoning restrictions, however, can be altered by the Board of Estimate when necessary. A single vote of a board member following a written protest of property owners will prevent a change.

Consequently in every part of the city owners of vacant land are depending less on private restrictions and more on the zoning. This is not to say that private restrictions have become unnecessary. On the contrary, private restrictions for a term of years, may often be superposed on the public restrictions to great advantage. The zone restrictions, however, are fundamental and take care of those features which have caused practically all the destruction and most of the litigation of the past.

Relation of Labor to Total Building Cost

Probabilities of After-the-War Period Worked Out on Basis That Wages Constitute Ninety Per Cent. of Cost

By ALFRED C. BOSSOM.

A CLIENT possessing a very extensive estate in the Adirondacks came to me just before the war started and desired to build a large cut-stone house and to take the stone from his own mountains. I called for two estimates; one using his own stone existing right on the site, and as an alternative using a good Indiana limestone, which by the way had to be transported several hundred miles. When the bids came in it was vastly cheaper to use the Indiana stone rather than his own local material.

Why was this?

It was because the determining or controlling cost was due to the value of the actual labor, as the virgin material itself had practically no value whatever.

We are so apt to lose sight of this fact for our modern system of estimating has unintentionally camouflaged the apparent original material's value with so many incidentals as to bolster it up out of all proportion to its natural condition.

In our modern commercial and monumental buildings we are impressed with the superior materials employed, the beautiful stones and granites, the veined marbles, the richly figured woods, and the chased metal work, etc., until we have subconsciously created within us the atmosphere of a building of importance and great prosperity due to the apparent value of Nature's raw materials used in such profusion, but on second thought, we appreciate that the real expense of all this is due to the cost of man's handiwork and not in the virgin value of the material.

For example, the best granite reposing in an unworked and unopened quarry at a conservative estimate is not worth more than about two cents a cube foot, but it is impossible to get this into the wall of a finished building under approximately two dollars a foot.

In other words, in this case 99% of the ultimate cost is derived from sources extraneous to the material itself. This preponderating percentage of expense, which determines the ultimate value of all our building materials is made up of approximately four items.

1.—Profit.

2.—Interest on investments, as representing (aside from the original value of the undeveloped material) the opening up of the quarry or mine, etc., cost of, and wear and tear of equipment and certain unallocatable items of overhead expense.

3.—Transportation charges.

4.—Labor cost.

Note. The interest upon the original value of the undeveloped material should not appear as a separate item, but should be included in each operation in the unit cost of the virgin material, as in the majority of cases it would vary constantly due to the periodical fluctuations of the market value of the product.

These factors apply universally, though of course, varying in degrees; for instance, such material as sand to be used in concrete does not require the labor expense that iron ore does to reduce it to steel beams or steel boilers, but fundamentally the same controlling conditions prevail.

Realizing that the great proportionate value of finished building materials is made of these subdivisions:

1.—Profit.

2.—Interest on Investments.

3.—Transportation Charges.

4.—Labor cost.

Let us take these up and see what they really consist of.

If on a justifiable and equitable basis this should be the return for executive ability and cover in such a general analysis as this, the salary of the Owner or Manager, the cost of controlling the quarries, yards, etc., expenses of salesmanship, etc. In its broadest sense it is essentially a labor charge (highly skilled maybe), for without this form of labor the organizations obtaining, producing and disposing of the material would not function. Certain it is that instances exist of excessive remuneration being given for the amount of effort provided, but nevertheless, it stands for executive labor and not for material.

This has to be considered in conjunction with profit, for due to the very speculative conditions prevailing in the building business it is often the only return that materializes, but where there is some profit in addition to interest on investment—what does this investment consist of to justify interest upon it. Primarily, it is the labor expense in opening up a quarry or a mine—and labor as expressed in equipment and wear and tear upon the same. The value of the machinery itself consists relatively (in addition to the virgin material), to the same four items, so influential in determining the cost of finished building materials and consequently is covered by this whole general analysis and need not be enlarged upon separately.

Thus, this item also stands almost exclusively for the liquidation of the investment which was made by paying weekly salaries to workers in return for their efforts in making the raw material available for use. This, again therefore, is an item decidedly of labor cost and not for material.

Like every detail connected with a finished product entering into the fabric of a building, this item fluctuates enormously with the different materials and under the varying conditions that are experienced, but for purpose of a general comparison it is but a relatively small percentage of the cost of the completed substance. It represents the handling and movement in the quarry, etc.; railroad or boat transportation to the locality in which the material is to be employed and the hauling to the job from the nearest point of debarkation. This charge results again from a similar series of items, those controlling in the larger sense the cost of finished building materials, which are virgin material; profit; interest on the accredited cost; of the right of way; rolling stock; wagons, boats, automobiles, etc., and the great labor cost in producing and the handling of all of this. Once again, it is readily to be seen that this essentially is a labor cost and not one for material.

And lastly the great big item, that of labor in the preparation of the material itself and the establishment of the material in the building. This item is actually paid to workers direct. The proportion that this bears to different materials of course varies anywhere from thirty-five to seventy-five per cent of the ultimate value; the remainder of the expense being proportioned between the three items covered about, and the virgin value of the material.

Thus, from this simple analysis it is an established fact that the original value of the material that enters into a building does not represent in the majority of cases more than five per cent. of the ultimate cost of the finished product, and even in the most simple materials does not represent ten per cent. Therefore, there is at least approximately ninety per cent. used up in another manner.

As the author has endeavored to indicate this goes to labor in some form or another and the great proportionate increase or decrease in the cost of buildings to-day exists in the increased salaries paid to workers. As time goes on the variations will depend almost exclusively for these two reasons: first, the very small proportion of the value of virgin material, and second, that this original material in the ground has not changed its form since pre-war times.

Realizing this condition—what is going to be Labor's After War relation to Building Costs?

Are they going to tumble down and stay tumbled?

Does this seem logical after the worker has been getting such high remuneration?

The only amount of reduction that it seems reasonable to anticipate will be due to the slight cheapening

Time to Take a Firm Stand

Probably no problem to come before the new administration in Albany next January is of so great importance to the property-owners of New York City as that of obtaining a square deal in taxation.

Because of this fact the Record and Guide had hoped to present in this issue statements of their attitude on this vital question from Governor Whitman and Alfred E. Smith, the Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor in this campaign. In order that the taxpayers of the metropolis might know exactly where these candidates stand on this vital subject the Record and Guide offered to each of them an opportunity to state his position, so that the voters of the city might know what to expect later on.

Neither Governor Whitman nor Mr. Smith has cared to take advantage of this opportunity to make his position on this important subject clear to the large number of taxpayers who are readers of the Record and Guide.

It is a matter of regret that the taxpayers of New York City have no definite idea of what they can hope for, in the event of the election of either Governor Whitman or Mr. Smith. Even the platforms on which these candidates are running for the highest office in the State are genuinely disappointing. The only reference the Democratic state platform makes to the vital subject of taxation is contained in Paragraph 15, which declares in favor of "a thorough revision of the tax laws so as to readjust the burdens of taxation, apportioning them in accordance with the benefits of government." That declaration, unsatisfactory as it is, outdoes the Republican platform, because the Republican platform makes no reference whatever to the subject.

In offering to Governor Whitman and Mr. Smith an opportunity to take the taxpayers into their confidence the Record and Guide felt that it was performing a service not only to the taxpayers of the metropolis, but also to the two candidates, one of whom will be the next Governor of the State, and as such will be in a position to exert great influence in the matter of proper tax legislation.

It is unfair to the taxpayers of New York City that they are compelled, campaign after campaign, to take chances in this important matter. The enactment of just tax laws is too vital a subject to be made the football of politics. Year after year the taxpayers are put off before election with either indefinite promises or no promises at all. They are entitled to better treatment before election in order that they may vote intelligently, and they are entitled to better treatment after election.

One of these days the patience of the people who pay the taxes will become thoroughly exhausted and they will make themselves heard in no uncertain manner. To get fair and equitable tax laws is a difficult task, but the time is fast drawing near when the property owners of New York City will refuse to let the politicians of both parties longer juggle with their interests. They are entitled to a square deal, and the Record and Guide hopes that, regardless of the results of next Tuesday's election, they will organize for their own protection and demand and get the consideration to which they are entitled.

A Good Investment

Business men of this city should be very much interested in the statements of Director General Schwab of the Emergency Fleet Corporation and Chairman Hurley of the United States Shipping Board that the shipbuilding program is not to be terminated by the signing of peace terms, but is to be continued for years to come.

Mr. Schwab says that of a proposed fleet of fifteen million tons of merchant ships only one sixth has been built and that the program will be completed whether the war stops or not. Mr. Hurley declares that the ending of the war will not bring an end to the world's need for ships nor prevent the use of all the facilities of shipbuilders that business economy will permit for the carrying out of the plans that have been inaugurated for a great merchant navy. Greater efficiency in the work of construction will be secured by the elimination of work in poorly equipped yards and the augmentation of effort in those that are best fitted for economical and speedy construction.

New York's interest in the view of the two foremost figures in this field rests on the fact that considerably more than fifty per cent. of the foreign commerce of this country passes through this port and that with our foreign trade constantly mounting to still more stupendous figures it would be suicidal policy not to take adequate and clearly necessary steps to put the port in proper condition to handle this huge business.

The importance of the after-the-war trade of this country was sounded by Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, at the dinner of the American Export Association this week. After calling attention to the growing interest in extending the foreign trade of the country he declared that such extension would be impossible until the means of payment had been established. In return for great shipments of foodstuffs, raw materials and manufactured products to other countries it will be necessary, he says, for the flotation here of the securities of foreign governments and corporations and other obligations. It was by investment in the securities of other countries that England and Germany built up their great foreign trade previous to the war. Under Mr. Vanderlip's leadership it is probable that bankers who are the natural distributors of the kind of securities to which he refers will so popularize issues of other governments and foreign investments of established merit that this basic necessity of a widely distributed foreign trade will be provided. Messrs. Schwab and Hurley assure us that the tonnage will be provided. Our merchants are alive to the advantages to be derived from this trade.

There is left then the providing of proper docking and terminal facilities for handling this greatly increased business so that it will not be diverted from this city.

Relation of Labor to Total Building Cost

of such articles as butter, eggs, clothing, etc., which will relatively react and cause a slight reduction of salaries, but not to create any great big savings over the existing prices.

It is axiomatic, that once labor gets a high wage it does not return to a lower one easily.

The great socialistic wave passing over the world is much fostered by the war spirit and has justly made the worker feel he is entitled to a larger share of the return for his labor than was the case years ago. After the worker who has been in the Army returns he will be much broader in his point of view. His intercourse with men in many spheres of life and activities will have convinced him that he is entitled to receive consideration on a different plane from that he was formerly contented with, so it is not reasonable to assume there will be any great reduction from this standpoint, and if it comes to a commercial fight to reduce salaries it is greatly to be questioned if he could or should be compelled to take much less.

But, will the demand for the workers' services be so much greater than the corresponding supply to allow him to continue to maintain his independent stand? The general increase in population amounting to between two and three million per year alone will infinitely more than use up all of the emergency accommodations provided by the Government during the war times.

Building generally has been at an abnormally low condition since 1914, when the Universal Conflagration started. Hence the demand for new accommodations in the way of homes, commercial and monumental buildings, apartment houses, etc., has slowly been increasing like a tidal wave waiting to be loosed by the signing of peace.

Concurrent with the signing of peace will be the releasing of workers from munition plants, etc. Judging by pre-war conditions in times of normal building activities men occupied in the building trades were not over abundant and no one will go back to this form of livelihood who had not had the experience necessary. Thus, with the great amount of building to be done, with at the best no more workers than before, the demand certainly, it appears, will be greater than the supply; which means that the mechanic will maintain and be entitled to his long existing independence of action. The American Armies that have been accumulated will have to be disbanded; but naturally this will only be performed slowly, as they can be absorbed by the natural activities of the country and after the released munition workers have been already taken up. The return will be so gradual that it will have no great effect upon the labor situation for some years at least—

Is it not imperative that Dock Commissioner Hulbert's program for augmenting and perfecting the city's water-side be given serious attention? He asks for twenty million dollars to overhaul and add to the pier frontage. The interest on this sum at five per cent. is one million dollars per year. Is that too much to pay to prevent the threatened transfer of many of the steamship lines to other ports which are ready to provide adequate facilities for doing business?

New York has the best natural harbor in the world, but it has been sadly neglected. It should be brought up-to-date and that means in these times of rapid expansion of the world's activities that the future as well as the present crying needs should at once be provided for.

by which time the programme of the reconstruction of industrial relationship and the recognition of the great importance of the workers and laborers in each operation will have been fully recognized, and should be on a basis absolutely undreamt of before the war.

Thus, seeing the all determining relationship of labor cost to the value of a building, both now and in the future, it is not hard to understand the real material is not worth more than about one-tenth part of the value of the worker's efforts in placing it in its finished resting place, and this condition will continue, and in all probability develop into an even smaller proportion as the years go by.

What Is Building Value?

New York, Oct. 31, 1918.

Editor Record and Guide:

In the article in the Record and Guide by Mr. Swan, "How nuisances are affected by zoning law," this sentence occurs: "For the purpose of continuing the particular nuisance use existing July 25, 1916, structural alterations are allowed in a building only up to 50 per cent. of its value exclusive of foundations"—which leads to the question, "what is the value of a building?" Is it the value fixed by the Tax Department, or is it cost of reproduction, less physical and economic depreciation? If the Tax Department figure is the criterion, then, in many cases, it would not be possible to comply with the requirements of existing laws. The same is true of the second definition.

In view of the uncertainty of the "value of a building," as defined in the zoning law and its susceptibility to contradictory interpretation, the wording should be changed so as to make perfectly clear what is intended. "Fifty per cent. of its replacement value" might cover this indefinite point, if such was the intention.

WM. D. KILPATRICK.

The Sixtieth street tunnel, underneath the East River, providing a subway connection between the lines operated by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company under Broadway and Seventh avenue, Manhattan, and the new elevated lines in Queens Borough, has been "holed through" under the direction of the engineers of the Public Service Commission for the First District. This tunnel, which crosses beneath Blackwells Island is the deepest railroad tunnel in New York City, being, at some places more than one hundred feet below mean high water. At some points, during the course of construction it was necessary for the engineers and contractor to use compressed air at the high figure of 48 pounds to the square inch, establishing a record.

The Story of THE WINDOW SHADE

(This talk is No. 9 of a series)

Do you know that you can add four or five years to the life of a shade by reversing it when you have it cleaned?

That is, have it turned back to front and also put the bottom at the top.

This change, with proper cleaning, nets you a big saving, and big savings are what everybody is looking for just now.

Try it out. Give us your worst shade and we'll clean it free and show you how reversing it gives you a new shade.

PROGRESS OF BROADWAY ASSOCIATION

Greatly Enlarged Scope of Activities Shown in Annual Report of President Thompson

Diversified activities of the Broadway Association are emphasized in the annual report of the organization, which has just been submitted to the directors by its president, Jefferson De Mont Thompson.

Excerpts from the report are as follows:

"The past year has been a most active one by your Association—not only as it pertains to the interests affecting Broadway, but the side streets adjacent thereto, and the Greater City itself.

"We would enjoy going into details as to the vast amount of work done, but it may suffice here to but briefly touch upon a few examples of what has been accomplished.

"First—The abatement of the peddling nuisance on Broadway, extending from the Battery to 135th street, which was made into law by the activities of your Association.

"Second—We have handled enumerable numbers of complaints regarding the sidewalk conditions, occasioned by the subway construction, in a most satisfactory manner, to both complainant and contractor, and obtained many improvements of the conditions complained of.

"Third—We feel that the strenuous efforts of the Times Square Subway Committee cannot be too highly appreciated, for it was mainly through their energy that the shuttle train service in 42nd street was resumed on September 28, and we feel quite confident that the narrow passageway which it was proposed to construct in Seventh avenue will be abandoned, owing to the active opposition of the committee.

"Your Association predicted a year ago that the time would come when the people of New York would want to know why the facilities of the Times Square station were so poor. They will want to know why it is necessary to change cars twice in order to travel between the upper West Side and the Fourth avenue sections. Why trains do not run between Long Island City and the upper West Side. Why through trains do not run down Lexington avenue, across 42nd street and down Seventh avenue. The day has come sooner than the Broadway Association expected, for it is fresh in the minds of all the awful mess the public were placed in in the terrific congestion of passenger traffic and forcing the complete abandonment of the entire subway scheme three days after it was opened on August 1 last.

"In the opinion of your directors, this committee has done a wonderful work, and we can't but express our deep regrets that more of its engineering features, as recommended to the Public Service Commission, have not been more readily accepted.

"We feel that good work has been accomplished by the committee appointed to investigate the coal situation who after conferring with the mayor and fuel administrators, Governmental, State and local, induced the City of New York, through its mayor, to store a certain quantity of anthracite coal in the hope of eliminating the distress that was suffered by the poor of this city last winter. This committee has also accomplished remarkable results in the improvement of the grade of coal that was being delivered as much of it was found to be dirt that could not be burned, yet had been transported at great expense, both in money and in car space, but to no value.

"It also, with some degree of success, brought to the attention of the National Fuel Administrator that, although he had requested house owners to place their orders early in order that coal may be secured before the winter months set in, it was extremely difficult to secure the coal from the local dealers.

"We obtained the passage of an ordinance for the restriction of pushcarts on 27th and 28th streets.

"We have been active in protesting against the piling of material by the contractors of the subway upon Broadway, and the adjacent streets, resulting invariably in the removal of such material, in accordance with the best wishes of the members and property owners.

"The Association protested against the retention of the unused street car tracks on 17th street, north of Union Square and by its efforts succeeded in having them removed.

"Learning that there was no city law to prohibit the sweeping of street refuse into subway ventilators, we had introduced an ordinance making it an offense punishable by fine and it duly became a law.

"We advocated with the city of Brooklyn a plan which will enable the traffic from all parts of Brooklyn to come directly to Broadway on the B. R. T. line for one fare, and which plan has been approved by both the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate.

"The Association endorsed the plan to build a vehicular tunnel between New York and New Jersey and authorized the appointment of a committee to help bring about its construction. A luncheon was given by the Association at which Governor Edge of the State of New Jersey was present and advised that his State had already determined upon the use of this tunnel and had passed a bill authorizing the expenditure of their share, and the Broadway Association recommended the construction of this tunnel by resolution to the legislators of the State of New York appealing to them to appropriate an amount to defray one-half of the expense for the construction of this tunnel.

"Through the efforts of the Bowling Green committee the loss of a portion of the historical fence which formerly surrounded Bowling Green, was discovered and at the request of the committee the mayor referred the matter to the Police Department for investigation, as this fence had been given to the Park Department for safe keeping and had either been sold for junk or had been stolen."

Jacob D. H. Bergen.

Jacob D. H. Bergen, senior member of the real estate firm of J. D. H. Bergen & Son, who died last week of pneumonia, was one of the best-known realty brokers in Brooklyn. Mr. Bergen was 72 years old and was born on his father's farm at Hoyt and Sackett streets, on the site now occupied by the Roman Catholic Church of St. Agnes.

In point of activity Mr. Bergen was probably the oldest real estate broker in the borough. He was regarded as one of the most competent men on realty values in Brooklyn, not only in the locality where he established his office on Court street, nearly half a century ago, but in the entire borough. He took an active interest in the development of the old city of Brooklyn.

Mr. Bergen was a member of the Brooklyn Civic Club and identified with the organization of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce. He was active until his illness, and assisted in the preparation of the plans for the Real Estate Division of the Fourth Liberty Loan. He was a life-long member of the Old South Congregational Church on Court and President streets, and one of its trustees. Every summer he spent his vacation at Lake Spoffitt, N. H.

He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Emily Schuyler Bergen; three children, De Hart Bergen, of 287 East Seventeenth street; Mrs. Charles P. Matthews, of 9 East Eighteenth street, and Schuyler J. Bergen, now in France with the 27th Division of the 105th Machine Gun Battalion; four grandchildren and a sister, Miss Marietta Bergen.

His eldest son, De Hart Bergen, has been associated with him in the real estate business.

Real Estate Review For the Current Week

Market Is Quiet, In Sharp Contrast With Last Week's Showing—Outlook Is Unusually Promising

COMPARATIVE quiet prevailed in the real estate market this week, few deals of note being consummated and the business generally concerning itself with moderate priced properties. Last week's good showing tends to accentuate even further this week's dullness and prove once again the oft-repeated contention that the market is "spotty" and characterized by alternate and regularly apportioned periods of activity and apathy. It is difficult, therefore, with the market in such a state of constant flux, to analyze the business of any one week and form any conclusion as to specific trends. The survey, however, of the business extending over a number of weeks, reveals a number of encouraging results, despite the generally prevailing impression that conditions remain unchanged, and the market is continuing to decline. In the first place, the sudden change in the international situation and its profound effects upon the world markets and finance, even within the last few days, has electrified not alone business men in every field of endeavor, but has buoyed up the hope of builders and real estate owners and brokers to an unusual degree. There is a strong and steadily growing belief that the clearance of the international situation will be followed by a slow but steady clearance of the building situation, which is so closely allied with the real estate situation, that they are practically one and the same thing.

There is absolutely no doubt that as soon as national expediency decrees it, the building embargo will be lifted and the tremendous existing demand for space of all description in New York City and elsewhere, will be capitalized in probably the greatest real estate and building boom in the history of the city. The resultant demand for building sites will furnish the market with the stimulus which it has so sadly lacked within recent years.

Moreover, the existing shortage of both residential and business space, has placed great numbers of hitherto unproductive properties on a strong income-producing basis, and owners of many holdings are for the first time in years realizing adequate returns on their investments. The possibilities for the acquisition of desirable holdings are therefore both numerous and varied, and brokers are confident that eventually this factor in the situation will be a powerful one in attracting capital into the real estate field.

The message of the day to the real estate owner and broker is, "Bide your time and mark time, and the future will take care of itself."

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 16, as against 24 last week and 9 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 8 as compared with 9 last week and 3 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 8, as compared with 15 last week and 6 a year ago.

From the Bronx 12 sales at private contract were reported, as against 10 last week and 15 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 524 of this issue.

Adds to Broadway Holdings.

The Midcity Realty Company, representing Mrs. Mary L. Barbey, purchased from the August Hemenway Estate of Boston, the four-story building with stores at 400 Broadway, northeast corner of Walker street, on a plot 30 by 100. The Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company negotiated the sale. The same company holds title to the adjoining parcel at 402 Broadway, and the next two buildings at 404 and 406 Broadway are held by Mrs. Barbey, so that with this latest purchase these interests are in control of a frontage of 107 feet on Broadway and 100 feet on Walker street. The corner building has been occupied for several years by the Herring-Hall Safe Company, which concern recently renewed its lease on the property for a long term from next February at an increase of more than 30 per cent.

Operator Buys Lofts.

Max N. Natanson, as president of the Nason Realty Company, bought from the estate of Phillip Braender the twelve-story mercantile building at 26 to 32 West Seventeenth street, midway between Fifth and Sixth avenues. The structure occupies a site 94x92, and is fully rented under leases which show an annual return of $50,000. The property was held at $400,000, the present deal being for all cash. Byrne & Bauman were the brokers in the sale. The building was put up about ten years ago by the late Mr. Braender, who was a pioneer builder of modern lofts in the downtown and uptown mercantile districts. A few weeks ago I. Randolph Jacobs and Everett Jacobs bought the eleven-story loft structure opposite, at 23 to 27 West Eighteenth street and 18 to 22 Seventeenth street.

$300,000 Building "Sold."

In order to clear its title of a trust effected some ten years ago, the seven-story Lisbon building at 9 Beaver street, northwest corner of New street, assessed at $300,000 by the city for taxation purposes, was struck down at auction this week on a bid of $10,000. The structure occupies a plot 30.3 by 103.8, and was sold under a mortgage judgment amounting to about $164,000, with interest and carried back taxes amounting to $7,151.70. Henry Brady was the auctioneer. The action was brought by Agnes E. O'Donnell against Ivan L. C. Gooding, trustee, etc., and others. There is no particular significance in the knockdown price, since the transfer was made for the purpose of clearing title.

Will Take Over Holdings.

The Lexington-Thirty-fourth Street Realty Company, capitalized for $5,000, with Dr. J. A. Wyeth, Dr. C. R. Hancock and Henry Station as directors, has been incorporated at Albany. The company will take over Dr. Wyeth's four four-story converted houses, 242 and 244 Lexington avenue and 129 and 131 East Thirty-fourth street, surrounding the northwest corner of those thoroughfares. The avenue side of the plot is 40.4x88 feet.

Continued Activity Downtown.

The Charles F. Noyes Company and the Douglas Robinson-Charles S. Brown Co. sold to an investor 8-10 Platt street, two connected business buildings covering plot 43 by 72, under a long-term lease, to Hagerty Bros., who have been tenants for more than fifty years. The property will not be offered for resale. These two brokerage firms recently sold 12 Platt street adjoining.

Leonard Street Sale.

Katherine V. Hayes bought through E. H. Ludlow & Co. from the Columbia Trust Company, as administrator for the estate of Emily Daly, 47 Leonard street, a five-story store and loft building, 25x100 feet, between West Broadway and Church street. The property has been held in the seller's family since 1884.

Long Island City Project.

The Degnon Terminal & Realty Improvement Company sold through W. J. Hardgrove the block bounded by Nott avenue, Manly street, Anable avenue and Mount street, at the Degnon Terminal, Long Island City, to S. Blickman, manufacturer of coffee urns, of Manhattan. The purchaser will improve it with a plant. The property is served with a railroad siding from the Degnon Terminal Railroad.

Columbus Avenue Buyers.

Simon & Berman, operators, have purchased from Nathan Lemlein, the two five-story flats at the northeast corner of Columbus avenue and Eighty-ninth street, on plot 58 by 75. The new owners will alter the buildings into two and three-room suites. The property was held at $100,000. The brokers in the deal were Isidor Federman and D. C. Cornell.

Manhattan.

South of 59th Street.

MADISON ST.—Alexander Selkin and David Mintz have resold the 5½-sty tenement, with stores, on lot 25x100, at 179 Madison st. This is the third sale of the property since March.

ST. NICHOLAS AV., ETC.—George Howe sold for Dr. Waite A. Cotton 759 St. Nicholas av, a 3-sty dwelling, on lot 20.5x96, near 148th st, to Walter G. McGee, who gave in exchange the 2-sty garage, at 3134 and 3136 Webster av, Bronx.

What Leading Real Estate Men Say About Victor J. Dowling

ALBERT B. ASHFORTH

It is a pleasure for me to endorse the candidacy of a man with so sterling a record as Judge Dowling. With his re-election a practical certainty he will continue to perform the duties of his high office with the confidence and backing of real estate men regardless of partisan affiliations.

JOSEPH P. DAY

Judge Victor J. Dowling should be kept on the bench, from the real estate point of view. He is a real estate owner and his decisions have always been eminently fair with regard to real estate. His capacity and ability is shown and reflected by a nomination on the tickets of both of the great parties. It behooves real estate men to know he is running and to be sure to vote for him.

ROBERT E. DOWLING

I have known Judge Dowling intimately for fifteen years and esteem him as one of the ablest and best qualified judges in this district. He is a man of high character, great learning and proved industry, and is one of the best equipped jurists in the state. I believe it to be the duty of all good citizens to support him, not only because of his eminent fitness for the high office, but also because of the necessity for carrying out the principle of non-partisan, and all party, support of the judicial office.

LAURENCE McGUIRE

That Justice Victor J. Dowling is designated by the dominant political parties for re-election to the Supreme Court bench is more than pleasing to his many friends. It, however, could not be otherwise. The fine record which Justice Dowling has made for himself as a Supreme Court Justice is outstanding and not surpassed by even the very fine and very able men who within my memory have been chosen by the citizens to the high place of Supreme Court Justice. Justice Dowling's friends should support his candidacy aggressively, and not assume that he, being in the favorable position of having both party designations, is elected. This might prove most unfortunate and it is the duty of every friend of Justice Dowling, as it is of those voters who are desirous of seeing the standard of the Supreme Court bench maintained, to make it their business to see that all voters of whichever party be instructed to look for Justice Dowling's name which is the third in the eighth box of the ballot.

ALFRED E. MARLING

While I am a Republican I am firmly of the conviction that no partisan politics should be considered when judges are selected. For this reason it is a sound policy for the Democrats and Republicans to get together for the renomination of honest, able and faithful judges. I am glad to know that the Hon. Victor J. Dowling who has been on the bench for many years and who has served faithfully and well, and with distinction, has been made the nominee of both of these parties.

CHARLES F. NOYES

It is gratifying to note that Judge Dowling's renomination to the Supreme Court Bench is practically assured by his nomination by both the Republican and Democratic parties. In view of his fairness and general fitness, real estate men both in their professional and civic activities may view his re-election in the most favorable possible light.

MARK RAFALSKY

Judge Dowling's excellent record on the bench and the high degree of integrity and fearlessness which have characterized the fulfillment of his judicial duties have won the respect not alone of real estate men but of all litigants who have had occasion to appear before him.

ROBERT E. SIMON

Judge Dowling deserves re-election on the strength of his splendid record on the bench where he has earned general commendation from men in all walks of life, regardless of political party lines.

STEPHEN H. TYNG

My endorsement of the candidacy of Judge Dowling means the endorsement of his record and his qualifications for judicial office. His nomination by both of the large parties, reflecting the trend for political unity in the selection of competent men for the bench, is perhaps the best tribute that can be paid to him. The assurance that his re-election is certain is gratifying, not alone to real estate men with whom his relations have always been cordial, but to every citizen and taxpayer who aims to keep the judiciary out of politics.

ALTHOUGH Victor J. Dowling, Candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court, is the only one who has been nominated by both the Republican and the Democratic parties, and although he is unanimously endorsed by the Lawyers' Associations, he cannot be elected unless he receives a plurality of the votes on election day.

You must not assume that he will be elected merely because of his almost unanimous endorsement. In the maze of candidates and the difficulties of the ballot, it is the duty of every voter to look for Justice Dowling's name and give it his personal endorsement by his vote.

In these momentous days our higher courts can ill afford to lose their able judges. There has never been a time when they were more needed in the administration and enforcement of the law.

No candidate for judicial office has ever received stronger testimonials as to his fitness; no man was ever better qualified by moral character, intellectual attainments and faithful service. Two Governors have recognized his qualifications by appointing him to the Appellate Division.

For fourteen years he has served the people with honor, fidelity and preeminent ability. The public appreciation of his brilliant career and his unselfish patriotism should be recorded by the ballots cast for him on Election day.

VICTOR J. DOWLING

VICTOR J. DOWLING was born in New York City in 1866, the son of Denis Dowling and Eliza Fierlants Faider Dowling. He was educated at St. Peter's School, De La Salle Institute and Manhattan College, graduating from the last named institution in 1883 with the degree of A. B., and receiving the Devlin medal for classics. He entered the law office of Senator James FitzGerald, afterwards a Justice of the Supreme Court, and studied law at the New York University Law School, from which he graduated with the degree of LL.B. in 1887, winning the two prizes offered,—one for the best written, the other for the best oral, examination,—the first time they both had been won by the same student in the history of the school. Admitted to the bar in New York City in 1887, he at once entered upon the practice of the law.

He received the degree of M.A. from Manhattan College in 1888. In 1893 he was elected by the Board of Education a School Trustee for the 19th Ward, but did not qualify, as before the time to enter on his duties arrived, he was nominated for the Assembly and elected thereto. He was elected to the State Senate in 1900, and re-elected in 1902, serving on the Judiciary Committee during his four years of legislative activity. He was nominated for the Supreme Court in 1904, the speeches placing his name before the Democratic Convention being made by John J. Delany and M. Warley Platzek (both afterwards members of the Supreme Court) and Lewis L. Delafield. He was endorsed for election by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, on the favorable report of its Committee of which the late Adrian H. Joline was Chairman. He was elected, and for five years presided at Trial and Special Term, and served on the Appellate Term.

He was repeatedly designated to hold the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, and many important criminal cases were tried before him, including the second trial of Harry K. Thaw, his conduct of which called forth editorial praise from practically every city newspaper. His order of commitment was upheld by every Court before which it came, including the U. S. Supreme Court.

Governor Charles E. Hughes designated him a member of the Appellate Division, to take office January 1, 1910, and he was re-designated by Governor Charles S. Whitman on January 1, 1915. Since his appointment to the Court he has participated in the hearing of 4,415 appeals from judgments, 2,499 appeals from orders (a total of 6,914 appeals) and has written 421 opinions, the first of which appears in Vol. 136 Appellate Division Reports.

He has received the degree of LL.D. from Manhattan College (1906), New York University (1908), Fordham University (1911) and Notre Dame University (Notre Dame, Indiana) in 1917. In presenting him for the degree at New York University, Rev. George Alexander, D.D., said: "Victor James Dowling, native of this city, Bachelor of Arts of Manhattan College, alumnus of our University Law School of 21 years' standing, president since last year of the association of law alumni, assemblyman and senator of the Legislature of New York, and now for three years a justice of the Supreme Court—in each of these relations, student, alumnus, lawyer, publicist and jurist, known for high character, sound judgment and the faithful discharge of important trusts committed to him by our citizens, is presented for the degree of Doctor of Laws."

By invitation of the United States Government he delivered the address at the unveiling of the National monument to Christopher Columbus at Washington in 1912. He also made the speech presenting to the Nation the Statue of Robert Emmet at Washington in 1917. He has been a frequent speaker on educational, historical and fraternal topics, having been heard in almost every section of this country and in Canada.

Besides membership in many historical and learned societies, he belongs to the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the New York State and American Bar Associations. He was the first president of the Hobby Club, composed of 34 New York lawyers and business men, who have congenial literary and artistic tastes, and whose meetings are devoted to the reading of papers on special topics in literature and their general discussion.

He has been made a Knight Commander of the Holy Sepulchre by the Patriarch of Jerusalem in 1908 and a Knight of the Order of St. Gregory the Great by Pope Benedict XV in 1916. He is married and his family consists of his wife and three daughters—Dorothy, Nathalie and Victoria. His home is at 17 West 82d Street, New York.

ENNIS & SINNOTT are the purchasers of 43 and 45 West 71st st. two 4-sty dwellings, reported sold by L. J. Phillips & Co. a few weeks ago.

CHARLES GRIFFITH MOSES, vice-president of the J. Romaine Brown Co., has been commissioned Captain in the Troop Division of the Ordnance Department, and is now in Washington pending detail to a permanent post.

THE BRETT & GOODE CO. has moved its offices from the Printing Crafts Building to the Collegiate Building, at 6-8 West 48th st. where it will occupy the store as temporary quarters. This change was made necessary by the Government taking over the Printing Crafts Building for the use of the War Department.

THE J. ROMAINE BROWN CO. negotiated the lease for the City Real Estate Co. of the block bounded by Fort Washington av, Broadway and 160th st. to Edward Margolies and Max J. Kramer, who will erect a theatre to seat 2,000 people. The details regarding this operation were published some time ago.

ARTHUR C. SHERIDAN sold last Saturday afternoon at auction Mrs. Barger Wallach's holdings at Jericho, L. I. The dwelling and 33 acres in Glen Cove rd. near Oyster Bay rd., adjoining Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt's estate, was sold for $69,150 to an unnamed investor. The adjoining Vanderbilt plot of ten acres and the Pevak plot, in Brookville rd. nearby, went to John A. Campbell for $10,000 and $4,900 respectively.

THE CHARLES F. NOYES CO. has been appointed managing and renting agents for the 7-sty office building 124 Front st and 95-97 Front st. corner of Gouverneur la. both buildings which were recently purchased by Edward H. O'Brien of San Francisco. The Noyes Co. has also been appointed managing and renting agents by Joseph F. Cullman for the "Venezuela Building," 133-137 Front st, on the block front from Pine to Depeyster sts.

ENSIGN JUNIUS S. MORGAN, son of J. P. Morgan, has received a deed of ownership to the 3-sty dwelling at 39 East 36th st from his father. The transfer was made Wednesday. Mr. Morgan appearing under the name of the Flintlock Realty Co., which was organized some years ago by the late J. P. Morgan to purchase property in the vicinity of the Morgan homes that might be used for purposes detrimental to the section. Ensign Morgan has been living at 123 East 36th st. His new home is opposite the home of his grandmother and the Morgan library.

THE LEASE which the Warde Piano Co. has of the 7-sty building at 127 and 129 West 24th st. 50x116.2, owned by the Hyde Real Estate Co., carries an option to purchase the property for $80,000. This was revealed in the recording of the lease. The piano company's lease on the 24th st property is for five years from June 5, 1917, and calls for an annual payment of $5,000 and taxes. The company sublet the five upper floors to the General Electric Co. at $11,250 per annum for four years, and the ground floor, 1st floor and basement to the Model Examining and Shrinking Co. for a similar period at $5,100 a year.

FORMER AMBASSADOR JAMES W. GERARD AND HIS WIFE have loaned William Randolph Hearst $115,000 on some of his real estate holdings adjoining Columbus Circle. The loan, which was recorded Tuesday, was made on the group of floors and dwellings at 315 to 325 West 58th st and 312 to 321 West 59th st, bought five years ago by Mr. Hearst with a view to putting up a tall building to house his various publications. The Gerard loan is at the rate of 6 per cent, and calls for a monthly payment of $3,000. The property carries three prior mortgages aggregating $121,800 and is held in the name of the Veronica Realty Corporation. Mr. Hearst's other holdings on Columbus Circle are the American Circle building, a 2-sty structure occupying the site of the old Durland riding academy on the circle, Broadway, Central Park West and 62d st, in which are the uptown offices of the Hearst papers, and the former Virginia Hotel on the south side of the circle, bounded by Broadway, 8th av and 58th st.

Buying Low

As the wiseacres advise, means sometimes seeing your purchase go still lower and get snuffed out. The safest investment is a Guaranteed Mortgage at par, always worth par, and sure to be paid in full.

Building Conditions Throughout the Country

Survey of Situation in Twelve Federal Reserve Districts Indicates Greatly Reduced Volume of Construction

HERE have recently become available later official reports on construction, building and engineering operations in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. Especial value attaches to a survey on this basis, because these districts were laid out somewhat in accord with industrial, commercial and financial conditions. In other words, an effort was made to follow natural trade divisions rather than mere political boundaries. Each district is therefore a somewhat homogeneous unit and lends itself to logical business analysis. The following information is offered bearing on the building situation and outlook.

Boston District (New England). Operations in the building and engineering fields in New England from January 1 to September 11, 1918, amounted to a total of $118,367,000 as compared with $147,973,000 for the corresponding period of 1917. It is estimated that somewhere between one-third and one-quarter of this amount is made up by Government building operations. Activity in Maine centers largely about the Government housing operations at Bath, due to the influx of shipyard workers, and the consequent necessity for a large number of new homes. In Quincy, Mass., a similar situation exists in proximity to the Government shipyards where a large number of houses are being erected to care for the workers.

New York District (including Connecticut and northern New Jersey). War construction continues to be the dominating influence in this region and private enterprises are everywhere subordinate to the needs of the Government. It is estimated that building contracts awarded in New York and northern New Jersey for the month of August amounted to $24,734,000, a total considerably under the figure for August of the preceding year. The construction for the first eight months of 1918 is estimated at a value of $181,322,000 as against $212,238,000 for the corresponding period of last year representing a loss of about 14 per cent. Of the active construction in this district about 31 per cent. comprises Government building projects.

Philadelphia District. (Delaware, central and southern New Jersey and central and eastern Pennsylvania.) Little construction work is reported from this section. What activity there is centers chiefly about Government and housing projects. Extensive housing developments are taking place at the Hog Island shipyards in Philadelphia and at the Bethlehem Steel Company. This project will consist of a total of 1,193 houses and will be of sufficient value to bring a considerable degree of relief to the building industries in this region.

Cleveland District (Eastern Pennsylvania, Ohio, Northern West Virginia and eastern Kentucky). Practically the only construction being put up is concerned with housing developments for workmen on Government contracts and additions or alterations on plants engaged in war work. Increased activity in Columbus is indicated by a report of building permits for September, 1918. During this month the building department issued 169 permits at a valuation of $261,155 as compared with 181 permits at a value of $222,840 in September, 1917.

Richmond District (District of Columbia, Maryland, West Virginia, excluding northern section, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina). With the exception of Government work and housing, building in this district is very in active and real estate transactions are reported to be at a minimum.

Atlanta District (Eastern Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, southern Mississippi and southern Louisiana). Building and allied industries are exceedingly inactive with the exception of direct or indirect war work and industrial construction. What few permits are being issued are comprised of nearly 90 per cent. of repair work and alterations.

Chicago (Northern Illinois and northern Indiana, southern Wisconsin, and southern Michigan, and Iowa). The outlook in the building trades is reported to be rather unfavorable and there are few indications for improvement in the near future. Concerns engaged in Government work are maintaining business on a fairly adequate basis, but other lines are much reduced in activity.

St. Louis (Eastern Missouri, southern section of Illinois and Indiana, eastern Kentucky and Tennessee, Arkansas, and northern Mississippi). Building permits reported in the chief cities of this district show that a considerable decrease both in the number of permits and their value has occurred. The chief center of activity in this region is the new nitrate plant which is affording work for several of the local firms. Very little building is going on in southern Indiana and there is practically no prospect that the commercial end of the industry will show any substantial improvement before the spring season.

Minneapolis (Minnesota, northern Michigan and Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and Montana). Little activity is noted in the building trades in this region and the industry is being converted to war work wherever possible.

Kansas City (Western Missouri, Oklahoma, excepting the southeast, northern New Mexico, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming). Construction in this region shows a decline in number of permits issued. While the number of permits are only 12 per cent. less than a year ago, 50 per cent. less money was involved in their construction. Tendency towards smaller buildings and repairing building already standing takes the lead. Municipal improvements in general construction, as well as necessary building, are being postponed until after the termination of the war.

Dallas (Northern Louisiana, southern Oklahoma, Texas, southern New Mexico and southeastern Arizona). Little activity in the building industry is reported from this locality and while building permits show an increase, there is also to be noted a substantial decrease in the total valuation. This illustrates the general tendency of the times toward less permanent and less expensive types of building. In fact, no large building contracts are being undertaken except those which are contributing to the needs of the Government.

San Francisco (Arizona, Utah, Nevada, California, Idaho, Washington and Oregon). Some construction is reported from those centers which are involved in industrial activities. Elsewhere the trade continues to be inactive and to reflect in a very direct way the recent restrictions on building construction which limit all construction to direct war needs.

Post-War Building Opportunities

CONTRACTORS who are looking ahead to the future of the building industry after the war, should not give themselves up too entirely to the optimistic outlook generally forecasted. This does not imply that a building boom will not come after the termination of the war. It is distinctly evident that the present inactivity of the industry will be in measure reversed by the needs for building which will call for constructive activity at that time. It has been often emphasized in these columns, that the present restrictions on building are forcing back construction which may virtually be classified as necessary, that is, construction which is of a nature that will insure its being eventually carried through to completion, even if postponed by temporary exigencies.

The first impulse to renewed life in the industry will rather come from that element which is already desirous of building, but is at the present time held up through lack of needful facilities. Those who have prospered during the period of the war will be ready to build as soon as the war is over. School building, municipal improvements and other construction of a public nature should also contribute largely and immediately to this volume of business. But the considerable quantity of construction which will necessarily be somewhat deferred, will constitute a most advantageous factor in the contractor's plan for the handling of his renewal business after the war. The reason why this gradual rather than abrupt resumption will react to the benefit of the industry is chiefly to be found in the labor difficulties which will be encountered. At first thought it would seem that the ending of the war should solve this problem for which it has been so directly responsible, but it must be realized that the easing up of this situation must be a somewhat gradual process, and cannot be transferred immediately onto a wholly favorable basis.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

EXTREME quietude prevails throughout the Metropolitan District as far as building activity is concerned. Aside from the operations that were started and well under way before the curtailment order of the War Industries Board became effective, there is no building construction in progress of any consequence whatever. The only phase of construction that is indicating any form of activity at present is that for direct Federal account and those projects that are considered essential to the welfare of the nation and the complete success of the war aims. Although there is a fairly large volume of industrial construction now under way, the amount is relatively small when compared with that prevalent in normal times. The prime motive today that is underlying all business and industrial affairs is the conservation of both men and material for the larger war aims.

During the past week or so there has been a growing number of strictly Government building projects announced. The new work effects almost every section of the country and comprises operations of practically every character that will assist in the training and caring for our armies both in this country and overseas. There has been evidences of renewed activity in the construction of additions to cantonments, base hospitals, warehouse and storage facilities and the construction of added facilities for the Federal flying forces.

Within the boundaries of the Metropolitan District, Government projects have been particularly numerous. Contracts for some have been placed and work started, and plans are now being developed for a number of others that will shortly be presented to contractors for estimates.

In general the markets for building materials and supplies are quiet and no great volume of activity is anticipated until private building is again permitted to proceed as in normal times. In those lines that have been called for by the Government building program both manufacturers and dealers have been especially busy and for the most part their entire facilities have been turned over to the Government. Prices in almost all lines are well maintained, and there is a general impression that the prevailing levels will be effective for some time to come. While there is so little of a demand from private building sources, there is not likely to be much of a fluctuation in commodity prices, but as soon as the embargo on building operations of a non-war nature is lifted and work is generally resumed upon those projects so necessary to the economic life of the nation, there is likely to be a sharp upward revision in the market prices of those materials for which there will be a renewed demand, and until the balance between the supply and demand is restored by a return to normal trade conditions material prices will be unusually high.

Common Brick.—The local wholesale market for Hudson River common brick is practically dead, with buying activity a negligible quantity and brick coming in from up-river points in a very small volume. Buying for private building operations is to all intents and purposes at a standstill, and what little activity is current is for direct Government structural projects. During the week a few barges have arrived, but they have been consigned to New Jersey points for Federal work. At present there is only a small unsold reserve in the wholesale market and prices are firm at the levels that have maintained for some weeks past. At production points along the river activity has slowed down materially and the end of the manufacturing season is in sight. It is not thought that the output for the balance of the year will be of sufficient volume to affect the market situation to any degree.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, November 1, 1918. Condition of market: Demand light; prices steady. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $13 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 4; sales, 4. Distribution: Manhattan, 1; Brooklyn, 1; New Jersey points, 1; outside points, 1.

Face Brick.—Trade conditions are extremely quiet and face brick orders are closely confined to operations that were started some time ago. There is practically no prospect of increased business from private building sources, while the construction curtailment order is effective, and as Government projects do not call for face brick, there is little likelihood of additional business for the face brick interests until there is a general resumption of structural activity throughout the country.

LEHIGH CEMENT

NATIONAL

DISTRIBUTION

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Window Glass.—The market is almost without movement, owing to both the existing glass scarcity and the dearth of demand. Repair and small alteration projects are the only present sources of buying activity, and as the stocks in the hands of the jobbers are badly depleted, they are unable to fill orders of any consequence. Prices are firm at this writing.

Lumber.—The situation is quiet in both wholesale and retail branches of trade, with Government demands dominating the situation. Every phase of the lumber industry relating to production costs, market and price conditions, are to be made familiar to lumbermen throughout the country by the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association. R. B. Goodman, acting president of the association in 1917, is chairman of the Bureau of Lumber Economics which has recently been organized. This bureau proposes to find out, among other things, the amount invested in the industry, how much timber owned and controlled by the industry, the value of the country's timber, and of timber controlled by the industry, the cost of production, the available supply of lumber as represented by stocks and production, and the supply collectively, the source, kind and volume of demand, and the price being obtained individually as well as by the industry as a whole. Regional associations are also included in the plan for the Bureau's organization.

Structural Steel.—Government requirements dominate the steel market situation and demands from other sources are practically out of the market. According to the records of the Bridge Builders' and Structural Society, the total amount of fabricated steel business for the month of September involved approximately 108,000 tons, or 5,500 tons more than for the month previous. The total tonnage contracted for amounts to sixty per cent. of the entire capacity of the bridge and structural shops of the country. The total for the first nine months of the current year amounts to 1,024,000 tons, as compared with 831,500 tons for the first nine months of 1917. The last three months of 1917 witnessed a large volume of new commitments owing to the Federal program of fabricated ship construction. According to the present figures the average monthly tonnage need not be greater than 88,000 tons in order to equal the figures for the year 1917.

Cast Iron Pipe.—The market for cast iron pipe is exceedingly quiet with only occasional orders for small tonnages and inquiries for future requirements few and far between. The bulk of current business is coming from direct Federal sources and from municipalities that have urgent local improvements planned and for which official sanction has been obtained from the War Industries Board. Government prices for cast iron pipe are still effective.

Linseed Oil.—Supplies of linseed oil are extremely scarce in the Metropolitan District, and at the present time there is but little likelihood of a renewal of stocks upon a scale that would relieve the situation. Prices are anything but stable, owing to the existing scarcity, and from every standpoint it is a sellers' market. Ruling quotations are at $1.68 a gallon, for city brands, in lots of five barrels or more, and in smaller lots, $1.69 a gallon. Carload lots are not being quoted generally.

Bolts, Nuts and Rivets.—Trade conditions are substantially unchanged from those recently reported. At the present time the output is materially curtailed both by the shortage of labor and the scarcity in the supply of steel available for the production of these commodities. Manufacturers are able to obtain the steel required for filling direct Government orders, but indirect requirements are not so well cared for, and orders for non-essential manufacturing are not being considered.

Tin.—There have been no offerings of future tin for several weeks, although a little metal now in transit or for spot delivery has been offered with sellers willing to make some concessions for both positions. The quotation for spot tin remains nominally at about 81 cents lb. N. Y. No definite or official developments in connection with Government control have become apparent, although the trade is expecting an announcement from Washington which will cover the exact situation. A questionnaire has been sent out by the War Industries Board to all those handling tin, requesting a statement of business done from June 1 to October 1. These replies were all in by Oct. 15 and may have some influence in determining future governmental action.

$882,000 for County Roads.

The Board of Supervisors of Nassau County, upon the advice of W. Fred Starks, county superintendent of highways, approved of an expenditure for the coming year of $882,000 for the repair and construction of highways. In the town of Hempstead fourteen roads will be improved at a cost of $395,000; nine in Oyster Bay, at $171,000 and four in North Hempstead, at $218,000. The newly incorporated city of Glen Cove is to have six new streets, at a cost of $98,000.

The highways to be improved are in the centres of the principal villages, and lead to the outlying sections where new developments are progressing. Attention has been given also to the main automobile highways to encourage travel through the county, as also to the thoroughfares leading to the large country estates.

The streets to be improved are:

North Hempstead: Main street (Roslyn); Middle Neck road; Middle Neck road (Great Neck); Willets road.

Oyster Bay: Marie street; Broadway, Hicksville; Bethpage turnpike; Jericho-Hicksville turnpike; Oyster Bay-Jericho turnpike; East Wood road; Horse Hollow road; Flushing and North Hempstead turnpike; Glen Cove-Bayville road.

Glen Cove City: Town path; Desoris way; Woolsey avenue; Red Spring lane; School street; Back road.

REAL ESTATE BUILDERS RECORD AND GUIDE

Vol. CII.

NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 9, 1918.

No. 19

Building Commitments for 1918 Show Increase

Figures of the Dodge Company Indicate a Gain in the Total Amount Placed for New Construction

ALTHOUGH the impression is quite general that the past year has been one of extreme dullness for the building interests of the country and that especially during the past month have building opportunities fallen off through the drastic action of the War Industries Board in curtailing the erection of new structures that are non-essential to the military plans of the Government, the total amount of money expended for building and engineering projects throughout the country for the first ten months of 1918 exceeds the total commitments for any similar period during the past nine years of record. A study of the table of comparative statistics that is compiled each month by the F. W. Dodge Company, which shows the totals of the contracts awarded from January 1 to November 1 for the past nine years indicates that the figures for 1918 overtop the record total of 1917 by $68,504,000, and all previous years by a considerably greater amount.

The totals given in the table of statistics are for the construction of building and engineering projects in the States north of the Ohio and east of the Missouri Rivers and include all of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and portions of Missouri and eastern Kansas.

For the first ten months of the current year the total of the contracts awarded for building and engineering operations in the territory included in the list amounted to $1,501,596,000. Of this amount 32 2/5 per cent. was for direct Federal account and a large part of the balance was for structures of an industrial character that were required to produce war munitions and supplies for the Government. The 1918 total is greater than that for any previous year and is only approached by that of 1917 when the figures reached the sum of $1,433,092,000 for the first ten months of that year. According to the table only in one year prior to 1917 has the total for the ten-month period reached $1,000,000,000.

Figures for the past nine years, from January 1 to November 1, are as follows:

Contracts awarded, 1918.....	$1,501,596,000
" " 1917.....	1,433,092,000
" " 1916.....	1,121,616,397
" " 1915.....	769,173,000
" " 1914.....	632,462,200
" " 1913.....	743,758,000
" " 1912.....	743,331,500
" " 1911.....	667,433,813
" " 1910.....	694,007,066

In what is usually considered as the local territory, including New York State and northern New Jersey, north of Trenton, the total for first ten months of 1918 shows a considerable falling off from the figures of last year which was the highest of record. The gross amount committed for building and engineering construction for the current year was $237,689,000, which, when compared with the total for the same period of 1917, shows a decrease of $48,587,000. The year 1917 was the banner period for the total amount of money expended for building purposes and the current year receives second place. Of the total contracts awarded in the local territory for the first ten months of 1918 35 1/3 per cent. was for direct Government account and for the construction of cantonment additions, hospitals, warehouses and other structures for the army and navy.

The figures for the first ten months for the past nine years in the local territory are as follows:

Contracts awarded, 1918.....	$237,689,000
" " 1917.....	286,276,000
" " 1916.....	225,106,500
" " 1915.....	137,108,500
" " 1914.....	112,360,500
" " 1913.....	223,782,000
" " 1912.....	206,392,500
" " 1911.....	200,027,500
" " 1910.....	205,844,000

Probably no territory among those listed shows a greater percentage of increase for the current year than that including the cities of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. In this territory the total for the first ten months reached $374,631,000 or $184,090,000 in excess of the total of $190,541,000 for the same period one year ago, or a gain of nearly 100 per cent. The full territory involves eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia and Virginia. One of the extremely significant facts in connection with the high total for this section of the country is that approximately 45 1/3 per cent. of the whole amount represents Federal commitments for army and navy construction and equipment. There is probably no one section of the country that includes such a large percentage of purely Government work within its boundaries.

Figures for the first ten months of the past nine years in the territory contiguous to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington are as follows:

Contracts awarded, 1918.....	$374,631,000
" " 1917.....	190,541,000
" " 1916.....	136,780,000
" " 1915.....	81,179,000
" " 1914.....	77,715,000
" " 1913.....	77,012,000
" " 1912.....	122,424,000
" " 1911.....	84,666,000
" " 1910.....	87,161,000

As indicated by the table of statistics the current year shows a distinct falling off in the New England district for the present year. For the first ten months the total commitments for building and engineering projects amounts to $136,267,000, a decrease of $47,485,000 from the total of $183,267,000 for the same period of 1917. Of the expenditures for building operations in the New England district for the current year about 29 per cent. was for Federal construction.

Building Trades Organize for Welfare Fund

Plans for the Forthcoming Drive Will Follow Those So Successful in Recent Liberty Loans

THURSDAY afternoon, at the Manhattan Club, Paul Starrett, president of the George A. Fuller Company, was the host at a luncheon that was arranged in order to formulate the final plans of the Building and Allied Trades Committee for the United War Work Campaign that is expected to provide at least the total of $170,000,000 for welfare work among our Army and Navy at home and abroad. Mr. Starrett has been selected as the chairman of the committee representing the building interests of Manhattan in the drive that begins next Monday, and had as his guests the sub-chairmen who will direct this work for the various sub-trades that are affiliated with the building industry.

The allied building interests of the Borough of Manhattan are looked upon to play no insignificant part in the forthcoming drive. The excellent record so recently made by the industry in the Fourth Liberty Loan has been marked as the goal in the campaign for funds to carry on the welfare work among our military forces. The general Industrial Committee, which has direct supervision over the activities of the committee representing the building trades, has designated as the quota of the building interests of Manhattan the sum of $179,800, but from the enthusiasm engendered at the organization luncheon it is hoped that the sum finally pledged by the industry will come nearer to $250,000.

As the forthcoming drive follows so closely upon the drive for the Liberty Loan, it was thought to be a good idea to include as many as possible of the men who had been so successful as chairmen of sub-trade committees in the loan campaign in the membership of the trade committee responsible for the success of the United War Work Campaign. A large percentage of these men have accepted the responsibility for the additional work and as far as possible the organization will follow the plan that was so successful in putting the recent Liberty Loan "over the top."

The Building and Allied Trades Committee for the United War Work Campaign, with the amount that has been established as the quota for the various sub-trade divisions, is as follows: Paul Starrett, chairman; Blaine Ewing, secretary. Sub-trade committeemen: Asbestos Pipe & Boiler Covering, Owen Glasson, $10,500; Builders, Shorers & Hoisters, Roy W. Wingate, $30,000; Building Materials, Frank E. Wise, $7,600; Cement Industry, W. L. Cosgrove, $9,500; Elevator Manufacturers, W. L. O'Connell, $10,000; Glass Trade, Joe Dreyfuss, $4,600; Marble, Tile & Mosaic Interests, John Eisele, $5,500; Metal Lathers, Max Baumann, $1,000; Ornamental Iron and Bronze, C. A. Fullerton, $2,100; Painters, Carl H. Dabelstein, $5,700; Plasterers, Davis Brown, $4,300; Plumbers, J. H. Smith, $15,700; Roofing, Sheet Metal and Allied Interests, J. R. McAfee, $17,200; Steam Fitters, W. H. Curtin, $13,000;

PAUL STARRETT

Steel and Iron Industry, Andrew J. Post, $19,700; Stone, L. W. Dennis, $2,400; Wire Trade, E. F. Rattey, $1,500, and Woodworkers, J. O'Dell Whitenack, $19,600.

It has been proposed that so far as possible to conduct the War Fund Campaign along the lines followed in the past Liberty Loans with the possible exception of the job meetings. Each trade has been catalogued, its various firms card indexed and these will be canvassed by the committeemen, who will endeavor to obtain from the firm, and from the individuals employed by the concerns, pledges for the required funds. The need for this money is imperative and according to the promises made by the committee, the building industry will again come to the front and show the city that it can be depended upon for whatever is asked of it.

During the organization luncheon a most interesting and inspiring talk was given by Reginald L. McAll, who is well known in building circles, and who is at present devoting all of his time representing the Y. M. C. A. in its recruiting campaign for men for overseas service. Mr. McAll returned but a relatively short time ago from the battlefields of France, where he had been in charge of a "foyer de soldat" or soldiers' hut, maintained by the Association. He related a number of his experiences while serving abroad, both with the American and French troops, and was able to give a clear conception to all present of the urgent need of our fighting forces for the facilities that will be supplied through the United War Work Campaign. The talk of Mr. McAll was a real inspiration to the committeemen to go forth and exert their utmost efforts for the success of the campaign, as he was able to bring home in such a sincere and forcible manner the scope of the work that is being accomplished by the various organizations that will participate in the expenditure of the funds collected; the great good already acknowledged by the Allied military leaders; the work that remains to be done among the military forces abroad and the ever widening scope of activity among the civil population of the nations that have for more than four years borne the brunt of the horrors of this great war.

The mere fact that at the present time prospects of an early peace are exceptionally bright should be no reason for not providing the necessary funds to carry on this work to completion. While it is true that battles will cease, there is no reason to suppose that the Allied armies will be immediately demobilized. The organizations that are leading in the work are still seeking men for overseas service and these recruits are being asked to enlist for the period of the war and for one year following, as it is realized that a large part of the great welfare work will become necessary after the soldiers are released from actual fighting and are

Real Estate Men in United War Work Campaign

Frederick P. Fox Heads Committee Which Will Help Raise $170,500,000 Next Week

INSPIRED by their splendor in the recent Fourth Liberty Loan Drive, real estate men in this city are preparing to do their bit in raising the huge fund which the United War Work Campaign will place at the disposal of the seven greatest humanitarian institutions in history, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, the National Catholic War Council (the Knights of Columbus), the Jewish Welfare Board, the War Camp Community Service, the American Library Association and the Salvation Army.

In this, probably the most remarkable campaign of its kind ever initiated, the real estate interests, mobilizing the same effective mediums that made their work in the Loan drive so notable, will cooperate with all the other trades and industries comprising the organization of the Greater New York United War Work Campaign. The goal is $170,500,000, which must be raised from November 11th to 18th.

Frederick P. Fox, of Frederick Fox & Company, as chairman of the real estate industry, will direct the activities of real estate men during the drive. He will be assisted by the following captains, each of whom are expected to build up their own smaller team units:

Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company (Mr. Spear).

Horace S. Ely & Company (Mr. Guerrlich).

John N. Golding.

The Cruikshank Company (Mr. Raywood).

Alwyn Ball, Jr.

Charles B. Walker.

Spear & Company (Mr. Aaron Rabinowitz).

Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Co., uptown (Mr. Fullwood).

L. Tanenbaum, Strauss & Co. (Mr. B. M. Strauss).

Heil & Stern (Mr. Max Heil).

Geo. R. Read & Co. (Mr. Kenneth T. Wilson).

J. Arthur Fischer (Mr. Semon).

George A. Bowman.

Fish & Marvin (Mr. Charles K. Marvin).

Thomas J. O'Reilly.

Dubois & Taylor (Mr. Taylor).

F. R. Wood, W. H. Dolson Co. (Mr. Wyckoff).

FREDERICK P. FOX.

Estate division in the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive. Mr. Marling is one of the vice-presidents of the Industries Division in the present campaign.

Mr. Fox, discussing the purpose of United War Work Campaign and its especial significance to real estate men, said yesterday:

"New York real estate men must do their share in oversubscribing the great mark which the United War Work Campaign has set. The service which these organizations are rendering to humanity will assume even greater importance during the period of demobilization, which army and navy men assert will present more difficult and intricate problems for solution than the period of mobilization. Greater sacrifices will be demanded and more opportunities presented for the fulfillment of the ideals of these humanitarian agencies than ever before.

"I know the generous response which real estate men, even in a period when market conditions were at low ebb, made in the last Loan drive, and I know the sacrifices which so many made in order to achieve the distinction of doubling their quota. Nevertheless, in spite of the new demands which will be made upon their purses and time; I am confident that the response to this new appeal will be just as wholesome, hearty and generous.

The winning of this war is a personal triumph for real estate men, because it means a bull market. Real estate is a peace stock, so we have therefore additional cause for rejoicing and we can put that joy in concrete form by giving the men over there all the comforts, conveniences, guidance and care that we possibly can. A contribution to this United War Work Campaign is a privilege which may never again present itself. We must help those men, now that they have passed through the ordeal of fire and slaughter, "to live happily ever after."

able to again turn their minds to more peaceful pursuits.

It will be during the time that the troops are released from the excitement of the fighting front with all of the tension that this means, and the time that they are sent back to their native lands, while they are waiting with time on their hands and growing more impatient and homesick with the passing of every hour and day that the work of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., K. of C., Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare Board and the other organization that have combined to raise at least $170,000,000 will be most effective. The entire world is now looking to the United States to supply the funds for this work.

At a luncheon to be given today at 12.30 at the Republican Club, the team captains will hold their first meeting and launch the campaign. An address will be made by Alfred E. Marling, chairman of the Real

Merchant Marine in Reconstruction Period

James A. Farrell, President of U. S. Steel Corporation, Says
Economic Warfare Depends on Peace Terms

THE important part the American merchant marine should play during the reconstruction period in this country after the war, and the vital necessity for a definite national merchant marine policy to assure American shipowners of being able to compete on even terms with foreign vessels, were emphasized in a report of the Committee on Merchant Marine read yesterday at the fifth annual meeting of the National Foreign Trade Council, held in the Biltmore Hotel.

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation and chairman of the Council, presided at the meeting. In his address he said that our supreme duty was to see to it that the terms of peace should render impossible the continuance of conditions sought to be corrected by economic warfare.

"If the terms of peace are satisfactory," Mr. Farrell said, "there will be no need for economic warfare. If they are not satisfactory, economic warfare will be impossible. With an adequate, just, and final peace we can go forward in confidence to meet and solve the numerous problems certain to arise from the complex and novel conditions naturally flowing from the cataclysm that has overwhelmed the world during these four years."

The report of the Merchant Marine Committee, which is composed of James A. Farrell, P. A. S. Franklin, and Robert Dollar, was adopted unanimously by the Council. It contended that ships would constitute the first factor in our great task of reconstruction, no less than they had constituted the first problem of our participation as a belligerent in the war.

"It is fortunate for us," continues the report, "that one of our greatest contributions to the war will also render a most valuable service after peace has been restored. We are building the ships which will be the most effective agency in the permanent solution of these great after war problems. The extent of this service, however, is contingent upon the adoption by this Government of a definite maritime policy, which will permit the permanent retention and operation of these vessels under the American flag. This important matter should be taken up by Congress at once, to enable our shipowners and others interested to make the necessary arrangements to take their proper place in the world's commerce."

The committee recommends curtailing the construction of wooden ships as soon as possible, in view of their inefficiency under normal conditions and the transformation into barges of the surplus steamships over those which can be operated economically. The engines and other machinery thus made available could be utilized in steel hulls.

The committee states emphatically that unless this country's national maritime policy is founded upon the principle that those operating vessels shall be assured of conditions which will enable them to meet the competition of all other maritime nations upon an equitable basis, the large merchant fleet which is now ours will either be transferred to foreign registry or rust out a useless existence terminating on the scrap-heap.

Great Coal Saving in Manufacturing Plants

THROUGH the co-operation of the industrial power plants, which have thus far put into force the standard recommendations of the United States Fuel Administration to promote efficiency in the use of fuel in power plants, the department announces that a saving of seven million tons annually has been effected. That is to say, in the first six months from the announcement of the national program, three and one-half million tons have been conserved, at the same time maintaining maximum production in the factories. The largest savings have been in the following states: Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Illinois, New York, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Some industrial plants which have adopted the standard recommendations and kept systematic records report a fuel saving as high as 25 per cent., and the average is estimated between 10 per cent. and 15 per cent. This large economy is effected at practically no expense to the plant owner since the recommendations treat primarily of proper methods of firing and management in power plants.

A Fuel Administration campaign comprehends voluntary service by engineer inspectors, lectures to fuel conservation classes in educational institutions, addresses before public meetings, explanations of the program to power plants owners, and various forms of printed matter and posters.

For the efficient execution of the program of industrial conservation, under the plan developed, the engineers of the country have been mobilized through the professional societies and the operating engineers and firemen, and as a result there are today fifteen hundred volunteer engineer specialists and power plant men organized by states, inspecting power plants, classifying them according to their operating efficiency, and aiding the work of rapid development. As a direct result of the operation of this plan, it is estimated that the total annual saving throughout the country will be about twenty-five million tons of coal without reducing the output of the factories. Special printed material, instructing the output of use of fuel, has been prepared by the United States Fuel Administration and may be obtained free of cost upon application.

The campaign has been organized in consultation with the State Administrators, the Bureau of Mines, and the Committee of Consulting Engineers of the Engineering Council, which represents the four national engineering societies. These four societies have contributed largely in supplying expert advice of engineering talent; special relations have been formed between the Fuel Administration and the National Association of the Stationary Engineers, the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and Oilers, the Laundry Owners National Association, the Portland Cement Association, and other national bodies who have given full co-operation to this national plan.

Realty Boards' Legislative Program

AT a meeting at the Real Estate Board rooms this week a sub-committee of the Board's legislative committee and a committee from another real estate organization, plans were outlined to bring about concerted effort at Albany this winter on legislative matters by real estate interests.

In the past a number of organizations sent representatives to Albany claiming to represent real estate. Sometimes the different representatives were in sharp conflict and the members of the legislature were unable to determine which of them correctly presented the views of real estate people. This winter it is hoped there will be community of thought and effort and united action. Only important measures will be considered and on these all work will be concentrated and a small committee charged with carrying out the wishes of the combined organizations.

The Real Estate Board's complete program with full explanation of the reason for and object of proposed legislature will be ready for presentation to the members elect of the Legislature in a few days.

Washington Market, the first of New York's markets on the West Side, was originally called "Bear Market," because bear meat was first sold in it.

William and Beekman streets were named after William Beekman, who owned most of the section now known as "The Swamp."

Business Men Form 34th Street Association

To Further Interests of Property Owners and Others Along That Thoroughfare—Vivian Green, President

BUSINESS men and property owners interested in Thirty-fourth street have organized an association to further the welfare of that important thoroughfare. At a meeting held last week in the Hotel McAlpin, Vivian Green of the Realty Supervision Company was elected president, James K. Cuddy of Oppenheim, Collins & Company, vice-president, and William F. Koelsch of the New Netherland Bank, treasurer. An executive secretary who will manage the office and the activities of the association will be selected in a few days.

The following directors were elected: Leslie Graff of B. Altman & Company, James K. Cuddy, P. L. Ryan of R. H. Macy & Company, M. L. Morgenthau of the Mirror Candy Company, William F. Koelsch, James M. Speers of James McCutcheon & Company, Herman Canton of the Likely Luggage Company, Melville Regensburg of E. Regensburg & Sons, Max Fertig, S. Salix of the Salix Company, John H. Burton of Burton Brothers, and Vivian Green.

Mr. Green, discussing the plans of the organization, which will be known as the Thirty-Fourth Street Association, said yesterday:

"We shall seek to preserve and protect the interests of merchants and property owners in Thirty-fourth street, from Fourth to Seventh avenues, between the subways.

"The present high class retail character of the thoroughfare and the additional prestige which it will gain as the result of the new transit facilities have combined to forcibly present to men interested in Thirty-fourth street the need of an effective organization to safeguard its interests. We shall co-operate with the Fifth Avenue Association, the Broadway Association and other civic and realty bodies in every movement, not alone affecting the interests of Thirty-fourth street, but of the city at large, although we are, of course, primarily and principally interested in the objects of our own organization, the Thirty-fourth Street Association."

CONFERENCE OF WAR SERVICE COMMITTEES

Washington, November 7.

PRELIMINARY plans for the War Emergency and Reconstruction Conference of War Service Committees to be held at Atlantic City, December 4, 5 and 6, are announced by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Reconstruction will be given a prominent place on the program, as it is recognized this subject must be taken up by business men to the end that there may be placed at the command of the Government all available sources of information. The work of reconstruction suggests the creation of a federation of all war service committees that whatever study and planning is carried on may be on behalf of all business. War industries and non-war industries are concerned equally in the determination of reconstruction problems. All European countries already are under way with reconstruction plans.

The Atlantic City conference, a call for which was sent out last week by the War Service Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will include four general sessions and numerous group and committee meetings. Into the final session will be brought for final action all the proceedings of the meetings.

There will be four general sessions participated in by all the delegates. On December 4 there will be both morning and afternoon sessions and on the 5th and 6th morning sessions. The Chamber is engaged now in obtaining the best speakers available to discuss among others the following suggestions: Reconstruction, industrial relations, raw materials and their control, price control, economic legislation affecting combinations, export and import operations, finance, etc.

The conference will be divided into groups at three sessions, the first to be held on the evening of December 4, the second on the afternoon of December 5, and the third on the evening of the same day. On the evening of December 4 each war service committee will meet with its chairman to consider the problems of reconstruction as they may affect that particular industry as well as to take up other problems which the war has demonstrated are vital to industry. On the afternoon of December 5 the war service committees will meet in groups which are related as to their use of basic materials and as to their distribution problems, etc. With these groups will meet the commodity or section chiefs of the War Industries Board. Related groups will form themselves into ten major groups on the evening of December 5 to take up the question of raw materials, price control and subjects arising from related group meetings. After the general meetings of the committees of the related groups and of the major groups it is hoped there will be presented definite recommendations covering the reconstruction period, with the possibility of creating an executive committee empowered to gather data and to function with industries to meet the many problems that the nation's industries will be called upon to solve with the end of the war.

BARRACKS BUILT IN RECORD TIME

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY has set a record in finishing an army barracks building for the new students' army training corps in six days. This building was the first of a group of eight needed for the newly inducted soldiers at the university. The entire group was completed in thirteen days from the time the work was started. Professor Collins P. Bliss, head of the department of mechanical engineering at the university, supervised this rush job in construction, the university authorities having contracted for the erection of the barracks as soon as it was learned that New York University would become an S. A. T. C. camp.

The buildings are completely sealed, so they can be kept comfortably heated by the big cantonment stoves. There are double floors throughout, there is a double sheathing on the outside, and the walls are sealed inside. Each barracks conforms to the army plan of 43x120 feet dimensions.

In the mess hall 1,600 men are fed in two shifts. High pressure steam cookers are used. There are gas and coal ranges, steam tables on which to keep food hot, and soup kettles three feet in diameter. A dishwasher operated by steam cleans 3,000 per hour.

One of the university's graduate engineers, John Lowry, Jr., was responsible for the rapid erection of the barracks. Being engaged extensively in Government work, he was able to throw in a large force of men transferred from other Government work that was finished. Mr. Lowry is doing the work for New York University at cost.

The site of the first barracks was surveyed and staked, and posts were set in concrete in one day.

Predicts Great Future For Central West Side

Opening of Seventh Avenue Subway Gives District, Already Having the Largest Traffic, New Impetus

IN the report for the year 1917-1918 of the Central Mercantile Association, of which Mr. Clarkson Cowl is President, there are tabulated a great many significant facts and figures having a direct bearing on real estate situated in the district within which the activities of the association are confined. Roughly speaking, this district runs from Canal to 34th streets and from Seventh avenue to the Hudson River. Between 13th and 24th streets the district extends east to Fourth avenue, including Union Square. Within its boundaries are the Chelsea and Greenwich sections, and through the Eastern border of the district runs the new Seventh Avenue Subway, affording the most efficient transportation service of any in the city.

The compilation of the Central Mercantile Association was made prior to the opening of the Seventh Avenue Subway, but in anticipation of it. All figures of passenger traffic refer to conditions before this line began operations, and of course would be still more impressive if the statistics of the new traffic could be included. These figures will not be available for some time. But the presentation of facts made by the Association shows convincingly the great possibilities for development in a section of the city which has been less influenced by the great improvements of recent years than have many other districts.

The following facts bearing on the real estate situation are taken from the report:

Broadway and 14th street is probably the world's greatest underground traffic point. Its daily average ticket sales are 83,725, at the rate of 30,000,000 per year. This point in the central mercantile district outstrips all New York, and its figures may be equalled only by Charing Cross Station, London, which is the intersection of about 29 railways. Statistics for Charing Cross are not available.

Since the opening of the new Broadway line at 14th street, running south, operated by the New York Municipal Railway Company, the joint daily ticket sale on this line and the present Fourth Avenue subway exceed the Grand Central Station sales by three and one-half millions and Brooklyn Bridge by five and one-half millions.

The ticket sales on the new Broadway subway line at 14th street, given us by the New York Municipal Railway Co., since September 4th, have average about 37,500 per day, which is upwards of one and one-quarter million per month, or about 14,000,000 per year. This approximate annual ticket sale on this line added to the existing Fourth Avenue subway ticket sale at 14th street and Broadway of about 30,000,000 per year.

Fourteen times as many passengers travel to and from the central mercantile district, as from all the subways and elevated stations in the city, when the difference in area between the section and the greater city is taken into account. The average number of rapid transit passengers per acre for the central mercantile district is 82,543; the average for the city (Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens) is 4,759 per acre. The central district covers 958 acres, the four boroughs 160,446 acres.

By elevated and subway lines and for ten months ending October 31st last, on the Jersey Hudson tube, 79,076,504 passengers entered and left the central mercantile district last year, which is over 216,000 persons daily.

These statistics are compiled from the Public Service Commission's recent report on station ticket sales of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company for the year ending June 30th, 1917, and from special figures received from the New York Municipal Railway Company and the Hudson and Manhattan Railway Company.

The Central Mercantile Association has made a study of the above-mentioned report and announces some significant figures.

The subway traffic has increased 42,688,874 for the city in the year, of which increase the central mercantile district claims 2,821,523 passengers, or one in every 12. The elevated traffic for the city increased 37,133,297, and of this number 5,327,587 were added to those going to and from stations in the central mercantile section. One of every six new passengers on "L" lines was gained by the central area.

The Ninth Avenue elevated showed an increase of about 49 per cent in traffic in the central mercantile district, carrying 2,601,143 more passengers than in 1916. This indicates the vast traffic to the larger industries in the vicinity.

Of the central mercantile district's increase on the subway and "L" lines 41 per cent. gain was at 14th street, 48 per cent. at 23rd street and 11 per cent. at 18th street.

An interesting fact is that on the elevated and subway lines the total increase of passengers for the central mercantile district is almost evenly divided between the east and west side stations, the west side leading by only 4,823.

Total yearly ticket sales on "L" and subway lines (and for 10 month, ending October 31st, 1917, on Hudson Tube) in C. M. district:

2d Avenue Line .....	4,898,471
3d Avenue Line .....	12,131,074
6th Avenue Line .....	9,206,957
9th Avenue Line .....	15,061,548
	<hr/>
Subway .....	41,298,050
Hudson Tube .....	32,512,913
	5,265,541

Grand Total ..... 79,076,504

Following is report of ticket sales given us by the Hudson Tube Company for ten months ending October 31st, 1917, at the following named stations in the central mercantile district:

Christopher Street .....	759,871
9th Street .....	812,369
14th Street .....	1,426,088
19th Street .....	886,788
23rd Street .....	1,380,425

Total ..... 5,265,541

The Association predicts that in five years time Seventh avenue will undergo great changes, mushroom houses will grow into towering buildings; small shops will develop into great business concerns, and this village by-street will become a congested thoroughfare. The new subway will make buildings grow on Seventh avenue, just as sunshine and rain make grain grow skyward on the farm, thus painting out the Moral: History repeats itself; What the subway did for Fourth Avenue, it will likewise do for Seventh.

Twelve typical blocks in various districts of Greater New York were studied in the Association's industrial survey as a rough basis of comparison as to population density. The block in the central mercantile area showed the lowest congestion—11,101 persons. An upper West Side block showed 11,821; the upper East Side, 19,896; the lower East side, 39,404; Harlem, 13,755, and the Bronx, 11,995.

In the central mercantile district rent, the one item in which New York City expenses are necessary higher, is comparatively low, considered in connection with the surrounding areas.

Apparently low rental prices in suburban areas are offset by daily carfare costs and by the value of time lost on trains. These items considered, central mercantile rents will always compare favorably with other locations.

For the man or woman in downtown New York who appreciates the advantages of convenience and economy of living close to the place of employment, the central mercantile district offers liberal and attractive home accommodations.

Living conditions in the central mercantile area are unusually pleasant.

Gets New Ruling on Building Construction

Chairman McDonald of Mayor's Committee on National Defense Defines Latest Restrictions

GEORGE McDonald, chairman of the special committee on construction and buildings of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, has announced that hereafter all applications for licenses to build, under the War Industries Board ruling on non-essential work must file affidavits on new forms which are available at the committee's headquarters, in the Hall of Records.

Chairman McDonald also announced the receipt of four permits from the War Industries Board, the first granted for non-essential construction among those sent by the committee to Washington with recommendations for approval. The estate of Robert Hoe Company was given license to repair the fire-damaged building at 13-15 West 28th street; the Sage Foundation Company, to complete residences and a hotel at Forest Hills; James A. Hearn & Co., to build two elevators to eliminate danger of accidents from overcrowded facilities to patrons of their store, and the Catholic Church of St. Matthias, to finish an 80 per cent. completed church in Ridgewood, Queens.

The committee received a new ruling from the War Industries Board to the effect that construction of all hospitals, barracks, etc., planned by the American Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, and other organizations recognized by the Government as engaged in war work, must be referred to the Facilities Division of the War Industries Board.

The hearing of the committee yesterday, directed by George H. Benjamin, as chairman, with Judge Warren W. Foster, as assistant, included applications from Clara Sulzer, wife of former Governor Sulzer, who desires to renew plumbing in an old building at 116 Washington Place; Darwin P. Kingsley, who wishes to provide heat for certain sections of the dwelling 52 East 68th street, and from Frederick H. Ecker, representing the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which desires to alter a section of the sixth floor of its building at a cost of $37,500, to provide additional facilities for the Metropolitan Bank.

No Cancellation of War Contracts Yet Made

WASHINGTON, November 8.—On the authority of the highest officials of the War Industries Board, the statement was today authorized that there have been no cancellations of war contracts by any purchasing agency of the Government due either to the imminence of an armistice or peace.

Certain cancellations of contracts have been made as a result of the balancing of the contracts in accordance with military requirements, as has been the uniform practice heretofore. On the other hand, the War Industries Board and the purchasing divisions, of the Government have been in consultation for some days on a plan to guard against industrial dislocation during the transition period between war and peace. An official statement of the progress made on this subject will be forthcoming in a day or two at the latest. Such contracts as are now being cancelled in the balancing of orders are subject to the usual form of adjustment between the Government and the contractor in which the latter is guaranteed full protection. The policy now being defined to cover the transition period, it is officially stated, will provide with equal care for the safety of business which has so patriotically responded to the needs of the Government in the emergency of war.

Speaking for the purchase division of the War Department, one of the largest buying agencies of the Government, Gerard Swope, assistant chief of the division, to-day confirmed the statement of the War Industries Board that there has been no cancellation of war contracts outside of the usual routine, and that the War Department, like all others, awaits the decision of the War Industries Board, with which it is in consultation on a comprehensive and fixed policy, which all alike will follow. Rumors of all kinds relative to the Government's policy are in circulation and are coming into Washington for confirmation or denial. This statement of the officials is the first authoritative answer yet made.

Mayor and Fuel Administration at Odds

FEDERAL FUEL ADMINISTRATOR GARFIELD sent Mayor Hylan a telegram Wednesday in which he requested that the police activity in the coal matter be discontinued and that the Mayor prevent "further interference" with the orderly distribution of coal. In an accompanying statement Dr. Garfield said that no request for a survey had been made by the Federal authorities, and that when the subject was discussed by Mayor Hylan and State Fuel Administrator Delos W. Cooke a few days ago the plan had been abandoned.

In his telegram to the Mayor Dr. Garfield said: "I must insist that Greater New York authority be not permitted to interfere with the action of the United States Fuel Administration."

The Police Department went ahead in its work of making the coal survey regardless of Federal Fuel Administrator Garfield's demand that such a survey be not made.

Anthracite output during the week ended Oct. 26 is estimated at 1,714,000 net tons, which is exactly the same tonnage produced during the week ended Oct. 19, but 339,000 net tons below the output of the corresponding week of 1917. The increase in wages which went into effect in the anthracite mines on Nov. 1 will undoubtedly bring back many of the mine workers who left for other industries because of higher wages. With added man power and no epidemic to contend against, an improvement in output can be expected shortly.

While there exists a scarcity of the domestic sizes of anthracite, there is an abundance of the small coals available.

In some instances shippers are reducing their prices in order to dispose of their stocks of rice and smaller coals. Household consumers who have not as yet received their quota of hard wood do well to look into the possibility of utilizing these small sizes, as it has been demonstrated that they can be successfully burned in household furnaces.

New York, Nov. 5, 1918.

Editor Record and Guide:

On August 1 there was a fire opposite the premises, 129-131 Crosby Street, New York City, which are owned by me, and the debris from the building has piled up in the street, two stories high, thereby closing the street and preventing me from using the elevator in the building. I have made many attempts to the various departments, without any jurisdiction, or have they not the means to open this street, or cart away the rubbish?

If you could send one of your staff to see the condition, he will be amazed that in this city anything like this could occur; to have a street closed for over three months and preventing me from renting the premises or having proper access.

I hope you will take this matter up, as I cannot get any redress in any direction.

The Clouds Are Lifting

As this issue of the Record and Guide goes to press the people of the United States are just recovering from their premature celebration of the report that the war had ended. Before this issue gets to our readers the downfall of German autocracy may have become an established fact.

In any event, the developments of the last few days have been so significant as to make it morally certain that the war is practically over. The Record and Guide believes it fair to assume that this is the view of the great majority of competent observers both in the United States and abroad. Naturally, therefore, the time has come to take up in all earnestness the many after-the-war problems.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the leaders in no American industries have been more unselfish and more devoted to winning the war than the great real estate and building interests of New York, for which the Record and Guide is the recognized publication. The spirit of grim determination which has been shown by these interests in the face of most discouraging circumstances should now find relief in the spirit of optimism which already is asserting itself among the leaders in these two important lines of activity. Perhaps it is too early to become 100 per cent. optimistic, but there is every reason why both real estate and building leaders in the metropolitan district should look forward to a new and long-continued era of prosperity.

Complying in the best of spirit with the discouraging regulations which the Federal authorities have found it necessary to impose, the great building interests of New York City and of the entire nation have weathered the storm in such a manner as to reflect genuine credit upon them. Near approaches the time to which they properly have been looking forward for the opportunity to resume business on the old scale, and forward-looking leaders will be found ready for the many undertakings of the after-war period.

The new era also must bring to the real estate interests of the metropolis the opportunities of which they have been deprived since the United States entered the war. Already real estate leaders are looking to the future with confidence, and some of the shrewdest of them are convinced that New York real estate now offers better and safer investment than ever before.

Looking to Albany

The time has now come for starting in earnest whatever movement may be contemplated to get from the Legislature of 1919 a revision of the State tax laws along just and equitable lines. The new officials elected last Tuesday will take office on January 1st. During the intervening weeks efforts should be made to draft a tax measure which will command the support of all the interests most vitally affected by state and city taxation.

There seems no doubt that Hon. Alfred E. Smith has been chosen to be the next Governor of the State. Mr. Smith has had long experience in public life and his knowledge of legislation at Albany is quite as complete as his knowledge of New York City affairs. The statement has been made by both political opponents and political friends on Governor-elect Smith that he has been one of the keenest public men of recent years in his grasp of problems vital to the welfare of the metropolis.

The Record and Guide makes reference to this point for the reason that it is a reminder of how helpful the new Governor can be if he will devote his abilities and his influence earnestly toward the correct solution of tax problems. New York realty owners are entitled to relief from the burdens they have been carrying unjustly for years past.

Nothing the new Governor can do, and nothing the new Legislature can do, will be more important than the enactment of a fair tax law to replace the present vicious statutes on that subject.

One Way to Keep the Home Fires Burning

The United States Steel Corporation has set a good example to the country by subscribing $5,000,000 to the United War Work Campaign fund. In announcing the contribution Judge Gary says that the seven organizations participating in the benefits of the drive are furnishing to our soldiers "what they need above everything else to secure physical and moral health, strength and comfort, and that this cannot be provided in any other way than by voluntary contributions of money and labor." He adds that even if the war should end immediately the needs of our soldiers will not be diminished for several months.

Thursday's remarkable "peace" demonstration, unfortunately a little ahead of time, unequivocally proved, the supreme place held in our hearts by the doughboys and gobs, the youngsters who are over there now but who it seems only a few days ago, were being nursed and petted, clothed and fed, punished and schooled from childhood to youth's estate amid the comforts and within the loving and peaceful surroundings of our homes. The spontaneous outburst of clamorous and grotesque actions over the supposed ending of the war camou-flagged the tears of thankfulness that our boys were at last freed from the danger of death or mutilation or starvation at the hands of a mob of war crazed beings.

In the days of horror that these boys have been through those seven organizations, working hand in hand, have taken the places of parents, of brothers and sisters, and of friends, giving them the little that was possible of the old home care and attention that fitted them for the manly part they are taking in the war for humanity.

If every contributor to the Fourth Liberty Loan gives to the United States War Work Campaign Fund in the same proportion as the Steel Corporation has done the quota will be oversubscribed many, many times. If patriotic Americans who have not had the chance to take part in the actual fighting thought it only right that they should subscribe over six billions of dollars to furnish the Government with munitions of war they ought to be ready enough to turn their pockets inside out to provide the comforts and tender care the war workers give to the boys we love.

Both the real estate men and the building and allied trades have organized drives and have started work with the enthusiasm that carried both organizations over the top in the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive. They will call on you, not because it is your duty to subscribe, but to give you an opportunity to join with others who have boys in the army and navy in the privilege of helping to do all that can be done to make their hard job a little less difficult.

READER'S COMMENT ON CURRENT TOPICS

New York, November 7.

Editor Record and Guide:

I have read with interest the proposal that relief from the excessive taxes paid by New York taxpayers shall be obtained by the passage of a bill, limiting taxation on real estate to $17.50 per $1,000 of value.

The question is asked: "Do you believe this plan is a good one and practicable if backed by the taxpaying public?" My answer is No, it is neither a good one nor a practicable one and its being backed by the taxpaying public would not make it practicable.

My reasons for my opinions are, briefly, as follows:

The plan presents nothing of a constructive character. It does not even contemplate the reduction of the expenses of State and municipal government, but cutting off the source of revenue, but suggests the availability of other revenue producing measures, by means of which "many sources of income can and will be tapped."

I do not think the plan will commend itself to taxpayers who accept the extravagance of the State and municipal government as inevitable, because it does not disclose the other methods of taxation which will be substituted for the present one and which, while probably relieving them not at all in the aggregate amount of their taxes, will deprive them of the check, however ineffectual it has been in the past, through lack of organization, which may be made effectual by intelligent organization, viz: the real estate organizations.

The absence of such a check would doubtless result in greater extravagance and still heavier burdens of taxation, against which any organized opposition might be impossible.

In order to find a remedy for excessive taxation, it is necessary to inquire into the cause. In this community it is twofold. The present procedure, in respect of our municipal obligations imposes upon the taxpayers of this generation not only the legitimate burdens of the present and the possibly unavoidable burdens of the past, but the altogether avoidable burdens of the future. In other words, past generations have foisted upon this one the burden of paying interest upon bonds issued for maintenance and repairs and current expenses, which should have been defrayed out of taxes.

Coupled with the unparalleled extravagance of recent municipal administrations, this community has had imposed upon it a "pay as you go" policy and theories of financing permanent improvements which are socialistic and which are designed to relieve the future generations of their fair share of the burden of enjoying and maintaining high class public improvements. Public ownership fanatics have succeeded in having a large part of the cost of the subways carried by the municipality, instead of by private capital, resulting not only in an enormous interest burden, due to its investment therein, but a liability for a deficiency in the earnings upon the investments of the subway companies themselves, all of which has added immeasurably to the burdens of the taxpayers. The burden should rest where it belongs, upon the shoulders of the traveling public, with fares adjusted to a point where the burden can be carried.

It is probably from a consideration of these facts and from a realization of the almost insurmountable difficulties presented by any plan for remedying them that this desperate proposition has been made, viz: of limiting the revenues from real estate taxation and driving the state to devising other means of meeting the excessive expenses of the state and municipality.

The only effective remedy for existing conditions is to put the burden of expense where it belongs. In other words, the entire financial scheme of the municipality should be overhauled with a view to relieving the present generation of every possible expense which might fairly be placed on the future generations. The provisions under which the subways—which will last as long as the world lasts—are to be paid for outright, within fifty years, should be repealed and the net and proper cost of owning, operating and maintaining the subways should be borne by the riding public. The pay as you go policy of financing city improvements should be abolished.

The real estate interests in Greater New York should organize a committee and provide it with experts and a first class lawyer and undertake a complete revision of the municipal expenses, eliminating therefrom every item of expense which, under a Republican form of government, a municipality has no business to incur.

With such a program as is recommended carried out it is quite possible that the rate of $17.50 per $1,000 would amply provide for all of the legitimate expenses of the state and municipality taxable against the property owners in New York City.

Editor Record and Guide:

In your issue early in October you mentioned the fact that the Real Estate Board would take up at its next meeting the question of revising the brokerage commission on selling and leasing property, but up to this writing we have not been able to learn what action was taken, if any. Will you please advise us on the subject if possible.

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Breach of Warranty.

IN an action for damages caused by a breach of a warranty against incumbrances, contained in a warranty deed, the defense was that the deed did not express the contract of the parties, that the warranty against incumbrances was inserted in the deed by the mutual mistake of the parties thereto, and that the contract was that the grantee in the deed should assume and pay the incumbrances. The Kansas Supreme Court holds that it was not error for the trial court to instruct the jury that the deed was presumed to contain the whole of the contract, but that this presumption might be overcome by evidence which incontrovertibly established that a covenant to assume and pay the incumbrances was omitted by mistake, and that the mistake was the mutual mistake of both the parties to the deed.

Parol Evidence.

In an action by a landlord to recover rent under a written lease, the defendant pleaded, inter alia, that prior to and at the time of the making of the written agreement of lease the parties further covenanted and agreed that said lease should not take effect or be in force until the plaintiff should install an adequate heating apparatus in the dwelling house on said premises and make other repairs to the premises, particularly to the roof and to the plumbing system. The lease was silent on this matter. The jury returned a general verdict for the defendant. The trial court refused under exception to charge the jury that, if the repairs alleged to be made to the plumbing, to the roof, and installation of the new heating system, were to be made during the term of the lease, they must not consider the evidence as to the oral agreement. There was proof that made the request germane. The New York Appellate Division held the exception well taken and reversed judgment for the defendant. —Roseff v. Reals, 168 N. Y. Supp. 1042.

Vendor's Lien for Commission.

The Alabama Supreme Court holds, Hendon v. Hirkle, 77 So. 697, that to enforce a vendor's lien against a purchaser on the theory that the plaintiffs were to be paid part of the purchase price as commission for selling the land, the amount agreed to be paid must have been part of the purchase money and the vendor must have so understood. Where the complainants, who were agents of the vendor, but not of the defendant vendee, sold land to the defendant for $20 an acre, with the understanding that $5 an acre was to be paid to complainants as their commission, the complainants were entitled to enforce a vendor's lien where the defendant failed to prove wherein the title was defective, that the complainants agreed that the defendant was not to be liable if the title was not good or that the vendor was insolvent.

Assumption of Mortgage Debt.

No agreement between a mortgagor and his grantee that the latter shall assume the mortgage debt can change the relations of the mortgagor and mortgagee, and require the latter to treat the mortgagor as a mere surety for the debt without the assent of the mortgagee (Shepherd v. May, 115 U. S. 511, 6 Sup. Ct., 119, 29 L. Ed. 456), but when the assent of the mortgagee has been given, equity, by a quasi subrogation, and in order to avoid a multiplicity of suits, gives to the mortgagee the benefit of all the collateral obligations for the payment of the debt which the surety (mortgagor) holds for his indemnity. This right of the mortgagee is not the result of any contract between the grantee with the mortgagee, or with the mortgagor for his benefit, nor of any original equity residing in him. He is allowed by a rule of procedure to go directly as a creditor against the person ultimately liable, in order to avoid a circuit of action, and save the mortgagor, as the intermediate party, from being harassed for the payment of the debt, and then driven to seek relief over against the person who has indemnified him, and upon whom the liability will ultimately fall. The equity on which this relief depends is the right of the mortgagor against his vendee, to which he is permitted to succeed by substituting himself in the place of the mortgagor.—Crowell v. St. Barnabas Hospital, 27 N. J. Eq. 655. Thecker v. Hubbard (Va.), 94 S. E. 929.

Rescission for Mutual Mistake.

If an innocent and mutual mistake was made by the vendor and vendee of real estate, the mistake being without negligence or fault on the part of the vendee, and so material that if the truth had been known to the parties, the agreement to sell would not have been entered into, that is sufficient to justify a rescission of the contract. Misrepresentations of material matters, recklessly made, as of one's own knowledge, without in fact knowing whether they are true or not, render the maker liable to one who relies and acts thereon to his injury. Where an officer of a vendor corporation went with a prospective purchaser's agent and pointed out certain land as included in the tract to be sold, and was relied on, when such land was in fact not included, the purchaser could rescind the contract subsequently made.—Jackman v. Northwestern Trust Co., Oregon Supreme Court, 170 Pac. 304.

Samuel Welsch.

Samuel Welsch, one of the best known real estate brokers in Brooklyn, with offices at 215 Montague street, died of heart trouble last week. He was 58 years old, and lived at 534 Ninth street. Mr. Welsch is survived by his wife, Rebecca; a daughter, Viola, and two sons, Howard, who is now in the Government service, and Arthur, who is taking care of the business.

To Manage Johnson Estate.

On account of the absence of its president, Bradish G. Johnson, who is engaged in war work, the estate of Bradish Johnson (Inc.) has placed the entire management of its affairs with the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company. At a recent meeting of the stockholders, William R. Buchanan and Merton D. Littlefield, of the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, and George Scott, for many years connected with the estate, were elected directors. Mr. Scott will in future be associated with the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company. The office of the estate at 39 Cortlandt street has been removed to 14 Wall street. The estate of Bradish Johnson (Inc.) is the owner of a large number of valuable properties in the mid-town section of the city, among them being the new sixteen-story office and loft building at Fifth avenue, Broadway and 21st street erected last year.

Form Newark Realty Board.

The Real Estate Board of Newark, N. J., was organized last week with practically all the leading brokers as active members, and three hundred and fifty builders, operators and owners as associate members.

The following officers were unanimously elected: President, Dr. Charles F. Kraemer; first vice-president, Frank J. Bock; second vice-president, Joseph L. Feibleman; third vice-president, William C. Fielder.

The board of governors include Louis Schlesinger, Abe Feist, Philip J. Bowers, Louis Kamm, Henry Reiss, Myron W. Morse, Charles Lurich, J. A. Barry, J. J. Gillen, Arthur Hardt, A. C. Beckwith, R. B. Stoutenberg, Lathrop Anderson and H. J. Stevens.

Real Estate Review for the Current Week

Demand for Small Properties and Renewed Interest of Builders Are Encouraging Developments

TWO outstanding features tended to enliven the activity of the week and to focus considerable attention upon the real estate market. Although the volume of business was not appreciably larger, the broadening demand for tenement and private house properties and purchases of building sites in established residential sections were significant developments, and worthy of special mention in a most encouraging market.

There are undisputed signs daily becoming more apparent to students of market conditions that builders are preparing for the peace market which will capitalize the existing shortage of business and residential space just as soon as the building embargo is lifted. The real estate men are practically unanimous in the opinion that the demand for building sites after the war will be without precedent in New York City. It is not surprising in view of recent sensational developments internationally that many builders, speculators and investors are regarding with a new attitude the existing opportunities for the profitable acquisition of unimproved holdings in these sections of the city which must feel the stimulus of the new building movement.

For some years the investing public has not regarded in a favorable light unimproved property not only because it was not in a position to compete with improved property, but because other investment mediums were combining to withdraw from the realty field large amounts which normally went into real estate mortgages and equities. In the early days of the war, when great fortunes were made in Wall street, slow moving real estate felt the effects of the withdrawal of huge sums of capital from the real estate field, their possessors succumbing to the lure of large overnight profits. Even improved property in many sections of the city felt the effects of this trend, but vacant land offered little or no inducement, when there was scant prospect of building activity, and therefore lesser possibilities for the enhancement of values.

For these and other reasons which have been so often outlined that they have no special interest much importance attaches to the purchase this week of an East Eighty-second street building site by a builder who has been prominently identified with the apartment house development in the Park avenue section. This deal, standing out prominently and supplemented by several others of lesser magnitude, may be regarded as significant because it may be the forerunner of a number of similar transactions in anticipation of the extensive building boom which everyone knows must eventually come. The sale of another building site in the immediate neighborhood in East Seventy-second street also tended to emphasize the entry of these buyers in the market.

The other important feature of the week's business was the good demand for small properties, most of the transactions being closed on cash bases, always an encouraging sign and indicative of fundamental market strength. There was no interest in any particular neighborhood, the demand being general rather than specific.

The business of the week, in its entirety, while not voluminous and not as spectacular as that of other weeks, nevertheless may be regarded as distinctly favorable. It may be the pioneer in the long delayed and long anticipated upward movement. If the demand for small investment holdings continues and speculative builders who have been out of the market for so long a time return, with their capital and enterprise and genius for creating new neighborhoods and continue to buy building sites, next week's market may furnish food for real rather than problematic thought.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 25, as against 16 last week and 16 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 6, as compared with 8 last week and 5 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 19, as compared with 8 last week and 11 a year ago.

From the Bronx 9 sales at private contract were reported, as against 12 last week and 10 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 552 of this issue.

For Post-War Improvement.

An important sale has been effected by Pease & Elliman of the vacant plot, 75 by 102.2, at 115 and 117 East Eighty-second street, 175 feet east of Park avenue. This plot has been acquired by the M. S. C. Holding, of which J. E. R. Carpenter is president, from the Lawyers' Realty Company, and will be improved with a nine-story apartment house as soon as building conditions permit. This is one of the largest purchases within recent months by any of the builders who have been identified with the apartment house development of Park avenue, and may be the forerunner of other and similar deals.

Manhattan Parcels in Trade.

Franklin Pettit, as president of the Realty Company of America, has sold through William B. May & Company the southwest corner of Broadway and Eighty-first street, 76.5 by 105.5 by 104.3 by 76.5, a five-story flat known as 2251 to 2259 Broadway, to Charles L. Bernheimer, who gave in trade 22 East Sixty-fourth street, a four-story dwelling, 25 by 100.5. A $250,000 mortgage on the Broadway corner, which is assessed for about $270,000, was assumed by Mr. Bernheimer. Several years ago owners of the Sixty-fourth street blocks, between Fifth and Madison avenues, in one of which No. 22 is situated, restricted their holdings for about twenty years to one-family residences to protect them from operations of builders of other kinds of structures.

Operator Sells Lofts.

Frederick Brown, operator, has resold to the Ideal Investment Company, Edwin S. Bayer, president (in which Julius Kayser, the glove manufacturer, is interested), the twelve-story loft building at 19-21 West 36th street, on a plot 46 by 98.8, which he acquired several weeks ago from Thomas Sperry, of the Sperry & Hutchinson Company. Mr. Bayer's company gave in payment cash and an equity in the four-story brownstone dwelling at 36 East Seventieth street. The dwelling covers a lot 16 feet wide and 100 feet deep. The loft building was erected seven years ago, and was purchased soon after completion by Mr. Sperry as an investment. The property was sold subject to a mortgage of $285,000 held by the New York Life Insurance Company. Andrew F. Gilsey negotiated the sale.

Plans Dwelling Alterations.

Theodore Southard has resold the four-story dwelling at 31 West Forty-seventh street, on a lot 23.10 by 100.5, to an investor who plans to alter the house, converting the first two floors for business and the upper part for bachelor apartments. For his personal use the new owner plans to build a duplex apartment equipped with a private elevator. The brokers in the deal were Albert B. Ashforth, Inc., and Frederick Fox & Company.

Nassau Street Transfer.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has taken title, subject to a mortgage of $600,000, to the fourteen-story Morse Building on the northeast corner of Nassau and Beekman streets. It was transferred by Charles W. Hall. The building covers a plot 85.3 on Nassau street by 69.11 on Beekman street, and is assessed for $700,000, the land value being $485,000. It adjoins the former American Tract Society Building on the upper half of the Nassau street block.

Add to Fourth Avenue Plot.

Rhineland Real Estate Company, a holding company of the Rhineland Estate, bought from Luer Immen the four-story building, 477 Fourth avenue, 25x80, at the southeast corner of 32d street. The estate owns 471 to 475 Fourth avenue, three five-story flats, and 104 to 110 East 32d street, a four-story building, and a two-story building surrounding the corner purchased by it yesterday. The combined parcels measure 98.9 feet on the avenue and 147 feet in the street.

New Colored Church.

Melrose Turn Hall, the old meeting-room building which has been standing for many years on a plot 64x75xirregular, at 585-597 Cortlandt avenue, The Bronx, has been sold for $25,000 by J. & M. Haffen Brewing Company to Philip H. Lee, who has transferred title to the First Union Baptist Church. The hall will be used for religious services for colored people, according to report. Williamson & Bryan were the brokers and Frees & McEverety attorneys in the transaction.

Operator Buys Block Front.

Frederick Brown has bought from the estate of Susan M. Weir the block front on the south side of 194th street, between Briggs and Bainbridge avenues, known as 260 to 274 East 194th street. The property consists of two five-story apartment houses, one 45x81xirregular and the other 57x84xirregular, valued at $100,000. The buildings show an annual gross rental of $13,000. Nehring Brothers were the brokers.

Heights Apartment Buyer.

Edward W. Browning purchased the Southdale apartment house, a six-story elevator structure, at the northeast corner of Northern avenue and 178th street,

New Fulton Street Restaurant.
Costis Takis, proprietor of the Goody Shop, leased, through F. W. Sharp, 144 Fulton street, between Broadway and Nassau street, a three-story building, 26.6x108.8, for nearly eleven years at $15,000 a year. The lessee will alter the building and use its street and second floors for a branch confectionery store and lunch room. The structure has been occupied by Maurice and John's cafe and billiard room. The lease was obtained from the Berghoff Brewery Company, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and is for the unexpired part of a twenty-one year term. The brewing company's lease was arranged in 1907 with Anna S. DeSelding and another, who took it from Herman Raub for $10,500 to $11,000 a year. Title to the property is held by Thomas Newbold.

Will Alter the Pasadena.
As the result of a lease just closed the twelve-story Pasadena apartment house at the southwest corner of Broadway and Sixty-first street is to be converted into an apartment hotel. The property has been leased for this purpose for twenty-one years at $57,500 per annum by the Columbia Realty Company to a new corporation represented by Stoddard & Mark, which has formed as the Pasadena Apartments, Inc., with C. A. Meier and A. G. Quinn as temporary directors. The lease was negotiated by the Frank L. Fisher Company.

Government May Take Space.
The American Railways Express Company, acting for the United States Government, is understood to have closed a lease for 100,000 square feet of space in the seven-story building at 111 to 119 West Nineteenth street, part of the old Simpson-Crawford store. The rental for the space, which is to be used for general offices, is between $60,000 and $70,000 a year. Last year the Post Office Department closed a five-year lease for 42,000 square feet on the two lower floors of the building at a rental of $40,000 for the first year.

$18,000 a Year for Dance Hall.
George B. Grundy has leased the ballroom over the Audubon Theatre from the Broadway & 168th Street Company, controlled by William Fox, for a dancing hall. The lease is for a term of years at an annual rental of $18,000 a year. Frederick Fox & Co. were the brokers. Mr. Grundy held the lease of the Grand eCntral aPlace main floor for a dancing hall until that building was taken by the Government for a hospital, and he recently leased the St. Nicholas Skating Rink, which has been altered into a dance hall.

Sale of Garage Lease.
Henry Hof has sold for Henry J. Hillman the 10-year lease of the 50x100 garage at 240-242 East Forty-fifth street to Charles Hoffman, the owner of the fee, who recently acquired the premises from Harry Aronson, Inc. The property was leased from the plans by the same broker last August before demolition of the Zion Church, which was destroyed by fire. The property has since been leased to Best & Co. for their own occupancy.

Manhattan.
THE DUROSS CO. leased the store at 797 Greenwich st to Richard Harris; the 1st and 2d lofts at 48 Warren st to Pritchard Constance Co.; the 3d loft at 797 Greenwich st to Royer Luckenbach; the store and basement at 135 West 22d st to Hauser Brothers; the top loft at 103 West 14th st to Samuel Asher; and also leased the house at 27 Perry st to Diomiro Nobilucci.

Prospects of Early Peace Brighten Outlook

Many Structural Operations Will Be Started Immediately After the War Is Concluded

WITH a steadily improving outlook for peace, we are able to look forward with confidence to a relaxation in the restrictions that have held back the construction of new buildings for civilian requirements. Of course, it is generally understood that the purpose of the existing restrictions is to conserve labor, material and transportation facilities for war material, shipbuilding and Government construction. At the present time the program of Federal building operations is well advanced, and although there are a number of important structural projects yet to be placed under contract the great bulk of the requirements in the line of building work is contracted for and work in progress. Should the war end within a short time there is every likelihood that a considerable part of the contemplated Federal building operations that have progressed no further than the preparation of the plans, will be abandoned. When peace is actually assured, it is quite probable that a number of the temporary buildings that have been erected will be demolished, and this would consequently offer an excellent opportunity to secure used material of the character that could be readily used in the construction of dwellings and other relatively small building projects.

During the past year or eighteen months the erection of new residences has fallen considerably below the normal volume of this type of construction. The failure of residential construction to keep up with the growth of the population has brought, in many sections of the country, conditions of marked overcrowding. The demand for additional housing facilities, not only for war workers in congested industrial centers, but in conservative residential districts, has been abnormal during the past year, and the demand is far in excess of the supply. Just as soon as the restrictions to general building construction are removed by the War Industries Board or made less drastic there will undoubtedly be an immediate resumption of activity along the line of residence building.

On the other hand, it has been stated that factory and industrial construction has been somewhat overdone, and with the readjustment of business conditions that is inevitable it will become plain that the manufacturing capacity of the country is greater than the normal requirements of normal peace times. It is thought, therefore, that the years following the war are likely to show a marked falling off in the construction of new factory and industrial buildings.

Shipbuilding will undoubtedly continue to be pushed. The normal tonnage requirements of the world are much greater than the present capacity. New construction of ship tonnage during the war is still behind the total destroyed, so that the new tonnage available shows a falling off as compared with a careful estimate of probable tonnage under normal conditions. The Government's needs will remain great for sometime to come. So long as the army remains overseas, the line of supplies must be maintained. The return of the troops will require a large volume of tonnage, and, in addition to this, the demands of trade which have been pushed aside by war needs will clamor for recognition. With the renewal of trade connections, shipbuilding will continue active for sometime to come.

The Government's need of food, clothing, supplies, with the exception of munitions, for the army and navy, will continue about the same for a while and diminish gradually as the military and naval forces are demobilized. The manufacture of munitions and guns will come to an almost abrupt stop as soon as peace is clearly assured. This will both release steel for building purposes and also for transportation, which has been reserved for these war essentials.

Labor that has been employed on Government building will become available. The high wages that have been paid to carpenters and all building trades generally, for camp construction, cannot, of course, be continued. But it is only fair to say that the workers do not generally expect to receive as high wages on private construction as they have been getting on the rush work which has been undertaken under military necessity. It is reasonable to expect that changes such as have been outlined above, will occur within the next three months, and hence the outlook for private building activity next spring is better than it has been at any time since the United States entered the war.

Although labor will be available, it is only fair to warn employers that any sudden return to wages of pre-war levels is out of the question, and should not be expected. An ultimate reduction in the present wage scale is inevitable, but it will come gradually, and those who try to force this reduction too rapidly will find themselves with labor troubles on their hands, which, unless peacefully adjusted, will result in holding up construction and injuring business fully as much as the present restrictions. In fact, the two main factors in the removal of activity in private building are the factors of labor and transportation. Transportation conditions will improve automatically when the pressure of war requirements has relaxed, but the labor situation will have to be handled with wisdom in order to avoid tie-ups. It is important to realize that a tie-up of work through labor disputes can make a bigger hole in profits than the payment of wages which may be somewhat above the customary level and which may seem to the contractor exorbitant. What is important to the building contractor is the cost per unit of accomplishment rather than per hour of labor. It is better to pay a higher wage per hour and get efficient and willing work than it is to save a few cents and suffer from a spirit of resentment which may lead to various forms of concealed sabotage.

It is a mistake to suppose that the devastation in France and Belgium and other countries will be made good at once, or that reconstruction will be of the same character as the buildings which have been destroyed. It is most probable that the brick buildings which have been demolished by war will be replaced in many instances by temporary structures of wood. The steel or concrete bridges which formerly spanned the rivers will be replaced with temporary wooden bridges. This should lead to a readjustment of relative prices between steel and iron construction material and wood. Those who are well supplied with lumber will thus be in a position of advantage when the turn comes.

October Figures for Local Building

DURING the month of October building activity was extremely quiet owing entirely to the order of the War Industries Board prohibiting the erection of new structures that would not assist in winning the war and limiting expenditures for alteration work on existing buildings to $1,500 for each separate operation. Within the boundaries of Greater New York the value of the projected work for the month of October was as follows: Residential construction, $526,000; manufacturing and other industrial building, $752,000, and miscellaneous, $2,131,000.

In the same territory there were contracts awarded for 86 residential projects costing about $314,000; 19 manufacturing operations representing an aggregate outlay of $468,000 and 91 jobs of a miscellaneous character that will total in cost approximately $1,334,000.

On Long Island, exclusive of Brooklyn and Queens, the value of newly projected residences for the month reached $15,000, while the miscellaneous projects totaled $130,000. No new factory or industrial projects were announced during the month. One contract was let for residence work involving an expenditure of $10,000 and the contracts placed for all construction except residential and manufacturing was approximately $110,000.

Northern New Jersey, north of Trenton, indicates a somewhat better showing for October. The projected dwelling projects reached the value of $1,251,000; manufacturing buildings, $10,573,000, and miscellaneous construction, $2,313,000. For the same territory the record of contracts actually awarded was also an indication of fairly active conditions. There were 180 contracts placed for residential work valued at approximately $1,048,000; 16 new manufacturing buildings to cost about $11,376,000 and 78 miscellaneous jobs that totaled $2,672,000.

Figures for New York State for October are as follows: Projected residences, $1,739,000; and proposed manufacturing buildings, $1,111,000.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

EXCELLENT prospects for an early peace between the Allies and the Central Powers have resulted in a materially changed attitude as far as the building interests of the nation are concerned. During the past few days the mental state of the building industry altered from one of extreme pessimism to a feeling of hope in the future. Unquestionably just as soon as the final terms of peace are ratified by the Commissioners, and it is certain that there will be no pressing need for immense munition supplies and labor for the military requirements, a large amount of materials, both in the raw state and as finished products, will be released for the regular and normal requirements of a peaceful nation.

Already a number of architects and engineers in New York have reported that during the past week or so they have been at work upon the plans and specifications of projects that were conceived before the advent of the United States into the world war and which were ordered held in abeyance by the prospective builders, or abandoned, owing to the Federal needs for men and materials to complete the Government program of construction. A further indication of the improved outlook for the time immediately following the declaration of peace is the fact that altogether new operations have been put on the projected list and for which the preliminary sketches are being started. Operations of various kinds are included in this list, but all are of a character that will go to fill the demand of the past year or eighteen months when the scarcity of available structures for the ordinary needs of the community have been felt in no uncertain manner.

The end of the war will unquestionably mean the abandonment of a considerable portion of the Government building program that is as yet not started and for which no contracts have been awarded. Beyond a doubt a material recession in the needs of the Government will release for private building operations a large volume of materials, and thousands of laborers who now are engaged in Federal work. No matter in what light the coming weeks are viewed, it is a practical certainty that the building industry, not only of the Metropolitan district, but of the entire nation, will gain by a better opportunity to conduct its business as it formerly did when times were normal and the country not economically upset by the requirements of a great war.

Generally the markets for building materials and supplies are quiet, but all dealers, and manufacturers as well, are looking forward with hope and courage to the future that at the present time seems to hold so much in its store. Prices are steady, but throughout the industry there would be no great surprise registered if there should be a considerable increase in commodity prices as soon as general building conditions improve and before the building interests are able to readjust themselves thoroughly to the return of normal conditions.

Common Brick.—Business in the wholesale market for Hudson River common brick has been exceptionally quiet during the week. Sales have been light, and were evenly divided between Government orders and brick required for the completion of structures well advanced toward completion before the stop order of the War Industries Board was made effective. Although there has been no actual change in the wholesale common brick prices there is an indication that the price situation is becoming firmer than it has been recently, and a slight advance from current quotations would not be surprising. Arrivals from manufacturing points have been somewhat heavier this week than they have been of late, and at present there are five or six barges remaining unsold at the docks instead of only one or two as were left in the market during recent weeks. Along the Hudson River the conditions are exceedingly quiet. Practically all of the brick producers have ceased manufacturing operations for the season, and have stacked their brick pending the arrival of fuel required for burning. It has been said that the major portion of the brick made this season is yet unburned, and is waiting for fuel, with no immediate prospect of obtaining this important material.

Face Brick.—Definite orders for face brick are few and far between, but there is a certain amount of estimating upon projected work that is up to the War Industries Board for official sanction. Although business is extremely slack at present, both manufacturers and dealers are optimistic for the future, and are convinced that just as soon as the war ends there will be a rush of building construction that will keep them busy to full capacity. A number of face brick producers have turned over a part of their manufacturing facilities to the making of face brick, for which there has been a good demand from direct Government sources, as well as from indirect war work in the construction of industrial buildings. Face brick prices are firm, with an indication of further increases when general business improves and the demand increases.

Structural Steel.—At the present writing there is but little hope of securing supplies of steel for anything but Government work through Governmental allocation. The steel situation is still apparently very acute, and with no immediate probability of improvement. The demand for the material is far in excess of the prospective supply, and as a consequence it is thought that but an extremely limited quantity of steel will be available for non-essential consumption until after the cessation of hostilities. It has been brought to our attention that within the Metropolitan district there is a considerable tonnage of steel readily available for prospective builders. The material has been used, but is in such condition as to be usable in the erection of various types of structures. The material comprises a number of lattice girders and columns varying in length and depth, but all capable of sustaining a load of 2,500 pounds per foot. Further information in reference to this material may be obtained by application to the Record and Guide. During the past week or ten days the tonnage orders for fabricated steel allocated to the mills for Government work have been heavy, and are representative of war construction in many parts of the United States.

Lumber.—Things have been extremely in both the wholesale and retail branches of the lumber market in the Metropolitan district, and no material improvement in the volume of activity is anticipated for some time to come. The demand continues fair from manufacturing consumers, as well as from Government sources, but it is not abnormal, and dealers are experiencing no great difficulties in taking care of what business is current. As the yards are generally well stocked up there is no prospect of immediate activity in wholesale lines. Lumber prices are firm in both branches of trade, and no change of great consequence is expected by the selling interests. The building situation is exceptionally quiet owing chiefly to the recent ruling of the War Industries Board, and the effect has been felt particularly through the curtailment of suburban building operations, which had been large users of lumber.

Wire Products.—The Government recently distributed orders among the mills for a total of approximately 137,000 tons of barbed wire scheduled for shipment to Italy, France and Great Britain, and about 60,000 tons for the use of the United States Army in Europe. In addition to this the producers have important orders on their books for nails destined for shipment to the American Expeditionary Forces abroad, and they have also been requested to increase their output of shell rounds. It is plain, therefore, that the amount of wire and wire nails that will be manufactured for private domestic consumption will be negligible for some time to come. In fact there is no possibility of dealers obtaining their requirements for stock until all of the war orders are completed and shipped. The shortage of wire nails is acute. Government prices prevail.

Electrical Supplies.—Dealers' stocks are generally low, particularly in conduit, small wire and domestic appliances. The demand, however, is strong, and indicates no signs of a let-up. Manufacturers have had numerous difficulties in supplying the orders from jobbers, as they have had their supplies of raw materials curtailed in favor of the pressing Federal requirements. Prices are almost stationary.

Window Glass.—The market for plate and window glass remains extremely firm, with a marked tendency toward increasing prices as a consequence of the stock depletion and the doubt as to the availability of new supplies from the manufacturers. It has been stated that the output of new glass during the coming winter months will be less than fifty per cent. of the usual amount produced. Distributors are experiencing considerable difficulty in supplying the demands of the market. No goods may be shipped without a permit.

IRON ORE AND PIG IRON IN 1917.

Seventy-five and a Quarter Million Tons of Ore Mined.

Statistics compiled under the direction of E. F. Burchard, of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, show that the iron ore mined in the United States in 1917 reached a total of 75,288,851 gross tons, and exceeded the former record output of 1916 by 121,179 tons. The shipments from the mines in 1917 were 75,573,181 gross tons, valued at $238,260,333, a decrease in quantity of 2,297,372 tons, or 2.95 per cent., and an increase in value of $56,358,056, or 30.98 per cent., as compared with shipments in 1916. The average value per ton at the mines for all grades of ore in 1917 was $3.15 as against $2.34 in 1916, an increase of nearly 35 per cent. The stocks of iron ore at mines, mainly in Minnesota and Michigan, amounted at the close of 1917 to 10,628,908 gross tons, compared with 10,876,352 tons in 1916.

Iron ore was mined in 25 States in 1917 and 24 in 1916. California, Montana and Nevada produced iron ore for metallurgical flux only; part of the output of Colorado, New Mexico and Utah was used for smelter flux and part for pig iron and ferro-alloys; the remaining States produced iron ore mainly for use in blast furnaces, except small quantities used for paint from Michigan, New York, Wisconsin and Georgia. The ore output of Minnesota, Michigan and Alabama, the States which have for many years produced the largest quantities of iron ore, was respectively 44,595,232 tons, 17,868,601 tons and 7,037,707 tons and was close to that of 1916, Minnesota having shown an increase of 0.02 per cent., Michigan a decrease of 1.1 per cent. and Alabama an increase of 4.3 per cent. More than 1,000,000 tons of ore each was produced also by New York and Wisconsin in 1917.

Buildings Under the Ban.

The War Industries Board recently announced a list of seventeen types of non-war structural projects which it holds can most easily be postponed while there exists an urgent need for materials and labor to complete the program of military construction. The list, as published, includes schools, churches, hotels, office buildings, bank buildings, public buildings, moving picture houses, theatres and other places of amusement, apartment houses, non-war factories, mills, etc., and store buildings, gas and electric lighting plants, grain elevators, waterworks improvements, sewerage systems, garages and gasoline stations, sidewalks and park improvements.

In the announcement of the War Industries Board, it was stated that it is imperative that there should not be the slightest slackening in the war industries. There is such a serious shortage in labor and materials, including iron and steel, that great curtailment of new construction is necessary in order that the bare needs of the military requirements may be met. The fact that peace now appears to be within the grasp of the world will not be a reason for letting up at the present time in the preparations for a greater effort to speedily win the war.

State councils of defense, which are charged with the responsibility of passing on all local applications for new construction before they are presented to the War Industries Board, have been supplied with the new list and informed that the need of labor in war industries is so acute that even though the most pressing local requirements would seem to demand additional building the people will find some way to meet their present requirements and cheerfully postpone new projects for the present.

American Fire Losses.

The average annual American fire loss for the last 10-year period was $230,000,000. That is to say, the national waste by fire was at the rate of $630,000 a day; $26,000 per hour, or $400 per minute. The average annual per capita fire loss in six European countries was about 33 cents. The average in the United States and Canada is nearly $3. This is $15 a year for a family of five, and the sum does not include fire department maintenance. With the latter item included the American family of five pays a yearly fire tax of $30.

Good Supply of Money for R. E. Mortgage Loans

Savings Banks Expect to Have No Difficulty in Meeting All Legitimate Demands in the Immediate Future

By JOHN J. PULLEYN,
President, Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank

IT is possible now that peace has come to discuss more freely the relations between the loaning institutions and real estate than has been possible for obvious reasons during the last two or three years. Many matters of importance to both must now be considered seriously so that we may be prepared for what is to come.

The end of the war entails on this country and on England, France and other European countries, and in fact upon the whole world, financial operations of enormous magnitude. It is not necessary to go into details as to what these operations are. They include the financing of government, the rebuilding of devastated regions and the capitalization of industries that have been wiped out or badly handicapped for want of money during the war. They may even include the under-writing of the indemnities that Germany will have to pay as the penalty for having brought about its orgy of devastation.

It is, of course, impossible to calculate at the present time the extent of these operations nor to figure how long they will have a dominant influence in the money market. But it is necessary in reviewing the local situation with respect to the loaning of money on real estate mortgages to take into consideration the general conditions prevailing in the world today and which will for years to come affect all financial transactions of every kind.

We have entered upon a new era in the world's history and we might as well recognize the import of the changes that have taken place. We cannot base our plans for future action on conditions that prevailed previous to 1914, nor even to the years immediately before this country became a belligerent. A great many radical changes have been made in financial and economic conditions and at least a part of these have become so firmly established that it will be impossible to effect a return to the former state of affairs.

Normal times are coming again but with this difference, that what we used to associate with a state of normality will not necessarily be included in that period into which we are just entering. Normal times used to be associated with a low rate of interest on real estate mortgages, for instance. But the ruling rate for money for this class of investment, and in fact for every kind of investment, will for a number of years amount to what would have been called a high rate of interest in former days. This is certain and it comes about because the general conditions that control the money market will enforce higher rates of interest, not because there is any change of sentiment towards the value of real estate mortgages among the group of lending institutions of which this bank is representative.

It will do no harm now to clear up some of the misapprehensions and misinformation that has prevailed during the war period as to the attitude of loaning institutions towards real estate. It has been stated, among other things, that the reason why we have curtailed loans has been that our resources have been held at the disposal of the Government for the purpose of financing the Liberty Loans. Now while this is true to a certain extent, it was not the sole cause of the withdrawal of the loaning institutions from the mortgage market.

The government's requirements have been met, and will be met in the future, without serious disturbance of other financing because our intimate knowledge of the demands of our depositors for Government securities enables us very accurately to forecast the amount of bonds in any issue that we can dispose of and prepare in advance for handling the business. Funds involved in the transactions are tied up for a comparatively short period of a few months at most and the effect on the general situation is not so great as may have been led to believe. It is possible to make this admission now that the war is over and the Liberty Loans successfully floated.

We know that the Government will issue a fifth and a sixth loan, each for large amounts, and we are already preparing to handle them. If real estate had been badly handicapped in the past solely by the Government loans, or had to wait until after the Fifth and the Sixth, and possibly others, were out of the way, there would not be much hope to hold out for the future. But this is not the case. The coming loans will no doubt be as successful as the four preceding ones but naturally the arguments presented to possible buyers of bonds will be based on different grounds than were used in the first four loans.

Governmental financing, and I now include that which other nations besides our own will be compelled to undertake in the near future, have only an indirect bearing on the relation between loanable funds and real estate. There is, of course, a sentimental influence which should not be lost sight of and, of course, there is the tightening of the money market as evidenced in the enforcement of a higher interest rate. But the borrowing of our own government would not in itself prevent investments in real estate mortgages. In this connection it is important to call attention to the fact that savings banks cannot invest funds in the financial obligation of foreign governments nor can they participate in the financing of the reconstruction work of the devastated region of Europe. All these operations will be effected by other agencies and savings banks funds will not and cannot be drawn upon. Naturally the carrying out of these great capital issues, whether by our own or other governments, or by private parties, will affect the money market to the extent of fixing higher interest rates. But we need not fear this because, as I have already said, we have come into a new era in which money is certain to command a greater return for its use.

What, then, gives us reason to feel hopeful for the future and enables us to say to real estate men that they may expect a return to "normal times"—not forgetting that "normal times," as I make use of this term, means not so much a return to pre-war conditions in all respects as to a period in which the investment in and improvement of real estate may be carried on without fear of violent reactions nor destructive upheavals—in a word, on a safe basis.

The first thing to call attention to is the fact, hitherto kept in the back ground, that since the war began there has been withdrawn from circulation a vast sum of money that formerly was available for use in the mortgage market, which will return gradually for investment in the security with which its owners are most familiar and which has always been and always will be considered the most conservative and safest investment—New York real estate.

I shall speak now of the situation here, because it is that with which we are most vitally interested. Because of the Liberty Loan campaigns and for other good and sufficient reasons the fact that somewhere between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 had been withdrawn from circulation and hoarded away was kept from the knowledge of the general public. In the year 1917 alone over $50,000,000 disappeared and when I say this I mean that no trace of this large sum of money could be found by banking institutions. The money was not used to buy Liberty bonds nor for any other purpose that was within the knowledge of financiers. So that it is a fair presumption that it went into the old stockings and under the mattresses of the owners of it.

This hoarding of money was the principal reason why there have been no funds available in the last two or three years for investment in real estate mortgages. German propaganda, inspiring a fear that the Hun would triumph and exact a great tribute from this country, undoubtedly was influential in bringing about this extensive sequestration of loanable funds. But now that Germany has been thoroughly and effectively defeated this immense sum of money will come out from its hiding place and be procurable for purposes of legitimate real estate business.

It is inevitable that investors will compare conditions as to material and labor with those which prevailed three or four years ago. It will not do to take a pessimistic view of the outlook so far as these elements of the situation are concerned. In my opinion there will not be a return to pre-war prices of material nor to the former scale of wages for a number of years. Every known fact points to a continuance of high wages and high cost of building materials for a long time. There will naturally be some shading of wages and of prices of material. But that there will be a return to the old figures seems to me to be very unlikely. What is more probable is that a mean will be reached both as to labor and materials—somewhere between the old low figure and the high ones of today.

Cost of materials will naturally be considerably affected by the world wide demand for replacements in the area where destruction has been enormous and the great demand for new buildings owing to the universal restriction of buildings for the last few years in this country is certain to have the usual effect of increasing the price at which materials for construction can be obtained.

The eight hour day has come to stay and it is well to take into consideration such facts as the domestic reconstruction policy for which British workmen have secured political recognition and which has been endorsed by our own labor unions. Lloyd George, since the armistice was declared, outlined the principal issues of the forthcoming general election in England. After emphasizing the necessity of a league of nations to guarantee peace, reduce armaments and abolish conscription, he declared that there was value in the prevailing revolutionary spirit, if wisely directed. He feared neither revolution nor Bolshevism which could be combatted by national unity, co-operation and sacrifice. Then he added, in recognition of the commanding position secured by labor since the war began, that a great rehousing program was necessary. The hours of labor must be reduced, a minimum wage introduced and production increased through land reform. It is this program to which labor in this country has given its approval and for the accomplishment of which it will exert its full strength. Labor throughout the world is becoming closely associated in the enforcement of its demands through governmental channels and it is undeniable that its position has been improved and strengthened since the war started. I believe there should be and there will be a wider and more equable distribution of the world's wealth. But the men who receive higher wages will save and invest, and one of their chief investments will be the acquiring of their own homes. It is the American way and with the education of millions of new money savers which has been brought about by the Liberty Loan and the War Saving Stamps campaigns, this class of real estate investors is sure to increase.

During the period through which we have just passed there has been a great deal of criticism of real estate mortgages because this form of investment was not as liquid as some others. This criticism merits attention because investors generally are timid about putting their money into an investment on which they cannot realize quickly in an emergency. While we believe that there is no other form of investment so generally safe and satisfactory as the real estate mortgage we have come to a realization that in our own interests, as well as those of investors generally, we should take action to rectify the conditions which have prevailed in the real estate field up to the present time.

What has been decided on is to put into effect a general provision for the amortization of mortgages on some basis that will bring about a partial liquefaction of this form of investment. Local loaning institutions are very generally agreed upon the plan to demand the reduction of mortgages on a basis of about two per cent annually. This means that in all new or overdue mortgages such provisions will be included in the contract and the mortgages will be allowed to run at the option of either party. The loaning institutions will be in better shape because these annual payments will place in our hands millions of dollars for reinvestment in the same class of securities; the owner of the property will be constantly increasing his equity and will have additional interest for keeping his property in good condition instead of allowing it to run down to the point where it is better for him to default and force us to take it over in a depreciated condition to our loss. If at any time under circumstances prevailing generally

Building Plans Total Hundreds of Millions

Reports from 400 Architects and Engineers in the Principal Cities
Show $450,000,000 of Projected Construction

ALL doubt is dispelled as to immediate resumption of an extensive scale in all sections of the country. This fact is apparent as the result of a personal canvass and survey now being made by the reporters of The F. W. Dodge Company, publishers of Dodge Reports.

Interviews with hundreds of architects and engineers in the leading industrial and commercial centres throughout the country, as to the amount of construction pending and contemplated, demonstrate that the material and labor demands for the several hundred million dollars worth of construction, for which plans and specifications are already being made, will force the building industries to exert themselves to the utmost to accommodate the immediate needs and near future demands.

The action of the War Industries Board in removing very many of the restrictions against construction together with the prompt action of the Fuel Administration in entirely removing all restrictions as to the use of fuel for the manufacture of building materials have brought this enormous activity within a few days.

A digest and summary of reports received to date from 400 architects' and engineers' offices shows a grand total of over $450,000,000 of projected construction, distributed as follows:

NEW YORK CITY.—Total proposed construction—from 91 offices—$70,575,000, exclusive of $9,000,000 for city schools, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $22,420,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $11,065,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $23,305,000.

Still unclassified, but divided among foregoing classes, $13,785,000.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Total proposed construction—from 14 offices—$3,693,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $970,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $1,648,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $1,075,000.

NEWARK, N. J.—Total proposed construction—from 8 offices—$4,255,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $3,080,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $655,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $520,000.

BOSTON, MASS.—Total proposed construction—from 12 offices—$20,816,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $175,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $395,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $3,860,000.

Still unclassified, but divided among foregoing classes, $15,386,000.

WORCESTER, MASS.—Total proposed construction—from 7 offices—$1,920,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $805,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $210,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $905,000.

EASTERN MASSACHUSETTS CITIES (Outside Boston).—Total proposed construction—from 17 offices—$3,885,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $770,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $1,515,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $1,570,000.

MAINE and NEW HAMPSHIRE.—Total proposed construction—from 8 offices—$1,350,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $175,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $375,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $850,000.

CONNECTICUT and MASSACHUSETTS.—Total proposed construction—from 9 offices—$6,089,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $1,845,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $782,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $3,462,000.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Total proposed construction—from 42 offices—$43,740,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $14,968,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $13,724,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $15,032,000.

TRENTON and CAMDEN, N. J.—Total proposed construction—from 11 offices—$3,955,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $675,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $145,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $3,135,000.

EASTEN PENNSYLVANIA CITIES (Outside Philadelphia).—Total proposed construction—from 15 offices—$4,250,000, divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $1,195,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $400,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $2,620,000.

BALTIMORE, MD.—Total proposed construction—from 18 offices $4,160,000—divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $615,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $1,105,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $2,480,000.

PITTSBURGH, PA.—Proposed construction—from 42 offices $15,575,000—divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $3,675,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $5,860,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $5,875,000.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—Total proposed construction—from 19 offices, $34,450,000—divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $7,500,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $2,250,000.

Institutional, church and municipal building, $24,700,000.

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—Total proposed construction—from 2 offices, $3,535,000—divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $2,525,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $250,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $760,000.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—Total proposed construction—from 6 offices, $2,005,000—divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $525,000.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $100,000.

Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $1,380,000.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Total proposed construction—from 42 offices, $144,047,000—divided approximately as follows:

Industrial and office buildings, $128,033,000.

Building Material Prices Will Continue High

Federal Authorities May Place Additional Restrictions on Them So That All Interests Will Be Protected

By ROY W. WINGATE, of Cauldwell-Wingate Co.

THE momentous international developments of the past week carry with them a mighty message to the building fraternity of the United States; so vast in its scope and limitless in volume that it must engage the most earnest and profound thought in the best minds of the industry. The tremendous national and international problems during the reconstruction period that now is being ushered in must be met and solved, and in this work building and its allied interests must play a leading part, not only because of its pre-eminent position in the economic structure of the nation, but also because it has suffered greatly during the war period through a restriction of its normal activities.

For more than two years the volume of building activity throughout the country, with the exception of the Government work that was confined largely to certain restricted areas, has dropped off to a point where business in the ordinary lines of construction was almost negligible. The possibility of an early peace has brought with it a revised viewpoint to the building industry and a confidence that the coming months will witness a marked resumption of activity that will more than make up for the lean years just passed.

Although during the coming months the prospects for a greatly increased volume of business are exceptionally bright it does not follow that building costs are going to recede to the point of pre-war levels. The tide of structural activity will set so strongly that there cannot, for a long time at least, be a downward trend to commodity prices for those materials that enter into the construction of modern buildings. The intense demand that will be prevalent for both raw and finished products entering into buildings will operate to maintain the existing price levels until such a time as the general economic problems of the nation have been successfully solved and the business of the country again enters upon the plane of normal times. There will probably continue to be a scarcity of raw products entering into the manufacture of building materials as well as a dearth of finished materials and supplies. The removal of restrictions governing the construction of non-war buildings has already brought about a remarkable change in the attitude of the building fraternity and numerous entirely new projects have been conceived during the past weeks as the war horizon cleared and in addition a considerable volume of construction that was planned before this country actually entered the conflict, but which was sidetracked to permit full sway to the requirements of the gigantic Federal program of structural operations, have been revived and from all appearances, a goodly percentage of this contemplated work will be started as soon as plans can be revised to meet the new requirements and contracts awarded for their erection.

During the emergency of the past year the Governmental authorities wisely regulated the prices of those commodities which were most in demand. All lines of raw and finished products were included in the list of materials requisitioned for Federal use and no small group in the list of materials and supplies for which price control was established was that involving building materials and the raw products entering into their manufacture. There is but little doubt but that the Government will maintain its hold upon the price situation of these, or a large part of these materials, until the economic situation is again stabilized upon a peace basis. As a matter of fact it is even within the range of possibility that further Governmental regulation of prices may be necessary to offset the immensity of the immediate demand for materials to be used in the construction of new buildings to meet the current industrial and housing requirements of the country. It is not impossible that the call for building materials and supplies will shortly reach such monumental proportions that the manufacturers and dealers will be unable to supply the demand and that would undoubtedly be responsible for a great amount of speculation in structural materials, or buying ahead and hoarding by contractors, thus cause prices to jump skyward unless continued regulation was a part of the program. With this fact in mind it is possible that additional restrictions upon the prices of materials may be placed by Federal authorities in order that all interests may be served without permitting special factions or units to dominate any situation.

Prices for certain materials may within the coming months show a gradual falling off from their present high levels but the movement will not be general and will by no means apply to those commodities generally used in modern construction work. The raw material situation may possibly be relieved of some of its pressure but in the lines of manufactured materials and supplies, where the labor element is an important factor in the cost of the finished product, there is no immediate probability of a price recession, because of the fact that high wages will be maintained for some time and any reduction in manufacturing costs will be a most gradual one spread over a period of years.

Real Estate and Its Ramifications

By C. B. MOLESPHINI, Real Estate Editor The Evening Post.

REAL ESTATE is irresistible. To know and understand it thoroughly is an education in itself, for it brings forth the latent talent in many a man who has failed to find his true capacity and ability in other pursuits. Countless thousands have laid the foundation of their fortunes upon it. Everything that breathes has need of it and therefore it is the most indispensable commodity in the world.

It is the ultimate source of wealth, for the seas pay tribute to the land. Gold, silver, copper, all metals, come from it.

Foodstuffs are extracted in unending yields, keeping mankind in existence to produce wealth in other directions, coming back at some time or other to its source, investment in land, either as tenant or owner.

Real estate business is really the biggest industry in any city, from the viewpoint of accomplishments for the common weal and in revenue production. In New York City real estate is an $8,000,000,000 corporation, that being the aggregate of assessed valuation.

The big department stores, bankers and banks, and industrial corporations combined are outdistanced in point of employees by those who in some manner are dependent for their livelihood upon real estate.

Every one of the many large real estate agencies and brokerage offices has from a few dozen to several hundred employes. There are thousands of widows and children who look to executors and trustees for the incomes from real estate. Title company and fire and mortgage department forces run up well into the thousands. Then there are lawyers, newspaper men, builders, architects, draughtsmen, engineers, material men of all descriptions, those who produce the components of buildings, men who deal in them, and so on and on, real estate ramifications run the entire gamut of production and consumption, all together making the greatest of all business.

These are a few of the reasons why real estate as a source of investment will never depreciate in interest. They also indicate why so many hard-headed, careful thinkers place their savings in land. It fluctuates like all things that have value according to the requirements of a community and the demand for it. But its price changes are in no manner quite so readily influenced as most other commodities.

In the last analysis, it is the most stable of all investment securities. Everybody needs it, whether rich or poor.

Real Estate at Last to Have Profitable Time

Will Now Respond to Abnormal Increases in Values in Other Things—No Danger in Investments at Prevailing Prices

By ROBERT E. SIMON,
President Henry Morgenthau Company.

NOW that the stress of the war is over and peace is in sight, there will be a gradual relaxation of the tension which has held people. While it is true that a large number of our men will still remain abroad for many years, and while it is true that we will have to go through a reconstruction period in which prices of labor and commodities will have to come down, I think it will be admitted by most that the day will never come when, in normal conditions, prices will have receded to what they were prior to the war.

It has been the history of this country that while we have had ups and downs, the net result has always been a gradual and steady increase, and we have never returned to the original low figures. It has also been invariably the history of these waves that real estate was the first to feel a coming depression and the last to enjoy the benefit of the rise which other things have had.

Unless all laws of economics are going to be cast to the winds, the time is rapidly approaching when real estate should respond to the abnormal increases in values which have taken place in the last four years. The buying public, who are in the majority, are followers and not leaders; it is therefore that we find that the man with vision buys when most people are selling and sells when most people are buying.

The time has undoubtedly arrived when the man who can read the future should buy real estate. Vacant land can be purchased at less than it sold for seven years ago, notwithstanding the fact that new subways and transit facilities have been provided and that the wealth of the community has increased; that we have changed from a debtor to a creditor nation; that the lesson of economy and saving has been brought home to a very large part of our population.

ROBERT E. SIMON

Improved properties can be purchased for less than they could have been purchased prior to the war on the old schedule of prices for building materials and labor. Rents have increased substantially and buildings are profitable, because they are now 100 per cent. rented and the item of losses in rent through vacancies, which was an important factor heretofore, can be now and for some time to come safely eliminated. It therefore only remains for the mortgage market to ease up and mortgage money to become more plentiful for the real active real estate market to be on.

The life insurance companies who have been large leaders of mortgages have been out of the market, as the Government has required them to purchase to their limit of Liberty Bonds. Savings banks also have refrained from investing in long term securities because of the unsettled conditions, and have carried larger reserves than usual in order to be prepared for the demands of their depositors. The title and mortgage companies have been unable to finance new loans, as they have been busy complying with the calls of the holders of their guaranteed mortgages, who have demanded payment to put their money into Liberty Loans.

We can see the end of Liberty Bond drives in sight; we can see the cashing in of war profits. The wealth of the country is here and will seek investment, and real estate mortgages which have held their own so much better than bonds and other forms of first lien securities will attract capital; we can therefore look forward to easy mortgage money. There does not seem therefore to be any angle of danger for real estate, and not having had its inning thus far, it is logical and safe to conclude that the demand is here and should continue, and as the demand continues, the prices will naturally increase.

Proposes That Tenants Shall Pay Taxes

New York, November 9, 1918

Editor of the Record & Guide:

Your editorial of Nov. 9, calling for an "enactment of fair tax laws to replace our present vicious statutes," is timely and no doubt expresses the sentiment of all realty owners. However the realty owners should know by this time that "looking to Albany" is like looking at the Sphinx, no answer will come from that direction. The realty owners can accomplish much more by looking to themselves.

It is plain to all of us that the legislators are only interested in getting votes and in order to get votes they must cater to the 95% non-landowning voters rather than the 5% realty owners. No measures which place any part of taxation upon the non-landowning class will be fathered by the legislature.

Now is the opportune time for the land owners to form a strong organization which shall make its own laws and transfer a part of the unjust burden of taxation to the rent payers. The terms of all leases should provide that the tenant pays a certain proportion of the tax. This proportion to be a fair and equitable share based either upon the space occupied in the building or the amount of rent paid. The landlord is to pay a fair share of the tax but not all of it. The balance to be divided among the tenants.

Under present renting conditions the landlords are in a position to enforce such demands but it can only be done by concerted action. The lease is a contract and an agreement to pay a certain share of the tax is lawful and all the courts in the land could not nullify a private contract provided its terms are not against public policy. What policy indeed is more for the welfare of the country than placing the burden of taxation upon those who spend the money, namely, the voters.

Under our present system of taxation 95% voters dictate how public money should be expended and a helpless 5% minority (the Real Estate owners) has to pay the bill. This violates the very principle upon which our republic was conceived, that there should be "no taxation without representation" and the 5% representation which the tax payer has is as bad as none at all.

Government Removes Building Restrictions

Permits Necessary on Operations Costing Over $25,000—Coal May Now Be Used in Manufacture of Materials

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The War Industries Board has removed many of the restrictions upon building activities and there is promise of further action of similar importance to the building industries in a telegram sent by Chairman Baruch to Mayor Hylan. The Fuel Administration has removed all restrictions upon the use of fuel in the production of the principal building materials.

In making the new ruling the War Industries Board issued the following comment on its official action:

"The War Industries Board began today a modification of the restrictions whereby it has controlled American industry in the interest of the nation's war program. As laid down by Chairman Baruch in a published announcement Nov. 8, it will be the policy of the board gradually to lift various restrictions and curtailments, with the view of bringing about as promptly as possible a return to normal conditions.

"In the modification of the curtailments imposed on the manufacture of certain commodities, the board has adopted the method of reversing the processes of the Priorities Committee, and there is announced today a list of commodities in respect to which the curtailment is modified.

"Hearty approval has been given by the Council of National Defense to modifications of the regulations governing non-war construction, and the council requested that immediate and widespread publicity be given them so that, to the extent now permitted, building operations might be speedily resumed."

Following is the text of the orders of the War Industries Board:

All of the rules, regulations, restrictions, and directions embodied in orders and circulars issued by the Priorities Division of the War Industries Board are continued in effect subject to the following modifications:

Section 1.

Section 5 of revised Circular 21, issued by this division as of date Oct. 15, 1918, dealing with non-war construction is hereby amended so as hereafter to read as follows:

Section 5—Construction projects not requiring permits or licenses from non-war construction section. Construction projects falling within the following classifications are hereby approved, and no permits or licenses will be required therefor from the non-war construction section.

1—Construction projects approved in writing by the Facilities Division of the War Industries Board.

2—All farm and ranch buildings, structures, or improvements.

3—All buildings, structures, roadways, plant facilities, or other construction projects of every nature whatsoever, undertaken by the United States Railroad Administration, or by any rail or water transportation company, organization, or utility, (whether or not under the direction of such administration,) or by the American Railway Express Company, or by the owner or operator of any telegraph or telephone line.

4—The construction, maintenance, improvement or development by Federal, State or municipal authorities of highways, roads, boulevards, bridges, streets, parks, and playgrounds.

5—The construction, extension, improvement, maintenance or repair of any public utility, including water supply systems, sewer systems, light and power facilities, and street and interurban railways.

6—Construction, extension or repair of all irrigation and drainage projects.

7—Construction projects connected with the extension, expansion or development of mines of every character whatsoever or connected with the production and refining of mineral oils and of natural gas.

8—The construction, alteration or extension, or repairs or additions to plants engaged principally in producing, milling, refining, preserving, refrigerating or storing foods and feeds.

9—The construction of new or the alteration or extension of existing schoolhouses, churches, hospitals, and Federal, State, or municipal buildings involving in the aggregate a cost not exceeding $25,000.

10—The construction of new buildings or structures not embraced in any of the foregoing classifications, or the repairs or additions to, or alterations or extensions of, existing buildings or structures, in either case involving in the aggregate a cost not exceeding $10,000.

11—The construction of new buildings or structures not embraced in any of the foregoing classifications, or the repairs or additions to, or alterations or extensions of existing buildings or structures, in either case involving in the aggregate a cost not exceeding $25,000; when approved in writing by the State Council of Defense or its duly authorized representatives.

12—Buildings begun prior to Sept. 3, 1918, where a substantial portion of the building has already been constructed.

Section 2.

All limitations on the production of building materials, including brick, cement, lime, hollow tile, and lumber are hereby removed, and the materials so produced may be sold and delivered for use in connection with any building project for which no permit or license is required under Revised Priority Circular 21, as further revised by Section 1 hereof, or to any project authorized by permits or licenses issued in pursuance of said circular. All limitations upon the production or use of lime or crushed or pulverized limestone in any form for agricultural uses are hereby removed.

Section 3.

Restrictions upon industries and manufacturers in their production, or in their consumption of materials for commodities hereafter in this section enumerated, as such restrictions are expressed in orders and circulars issued by this division are hereby so modified that such restrictions for the respective periods provided for in such several orders and circulars shall be less than the restrictions to the extent of 50 per cent. of such restrictions. The commodities referred to are as follows:

Agricultural implements and farm operating equipment, including tractors; road machinery; coal, coke, and wood-burning, cooking and heating stoves and ranges; gas ranges, water heaters, room heaters, hot plates, and appliances; oil and gasoline heating and cooking devices; electrical heating and cooking devices and appliances; black, galvanized and enameled ware and tin plate household utensils; refrigerators; ice cream freezers; washing machines; clothes wringers; family sewing machines; electric vacuum cleaners; metal beds, cots, couches, bunks, and metal springs for same; boilers and radiators; baby carriages; corsets; bicycles; electric fans, (including motors); builders' hardware; padlocks; stepladders; scales and balances; rat and animal traps; talking machines, (including motors and accessories); talking machine needles; clock-watches and clocks; watch movements and watch cases; hand stamping and marking devices; safes and vaults; lawn mowers; pottery; pocket knives and similar products; linoleum; rag felt floor covering; sporting goods; glass bottles and glass jars; tin plate; pianos, including piano players; automatic pianos, and parts; pneumatic automobile tires; passenger automobiles; cash registers.

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to release any industry or manufacturer from the strict observance of the rules and regulations of the Conservation Division of the War Industries Board as applicable to such industry or manufacturer.

Section 4.

Dealers (wholesale and retail) in raw materials, semi-finished and finished products are hereby relieved from the obligation to give and require pledges relating to such commodities, notwithstanding any provision for pledges in and order or circular heretofore issued by the Priorities Division, and notwithstanding any stipulation in any pledge that they will require pledges from those who buy from

Revival Will Come First in Business Centres

Big Operators Will Be the Leaders in the Building Boom That Will Start When Money Is Plentiful

BY J. CLARENCE DAVIES.

A STUDY of existing real estate conditions reveals a striking similarity to those that existed after the Civil War. Then, as now, there were vast supplies of money in this country. My confidence in the future of New York real estate is based, therefore, not alone upon the precedent established during similar periods in history, but also upon an examination of existing factors which substantiates my belief that New York City will soon witness a revival of both real estate and building activity unprecedented in scope.

In the history of the United States there has never been such tremendous amounts of money in circulation as at the present time. This statement is borne out by statistics. The diminution in war work and in the production of materials having a direct connection with the prosecution of the war has already become evident. This will release a great amount of capital which has been steadily flowing into this branch of national endeavor. The easing of restrictions against the production of commodities which the Government has deemed non-essential must be reflected in a corresponding revival of interest in commercial plants and buildings and real estate necessary for the renewal of activity along this line.

Students of general business conditions anticipate, and with good reasons, a decline in the production of munitions and other supplies. In my opinion this situation should at first cause a reaction in the existing high prices for commodities in general and for wages. But it will not be long before there will come a period when there will be a quickened demand, if this time has not already come, for materials of various descriptions whose production has been held in abeyance or altogether checked on account of the war. This demand will be heavy and insistent, and I would not be surprised if the prices of all materials should continue to advance.

Money will again become plentiful and there will be large amounts available for the mortgage and building loan fields. Just as soon as the money situation becomes easier building activity will begin and the demand for real estate which can be improved and for vacant land which can be built upon will become a conspicuous feature in the market. Then we will see the price on real estate advance on a parity with the value of other commodities.

This must, in my opinion, be the logical course of events, and real estate interests can look forward with real confidence for a revival after the period of depression which has lasted since 1917. The possibilities of the future have already manifested themselves in the incipient demand for apartment houses, tenements and business properties, all of which are now well filled and on a good paying investment basis. This demand will increase as people who desire to make investments in real estate realize its possibilities as compared with other investments.

The question naturally arises as to what section of the city will first feel the effects of this real estate revival. It is my opinion that the initial activity will be directed at the established business centers. Past real estate history has demonstrated conclusively that such sections are the first to feel the effects of newly created demands. People always want the best, first. Conservative investors in real estate, if precedent means anything, will be interested in those districts which have become recognized as established centers. The number of investors who are financially able to concentrate on real estate holdings in such choice sections is limited. It naturally follows that those who cannot afford investments in such neighborhoods will seek the next best, which will be the adjacent neighborhoods. The same process will be followed all the way down the line until the small investor and home builder with small amounts of capital is reached, and this class of purchaser will be the one interested in the great outlying areas which will be transformed into new residential communities.

An analysis of the entire situation based not alone upon my personal experience in practically all phases of real estate activity covering a period of many years, but also based upon a comparison of present conditions with conditions that existed in similar periods in New York real estate history, leads me to regard the immediate future of real estate with real optimism.

Apartment houses, hotels and residences, $1,929,000. Institutional, church and municipal buildings, $14,085,000.

DETROIT, MICH.—Telegram November 13: "Estimate 1,064 projects, total valuation $46,000,000, ready to mature in eastern Michigan within year if ban is lifted. Small private plan projects will probably add 1,000 with valuation $4,000,000 within year. Total over $50,000,000."

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Telegram November 13: "Following work held up account of war: 4 factories, $1,800,000; theatre, $160,000; 2 hotels, $235,000; 3 stores, $65,000; 3 colleges, $130,000; 2 boiler houses, $65,000; 1 church, $30,000; 3 lofts, $109,000; 5 schools, $1,040,000; 1 convent, $200,000; 1 garage, $60,000; 1 club, $35,000; 8 apartments $540,000; 16 residences, $404,000; 3 flats, $25,000; total, 55 projects, to cost $4,898,000."

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Telegram November 14: "Local architects have and are preparing plans for approximately 50 new buildings, cost aggregating $20,000,000; majority of projects awaits only the lifting of the Government ban on materials; hundreds of houses and homes will be added as soon as materials, men and transportation can be depended on."

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—Telegram November 14: "Office and store building, $400,000; church, $20,000; office warehouse, etc., $1,000,000; industrial enterprises, offices, etc., $1,000,000; about $10,000,000 of school work throughout northwest will go ahead."

Many Experts Investigating Tax Problems

Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests Increases Membership of Executive Committee—Congress and Rights of Owners

THE Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests issues the following statement:

In the tendencies which might be diverted into State socialism are some proposals which may be developed and adopted for the common good. But their cost should be so distributed that the total of taxpaying ability shall be conserved. This requires a long look ahead lest new and excessive tax burdens be thrown back upon real property through the usual extension of the activities or the inadequacy of the revenues for their support.

In the proposal of the War Department to reduce to four months the right of owners to contest administrative awards for commandeered property, is seen another effort to reduce the rights and remedies of persons having any interest in real property. Objections to this special rule are obvious and fatal. But the number of new restrictions placed upon real property by law is increasing and has a direct effect upon building and the improvement of housing facilities. Every new proposal should be examined most carefully.

In rent regulation, Congressional differences will doubtless result leaving the matter to the more effective law of supply and demand. Pricefixing by legislators and politicians of necessity must fail and will defeat its own purpose.

In the great increases of costs for State and local government, problems serious before the war now become far more important. The State Comptroller has asserted that State service has been maintained without substantial increase in the budget in spite of the well known increases in salaries and prices. It is impossible. However, it may be difficult to disprove it in the absence of a State budget prepared on scientific principles. The coming session of the legislature may throw much light on ways and means for conducting government with more efficiency at less cost. But unnecessary political jobs are hard to abolish, as the present city administration has discovered.

Mr. Albert G. Milbank, chairman of the committee which is completing some of the investigations begun by the Mills' Joint Legislative Committee on Taxation, reports marked progress under the personal supervision of Prof. H. A. E. Chandler. City and State and private offices and agents have presented a great mass of data for the statistical compilations by Prof. Robert E. Chaddock. The advantages and disadvantages of various plans for taxing persons, property and business are being investigated in the light of actual experience, their yields accurately estimated for New York, and the size of future tax levies estimated. This committee of business men has demanded facts rather than theory, which explains why they will withhold conclusions until they have more definite information than now exists. The large expense of such thorough work is justified by the progress already made and the benefits which it should confer.

Mr. Milbank's committee is authorized to expand its membership so as to be representative of all real estate, banking and commercial interests, although it is even now widely representative. Such action will be taken before the investigation concludes and while its staff is available for additional work.

Mr. William E. Harmon, chairman of committee on taxpayer organizations, reports great success in obtaining the support of taxpayers and tenants who are not now actively associated in existing bodies. Mr. Henry King Hannah, executive secretary of that committee, reports a prompt response from those who will unite in demanding a more equitable plan for taxing realty.

Mr. Alfred E. Marling, chairman of the Council and acting chairman of the executive committee while Mr. Cyrus C. Miller is engaged in war work, announces that Mr. August Heckscher, well known owner and operator in the Grand Central zone and on Fifth avenue, has been elected to fill the vacancy in the Council's membership of twenty-five. Also that the executive committee has been increased from five to seven and the election to said committee of Mr. Robert E. Simon, president of the Henry Morganthau Company, and recognized for his activity in all real estate movements.

them for resale; provided, however, building materials and other products shall not be sold and delivered for use in connection with any non-war construction projects save those for which no permit or license is required under priority circular No. 2, as revised by Section 1 hereof, or with the terms of orders and circulars heretofore issued, and comply with all pledges heretofore or hereafter given, save that they are hereby relieved from the provisions in such pledges as require manufacturers to exact pledges from those who buy them for resale.

Section 5.

The Priorities Division of the War Industries Board will, as far as practicable, assist industries in procuring materials, fuel, transportation and labor to enable them to increase their operations to normal limits as rapidly as conditions may warrant. Precedence must, however, be given to stimulate and increase the production of cargo ships and supply the requirements of the army and navy of the United States, as well as to provide for this nation's proper proportion of the enormous volume of materials, equipment, and supplies as have been required for the reconstruction and rehabilitation of the devastated territories of Europe. Precedence must also be given to such activities as will tend to stimulate the production of foods and feeds, of coal, of natural gas, of oil and its products, of textiles and clothing, and of minerals; and to provide for deferred maintenance, additions, betterments, and extensions of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, and other public utilities, and to permit and stimulate the intensive development of inland waterways.

The Fuel Administration made the following announcement:

The first revision of the curtailments upon the use of coal pursuant to the halting of the nation's war program was announced today by the United States Fuel Administration.

All limitations on the use of fuel in the production of building materials, including brick, cement, lime, hollow tile, and lumber were ordered removed by Fuel Administrator Harry A. Garfield. This action was co-ordinate with the decision of the War Industries Board, announced today in removing restrictions on the production of building materials.

Mayor Hylan has received a telegram from Chairman Baruch, of the War Industries Board, in which he says:

"The drastic curtailment of all building operations, due to drain caused upon the very heart of our war enterprise, is to be gradually reduced under a formula adopted by the non-war construction section of the War Industries Board. Having in mind the representation of New York's urgent need of new school buildings, set forth in your letter of September 6 and again on September 21, I regard it as a pleasing duty to inform you that the obstacles in the way of school project have been removed to the extent that it gives me the right to say to you that this Board will be glad to have New York city's application placed before it, so that consideration may be given the release of the materials necessary to the construction.

"To that end I suggest that the School Board, or such other agency as is charged with the responsibility, submit to the Mayor's Committee on National Defence of New York City, which is the representative of the non-war construction section, the detailed plans of the operation. They will then be forwarded to this board for final action, which, I hope, and see no reason to doubt, will be favorable."

Fixed Tax Rate on Real and Personal Property

Budget Committee of Real Estate Board Outlines Its Program for Legislative Action This Year

THE Budget Committee of the Real Estate Board in elaborating its proposal for a fixed rate on real estate and personal property, says:

The City of New York is a great business corporation and should be managed on business principles. It really makes no difference to the ordinary citizen whether its officials are democrats or republicans, but it does make a difference to everybody whether the business of the city is economically conducted or not.

Waste and extravagance are reflected in increased rents and the increased cost of commodities and it is idle for the tenant to think that he escapes because he is not a taxpayer.

The Real Estate Board's proposal is this:

The assessment rolls of the city for both real estate and personal property to be complete by November 1 and the totals to be then handed to the Budget Committee of the Board of Estimate.

All estimates of city and county departments to be in the hands of the Mayor by September 1. They should be submitted to the close scrutiny and examination of the Budget Committee of the Board of Estimate between that time and November 1.

If, as the Real Estate Board believes, and the estimates of the best tax experts are correct, there will then be available for purposes of taxation $8,000,000,000 of real estate and at least $10,000,000,000 of personal property.

The budget committee can then estimate that the city's income will be approximately:

From real estate—2% tax.....	$160,000,000
From personal property— $\frac{1}{4}$ % tax.	25,000,000
From excess revenues of the general fund .....	50,000,000

In all ..... $235,000,000

As the committee has the estimates of the city and county departments and knows the amount of money it can raise, there will then be no difficulty in making the proper appropriations. The various city and county departments can be told: there is just so much money and you are getting all we can give you.

This is a proper way to make a budget.

It is absurd to do business otherwise. The owner of property, both real and personal, will know the exact limit his property can be taxed. The tax on personal property should be fixed at  $2\frac{1}{2}$  mills or  $\frac{1}{4}$  of 1 per cent., and there should be no other tax on personal property. This tax should be levied and collected before March 1 of each year. The tax on real estate can then be levied.

If, as many people believe, there is more than $10,000,000,000 of personal property available for purposes of taxation, the tax on real estate could be made at a rate less than 2 per cent. and be payable on May 1. In no case, however, should the tax on real estate exceed 2 per cent.

There is nothing revolutionary in a fixed tax on real estate and personal property. The constitution of the State of New York limits the tax on real and personal property in counties containing cities of over 100,000 population to 2 per cent. exclusive of the debt service, and this limitation was fixed at a time when real estate even in the City of New York was only assessed at one-half its real value. Now the assessment is admitted by the State Board of Equalization to be at least 94 per cent. of the real value and the average is really nearer 100 per cent.

Almost all forms of personal property have now fixed tax rates.

One per cent. per annum on bank stock,  $\frac{1}{2}$  of 1 per cent. on mortgages when filed, 3 per cent. on the net income of mercantile and manufacturing corporations and many states have a fixed rate on secured debt.

The Real Estate Board claims therefore that a fixed rate on real estate and personal property will bring about the following:

First—provide sufficient income to carry on government honestly and economically administered.

Second—stimulate every form of industry by taking away uncertainty as to taxation and especially aid real estate by making it a most attractive investment.

Third—make taxation simple and easily understood, as all other forms of taxation would be abolished except for Federal purposes.

Fourth—it will limit the municipal government to legitimate function of administration for which there will be money enough for all reasonable city activities and the fullest extension of the city's charities. There must be a check on those forms of community grafting which have ruined every civilization since history began.

Coupled with its tax program, the Real Estate Board has prepared legislation to aid the city administration in its plan to give the community an economical government, practical and efficient, but with no fads or frills.

Bills will be introduced to abolish all commissions or boards spending city money without city control:

To give the Board of Aldermen and the Board of Estimate power to consolidate departments of city government having functions in common or with duplicate jurisdiction and to abolish unnecessary bureaus and departments:

To give the Board of Estimate power to regulate salaries of county employees.

The Real Estate Board of New York, whose membership includes tenants and owners, brokers and operators, lawyers, engineers and architects has to the fullest extent the confidence of the members-elect of the legislature. Its consistent course in interesting itself only in measures of importance to real estate with broad views on all legislation of value to the community, has given it a standing and influence that is of the greatest value.

This was shown by its success in passing the Lockwood-Ellebogen bill creating the Board of Standards and Appeals and in the passage last year by the conservative State Senate of the bill to limit the tax rate on real estate, but which failed of passage in the Assembly as you will see by the proposal of the Real Estate Board will again have a bill introduced at the coming session of the Legislature.

The record of its legislative committee last year is interesting: 13 bills approved by the committee became laws; 58 bills disapproved by the committee were defeated.

The closest co-operation of other real estate and business organizations will be sought and the program will at once be submitted for their approval.

United War Work Campaign

REAL ESTATE men made a late start in the drive to raise their share of the $35,000,000 which the United War Work Campaign is collecting from New Yorkers this week for army and navy welfare work. Twenty-four teams, under the direction of Frederick P. Fox, who is chairman of the real estate division, made a beginning Monday only to find that the town had given itself over to the now-historic celebration that swept everybody off their feet and transformed the most staid inhabitant into a frantic hat waver and hand shaker. It took all day Tuesday for New York to regain its composure, so that the industries divisions in the campaign really did not get into action until Wednesday.

Among the larger contributions reported were $2,000 from the Chesebrough Building Company; $1,000 from Horace S. Ely & Co., and $500 from Charles Kaye.

Frederick Fox & Company, firm and employes, gave $500; William A. White & Sons, firm and employes, $657; the Robert Hoe Estate $250 and the South Ferry Realty Company $250.

In an effort to stimulate subscriptions the war work division has prepared a graduating scale for contributions to the war fund based upon the capitalization of real estate corporations. Firms capitalized at \$10,000 will be asked to subscribe 2 per cent. of that sum; \$10,000 to \$25,000,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent.; \$25,000 to \$50,000, 1 per cent., and above \$50,000, one-half of 1 per cent. This plan was adopted at a special meeting held yesterday in the rooms of the Real Estate Board, which was attended by all the team captains.

Let Optimism Be the Spirit of the Hour

President Wilson is authority for the statement that to all intents and purposes the great war has ended. True it is that final peace has not yet come to the warring countries, but the President's view is that the signing of the armistice itself, in effect, signifies the close of the war.

Grave problems naturally remain to be solved by the Peace Commissioners representing the various countries, but the President made clear to Congress his convictions that defeated Germany is no longer in a position to resume hostilities.

Under the circumstances, and regardless of the happy demonstrations with which the success of the Allied armies has been acclaimed, it seems especially appropriate that the people of the United States from now on should let optimism be the spirit of the hour.

In this issue the Record and Guide provides its real estate and building friends with many concrete reasons why the future should be faced with optimism. The prompt action of the War Industries Board in removing some of the restrictions against building made necessary by war conditions is a most significant augury. Reports reaching the F. W. Dodge Company from all parts of the United States indicate that building on a vast scale has been awaiting only this word from Washington. The tracks are rapidly being cleared for the handling of many enterprises, each perhaps small in itself, but altogether making a very large aggregate. The pursuits of war will shortly give way to the pursuits of peace.

New York, the great metropolis of the United States, has been hit hardest of any of the great American cities by the war. Real estate and building operations practically have been at a standstill for many, many months. It has not been possible to get money for real estate developments, nor has it been possible to get either money or materials for building operations.

Of all the good news which appears elsewhere in this issue of the Record and Guide none, perhaps, is more significant to New Yorkers than that contained in the timely statement of Mr. John J. Pulleyn, President of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank. Mr. Pulleyn takes the view that money in large amounts will soon be available for real estate and building operations, and he is a recognized authority on that subject.

Why, therefore, should not optimism be the spirit of the hour when Mr. Pulleyn asserts: "Since the war began there has been withdrawn from circulation a vast sum of money that formerly was available for use in the mortgage market, which will return gradually for investment in the security with which its owners are most familiar and which has always been and always will be considered the most conservative and safest investment—New York real estate."

Mr. Pulleyn calls attention to the fact that because of the Liberty Loan campaigns and for other good and sufficient reasons somewhere between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 has been withdrawn from circulation and hoarded. During 1917 alone, he adds, more than $50,000,000 thus disappeared of which the banking institutions could find no trace. This hoarded money and other larger amounts must soon return to normal channels for normal usage. Mr. Pulleyn refers to the fact that two or three hotels in this city have been pushed to completion and that the new subway has been put into partial operation despite almost unsurmountable impediments. "But," he adds, "otherwise the improvement of the city has been at a standstill awaiting the day. That day has come and the man combining the courage of his convictions with the exercise of business discretion will most certainly find profit in the work of providing for the pressing needs of the city for more homes, more offices, more warehouses and more buildings of every description."

What is true of New York must, though on a smaller scale be true of every large city in the United States.

Labor and Reconstruction

Those who are anticipating difficulty in getting back to a normal basis in the business world through fear of labor troubles will do well to take into consideration certain facts that have become known since the armistice was declared.

At a conference this week at Washington between officials of the War Industries Board and representatives of the State Councils of National Defense, Mr. D. R. McLellan, Chairman of the non-war Construction Section of the War Industries Board, said that at present there was a shortage of more than a million men, skilled and unskilled, on munition and war construction and that this was the chief reason why non-war construction had been called upon to devote itself to war work. The corollary of this statement is that the moment men are released from war work there is non-war work awaiting them that would have been going on even before peace came if there had been workers enough to go around.

Proof of this already has been demonstrated in Long Island city where 10,000 gas mask workers were let out when contracts for this class of war supplies were cancelled. One thousand men have already found their places, and hundreds of requests to divert these men to other manufactures of peace goods have been filed with the former employers of the gas mask workers.

The shipping program is to keep up, which alone means the employment for a long time of many thousands of men, including a great many carpenters and iron workers who were formerly engaged in building. The locomotive and car builders are swamped with orders and there are many other lines of manufacturing that will employ as many or more men on peace work than they did on munition work. The automobile industry is likely to have to work overtime to catch up with the schedule with which the war seriously interfered.

The Federal government has taken steps to cancel war contracts in such a way that materials, labor and manufacturing facilities may be diverted from war to civilian needs in orderly fashion.

Lloyd George in England and Samuel Gompers in this country are working to bring about relations between the wage earners and the employers, through political channels, so that there shall be no occasion for the antagonism that has existed in the past. Premier Lloyd George, in addressing English labor representatives in anticipation of the election next month, said that it would be the policy of the government during the transition period to maintain the present level of wages, and he has favored a minimum wage, the eight hour day and other reforms advocated by the English Labor party, which has been approved by the Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers, at the Pan American Labor conference, now in session at Laredo, took active part in promoting the trades union movement as opposed to Socialism and Bolshevism.

Judge Gary, in his statement issued since peace came, emphasized the idea that in the future "both capital and labor will be protected and rewarded. Employers will lead in the effort to promote the welfare of their workmen."

These are only straws. The indications are growing that there will be a huge amount of peace work for this country to do, and it is more likely that there will be a scramble to get workmen than an oversupply of labor, which breeds trouble.

Bolshevism thrives on hunger and want, not on savings bank accounts and ownership of bonds and the American workmen, happily, is very well fixed in these matters.

Good Supply of Money for R. E. Mortgage Loans

throughout the country money should become tight, and investment money should be scarce, we could depend on the income from amortization of these mortgages to supply at least a part of the demands upon us. The movement to enforce this provision for amortization of mortgages has passed from the theoretical to the phase of actuality. The Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank, which is the largest lender of money on real estate mortgages, has been one of the first of the Savings Banks to put this provision into effect. We called in all our clients and put the matter up to them and 85 percent said: "Why didn't you do it before?"

It does not seem right when a bank loans sixty percent of the value of a piece of property that it should allow the "owner" with an equity of only forty percent in it to manage the property just as he likes without taking the predominating interest of the bank into consideration. The enforcement of amortization will compel careful management of mortgaged property to the benefit of all concerned. This subject has been discussed in the Savings Bank Section of the American Bankers' Association and a committee was appointed at the recent convention held in Chicago to prepare a plan whereby the principles of amortization might be applied by every savings bank throughout the United States.

The speculative builder feels that he is likely to lose out if this practice becomes general. But the speculative builder can and will secure money for his operations from other sources. If we did not believe this we should go slow in bringing about a program that would eliminate the speculative builders from the real estate field. New York today is an illustration of what the speculative builder can do. Without him this would not be the wonderful city it is.

It is then apparent that there is good reason for hopefulness in the future. Property is held now at comparatively low figures and any investment is likely to show fair returns as the world regains equilibrium. It will again be valued on the basis of its income return.

Money will be in good supply, due to the return to regular investment channels of hundreds of millions of hoarded money and to other causes, at a rate not so low as formerly but not so high as to be prohibitive. In this connection it must be remembered that there is a limit to the interest rate in this state above which we cannot go. But I should say that the majority of loans for some time will be made at a rate between five and five and one half percent.

There is nor will be no change in the policy of the group of loaning institutions of which this bank is representative towards investments in real estate mortgages. That the savings banks have always considered these mortgages as a sound investment is shown by the fact that 55.9% of the total assets of the Savings Banks of New York State is invested in this class of security and a similar state of affairs exists in nearby states, New Jersey banks having invested 42.5% of their total assets in real estate mortgage, Connecticut 39.3% and Massachusetts 51.9%. The savings banks must continue to put the larger share of their funds into real estate mortgages.

The labor and material situation is such that building operations effected in the near future will not be endangered by a recurrence to the low wage scale and the former cheap cost price materials which prevailed before the war.

Rentals are high and will continue so until such time as building operations catch up with the increase in population. In this connection it is well to bear in mind that it is always harder to catch up than it is to keep ahead.

It is not the hour for timidity but for the exercise of that sound business judgment that usually has characterized the men who are interested in New York real estate. These years of warfare, so disastrous to many other portions of the world, have certainly enriched this city and increased its prosperity from almost every point of view. But while its financial strength has been growing by leaps and bounds and its domestic and foreign commerce has exceeded the wildest dreams of its most sanguine citizen, making New York the foremost city in the world, and its population has been constantly augmented, its building progress has been held in almost complete abeyance; its streets and avenues have ceased to spread out into new territory; its harbor is still inadequately provided with docks and warehouses.

Two or three new hotels have been heroically pushed to completion and the dual subway has been put into partial operation despite almost insurmountable impediments. But otherwise the improvement of the city has been at a standstill awaiting the day. That day has come and the man combining the courage of his convictions with the exercise of business discretion will most certainly find profit in the work of providing for the pressing needs of the city for more homes, more offices, more warehouses, and more buildings of every description.

RANDOM NOTES IN THE REALTY FIELD

Landlord Issues Bulletin for Tenants—Unique
Prophecy Fulfilled—A New Three-Family House Bill

PROPERTY owners interested in the "model tenant" movement will find food for thought after an examination of the four-page Le Roy Hall Bulletin, which is being published by John A. Thulman, who owns the apartment house at 2493 Valentine avenue, in the Fordham section of the Bronx.

The following are excerpts from the November issue just published:

"There are many people, who live in apartment houses, who do not seem to know that it requires a certain amount of intelligence and tact to be a model tenant, and there are, also, some people who do not care to become model tenants.

"The latter seem to prefer to just live in an apartment house because it is convenient and anyway they have to live somewhere and it might as well be in an apartment house as any other old place.

"The latter people never take care of the place, they just wear it out and let the landlord worry.

"In the forthcoming issues we plan a course of instructive articles which we think will be highly appreciated.

"Among the features will be:

"Instructions as to how to take care of radiators, so they will not leak and stain the ceilings of the flat below, and how to get the most heat and yet conserve the coal.

"How to take care of refrigerators to prevent similar damage to the ceilings below.

"How to preserve cobwebs and make them serve a useful purpose.

"Suggestions will be offered on the raising of a large and healthy family in a five or six room apartment. The conduct of the children when they are small and mischievous.

"In fact, the forthcoming issues will be a complete compendium for flat dwellers, and it is suggested that each issue be carefully preserved for future reference.

"The editions will be limited and no back numbers will be obtainable and their value to future generations will be priceless.

"It is planned to have a full page illustration accompany each of the forthcoming numbers. These pictures will be printed by a new process and will be well worthy of a handsome frame.

"This number will, appropriately, contain a full length portrait of the landlord, drawn by himself.

"Local, State and National politics will also be tersely discussed, and it is not impossible, now that the ladies can vote, that the destinies of the nation may be swayed by the vote of Le Roy Hall."

A Prophecy Fulfilled.

In view of the collapse of German power and the spectacular events of the week, it is interesting to recall the unique advertisement which J. Clarence Davies prepared for publication on November 22, 1917, in connection with the large real estate auction sale of the Godwin estate lots. It read as follows:

"I, Wilhelm II, German Emperor, King of Prussia, realizing that man is entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that a Government should be with the consent of the governed; a Government should be of the people, by the people, for the people.

"I, Wilhelm II, realize the fact that if the war continues the flower of the youth, not alone of Germany but of the entire world, will be destroyed. I do not desire to stand in the way of the peace of the world, nor to be responsible for any further destruction of human life, nor of liberty, nor civilization.

"I, therefore, in behalf of myself, my successor, and my family, hereby abdicate as German Emperor, King of Prussia."

"Should the German Emperor make

Let Optimism Be the Spirit of the Hour.

this announcement, peace would follow in a day."

For the Conversion of Dwellings.

Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann, made an interesting address on Tuesday night, at the dinner of the New York Building Managers' Association. Among other things, he declared that he had prepared a bill to be presented at the session of the next Legislature which would make it possible for owners of old dwellings to convert them profitably in flats. Commissioner Mann declared that the measure now on the statutes, resulting from the Lawson bill, intending to permit the use of dwellings by three families, was so emasculated as to make its application impossible from the viewpoint of cost, and because of that feature but seventeen applications had been filed since its enactment, and only one completed.

Under his proposed bill, said Commissioner Mann, conditions would be such that private dwellings could be profitably converted, and that it would afford relief from the present shortage of housing accommodations as well as to benefit property values.

H. H. Trice Is Overseas.

Overseas service has claimed another realty man. H. H. Trice, of Fred'k Southack & Alwyn Ball, Jr., has left for France where he will be engaged as Divisional Business Secretary in the interest of the Y. M. C. A., working with the American and French army. Mr. Trice is the son of W. H. H. Trice, of Virginia, one of the oldest and most successful real estate men in the Old Dominion. Shortly after his arrival in New York he connected himself with Messrs. Southack & Ball and by hard work, aided by a knowledge of the real estate business gained from his past experience as partner of his father, has met with gratifying success. In the Fourth Liberty Loan, Mr. Trice was Captain of Team 2, of the real estate division. He has also taken a great interest in the Red Cross and was leader of a team in the Second Red Cross Drive and has given much time to the home service section of that organization.

The East Bronx Subway.

The announcement that the Lexington avenue subway route would be opened up to Hunt's Point about mid-December, was the most gratifying news that the residents and business men of that fast-growing territory of The Bronx have received in many a month, marking as it did the culmination of a long period of waiting for the transit relief that it will afford.

The new route, already in operation to 138th street Third and Alexander avenues, has materially cut down the congestion on the Third Avenue and Second Avenue Elevated Lines' stations at 138th street, making traveling conditions on those lines south of that point more comfortable than they were in the past, especially during the "rush" hours, and there is not the slightest doubt but that the opening of this new transit artery to the temporary terminal at Hunt's Point will have a most excellent reflection in easing traveling conditions on the old subway.

Bronx Owners Meet.

The Federation of Bronx Real Estate Owners held a meeting on Wednesday night, at Hunt's Point Palace, which was well attended. Stewart Browne, president of the United Real Estate Owners Association, addressed the meeting. The Federation went on record as favoring the enactment of a bill limiting the tax rate on real estate, and also voted to co-operate with the Mayor's Committee on Taxation, in helping owners who are faced with foreclosure proceedings. Morris Morganstern, chairman of the Federation, presided.

Real Estate Review for the Current Week

Victory Celebration, the United War Fund Drive and Resultant Slackening of Activity Make Market Quiet

THE tremendous wave of enthusiasm which swept over the city during the early days of the week coincident with the announcement of German surrender; the resultant relaxation in the activities of so many business men, including real estate brokers; and the launching of the United War Fund Drive seeking to raise $170,500,000 for the benefit of soldiers and sailors over seas, all combined towards restricting the volume of real estate business during the week. Business in the main followed along the same channels as previous weeks, the demand centering upon small residential properties in various sections of the city.

It is conceded on every side that the renewal of real estate activity depends principally upon the availability of money in both the mortgage and building loan fields and in a measure renewed activity will depend upon the easing of the financial situation with respect to real estate.

It is too early for any of the effects of the cessation of hostilities to become noticeable and the immediate outlook with respect to real estate becomes more or less conjecture, although the best minds in the business are agreed that the city is on the edge of the greatest buying and building movement in its history. When this movement will begin depends largely, as has been stated, upon the availability of financial backing. It will probably also keep pace with the easing of Federal restrictions on building. The announcement during the week that the War Industries Board would permit the undertaking of building projects involving not more than $25,000 will, according to prevailing opinion, be reflected in a tremendous increase in the demand for building sites in the outlying districts to be utilized for the erection of small residential properties.

The auction room took on a semblance of old time activity this week, several of the transactions involving quite spirited bidding and reflecting an excellent demand for moderate priced residential properties such as have been figuring prominently within recent weeks in the private sales market. Considerable interest centered upon the sale of a row of eight three-family houses in the Bronx which were knocked down to various bidders at prices which were conceded to be low but which nevertheless showed that there was plenty of capital available for real estate at this time. Another interesting transaction in the auction room involved a row of nine frame dwellings on the upper West Side which was knocked down after fifty-one bids were registered. A well-known authority once said that the auction room business was the barometer of the real estate market. This week in the auction room the barometer registered a distinct upward trend.

Owners and brokers interested in business properties in the downtown sections are discussing the future of the tremendous amount of space which has been taken over in this city for the use of the Government in the prosecution of war activities. While no Government announcement has been made with reference to the future of this space real estate men believe that no appreciable amount of floor area will be added to the market from this source because the Government is expected to utilize a good deal of it for post-war work.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 25, as against 25 last week and 19 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street, was 11, as compared with 6 last week and 5 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 14, as compared with 19 last week and 14 a year ago.

From the Bronx 7 sales at private contract were reported, as against 9 last week and 13 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 580 of this issue.

Lessee Buys Flats.

The "Ronda" and the "Chateau d'Armes," apartment houses at 47 and 46 Fort Washington avenue, at the southwest and southeast corners of 161st street, respectively, have been sold by the Breim Realty Company (Leonard, Lawrence and Bartholomew Jacob) to Louis Schlechter, who has held the buildings under lease for the past two years. They are six-story structures, each on plot 150 by 100, having accommodations for 96 families, and have been held at $500,000. The selling company acquired the houses early in 1915 from the builder, the Friedman Construction Company, which had purchased the land, part of the large Loyal L. Smith holdings, from Harris and Maurice Mandelbaum. Mr. Schlechter controls a number of apartment properties in the Heights section.

Deal in Coffee District.

The Charles F. Noyes Company and Douglas Robinson, Chas. S. Brown Company, sold to an investor for Mary B. Caswell, Colonel Howard C. Smith and Forrest J. Raynor, individually and representing the estate of Henrietta Smith, 96 Front street, corner of Gouverneur lane, a five-story loft building with electric elevator, covering lot 23.4x76. The property was valued at $50,000. P. C. Meehan & Co., one of the largest coffee firms on the street has occupied the ground floor for over thirty years and have arranged through the Noyes Company for a long extension of their lease. The property just sold is in the heart of the coffee district.

Publisher Buys on Lenox Hill.

Leon Kamaiky, publisher of the Jewish Daily News, has purchased for occupancy, from Archibald Ferguson, of R. G. Dun & Co., his home at 61 East 80th street. The property, valued at $55,000, is a four-story and basement house on a lot 20 by 100, between Madison and Park avenues, and was sold through Pease & Elliman, who sold the house in March, 1916, for Henrietta Obermeyer to Mr. Ferguson. Through the same brokers the latter has secured for his new home a ten-room suite in the apartment house at 471 Park avenue, corner 58th street. Mr. Kamaiky's former home at 9 West 120th street was sold through Shaw & Company to Mrs. Ida Rubin early in the week.

$200,000 Bronx Block Sold.

An important deal in the Port Morris section of the Bronx, has been closed by Eugene A. Walsh and the Cross & Brown Company, who sold for the Port Morris Land and Improvement Company the block bounded by 135th and 136th streets, Walnut avenue and the New Haven Railroad tracks, also the half block bounded by 135th to 136th streets, Walnut to Locust avenues, owned by the J. H. Young Stores Company. The buyer is Robert Grant, an iron and steel dealer of Manhattan. On the half block there is a one-story building, 101 by 350. The two parcels were held at $200,000.

Douglaston Estate Buyer.

The Seven-Forty Superior Avenue Company, J. G. Russell, president, acting for a syndicate of capitalists of Cleveland, Ohio, bought a tract of 175 lots at Douglaston Park, Douglaston, L. I. The syndicate gave in part payment the seven-story Perry-Payne building in Cleveland, which is fully occupied and yields an annual rental of $78,000. The syndicate intends to improve the Douglaston Park lots with dwellings as soon as conditions permit. J. W. Doolittle, who negotiated the transaction and developed Douglaston Park, retains an interest in the property. The Perry-Payne building is located at 730-734 Superior avenue.

Y. W. C. A. Purchase in Brooklyn.

The Young Women's Christian Association purchased a plot 100 by 200, at 42d street and 4th avenue, Brooklyn, as a site for a recreation center. The organization has been doing its work under the name of the War Service Club of the Bush Terminal, with quarters at 39th street and 2d avenue. Its membership at present numbers more than 1,000, composed mostly of young women employed in war work.

Bronx-Manhattan Trade.

Frederick Brown has sold to a client of J. J. Meehan, Inc., 941, 945 and 949 Faile street, three five-story apartment houses, having accommodations for sixty families, on a plot 144 by 100. The houses are rented for over $21,000 and are held at $165,000. In part payment the buyer gave 35 West 88th street, near Columbus avenue, a four-story dwelling, with a three-story and basement extension on a lot 21 by 100.8½.

Buys L. I. Block.

Wallace J. Hardgrove, of the Queensboro Corporation, reports the sale to an investor of a block of sixty lots located between Anable and Nott avenues and between Mount and Manley streets, Long Island City. Details regarding the immediate plans of the purchaser were not available yesterday.

Resell Brooklyn Houses.

Meister Builders, Inc., resold the fifteen two-family houses 491 to 525 Alabama avenue, on a plot 300 by 100. These houses were taken in trade a few weeks ago from the Progressive Realty Company.

Manhattan.

South of 59th Street.

MADISON ST. Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Co. sold 263 Madison st. a 5-story tenement, to Margaret O'Keefe, through Julius Wiener and Sigmund Levin.

You'll Like Them

You can count on getting a good lamp every time you buy a COLONIAL MAZDA—whether it is for your pocket flashlight, your automobile, your home, your factory, your store or wherever you use incandescent electric lamps. They are uniform in quality. Fill your sockets with them and a few nights later you won't find a discolored bulb here, a burn-out there, a broken filament somewhere else. The entire set will start bright and stay bright. COLONIAL MAZDAS include all styles, types and sizes—you can get them from us on short notice. More than this we have an attractive contract proposition to offer you.

Proposes Six Track Freight Underground Road

Comptroller Craig Presents Plan to Relieve Congestion Along the Hudson River Front from Canal Street North

CONTROLLER CHARLES L. CRAIG submitted to the Board of Estimate yesterday a plan for the improvement of freight terminal transportation and waterfront conditions on the west side of Manhattan. The plan provides for a six-track underground freight railroad, to be owned and controlled by the city, extending from Fifty-ninth Street to a point near Canal Street, with unit terminals of various locations, transfer bridges for car floats and providing means of access to the New Jersey railroads.

The plan, the Controller said, contemplates an extensive improvement and development of the entire west side of Manhattan, the release of many piers along the North River, now used for the railroads as freight stations, and permanent relief from traffic congestion along West Street and the marginal way. The Controller estimates that the increase of taxable values through the improvement may exceed $100,000,000. One of the features of the plan is a viaduct from Fifty-seventh Street to Seventy-second Street and Riverside Drive, designed to divert a great amount of vehicle traffic from Broadway and Fifth Avenue. The Controller believes that the use of the water front between Fifty-seventh and Seventy-second streets would be increased at least fourfold. The plan also provides for the construction of several terminals consisting of one or more units, each unit covering an ordinary city block and accommodating below the street level about 150 freight cars at one time. In his report to the Board of Estimate the Controller said:

"The construction and operation of such a railroad and terminal system will free the North River waterfront from its present use for railroad station purposes and leave it available for modern pier development for the purposes of navigation; it will end the traffic congestion that for years has disgraced West Street and the marginal way, and greatly reduce traffic congestion in other localities; it will effect far-reaching economies in the carrying of merchandise traffic to and from the Borough of Manhattan; it will give an impetus to the improvement of private property; an increase in the taxable values, which may easily exceed $100,000,000; it will end Death Avenue; and as one of its consequences will bring about the completion of Riverside Park and the opening of that great waterfront for the enjoyment of the people.

"The plan involves no serious physical or transportation difficulty, and it can be financed and operated to the material advantage of the City of New York."

After detailing the present freight situation on the lower west side and the need of improvement, the Controller in his report states that under his plan the six-track underground railroad would run from Fifty-ninth Street down Eleventh Avenue to Twenty-seventh Street; thence partially through private property between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Street to Tenth Avenue; down Tenth Avenue to Fifteenth Street; partly through private property to and under Ninth Avenue at Fourteenth Street into Hudson Street, and down Hudson Street to North Moore Street. A two-track line across town under West Houston and East Houston streets to the east side is to provide for a local terminal there, with two or more tracks running southward across Fourteenth Street between Ninth and Tenth avenues, curving to West Washington Market.

Union unit terminals are proposed to be located between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-seventh streets east of Eleventh Avenue, between Twenty-sixth and Thirtieth streets east of Eleventh avenue, and if necessary, extending through to Ninth avenue; between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-ninth streets; between Sixteenth and Twentieth streets east of Tenth Avenue; at Spring Street, east or west of Hudson Street, and in the blocks bounded by Laight, Varick, North Moore, and Hudson streets. Union transfer bridges are proposed to be located between Twenty-sixth and Thirtieth streets and at Leroy and Morton streets, or at a point further south not yet definitely determined. As to the practical operation of the plan the Controller says:

"During the night all inbound business consigned to Manhattan would be brought into the various terminals and placed in their different units ready for unloading early the next morning. The contents of these cars are placed on the hand trucks (except the cars on the two outer tracks of each unit) and immediately raised to the street level. These trucks are there taken to the truck or wagon of the consignee or some transfer company and the contents delivered to it. The empty hand truck is quickly dropped to the track level again for another load. The expedition with which cars can be emptied by this system can best be understood only by those familiar with this operation. It involves no new or untried practice. All incoming shipments which the trucks of merchants are not ready immediately to remove are assembled on the street level platform and held for removal during the day. Any goods remaining unremoved at the end of the day must be taken to an upper floor of the building and there stored. The terminal building should be erected to a height of say ten stories, the upper eight floors of which should be used for such storage, but this should be for brief periods not exceeding fifteen days or a month at most. For longer storage than this other provision would have to be made by the shippers.

"The cars that have been emptied by the unloading process are then available for outgoing business. This business is received on the street level from merchants in substantially the same manner that it is now received at the waterfront stations, except with much greater flexibility of movement. A merchant's truck may deliver shipments to go out over three or more railroads, but only one delivery is necessitated, the shipments for the different roads being placed on separate hand trucks with the appropriate shipping instructions. The outgoing business would be for the most part in less than carload lots. It is important in handling such business to place it in the cars in 'station order,' i. e., to assemble the merchandise to be shipped over, say the Erie, and place it in cars so that the goods for the last station to which the cars are to travel is placed in the car first, and the goods for the first station at which the car is to stop are placed in the car last."

Construction of New Schools to Proceed

FOLLOWING the presentation of facts by Arthur Somers, president of the Board of Education, showing the urgent need for priority in school construction, the special committee of construction and building of the Mayor's Committee on National Defence, this morning, agreed to recommend to the War Industries Board, the immediate construction of new schools and alterations entailing expenditures aggregating more than $2,000,000.

President Somers told the Committee of the absolute necessity for new schools and improvement of existing accommodations in certain sections of the city for which plans and money are in hand and require solely a certificate of the War Board as to precedence of construction.

As a result of this conference three large schools will soon be given to Brooklyn and to The Bronx, the early construction of which will largely depend upon the available labor supply as it is generally anticipated that the War Board will take immediate and favorable action upon the recommendation of the Mayor's Committee' forwarded to Washington today.

Schools for Brooklyn, will be No. 29 at Henry, Harrison and Butler streets, the cost of which has been estimated at $43,474; No. 8, at 19th street, near Neptune avenue, Coney Island, costing $310,000, and No. 182 at Dumont avenue, Wyona and Vermont streets, planned to cost $543,000. The largest school project for The Bronx is Public School No. 57, at Crotona avenue and 181st street, plans for which call for an estimated outlay of $560,000.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

A LREADY the prospects of an early peace have made themselves felt in building circles by the increased number of structural projects of a distinctly peace-time character that are being planned by the architects of the city. The list includes a number of apartment houses, private dwellings, garages and general community buildings. The War Industries Board has made considerably less drastic its ruling upon non-war construction, and during the week announced that structures of a specific type may proceed without hindrance by the local or national authorities. This announcement has materially changed the attitude of all phases of the building industry as almost immediately following the word that an armistice had been signed new structural projects and others planned nearly a year ago were brought to life, and according to present prospects these operations should be commenced without further delay.

From all accounts the construction of dwellings and apartment houses by speculative builders will be resumed at once. Plans have already been perfected for quite a number of representative speculative projects. The demand for small dwellings and modern multi-family houses has been intense during the past year or more and the builders that lead in the erection and completion of projects of these types will reap large benefits from their energy in starting work. Both in the cities and in suburban districts there is an intense demand for additional buildings, and what will be erected during the forthcoming months will be eagerly snatched up by investors and private homeseekers.

Although the building material markets are experiencing a slight improvement upon the conditions recently current in these lines they have not as yet fully responded to the general feeling of increased business prospects. Sufficient time has not elapsed to permit these interests to feel the full force of the present conditions, as some time is required to prepare plans and award contracts for new construction. Just as soon as the projects that have been released by the War Industries Board are ready to start the building markets will again come into their own, and they will immediately feel the full effects of the resumption of structural activity throughout the country. Prices at present ent are firm in all branches of trade, and with a renewed demand for structural materials and supplies price increases may be expected.

Common Brick.—Conditions in the wholesale market for Hudson River Common brick have brightened up somewhat during the past week and although the sales of the period were relatively light as compared with past years at this season, they show an improvement over the past two or three weeks. Prices are firming up with current quotations ranging between $13.50 and $14.00 a thousand with slight recessions from the lower figure for off-loads. Prospects for a renewal of buying activity in this market are brighter today than they have been for many months. The brick situation has responded to the glad tidings of the week that surely will usher in better times for all building interests.

SUMMARY. Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, November 15, 1918. Condition of market: Demand light. Prices firmer. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $13.50 to $14 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 9; sales, 8. Distribution: Manhattan, 3; Brooklyn, 3; New Jersey points, 2.

Face Brick.—Already plans for a general resumption of building activities have been manifest in the building material and supply markets. Architects have announced a number of entirely new projects and others for which plans were started more than a year ago have been revised and will shortly be presented to contractors for estimates. According to dealers in face brick the outlook is exceptionally bright. Prices are at present high, and no doubt will advance somewhat, but the demand for materials of all kinds to fulfill the demand for additional buildings of every classification will be keen and for a while it is almost fair to assume that the matter of prices will be of no object. Buildings are needed at once and the cost of construction will be a secondary consideration.

Lumber.—The status of the lumber industry is now more clearly understood in regard to the effect of the armistice with Germany and the probability of a final peace. During a period that will be required in concluding difficulties that may confront the nations involved in a treaty of peace, the present war program of the United States with the possible exception of such industrial work as involves the manufacturer of munitions, will undoubtedly continue at its existing rate. Present lumber rules and regulations, therefore, such as curtailed production, fixed prices and embargoes, although modified, will undoubtedly remain in effect during that period. Priority and preference regulations must be maintained in order to prevent unnecessary discrimination against the war program. The Government's program of building construction will eventually end, but the anticipated boom in general structural work and including a large volume of residential building in all parts of the country should more than offset the stoppage of federal building. Materials for building purposes, for which there will be a tremendous post-war demand, will undoubtedly gather momentum in both demand and price during the next few months, and it is thought that price levels somewhat in excess of those prevailing at the present time will maintain. In the Metropolitan district both wholesale and retail lumber markets are firm. The demand as maintained in good shape and orders from manufacturing consumers are somewhat greater than they have been recently, reflecting, no doubt, a resumption of the activities of peace times. Prices are steady and with a marked tendency toward advances in those lines indicating the heaviest demand.

Window Glass.—Although the domestic demand at the present time, aside from purely repair work, is practically at a standstill, the impression is general that a revival in building is imminent and that jobbers will have considerably more business than they are in a position to take care of owing to their depleted stocks and the low reserves at manufacturing points. There is no reason at the present time to believe that the blasts that will inaugurate the current season's manufacturing will be started before the first of the coming year, and until new glass is available there will be a scarcity almost amounting to a famine in this product.

Linseed Oil.—Market conditions are exceedingly quiet with the demand slackened off perceptibly and inquiries practically negligible. Crushers are now working on the 1918 domestic crop, and it is confidently expected that before long supplies will be available for all demands within reason. Prices are practically stable with quotations for raw, city brands at $1.60 per gallon for five or more barrels and $1.61 for lots of less than five barrels.

Granite.—The total value of the granite sold for building purposes in 1917 was $2,881,128, a decrease of $1,083,305, or 27 per cent., compared with 1916. The rough stone sold was valued at $590,310, which was $312,736, or 35 per cent. less than in 1916. The dressed or manufactured stone was valued at $2,290,818, which was $770,569, or about 25 per cent. less than in 1916. Accurate figures showing quantities are not yet available but owing to a general increase in the price the decrease in the percentage of output was considerably more than that in value. These statistics were compiled under the direction of G. F. Loughlin of the United States Geological Survey in co-operation with the National Building Granite Quarries' Association. Throughout the year the demand for building granite was relatively light, owing to the curtailment in the erection of both Government and private buildings of the type for which granite is generally used.

Cast Iron Pipe.—At the recent conference between the cast iron pipe manufacturers and the authorities at Washington the latter stated that they did not contemplate the stopping of operations in any shops. It was evident that no policy beyond this had been decided upon and until something of a more positive character is known the market for cast iron pipe will continue its dullness. Demands are light and, although there are plans for a large volume of municipal work, this will not be started until the general situation is stabilized and both the Government and private interests are fully assured of a final peace. Federal control prices continue in effect.

Cut Nails.—The demand for cut nails is exceptionally heavy and manufacturers, restricted as they are by the scarcity of steel are unable to comply with the requirements of the jobbers. The outlook for an improved rate of production is not of the best at the present time, although it is hoped that a lessening in the demand for steel for war munitions will replace this product.

All Restrictions to Building Are Now Removed

Federal Government Opens Way to the Normal Resumption of Construction Work Throughout the Country

THE telegram received by the Mayor's Committee on National Defense Thursday from D. R. McLennan, chief of the non-war construction section of the War Industries Board requesting definite information as to the local conditions and asking for recommendations and news as to a continuance of the restrictions on building, foreshadowed a more generous policy on the part of the Washington authorities. George MacDonald, chairman of the special committee on building and construction of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, after a meeting of his organization, wired the War Industries Board, in which he stated that the committee considered it most desirable to withdraw all restrictions as soon as possible and that the interests of New York City would best be served by prompt action.

This telegraphic correspondence has crystallized into immediate tangible results on the part of the War Industries Board which has now removed restrictions of every character from building construction and allows the industry every latitude in its attempt to return to its former pre-eminent position in the industrial economy of the nation.

The order removing all restrictions on building was received by the Mayor's Committee by telegraph Friday morning and is as follows:

Mayor's Committee on National Defense,
Hall of Records, New York City.

In view of the favorable replies to our telegram of the eighteenth, received from practically all of the State Councils of Defense, the War Industries Board removes, effective today, all restrictions now in force on construction projects of every kind. This information will be released to the press for publication Friday morning the twenty-second instant, and we suggest the advisability of your giving this wide publicity throughout your State so that the public may quickly get this information. Please hurry forward reports on form forty-eight of projects deferred to cover period from September fourth to November twelfth.

D. R. McLENNAN,
Chief Non-War Construction Section,
War Industries Board,
Washington, D. C.

The Mayor's Committee on National Defense received on Tuesday a telegram that was sent to all Councils of National Defense and to the heads of building material manufacturing companies, asking what in their judgment would be the effect of immediately dropping all bans on distribution or manufacture. A telegram also was sent to the heads of railway and lighterage companies inquiring what the supply of transportation facilities was and whether they could handle a general movement of building materials.

Immediately there was a flood of telegrams from manufacturers who were anxious to have all the war restrictions removed immediately. There were also many telegrams of protest, especially from those who believed there was danger of a general stampede for the low supply of materials, with the result that prices would be forced to such levels as to make an uneven distribution of supplies.

The majority, however, according to Washington reports, were in favor of dropping restrictions at once. So insistent was the demand for relief from this part of the country that it was practically agreed that no action would be taken by the War Industries Board until the opinion of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense at New York was obtained. This was the telegram received by George MacDonald, the chairman, from the Washington authorities:

Mayor's Committee, National Defense,
Hall of Records, New York.

From the best information available here, we believe that there is now available sufficient labor, fuel, transportation, and building materials to warrant the withdrawal of all restrictions on building projects. We feel it the duty of this board to aid the public and the industries to return to normal conditions as quickly as possible, and unless there be sound objections to this course by the State Councils of National Defense it is our purpose to take immediate action along this line. Will you kindly wire promptly your views and recommendations, having in mind particularly the conditions in your section of the country?

D. H. McLENNAN,
Chief Non-War Construction Section,
War Industries Board.

Here is the reply sent last evening after the regular meeting of the committee:

D. R. McLennan, Chief Non-War Construction Section, War Industries Board, Washington.

Our committee thinks it most desirable to withdraw all restrictions as soon as possible. In view of your statement as to the sufficiency of labor, fuel, transportation, and building material, we can see no sound reason for retaining restrictions further. All owners and builders here have cheerfully conformed to your orders regarding building construction. We feel, however, that their interests and those of the City of New York will be best served by promptly withdrawing all restrictions so that the development of the city may be resumed and the business producing such development may be transacted unrestricted.

GEORGE MACDONALD,
Chairman, Committee on Building and Construction,
Mayor's Committee on National Defense.

A speedy return to normal conditions was predicted following the exchange of the telegrams.

Brooklyn Realty Brokers Elect New Officers

William P. Rae, Re-elected President, Takes Optimistic View of the Future of Real Estate in the Borough

WILLIAM P. RAE was re-elected president of the Brooklyn Board of Real Estate Brokers at the annual meeting of the Board on Tuesday. William Raymond Burling, who has been employed by the U. S. Shipping Board for the past six months, was elected vice president of the real estate organization, and Frederick B. Snow was elected treasurer. Isaac Cortelyou was re-elected secretary. The new directors for the term ending 1921 are: Joseph W. Catharine, C. B. Gwathmey, Harry A. Levine, Edward Lyons, H. E. Esterbrook. The auditing committee is A. J. Murphy, chairman; S. Noonan and H. E. Esterbrook.

A get-together dinner was served before the business program, as a substitute for the annual banquet, which was abandoned this year because of the war. Chairmen of the various committees submitted reports covering activities of the Board during the past year and outlined the program for the ensuing term.

The key-note of the meeting was unmistakable optimism regarding the future of Brooklyn real estate. Mr. Rae in the principal address of the evening not only reviewed the work of the Board for the past year, but emphasized the need for even greater extension of its activities for the coming year in view of the great problems which would come up during the reconstruction period. He said in part:

"We may feel proud in face of the depressed condition of the real estate market during the past year that our active membership increased and passed the 100 mark, the combined active and associated membership now numbering 172."

Speaking of the achievements of the various committees during the past year, he paid tribute to the Liberty Loan Committee, for its patriotic service, and congratulated Joseph M. May, its chairman, upon securing for the Real Estate Division of the drive subscriptions amounting to $1,549,000.

"It may not be out of place at this time," continued Mr. Rae, "to think and act in preparation for the future in the reconstruction of general business and the restoration of the building industry, which is about to take place. The real estate interests in this borough should be alive, not only to the safeguarding of the immediate future, but in looking far ahead so as to bring about substantial and lasting foundations upon which to regulate our enterprises. We must do all that is possible, when renewed activities in building are under way, to promote sound business principles throughout the borough, regulating them on a basis of supply and demand and maintaining them within bounds of under, rather than over, speculation.

"Brooklyn is the largest borough in population of all boroughs within the Greater City, with land values the lowest. Its natural advantages are the greatest and, combined with the additional transit lines almost completed, the possibilities of future enhancement in value are greater than in any other part of the city.

"One fact should be apparent to every student of real estate values and that is, that now is the time to look for a realization of equalization of values in Brooklyn as compared with the past in Manhattan. Let the slogan be 'Boost Brooklyn for the merit of its value—present and future,' encourage every new factory and industry to locate within our borders, encourage the individual ownership of a home, and above all, discourage the shoestring builder and the building of the 20-family cheaply constructed tenement.

"Values must be stable, and help up along conservative lines to secure the confidence of mortgage lenders, and real estate investors generally. The board should exert its influence to help in the very best development of the borough and to fight down any effort to destroy values, not only in the section in which each broker lives and does business, but in the borough generally so that we may have a lasting prosperity and a borough of wide importance."

Discussing the Board's past activities Mr. Rae said: "The business side of our organization adopted a new schedule of rates covering commission on sale and rental, and following the adoption on January 8th, rate cards with a pamphlet were prepared and distributed to the members and others engaged in the real estate trade.

"The Legislative Committee prepared a most comprehensive report with practical suggestions in a change of the laws, and in reduction of the tax budget, which was submitted on March 1 to the Mayor's Committee on Taxation.

"The Real Estate Board of New York attempted to pass an amendment to the Tenement House Law so as to include four-story and basement houses, but they apparently did not push the matter to a vote in the Legislature.

"It appeared, after consultation with the members of the Tenement House Committee of our board, that it was unwise and not an opportune time, by reason of war conditions, to offer any further amendment to the law this year.

"For your information, however, I will state that a new bill is now being prepared which will be presented at the opening of the incoming Legislature, and I trust we may meet with less opposition than experienced in the past, and be successful in passing a bill that will meet the approval of those affected.

"While the board, out of respect to the general request to conserve during the war, postponed the annual banquet, we did, however, enjoy in July an interesting tour of inspection of the Jamaica Bay Improvement, which also was instructive in viewing the improvements by the Government along the South Brooklyn waterfront, as well as the contemplated city improvement at and around Jamaica Bay."

Frank H. Tyler, chairman of the Municipal Affairs Committee, urged improvement in the present day method for inspecting buildings and urged the board to help his committee to correct some of the evils which have resulted from over-zealous activities of inspectors. James B. Fischer made his report as treasurer and Wm. R. Burling rendered a report as chairman of the Legislation and Taxation Committee. It was announced that the report of the Transit Committee, of which Howard C. Pyle is chairman, in relation to the demand of the traction companies of the Borough of Brooklyn for increase of fares, would be made on the board's next meeting on December 10.

Tax Bill Has Good Chance in New Legislature

Many Senators and Members of Assembly Who Favored Boylan Bill Have Been Returned—Vigorous Campaign Necessary

(Special to the Record and Guide)

ALBANY, November 20.—The prospect of New York City real estate obtaining the relief it has sought for years brightens appreciably with examination and study of the personnel of the Legislature of 1919 elected on November 5.

This statement is predicated upon two facts: The presence in the new State Senate of practically all the senators who last year voted favorably upon the final New York City compromise tax bill introduced in the last days of the Legislature and the return to the Assembly of a large number of assemblymen who indicated a willingness to support any legislation designed to lighten the weight imposed upon New York City real estate by reason of the absence of suitable laws taxing personal property.

A poll of the Assembly made by The Record and Guide last year to ascertain sentiment generally upon the Boylan bill, No. 89 Int., which would limit the tax rate upon real and personal property in New York City to 17½ mills on the dollar of assessed valuation resulted in these observations. It will be remembered that the response of up-state assemblymen to interrogations as to their attitude upon relief legislation such as the Boylan bill, the first introduced, was gratifying, particularly in view of the fact that many of them up to that time were concerned with local legislation and had not given much consideration to this problem. A careful study of the names in the new Assembly discloses that many of these legislators has been returned. Another favorable development is the failure of eight of the 10 Socialists who opposed this legislation to hold their seats.

In the State Senate where sentiment was obtained by a vote upon a compromise tax bill which was something of a modification of the first Boylan bill the situation is such as to offer encouragement to real property owners in the Metropolitan territory. With three exceptions all the supporters of this bill which imposed a tax of 20 mills on the dollar of real estate and 11 mills on the dollar of personal property have been returned. The apparent disadvantage resulting from the absence of these three senators is offset by an increase in the senate representation in Democrats from New York City.

While there was some disappointment last year over the death in Rules Committee of the Boylan compromise bill after the Senate had passed it, it cannot be said that the effort to obtain relief for Metropolitan real estate was without avail. The campaign of education made in the State Legislature brought this important problem to the attention of legislators who otherwise would never have given it a thought. This is especially true in the Assembly. The agitation had the effect of opening the minds of legislators generally to the distress in which real estate in New York City finds itself because of years of failure on the part of the Legislature to enact an equitable personal property tax to meet the needs of Greater New York.

Observers of legislative activities see the necessity of prompt commencement of an agitation in the Legislature for remedial tax legislation. It might have been that the Boylan bill would have been passed last year were enough steam worked up to give the measure impetus in the last days of the Legislature. Until adjournment it seemed that the bill would be passed, but the Rules Committee was agitated too greatly by other problems of more or less political nature to give this bill the consideration it deserved. With a new Legislature about to convene the advantage lies with New York City. It must see to it that this legislation is considered the next time long before the Rules Committee takes over the custody of legislation. With three months in which to accomplish this it can be done. The real effort was made last year within two weeks of final adjournment. Briefly, the campaign for remedial tax legislation made before the 1918 Legislature was educational until 15 days before closing, or just five days before the Rules Committee took charge of all bills.

If the New York City tax commissioners, the Real Estate Board and allied property interests will duplicate the effort made last April as soon as the 1919 Legislature is convened and in working order there is every reason to believe that some tax measure providing for an equitable shift of the tax burden to personal property in New York City can be passed.

Irrespective of the outcome of the controversy over the election of a Governor New York City real estate has every incentive to press its claim before the Legislature for relief. Whether Whitman or Smith is in the executive chamber the city is assured of fair treatment. Neither would be inclined to question the judgment of the Legislature upon a matter of such vital importance to the city.

Architects Hold Interesting Meeting

THE New York Society of Architects held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, November 19, at the United Engineering Societies building, 29 West 39th street, Manhattan; President J. Riely Gordon in the chair. There was a good attendance of representative members both from the Greater City and from the State.

After the transaction of routine business various topics of interest were discussed. Edward W. Loth, of Troy, in an interesting address laid stress upon the importance of architects broadening their sphere of active interests and becoming "good mixers," in the sense of identifying themselves with movements on foot in the various lines of industry, etc. As an instance, he mentioned the convention in Boston of the National Housing Association, which represents a movement for the amelioration of the home conditions of the people and which has long been in existence in England and other countries, but somewhat neglected here. A resolution was passed that the president appoint a committee to represent the society, and that the society join the national association.

It was also resolved that a committee be appointed to co-operate with the Real Estate Board and the Tenement House Commissioner in formulating a bill to facilitate the conversion of existing dwellings into three or four-family tenement houses. The question of sending a representative of the society to the convention of the Federation of Building Industries, to be held in Atlantic City the first week of December, was discussed and referred for action to the board of directors.

Removal of Restrictions Will Start Building

No Boom Expected, But a Steady Increase in Real Estate Activity Is Now in Sight

By CHARLES F. NOYES

WITH peace assured, real estate will be in demand as an investment as never before in my time. I look, and hope, for a hesitating semi-inactive market for the next few months. I hope we will have no immediate "boom," but I do believe that once the upward swing of increased activity and higher prices commences, which it should within six months, it will gradually increase in volume and scope until we find the broker never as busy as he has been during the past twenty years in selling real estate to willing investors, operators, builders, and the many firms and corporations made wealthy during the past few years.

There has been more buying of real estate for occupancy in certain downtown sections during the past twenty months than in the previous twenty years, and this is a market factor of prime importance. A number of reasons why the real estate market is certain to improve and trading become active are:

First, an analysis of the balance sheet of almost any business or of our large corporations indicates a much stronger financial position than ever before. Large cash reserves are on hand in almost every instance.

Second, generally speaking, stocks are depleted, due to governmental control, or the heretofore uncertainty of the buying market.

Third, larger premises are now required to look out for these larger stocks, and as a result of the war new markets have been thrown open for American trade; and besides, this country will have a tremendous business with every country on the face of the earth and be called upon for supplies, machinery and manufactured goods as never before.

Fourth, mortgage money, slowly at first but eventually in larger amounts, will seek investment in New York real estate.

Fifth, real estate is in a stronger position than ever before. Weak holders have been eliminated from the market, mortgages generally reduced, and property is now selling at a lower value than ever before. Incidentally, buildings are rented at higher rentals than heretofore, and it is one investment commodity that has stood up through the years of depression and for the past few years with practically no assistance from the Government in regard to mortgages or mortgage financing.

Sixth, the lifting of governmental restrictions on building will also be of incalculable value to business in general and real estate in particular.

Many other good reasons can be advanced that will lead to greatly increased trading in real estate at higher prices and so certain are most leaders in the real estate field that a much broader market is coming that many express hope that it will not come in a rush, but instead the advance will be gradual and spectacular.

Real Estate Board's New Commission Rates

SEVERAL changes were made in the regulations as to real estate commissions by the Real Estate Board effective November 1, 1918. The Record and Guide prints below the entire scale as finally adopted:

Private Sales.

- The commission for the sale or exchange of real estate in the Boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, 2½% of the selling price up to $40,000 and 1% of the selling price about $40,000.
- For selling acreage within the limits of the Borough of the Bronx..... 5%
- For selling improved property in the Borough of Richmond .....2½%
- For selling lots and acreage in the Borough of Richmond ..... 5%
- For selling real estate in the suburbs of Greater New York within a radius of 50 miles from City Hall ..... 5%
- For selling leaseholds within the limits of the Borough of Manhattan and the Bronx, on the assessed value of the land and improvements... 1%
- For selling leases in New York City, on the sum of the consideration to be paid for such lease together with the total rent to be paid for the unexpired term thereof..... 1%
- For selling furniture and fixtures..... 10%

Water Front.

- For selling water front properties of New York harbor ..... 5%

Mortgages.

- For procuring the acceptance of first mortgage loan applications (except by agreement)..... 1%

Borough of Brooklyn.

For selling, leasing and managing real estate in the Borough of Brooklyn, commission charges as promulgated by the Brooklyn Board of Real Estate Brokers shall obtain. (Commission schedule can be obtained at the Real Estate Board).

Special Rules.

For exchanging real estate a commission shall be paid on all properties mentioned in the contract by the respective sellers thereto.

No commission of less than $100 shall be charged in making a sale of property.

Should the title of property prove to be imperfect, whereby a sale cannot be consummated, the claim for commission shall not be invalidated thereby.

Brokerage shall be due and payable when the price and terms are arranged between buyer and seller.

Leasing.

- Leasing for a term of one year or under on an amount equal to one year's rental.....3¾%
- Leases for a period of more than one year and less than 2½ years on the average of full year rentals .....3¾%
- Fractional parts of a year are not to be considered.
- Leasing for term of 2½ years or longer on aggregate gross rental of $200,000 or less, on aggregate gross rental.....1½%
- On transactions involving an aggregate gross rental of over $200,000 the 1½% rate will govern up to $200,000 and 1% additional on the amount of the gross rental in excess of $200,000.
- Leasing private dwellings or apartments furnished for a term of one year or under on the total rent to be paid..... 5%
- There shall be no additional charge for leases under 2½ years.
- Leasing private dwellings or apartments furnished for 2½ years or more, on the total amount of rent paid ..... 2%
- Leasing water front property of New York harbor on the gross amount of the rental..... 5%
- Leasing country property first year..... 5%
- Leasing each subsequent year to same party.....2½%

Management of Property.

For management of property—by agreement.

Special Rules.

Should there be a clause in a lease giving the lessee the option to purchase the property, and should he avail himself of such option, the owners shall pay the agent consummating the lease, at the time such option is exercised, the difference between the commission already paid and that to which the agent would be entitled had the original transaction been a sale.

No rental shall be made for a commission of less than $25, except between members of the Real Estate Board of New York.

New Building Will Be Resumed on Large Scale

First Activity Is Likely to Be in Suburban and Low-Priced City Operations on Account of Cost

By EDWARD CORNING,
Of Edward Corning Co.

SINCE the signing of the armistice between the Allies and Germany the building situation has taken on an altogether different aspect than was current during the past year or more. News of the cessation of hostilities brought with it a renewed activity throughout all branches of the industry, and what has already occurred is but the forerunner of the materially better times for all that are sure to follow a final settlement of the terms of peace.

There is no doubt but that the close of the long period of warfare, during which building construction was reduced to a minimum, and recently practically prohibited by the ruling of the War Industries Board in favor of the preeminent demands of the Federal Government, should bring with it a period of marked activity for the building trades. This period of renewed structural activity is likely to maintain for some time, as there is great need for additional structures for all uses. In New York City at the present time there is not sufficient space in modern apartments, loft and office buildings to supply the demand. As one of the consequences of the conditions, higher rentals are being paid today than ever before in the city's history. Release from the war-time conditions will undoubtedly witness a resumption of activity along the lines of relieving the overcrowded conditions by the prompt construction of new buildings to offset the insistent demand for space.

Naturally a deterrent factor to an immediate start upon a large volume of construction work will be the extremely high cost of building at the present time. At the start it is doubtful if any great amount of large individual contracts will be placed because of the high prices of labor and materials. The reconstruction period will start with the erection of comparatively small projects, suburban dwellings and moderate priced operations in the city, but will certainly include a large amount of alteration and repair work to existing structures in all parts of the country. In my estimation it would hardly be considered good business to plan for the immediate erection of great projects owing to present cost and the inability of the owners of these buildings to compete in rentals with buildings constructed and leased five or more years ago.

It may be safely figured that building costs are today from fifty to seventy-five per cent. higher than they were five years ago and that is altogether too great a handicap for present day investors to endeavor to overcome in competition with older structures.

There is a brighter side to the situation, however, in that commodity prices are bound to recede again to a point within reason. Already we have experienced a slight tendency along this line, of no great moment, it is true, but sufficient to indicate that a reduction of material prices will eventually come. The law of supply and demand will surely take care of this. There will no doubt be a gradual drop in the cost of construction to a point where owners will be justified in undertaking the start of projected operations.

On the other hand, there can be no possibility that the cost of construction will again recede to the levels of the pre-war period. Some years must elapse before material prices will begin to approach the relatively low levels of five years ago. They may never drop to former levels, as labor is sure to make every effort to hold to its gains of the past two years, and until wages are materially reduced commodity prices cannot be lowered to any great extent.

The building situation will not return to its normal plane of pre-war times until there is a complete readjustment of all the conditions that are factors in the industry. That may require years, but it will eventually come. Meanwhile there is a mighty task for the builders to perform. Their course is charted for them and the way now opening for the commencement of their effort. The country is underbuilt and it is up to the building interests to provide what is needed along these lines.

Personal Property Tax to Relieve Real Estate

CONTINUING its explanation of their proposed bill to limit the tax rate on real and personal property, the Real Estate Board of New York says:

It is estimated by those best qualified to speak on the subject that the value of the personality of the residents of Greater New York is at least eight times the value of their real estate. In other words there is $8,500,000,000 of real estate and at least $60,000,000,000 of personal property.

This estimate is a rough one and more or less without basis in assured facts, but is an amount estimated after considering the income tax returns, the daily bank balances and the registration of secured debts, and the stocks of merchandise in stores and warehouses and many other tangible forms of personal property.

This enormous aggregate of personal property pays scarcely any tax for municipal purposes. In 1917 the amount collected was only $350,000.

For state purposes, part of which is returned to the city, it pays from ten to fifteen millions of dollars. In all or a little over, at the most $15,000,000,000, while $8,500,000,000 of real property will pay for state and city purposes, in 1919 about $212,000,000. Real estate, one-eighth of the value of personality, pays 14 times as much tax.

The Real Estate Board feels that this is a great injustice and it will ask the Legislature to limit the tax on real estate to $170,000,000, at the present valuations, at the same time compelling personality to pay $25,000,000 of the cost of government.

If all other forms of personal tax are abolished there should be at least \$10,000,000,000 of personality available out of the estimated \$60,000,000,000 for taxation and  $\frac{1}{4}$  of 1 per cent. tax on that with the real estate tax of 2 per cent., and the surplus revenues of the general fund would be ample for the expense of government honestly and economically administered.

As the personal tax would be but $2.50 on $1,000 and $250 on $100,000, it is doubtful if any man would refuse to pay it or try to evade being assessed.

The difficulty in the past has been that everybody felt that a tax on personal property, so large as to take half the income, was unjust and unjust laws cannot be properly enforced. Many men evaded what they believed to be unjust tariff laws and they evaded wrongful tax laws without losing self-respect.

The proposition of the Real Estate Board should appeal to everybody. There will be, if its legislative program is adopted, only two kinds of tax, real and personal, paid over one counter in the Receiver of Taxes office.

The city's expense will be limited to the estimated income from these two sources and no administration could be cajoled or frightened into spending any more money. Taxation should be simple, easily understood, just, impartially levied, and payable at one place.

State and municipal expense should be open, above board, not concealed by indirect taxation, and should be the amount the community is willing to give, not the amount the government feels it ought to spend.

If this program is adopted the prospective purchaser of real estate will know the exact amount he will have to pay for taxes, and the element of doubt and uncertainty so dispiriting a factor in the past will be eliminated.

Co-operate To Get Better Harbor Facilities

Meeting of City Officials and Other Interested Parties Called For December 4—Various Plans Suggested

THE persistent agitation of many people for many years of the question of the improvement of the port facilities has had the effect recently of concentrating the attention of officials and other interested persons to the urgent necessity of concerted, rather than individual, action of all concerned if anything is to be accomplished. The result is that a meeting has been called for December 4 of the city officials, including Mayor Hylan, Comptroller Craig and Dock Commissioner Hulbert, the Board of Estimate, President Willcox and the members of the New York and New Jersey Port and Harbord Development Commission, the Sinking Fund Commission, A. H. Smith, Regional Director of Railroads; C. H. Markham and H. B. Walker, of the Federal railroad and steamship administration, representatives of the Merchants' Association and other interested parties to try to arrive at some method of bringing about immediate improvement in the harbor.

Commissioner Hulbert's proposals for new docks and other facilities have met with the approval of practically everyone who is well informed about conditions along the harbor front. Some criticism, however, has developed to his plan of removing the Sound River boats from their present docks to the East River. Commissioner Hulbert's report to the Board of Estimate, made last October, calls attention to the desirability of the straightening of the Harlem river, the removal of High Bridge, the widening and deepening of Bronx Kills and the improvement of Newtown Creek, Flushing Bay, Jamaica Bay, Coney Island Ship Canal and the proposed canal from Flushing Bay to Jamaica Bay, but says these all depend on co-operation of the Federal Government.

He then says any congestion of the port which has been claimed to exist by the United States Railroad Administration and the United States Shipping Board, is due to the use of 46 piers by railroads and he suggests that the work on these piers be co-ordinated so that some of the piers may be released for steamships, effecting greater efficiency and considerable saving.

The removal of Shell Reef, in the East River, so as to afford deep water approach to 16 piers between Grand and Thirtieth streets, already authorized by Act of Congress, is another of Commissioner Hulbert's suggestions. In calling attention to his plan for removing the Sound steamers from North to East Rivers the Commissioner says the companies now pay to the city aggregate yearly rentals of about $200,000 for piers in the North River in addition to rental for one pier privately owned. The city now receives less than $8,000 for the piers on East River which he proposes to lease to the Sound steamship lines. The North River could then be leased to other parties for much more than $200,000, while the East River piers could be leased to the Sound Steamship lines for much less than they are now paying for their North River docks but for much more than the city is now getting for them. The city would profit on both deals, besides finding room for ocean going boats. The cost of remodeling the East River piers is placed at $375,000.

In regard to the foreign trade the Commissioner says:

"In 1917 the value of the total imports of the United States was $2,659,000,000, of which $1,138,000,000, or 50.32 per cent., passed through the Port of New York. During the same period the value of the total exports of the United States was $6,290,000,000, of which $3,053,000,000, or 48.53 per cent., passed through the Port of New York.

"Statistics show that during the year 1917, the Port of New York made a gain of but 5 per cent. in its export trade, while Philadelphia increased over 50 per cent., Baltimore 30 per cent. and Boston 27 per cent., and the United States Shipping Board recommended that freight be diverted to South Atlantic and Gulf ports because of the inadequate facilities in the Port of New York.

"During the past year great difficulty was experienced in providing accommodations for the 3,281 vessels of foreign registry, having a tonnage of about 9,200,000 tons, and 1,084 vessels of American registry, having a tonnage of about 3,100,000 tons, which entered this port.

"Anyone possessing even a superficial knowledge of port problems can readily appreciate how these difficulties will be increased during the coming year in providing facilities for New York's proportion of the 15,000,000 tons of shipping expected to be launched by the United States Shipping Board, which tonnage will be over and above the 13,000,000 tons taken care of in 1917."

The Commissioner gave details of the plans for the construction of one pier at Stapleton, at a cost of $1,245,000 and three new piers to replace old Piers Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, North River, at a cost of $4,925,500; also for the construction of a pier at Twenty-seventh street, South Brooklyn, at a total cost of $765,000 and four piers between Sixty-sixth street and Bay Ridge avenue at a total cost of $400,000. He adds that if the money is provided for the building of the eleven piers he is sure that he can lease them to return 7½ per cent. on the investment. Two piers on East River at Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets, he advises, be transferred from use by the city to other purposes.

The Commissioner also recommends the construction during the coming year of the following piers:

One at East Twenty-third street, Manhattan, at a cost of $200,000.

Two piers at Grand street, Manhattan, cost $255,000.

One at East Sixth street, Manhattan, cost $30,000.

One at East Eighth street, Manhattan, cost $72,000.

Two half piers, Broadway, Brooklyn, cost $180,000.

Three piers, Dock street, Stapleton, cost $3,500,000.

One at Bay Ridge avenue, Brooklyn, cost $100,000.

West Forty-eighth street, Manhattan, cost $3,706,948.

West 136th street, Manhattan, cost $250,000.

West 137th street, Manhattan, cost $280,000.

Piers 45-46, East River, Manhattan, cost $629,000.

Half pier, 207th street bridge, cost $97,000.

One pier at 208th street, Manhattan, cost $65,000.

In the Commissioner's program for 1920 and 1921 are eight piers to cost $6,396,000. His whole program of improvements is to cost about $20,000,000.

William R. Willcox, chairman of the New York and New Jersey Port and Harbor Development Commission, has announced that he had been informed of a ruling by the United States Government which will make Philadelphia instead of New York the port of sailing for steamships plying to Southern ports and the Gulf of Mexico. Mr. Willcox was told that the reason for this ruling, which, at one blow, would destroy the commercial supremacy that New York has maintained for generations, is that representatives of local steamship lines complained to the Government about excessive congestion in the railroad yards and steamship piers at this port.

The chairman of the joint board appointed by the Governors of New York and New Jersey to work out a permanent plan of port development protested strenuously against this ruling, and his protest was based mainly on the fact that congestion does not exist. Mr. Willcox agrees with Commissioner Hulbert that an economic employment of the yard and wharfage facilities now existing would correct the evil complained of by the steamship interests.

Figures covering the operations of four of the trunk lines coming to the New Jersey shore, opposite Manhattan, since the beginning of 1914 show that these roads are now receiving fewer loaded cars than in the slack year of 1914, and 20 per cent. fewer than in the heavy year of 1916—this in the face of a war traffic never before equaled.

As to steamship accommodations, while Mr. Willcox does not wish to discourage in any way the building of additional piers, which the growth of the metropolis will undoubtedly continually require, he calls attention to the fact that the conditions of the past year, when so many of the facilities had been pressed into the war service, are not a true criterion; that in addition to the probable turning back of these facilities to normal uses in the near future, three mammoth piers under construction in South Brooklyn will soon be available, and that there is ample opportunity for more efficient use of existing facilities.

In connection with the figures, Mr. Willcox notes that much of the freight which passes through New York is due not to selfish desires on New York's part, but because the trade routes have been established through New York. For the year ended June 30, 1917, the New York district's share of the total foreign commerce of the United States, according to the 1917-18 report of the New York Chamber of Commerce was 44.68 per cent.

The corresponding proportion in 1916 was 52.76 per cent. and the 1917 percentage was lower than in any year since 1911 inclusive. This suggests diversion from the port of traffic that has hitherto come to it and for which accommodations have been provided.

One other point believed to be an argument against further diversion of traffic from New York is that New York is by far the largest manufacturing centre in the United States. According to the 1917-18 report of the New York Chamber of Commerce, New York City, with slightly less than 5 per cent. of the total population of the United States, contains more than 10 per cent. of the number of manufacturing establishments, and the products of these establishments embrace 9.46 per cent. of the value of all manufacturing establishments in the country. The total number of establishments in 1915 exceeded the combined number in Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Cleveland, and nearly equaled them in value of products, the values being $2,292,832,000 for New York and $2,980,896,000 for the other four cities.

Mr. Willcox insists that there is little basis for the charge that because of congestion traffic must be turned to other ports.

The Merchants' Association has approved Commissioner Hulbert's report as a whole, but reserves comment and approval of his recommendation for the removal of Sound Steamships lines to East River.

On the question E. P. Doyle, vice-president of the Realty Notice Corporation, has submitted a statement including the following:

"In the section of the city bounded by the North River, Broadway, Chambers and Canal streets are the wholesale dry goods people, the wholesale boot and shoe dealers, the wholesale produce men and the large grocery and provision houses. On the south side of this section and very near to Broadway are the wholesale paper dealers, the cordage men and the wholesale fish dealers. In all, there are about 1,400 large business houses located in this section that daily receive merchandise from or deliver merchandise to the Sound steamers.

"The merchandise received from or delivered to the Sound steamers last year by these people amounted to 838,985 tons. In addition, 15,000 tons of general merchandise were delivered to or received from the terminal railroads having piers in the immediate vicinity of the Sound steamships.

"No piers in the city except a few railroad piers are used as intensively as those used by the Sound steamers or are of greater importance to the commerce of New York. The dock commissioner says that the lines must be shifted to East Twenty-sixth street in order that room may be made for prospective foreign commerce. He says the cost of cartage will not be much greater and that the trade centre can be changed.

"As a matter of fact, cartage rates double above Fourteenth street, and it is estimated by competent and practical men that the additional cost of cartage will amount to more than $1 a ton, or at least $1,000,000 a year. If the trade centre is changed it will mean 1,400 vacant stores averaging $1,500 rental a year, or a loss of $2,100,000 annually in rents until new tenants can be found. A loss of $1,000.00 a year to the merchants of the city or a loss of $2,100,000 to property owners must be justified by a real gain to the community."

Comptroller Craig has presented to the Board of Estimate a plan for relieving the freight congestion on the West Side. He does not pretend to solve the so-called West Side problem.

"In brief," says the Comptroller in his letter to the Board of Estimate, "the plan provides for a six-track underground freight railroad from Fifty-ninth street to a point near Canal street, with unit terminals in convenient locations and transfer bridges providing means of access for the New Jersey railroads, the underground railroad and its terminal facilities to provide for the business of railroads handling merchandise traffic.

"The plan involves no serious physical or transportation difficulty, and it can be financed and operated to the material advantage of the city of New York."

Regarding the waterfront north of Fifty-ninth street the Comptroller says:

"Your attention is directed to the proposed changes between Fifty-ninth and Seventy-second streets. This waterfront is now occupied by the New York Central. The leases for a considerable portion of this waterfront have expired and it is held now under temporary permits. The other leases have but a short time to run.

"In this area the New York Central now has five one-story piers that extend about half way to the pierhead line. The city of New York owns the thirteen streets that intersect the New York Central yards and run to the exterior grant line in the Hudson River. The city also owns Twelfth avenue, which runs through the railroad yard from Fifty-ninth street to Seventy-second street.

"The plan proposes that on at least ten of the street ends modern two-story piers should be erected extending to the pierhead line. This would increase at least fourfold the use now made of that waterfront."

The Comptroller says of the New York Central adjustment:

"While a part of the route proposed is under parts of Tenth avenue and Eleventh avenue, where the New York Central has surface rights, I do not apprehend that any great difficulty will arise from this in providing for the business of that railroad to be hereafter handled through the underground system. The surface facilities of the New York Central are already so obsolete and unprofitable and constitute such an obstruction to street traffic and the city's development that it is scarcely to be believed that that railroad, under Federal control or corporate management, would assume an obstructive attitude."

Not only would the Comptroller have this railroad and pier development owned by the city, but he would have it controlled by the city. The railroads should pay for the facilities on the basis of tonnage handled.

All these various proposals will come up for discussion at the meeting on December 4, and hope is expressed that substantial progress will be made in the co-ordination of the work of providing New York City with adequate port facilities.

Real Estate Evening School

R EPORTS from the real estate and building management class of the Murray Hill Evening Trade School, 237 East 37th street, indicate that this course is even more interesting this year than last, when it was first instituted.

On Thursday evening, November 14, the class was entertained by the American Radiator Co., at their rooms, 110 West 42d street. The experts of this company demonstrated various apparatus, and a practical talk was given by Mr. A. B. Marshall covering modern heating and vacuum cleaning plants.

Last Tuesday the class took up the subject of suburban developments, while on Thursday evening of this week Mr. J. I. Waklee, president of the Sedgwick Machine Works, lectured before the class on elevators and dumb waiters. This talk was open to the public and a number of realty men interested in building management attended.

The class is just starting a new term and any employees of a real estate firm desiring to avail themselves of these lectures and study may register at the school Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Uncle Sam owns navy yard property in New York City valued at $13,081,000 and fortifications estimated to be worth $15,137,000.

Optimism and Action

Developments since the armistice was signed confirm the earlier impression that this is not the time to regard the future with apprehension but rather to look forward to the reconstruction period as one that will assuredly be increasingly advantageous and prosperous. The greatest disturbing influence to well-ordered business and private enterprise in the world's history has been definitely throttled. The terms of the armistice are being fulfilled, if not in good spirit, at least without hesitation or curtailment. The Allied armies are within the German frontier fortifications where they can strangle in its inception any attempt to reopen the war; the German dreadnaughts and submarines are dismantled and interned in English harbors and the arbiters of Germany's future are gathering in Paris, with the dictum of outraged peoples that stern justice shall be dealt out to those responsible for the criminal inhumanity and wastage of war.

Of nearer interest is the demobilization of our home forces, releasing them for works of peace; the cancellation of contracts for enormous amounts of war supplies returning money into natural business channels; the abrogation of restrictions upon the usual business life of the country; the announcement of decreased taxation of the individual and the business corporation.

The relief from the growing restraints imposed by war upon the well ordered interests of the nation has come so suddenly that there is not yet time for conditions to have become normal. The gyroscope of war retains momentum for a considerable period. But the brakes have been put to it. In the course of time it will stop functioning.

In the meantime every development happily promises an orderly return to the resumption of business on the old basis. There is no undercurrent of pessimism, notwithstanding the many and superlatively serious questions of reconstruction that await solution. These are not so great nor so momentous as those which had to be worked out at the beginning of the war.

And we are better schooled than we were. The man who threw down the tools of peace to take up the tasks of war behind the fighting men are turning with optimism from their desks in the Federal service to their old-time offices, confident in their new strength that they can tackle and solve the intricate and stupendous problems that confront this country and the peoples of the world. It is the hour for optimism and action.

War Debts and Wages

Figures on the direct cost of the war for all belligerent nations to the close of 1918, prepared by the Federal Reserve Board, ought to somewhat allay the fears of many that there will be serious trouble between labor and capital over the question of reduction of wages.

The relation between wages and the cost of living is so intimate that what affects one ultimately influences the other. The Federal Reserve Board estimates that the war will have cost all the nations engaged in it approximately $200,000,000,000, the larger part of which is represented by bonded indebtedness while the ante-war debt of the seven principal belligerents did not exceed $25,000,000,000. In other words, the debts have increased eight hundred per cent., and the burden of taxation, one of the chief items in the cost of living, has run up proportionately. Whereas it cost in pre-war days about $1,000,000,000 annually for interest on national debts, it will now be necessary for the people to pay $10,000,000,000 each year in interest and sinking fund allowances.

In whatever manner this huge amount is collected it will naturally materially affect values and inevitably prevent a return to the basis of prices before the war. Both the cost of living and wages will continue on a higher level than formerly, shaded somewhat from the extremes of the last few months but undoubtedly high as compared with five years ago.

What is of peculiar importance to the people of this country is that the United States is and will be relatively much better off than Germany, or even our allies, in respect to the burdens imposed by the war. Taking population, national wealth and war debt into consideration it is estimated that the per capita war burden will be three times greater in Germany than in the United States. Probably the French and English will have to shoulder twice as much in the way of taxation as our own people.

Another factor not to be lost sight of is the depleted man-power of England, France, Germany, Austria and Italy, while our own is only minutely lessened. Scarcity of men in Europe, with immense reconstruction going on, means that labor over there will be able to command higher wages than prevailed before the war.

What is apparent is that our own increased indebtedness will entail high living expenses for a long time and justify high wages, but the compensating fact will be that whereas in Europe before the war cost of living and wages were generally much lower than in this country it is now assured that the difference between the cost of living and wages in this country and in Europe will disappear entirely or become so nearly equalized as to make competition in business more nearly equal. Whatever inequality exists may reasonably be overcome by the improvements in methods, the greater banking facilities, the larger merchant marine and the increased effectiveness of co-ordinated efforts in business generally which have been brought about during the last five years.

Wage increases are not the greatest gains made by labor during the war period. These have been only relative because the increases have been largely discounted by the diminished buying power of the dollar. Mr. Gompers knows this. When he says labor will fight to retain the advantages it has won, he is too good a political economist not to be able to agree to modifications of wage scales based on decreased cost of living. The part labor has played in the war has given it the right to retain its more fully recognized position as a co-partner in the business of the country. Like a new partner in a business concern, ambitious, looking for a chance to make good, anxious to exploit every advantage gained and saving of the increasing fruits of his work, labor should be slow to act in any way that will react to its disadvantage in the new era of co-operative enterprise.

National Convention of Building Industries

AT the convention of the National Federation of Building Industries which will be held December 6 and 7 at Atlantic City the chief event of the first day will be the meeting of the War Emergency and Reconstruction Conference of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

On Saturday President Ernest T. Trigg will outline the program and policies of the Federation. Addresses will also be made by William B. King, counsel to the Federation; D. R. McLellan, chief of the Non-War Section, War Industries Board; E. B. Parker, chairman Priorities Division, War Industries Board, and U. S. Senator William M. Calder. Election of officers, appointment of committees and general business will follow.

The Federation wishes to emphasize the fact that this is not a conference for representatives to sit in, listen and report back to executives; but it is a congress of delegates, having authority to act for their respective associations in forming a permanent organization to deal with the unusual and as yet unknown problems involved in the readjustment period following the war.

Among the questions to be discussed will be the employment of returned soldiers; the "Own Your Own Home" program; the material, labor and transportation problems.

The following tentative suggestions for action are made by the committee:

The readaptation of business to new conditions will require new methods in general of financing the needs of the building industry. Trade acceptances are being urged upon the building industry as an important addition to its liquid capital. Unjust lien laws in some states have discouraged investments in building. A committee on finance could look into all these and other subjects, co-operating with the National Credit Men's Association, the American Bar Association and the American Trade Acceptance Council.

Business men have long since recognized that lawsuits are unprofitable on account of delays and expenses. The prompt settlement of a dispute is often of greater value, even if wrong, than a right settlement obtained at the cost of delay and large outlay. Differences in the foreign trade are now adjusted by commercial arbitration under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Differences in the building industry ought all to be adjusted in the same way. These should never go into court. A tribunal of arbitration should be selected in advance in every building center from among capable, experienced and fair-minded business men, by whom all disputes should be decided, without regard to technicality, with a view solely to substantial justice. A Committee on Commercial Arbitration might, under the auspices of this Federation, do much to secure the inauguration of such a system.

The suggestion is also made that provision shall be made for submission of questions by referendum during the year.

For Amendment to Tenement House Law

IN response to a prevailing sentiment for legislation adequate enough to permit the profitable alteration of dwellings into tenement houses, Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann has called a conference, to be held in his office on the nineteenth floor of the Municipal Building, next Tuesday afternoon, November 26, at two o'clock. Representatives of real estate, building and civic organizations interested in the matter have been invited, it being Commissioner Mann's plan to have a general discussion, interchange of views, and then a concentration of effort upon a bill, which will have the approval and support of all interests. Commissioner Mann's letter follows:

"There seems to be a general demand for an amendment to the Tenement House Law for the practical conversion at a minimum of expense, of a large number of the two, three and four-story and basement house originally constructed as a private dwelling, into three and four-family tenements.

"In 1916 the law was amended by what is known as the 'Lawson' bill, for the purpose of meeting the same problem. In practice this law has proven ineffective.

"There is a great number of this type of house that seems to have outlived its usefulness as a private dwelling and hence has no rental or market value. It is invariably of good construction, well lighted and ventilated. In my judgment, it would appear to be good business policy both for the real estate interests and the city to get remedial legislation that would enable this type of house to be used for tenement purposes under certain restrictions.

"The scarcity and high cost of material and labor at this time, and the prospect of a continuance of this condition for an indefinite period, as well as the need of additional housing facilities, should also be borne in mind in connection therewith.

"It has occurred to me that it might be well to get uniformity of action and instead of having the various diversified interests present a half dozen or more different bills to the Legislature, to concentrate upon one bill that might meet with the approval of all the interests concerned.

"To carry this out I would respectfully suggest that you send a committee of one or two persons to represent your organization at a conference to be held in the office of the Tenement House Department, on the 19th floor of the Municipal Building, Borough of Manhattan, on the 26th day of November, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of discussing and agreeing upon this and a few other matters which I deem of interest and importance."

The Story of THE WINDOW SHADE

(This talk is No. 12 of a series)

Like patent medicine, the window shade cleaning business has been abused.

Because patent medicine advertising is mostly "bunk," you distrust and won't take a chance on any.

Because a lot of real estate agents have been badly stung in some quarters on window shade renovation, you scrap your old shades and buy new.

To overcome this, we will take your worst shade and clean it free, guaranteeing all future work up to sample or no pay. It costs you nothing to test this—so do it.

RANDOM NOTES IN THE REALTY FIELD

Real Estate Division Contributes to United War Fund—Philadelphian Interested in Bronx Lots

THE Real Estate Division's contribution to the United War Fund campaign was $27,500, according to the latest figures available yesterday. The drive was to end on Monday last, but it lagged so all over the city that the time was extended to Wednesday and again later to next Monday, November 25.

Considering the various obstacles that had to be overcome, the results of the drive may be regarded with some satisfaction. The real estate division, in particular was handicapped by a late start, the depressed condition of the real estate market and the fact that it could solicit only real estate firms and corporations. The great celebration on Monday eliminated a whole day's work.

The largest individual subscription was $10,000 from the Equitable Office Building Corporation. Other large donors were Charles Kay, $1,000; Cammann, Voorhees & Floyd, $500; Alfred R. Kirkus for various real estate corporation, $500; Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., & Co., $360; Mrs. Sylvia P. Hoe, $350; Douglas L. Elliman & Company, $250; Elias Kempner, $250; Robert Hoe Estate, $250; George E. Coleman, $250; Goodale, Perry & Dwight, $253, and Franklin Pettit, $200.

Blake on the Job.

Edward P. Blake, of William A. White & Sons, who as a member of the John N. Golding-Charles S. Brown team in the last Liberty Loan drive was responsible for the sale of $1,600,000 in bonds, also performed yeoman service in the United War Fund Campaign. Mr. Blake, who assisted Frederick P. Fox, chairman of the real estate division, obtained the largest individual real estate contribution, $10,000, from the Equitable Office Building Corporation.

Raises $3,479.

The team headed by T. W. Spear, of the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, turned in the greatest amount of contributions to the real estate division in the United War Fund campaign. Mr. Spear's team raised $3,479.

A Philadelphia Buyer.

The sale at auction of seventeen lots on Jerome and Cromwell avenues in the Bronx to Jacob H. Brodsky, a Philadelphia leather merchant, for $38,000, came as more or less of a shock to the people frequenting the Vesey street salesroom, not so much because the lots were knocked down at obviously low figures but because they went to an out-of-town buyer. Mr. Brodsky is quoted to have remarked after the sale:

"I made my money in Philadelphia, but I see better opportunities in New York real estate, and intend to make many purchases. I will improve these lots, if somebody does not take them from me by paying a profit, with apartment houses, when the time is ripe."

His point of view is interesting because it shows that even out-of-town people are watching New York real estate and are waiting to seize opportunities.

A House of Glass.

Lee M. Rumsey of New York is building a unique glass boat house at his winter home at Alton Beach, Miami, Florida. Glass has been widely used in the construction of conservatories and swimming pools; however, its application to boat houses comes as a distinct novelty, though, when its advantages for this purpose are considered, it is a wonder no one thought of it before. The structure is of pleasing lines, with curved eaves, and with the roof and sides constructed of glass there is little chance of mildew. It can be washed down with a hose from top to bottom.

The supporting framework is of cast iron and steel, heavily galvanized. The glass used in glazing is ground, which softens the direct rays of the sun, while giving the maximum amount of light. The double doors are of wood, with an open lattice pattern that insures good air circulation. In designing the structure, the architects, Lord & Burnham, of New York City, aimed to secure conditions approaching a boat at anchor, with a suitable covering to shield it from the weather. The foundation is of concrete.

Even as Far as Japan.

Mr. Hidaka, representative of Rockrise & Shiota, architects, 366 Fifth avenue, New York City, equipped with a copy of the 1918 issue of Sweet's Architectural Catalogue, is about to leave the United States, en route for the Far East. His destination is Tokio, Japan, all of which further indicates the far-reaching scope and steadily broadening influence of the Dodge publications.

"Heatless" Landlord Fined.

What is said to be the first conviction under the sanitary code section relating to the maintenance of heat in apartments to a temperature of 68 degrees, was made this week. Richard W. Freedman, president of the B. F. and G. Realty Company, was arraigned before Magistrate Charles W. Appleton in municipal term court charged with a violation of the Code, and was fined $100. The violation occurred at No. 106 East Nineteenth street, and the complaint stated that heat had not been provided on November 1 and many times prior thereto.

Industrial Exhibition Planned.

The Brooklyn Engineer's Club is making elaborate plans for the Industrial Exposition which will be held in that borough next year. The plans being laid will mean the largest exposition of this kind that has ever been held in any city of the United States. The manufacturers who have already signed for spaces represent annual sales amounting to more than $700,000, and these include firms of national importance who will demonstrate the actual production of their respective merchandise at the exhibition. It will take place in the Twenty-third Regiment Armory during the week beginning April 28.

An Appeal to Landlords.

Isaac Hyman, who has been elected president of the Harlem Property Owners' Association, to succeed the late Dr. Abraham Korn, has issued an appeal to all members of the organization calling upon them to co-operate with him. He said:

"To enable me to make my office a success and accomplish results favorable to your interests, it will be necessary for every member to pledge his full and whole-hearted co-operation and support. Results can only be attained through unity of purpose and unity of action. Every man who is thrifty and intelligent enough to own real estate ought to be intelligent and energetic enough to protect it. Individual efforts are fruitless. Organization is the only safeguard. Present a strong front and solid resistance to antagonistic interests."

New Issues of "Trust Companies."

The 1918 edition of "Trust Companies of the United States" which is the 16th annual publication of Trust Company statistics issued by the United States Mortgage & Trust Company, New York, is now being distributed. The figures show total resources of trust companies of the United States to be $9,380,886,000, a gain of $422,374,000 over last year. This useful manual consisting of about 600 pages, contains the statements of over 2,100 trust companies and in addition lists of officers and directors, stock quotations, dividend rates, etc.

Real Estate Review for the Current Week

Effect of Great Economic Changes Not Yet Apparent—Renewed Activity of Operators Foreshadows Revival

THE real estate market this week did not register any appreciable response to the tremendous national and international changes which ushered in the beginning of the reconstruction period and marked the first steps in the shaping of the post-war Government policy. Ultimately real estate, which is the source of all wealth, must begin to feel the effects of these tremendous changes in American economic life; in the week's developments its sturdiness and resistive power to changes even of such great significance was again demonstrated; its extreme conservatism as an investment medium again exemplified and its ability to come through unscathed during the most critical periods again proven.

The moderate amount of business reported is best explained by the uncertain state of mind with which the average purchaser of real estate is regarding the situation. The full significance of the present situation has not yet been fully impressed upon the great bulk of prospective real estate purchasers, although owners of property have begun to regard the immediate outlook with regard to real estate with considerable optimism. The most important real estate development of the week centered upon the decision of the Federal authorities to remove the ban on building operations. Although it is entirely too early for the effects of this announcement to become apparent, its effect on the real estate market is being commented upon and it is being taken as an opening wedge in the beginning of an extensive movement directed toward the buying of building sites.

The first concrete examples pointing in this direction were provided in the auction room where a Philadelphia investor acquired a parcel of 17 Bronx lots after keen competition with local bidders. The sale of a West 17th street loft building at auction to a speculator was another indication of the renewed interest which buyers are taking in auction room offerings.

Another important feature of the real estate business of the week was the activity of the professional trader in the market. This class of purchaser not only manifested interest in loft buildings in the mid-town and down-town sections, but also figured as a principal in tenement house and private dwelling properties. His presence in the market at this time proves two things; first, that properties are now available for purchase at prices that enable him to buy with a hope of reselling at a profit, and second, that he is anticipating an increased demand for investment properties and is buying in order to receive the early benefits of the release of new capital into the real estate field.

The early resumption of building activity, the consequent increased demand for vacant land and the revival of interest in income producing properties is all predicated upon the improved condition of the mortgage situation and it is generally conceded that renewed real estate interest will keep pace with the flow of money into the real estate field.

An analysis of the present situation reveals the fact that many of the loaning institutions which have heretofore adopted extremely conservative policies with regard to loans on real estate are beginning to readjust these policies. The savings banks, large lenders on real estate, are anticipating the redeposit of huge sums which began to be drawn out as soon as the United States entered into the world war; the other loaning institutions, also large lenders on this class of security, also adopted at that time a conservative policy, and now as the situation begins to clear will probably also be in a position to make large loans on new building operations and improved properties. The title companies who have within recent years developed an extensive loaning business and inaugurated the guaranteed mortgage plan will be in an early position to reap the benefits of a generally improved real estate situation and be able to anticipate continued expansion in this phase of their business.

With the great lending institutions in line private lenders must also come back to the field. The entire outlook, therefore, from the mortgage standpoint, while still largely a matter of conjecture may nevertheless be regarded as encouraging and as a result the entire real estate outlook is imbued with greater possibilities than at any other period since 1907.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 20, as against 25 last week and 20 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street, was 6, as compared with 11 last week and 10 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 14, as compared with 14 last week and 10 a year ago.

From the Bronx 9 sales at private contract were reported, as against 7 last week and 9 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 608 of this issue.

Operator Buys Loft.

The Land Map Realty Corporation, Max N. Natanson, president, has purchased from the East Forty-Sixth Street Corporation, through I. B. Wakeman the six-story store and loft building on the southeast corner of Sixth avenue and Eleventh street. The property, which is known as 102 to 108 West Eleventh street, was erected ten years ago by John Glass. It has a frontage of 60 feet on Eleventh street. Beginning at the immediate intersection of Sixth avenue, it extends back in a south-westerly direction for a distance of 161.6 feet. It is 51 feet wide at the rear, and faces Milligan Place, a small thoroughfare with an outlet on Sixth avenue. The selling company acquired it two years ago and held it at $175,000.

Sale on Cooper Square.

The sale of a business building on Cooper square, in which real estate investors have displayed little interest within recent years, served to attract attention to this locality. The Charles F. Noyes Company and the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Co. sold, for all cash, for Mrs. Frances A. Sands to James Wilkinson, 28 Cooper square, a three-story building covering a plot 28 by 130. The property was valued at $30,000 and the purchaser will make extensive improvements at the expiration of the present leases. The property will be conveyed to the buyer free of mortgage.

Buy 29 Brooklyn Houses.

Speculative interest in the future of Brooklyn residential properties is reflected in the sale of a group of buildings near the Eighteenth avenue station of the West End subway in Brooklyn. The transaction, affecting twenty-three dwellings and six two-family houses, comprising the two blocks on 83d and 84th streets, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenues, was made by the Meister Builders, Inc., who purchased the properties from M. Van Veern. The houses are assessed at $120,000.

Dwelling-Garage Trade.

The Dallas Holding Corporation (Charles L. Bernheimer) has sold 24 East 64th street, a four-story dwelling on a lot 21 by 100.5, to the 160 East 24th Street Corporation, which gave in exchange the five two-story garages at 156 to 164 East 24th street on a plot 150 by 99.9. William B. May & Co. negotiated the deal.

The "Brookfield" Resold.

The ten-story Brookfield apartment house at 450 Riverside Drive, on a plot 84 by 100, near 116th street, has been resold by Louis Schlechter to the G. & E. Realty Company. The property is assessed at $340,000. In part payment the buyer gave the three-story dwelling at 212 West 112th street, on lot 18 by 100. E. Francis Hillenbrand was the broker. The buying company has purchased several apartment houses on the upper west side in the last two years.

Mid-Town Loft Deal.

H. Z. Cohen, who bought the twelve-story loft building at 12-14 West 21st street, on a plot 50 by 100, at auction last week for $206,000, has resold the property to the newly-organized Twenty-First Street Realty Corporation, L. Benson, S. Benson and H. Bloom, directors. It is assessed at $195,000.

$250,000 Heights Apartment Deal.

E. Bloom and A. Schechter sold for Mendo Brown to the Iscar Realty Company 510 to 518 West 151st street, two seven-story elevator flats, each on a plot 100 by 100, held at $250,000.

Seven Brooklyn Dwellings Sold.

The estate of I. Sargant sold the seven three-story frame dwellings at 864 to 876 Driggs avenue, at the southeast corner of South Eighth street, to a client for investment. The Bulkeley & Horton Co. and M. Wolf were the brokers.

E. W. Browning a Buyer.

The Nobel Apartment, a six-story elevator structure at 54 and 56 East 129th street, has been sold by Shaw & Ebbitt to Edward W. Browning. The property has a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 99.11. It is midway between Madison and Park avenues.

$122,500 For School.

Justice Newberger of the Supreme Court has granted the Manhattan Trade School for Girls, permission to sell for $122,500 its former home, a six-story and basement building on plot 73.2 by

RECENT LEASES.

Lease With Purchase Option.

The Charles F. Noyes Company and Cammann, Voorhees & Floyd have leased for George Richter to the Orbis Products Trading Co., the six-story and basement building, 215 Pearl street, covering plot 30 by 130, and containing 25,000 square feet of space, at an aggregate rental of about $60,000. The lease carries with it an option to purchase the property. The building is located between Maiden Lane and John street. The leasing company is a new $500,000 company, dealing in drugs, chemicals, essential oils, gums and egg products. C. J. A. Fitzsimmons, president, in commenting on the lease, stated: "We have rented 215 Pearl street for a long term of years with the option of purchasing, because we are convinced that this building is in the heart of the drug district. We will make extensive improvements from plans by John H. Knubel, and occupy the entire building exclusively for our business after the changes have been made."

To Take Over Hotel.

J. E. Knott, J. P. Polson, and S. Naylor have formed the 871 Seventh Avenue Hotel Corporation for the purpose of taking under lease the thirteen-story Hotel Wellington at 869 to 873 Seventh avenue and 151 West Fifty-fifth street, forming an L around the northeast corner of these thoroughfares. The lease will be for twenty-one years, with renewal arranged on a net rental basis. Negotiations are reported to be well advanced. The Wellington has a frontage of 75 feet on Seventh avenue and a depth of 125 feet, with a 25-foot L to Fifty-fifth street. It is owned by the Wellington Hotel Corporation, controlled by Miss Mina E. Fritts, who also operates the Hotel Iroquois. Miss Fritts purchased the Wellington last April, but had operated it as lessee for four years prior to the purchase.

Big Broadway Store Lease.

The Liggett, Riker-Hegeman Drug Stores leased from the Crosstown Realty Co. the entire corner store in the Marlborough Hotel, at the northwest corner of Broadway and Thirty-sixth street, for a term of ten years for the Crosstown Realty Company. Herbert Hecht & Co., Nathan J. Mitchell and Robert J. Coverdale were associated as brokers in the deal, the aggregate rental amounting to about $250,000.

East Side Rental Increase.

The lease of a Delancey street building this week reflected an increase of 150 per cent. Hiram Rinaldo leased for the Metropolitan Tobacco Company to the G. & G. Restaurant 138 Delancey street, a four-story structure, 25 by 100, between Norfolk and Suffolk streets, for about $100,000 total rent. The new tenant will spend about $20,000 in altering the building.

42-Year Apartment Lease.

An unusual apartment lease was made this week, which may set a new record for term durations. The Riverside Drive Apartments, Inc., recorded a twenty-one-year lease, with a renewal privilege for a similar term, made with Harrington Emerson, an engineer at 30 Church street, for the south apartment on the sixth floor of 125 Riverside Drive. Mr. Emerson will pay $1,080 a year for the suite, or a total of $45,360 during the term of the lease.

FAIR PLAY—JUSTICE

OUR PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATIONS MUST BE GIVEN JUST CONSIDERATION BY THE PUBLIC.

DURING THE WAR WE DEMANDED OF THEM THE SAME EFFICIENCY AS WAS GIVEN US DURING PEACE TIMES.

WHILE WE MET THE HUGELY INFLATED PRICES ON FOOD, CLOTHING AND OTHER NECESSITIES OUR TRANSPORTATION, GAS AND ELECTRIC PRICES REMAINED STATIONARY ALTHOUGH THOSE INDISPENSABLE COMPANIES FURNISHED THEIR RESPECTIVE SERVICES UNDER ENORMOUSLY INCREASED COST TO THEM.

THESE PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATIONS HAVE BEEN THE PIONEERS IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF EVERY COMMUNITY, INCLUDING THIS GREAT CITY OF NEW YORK.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO WITHOUT THEM?

THE SPIRIT OF FAIR PLAY IS STILL WITH US AND IT MAY WELL BE SHOWN NOW AND DURING THE TENSE PERIOD OF RECONSTRUCTION AND REHABILITATION THAT FOLLOWS THE WORLD WAR.

STEEL AVAILABLE FOR BUILDERS

Cuts Illustrate Various Types of Buildings in Which These Lattice Girders May Be Used

Complete information and lists upon request

Architects, engineers and contractors who have projected work that is being held up on account of the scarcity of fabricated steel are invited to examine the lists of lattice and plate girders we are offering. The lattice girders vary in length from 39 feet to 51 feet and in depth from 4 feet 5 inches to 6 feet, and all have a safe carrying capacity of 2500 lbs. per lineal foot. Also a number of columns 16 to 18 feet high are offered.

Girders of this type may be used to excellent advantage in the construction of garages, moving picture theatres, factory and warehouse buildings, crane runways, trestles and as bridges for trolley roads and highway spans.

Some of these lattice girders are now available for shipment. Majority available for shipment within thirty, sixty and ninety days.
